STATIONS, CLERICAL OR LAY MISSIONARIES, AND NATIVE CLERGYMEN

SUPPORTED EITHER DIRECTLY BY THE SOCIETY, OR BY NATIVE CHURCH FUNDS SUBSIDIZED OR AIDED BY THE SOCIETY.

MAY 1, 1881.

 A STATION is the place at which a Clerical or Lay Missionary is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Women; such as cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing the adult women.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers show the date of their first connexion with the Society's Missions.

The mark ‡ denotes that the Name to which it is prefixed is that of an Agent supported by Native Church Funds aided by the Society. The Native Ministers in New Zealand are supported partly by Subscriptions from Native Christians, and partly from the rents of lands belonging to the Society in the Colony.

The Names of Native Clergymen are printed in italics. The figures after their names show the date of ordination.

All the names under one station or department of work are printed in order of date, without reference to nationality, sex, orders, or other difference.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

(As revised at a Special Meeting of Members of the Society, held June 25, 1878.)

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a COMMITTEE, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for Members of the Royal Family; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the Churches of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such other persons as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergymen, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas, or upward, and Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Auxiliaries and of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The COMMITTEE shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Honorary Members for Life, or Honorary Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and COMMITTEE chosen.

VIII. The COMMITTEE may summon a Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society [at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum] at any time, and they shall do so on receipt of a requisition in writing, addressed to the Secretaries, and signed by not less than Fifty Members of the Society, and specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Laws and Regulations of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones made, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special General Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the COMMITTEE. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The COMMITTEE shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland; and of all Clergymen who are Members of the Society and have been so for not less than one year. Of the Twenty-four Lay Members, Eighteen shall be re-appointed each year from the existing COMMITTEE, and Six shall be elected from the General Body of the Society.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, a Committee of Finance, and a Committee of Estimates, and shall have power to fill up vacancies. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same for confirmation to the COMMITTEE.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate to the COMMITTEE, proper persons as Patrons, President, Vice-Presidents, Honorary Life Governors, Honorary Life Members of the Society, and preachers of the Anniversary Sermons.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt means of obtaining Subscriptions, Benefactions, and Collections in Churches, Chapels, and at Meetings; to take a general oversight of the Associations; and to nominate, from time to time, to the COMMITTEE, suitable persons to act as Agents and Representatives of the Society for these objects.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to nominate them to the COMMITTEE, to superintend their instruction, to recommend their location, and to correspond with them when sent out, and generally to direct the foreign work of the Society.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Finance is, generally to superintend the accounts and financial affairs of the Society.

XVII. The office of the Committee of Estimates is, to prepare and submit to the COMMITTEE an Estimate of the probable expenditure of the Society, and from time to time to note and to report to the COMMITTEE how far the expenditure corresponds with the sanctioned Estimate.

XVIII. The Committee of Correspondence shall elect from among themselves, at their first Meeting in every year, a Clerical Sub-Committee, for the examination of Missionary Candidates.

XIX. The COMMITTEE shall receive and deal with the Reports of the other Committees, shall decide upon the countries where Missions shall be carried on, and shall superintend and control the affairs of the Society in general.

XX. The COMMITTEE shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject, in the case of the appointment of Secretaries, to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting. One, at least, of the Secretaries shall be a layman.

XXI. The COMMITTEE shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; but should the second Monday be a Bank Holiday the Meeting shall be held on the day following. The other Committees shall meet as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on. All Committee Meetings shall be opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees. Governors, being Members of the Established Church of England, or of the Church of Ireland, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the COMMITTEE.

XXIII. Five Members shall be necessary to form a Quorum of the COMMITTEE; and Three of each of the Committees provided for in Law XII.; in each case exclusive of the Secretaries. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XXIV. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three Members of the COMMITTEE, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary, or in his absence by one of the other Secretaries.

XXV. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the COMMITTEE, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom not more than two shall be Members of the COMMITTEE. Three shall be a Quorum.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVI. In the selection of Candidates for the Missionary office the following course shall be pursued. The cases of Candidates who are already in Holy Orders, or who are University Graduates, or whom it is proposed to send out without further training, shall be considered by the Committee of Correspondence, the Candidate having (as a rule) appeared in person before them, and a report having been given, after a personal interview, by one or more members of the Clerical Sub-Committee. If any Member of the Committee of Correspondence shall show reason for requiring further information, the consideration shall be deferred till a subsequent Meeting of that Committee. Other Candidates shall be examined by the Clerical Sub-Committee, which shall report to the Committee of Correspondence.

XXVII. A Candidate nominated by the Committee of Correspondence, and accepted by the COMMITTEE, shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time that the COMMITTEE shall decide, and be subject to such Regulations as may be established by the COMMITTEE for the direction of Missionaries: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society.

XXIX. Each Candidate, when duly prepared and finally approved for Missionary work, shall go out, either ordained or unordained, at the discretion of the COMMITTEE*.

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the COMMITTEE: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the COMMITTEE, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, such provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable as in the judgment of the COMMITTEE is suitable. The COMMITTEE shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support. The COMMITTEE shall be further empowered in special cases to make such arrangements with those employed by them as they may think fit.

GENERAL.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. All questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between a Bishop of the Church of England abroad and the COMMITTEE, shall, in the absence of any tribunal having legal cognizance of the same, be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, whose decision thereupon shall be binding upon the Society and its agents and representatives.

The proposed reference shall be made by the COMMITTEE, through His Grace the Primate, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the COMMITTEE may deem advisable.

XXXIII. The object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The Bishops of the Church of England, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] the Society's Missionaries; and in the event of their being appointed by the COMMITTEE to labour at stations within the jurisdiction of a Bishop of the Church of England abroad, it is the practice of the Society to apply to the Bishop for licenses, in which are specified the districts to which the Missionaries have been assigned. This is done on the understanding that licenses will neither be refused, nor when granted be withdrawn from the Missionaries during their connexion with the Society, except for some assigned legal cause.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May 3, 1881, being the Eighty-second Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,

AFTER PRAYER AND THE READING OF A PORTION OF HOLY SCRIPTURE, THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. F. E. WIGRAM, M.A., Honorary Secretary;

On the Motion of the RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF SHAFTESBURY, V.P., seconded by the RIGHT REV. THE LORD BISHOP OF NORWICH, and supported by the REV. E. H. BICKERSTETH, M.A., Vicar of Christ Church, Hampstead, it was—

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be adopted, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Rev. Dr. Boultbee, for his Sermon before the Society last evening; and that the grateful thanks of the Meeting be given to Captain the Hon. Francis Maude, R.N., the Treasurer, and to the Committee; and that the Committee be appointed, with power to fill up vacancies; and that this Meeting renders humble and heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for the great services which, by His inspiring grace, the Society's late Hon. Secretary was enabled to give for the extension of the kingdom of Christ throughout the world, and humbly bows to that Divine Providence which early called him to his rest.—[See List, p. iii.]

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE BISHOP OF OSSORY AND FERNS, V.P., seconded by the REV. J. B. WHITING, M.A., Vicar of St. Luke's, Ramsgate, it was—

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That in view of the fact that the Gospel of Christ alone is the power of God unto salvation, this Meeting cordially supports the Committee in its continued efforts to secure that the Native Churches in their various Missions may be established in the truth, and provided with a faithful ministry.

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE BISHOP OF MOOSONIE, V.P., seconded by the REV. C. F. S. MONRY, M.A., Vicar of St. John's, Deptford:—

That this Meeting, while recognizing the necessity, under the circumstances, of the policy of retrenchment adopted by the Committee, desires emphatically to confirm the principle that the great work which the Lord has committed to the Society is one which, in its very nature, demands constant advance and extension, and consequent growth of expenditure; and in view of the many opportunities now set before the Society, this Meeting devoutly thanks God that, not only has the year's expenditure been met by the year's income, but also a substantial commencement has been made of an Extension Fund, and would very humbly and earnestly pray that the Lord will pour out such a spirit of large-hearted liberality on his servants as shall enable the Committee speedily to employ every qualified agent, and to occupy in the name of the Lord every land to which His providence calls them.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

THE RIGHT REV. BISHOP RYAN, V.P., in the Chair,

Addresses were delivered by the Chairman; the Rev. J. R. Wolfe, Missionary from Fuh-chow; the Rev. W. Boyd Carpenter, M.A., Vicar of Christ Church, Paddington; and the Rev. A. H. Lash, Missionary from Tinnevelly.

THE Society's Monthly Publications may be obtained from Messrs. SEELEY & Co., Fleet Street, E.C., through the local Booksellers, or direct from the CHURCH MISSIONARY HOUSE, provided that payment is made in advance. Orders unaccompanied by a remittance cannot be executed.

P. O. Orders to be made payable to MAJOR-GENERAL GEORGE HUTCHINSON, Lay Secretary.

Missionary Boxes, Collecting Books, and Collecting Cards may be procured of the Local Secretaries, or direct from the Church Missionary House. In all applications for a supply, the name of the Association for which they are required should be given; and where the applicant is not a Secretary or Treasurer of a Local Association, nor a Clergyman, the application should be countersigned by the Secretary or Treasurer of the Local Association, or by a friend of the Society, and addressed to the Lay Secretary, Church Missionary House, Salisbury Square, London.

THE following system for spelling NATIVE NAMES is recommended to the Society's Missionaries generally for adoption in their letters and reports, unless any of them should prefer a still closer approximation to the more elaborate scheme of Professor Lepsius. This system should not be applied, of course, to those well-known places of which the spelling has become so fixed that it would be mere pedantry to disturb it; as, for instance, Travancore (Travankur), and Lucknow (Laknau). Other well known names, spelt correctly according to this method, are not pronounced accordingly by English residents. For example, the a in Lagos is always pronounced by English residents, when speaking English, as in the word make.

The powers of the vowels are as follows:—

â usually as in '*f*ather' (in North-Indian words as in '*a*ll').
e as in '*p*en.'
ê as in '*f*ête.'
i as in '*th*in.'
î as in '*p*ique.'
o as in '*n*ot,' or as in the French '*b*onne.'
ô as in '*n*ote.'
u as in '*f*ull.'
û as in '*tr*uly.'
ai as i in '*th*ine.'
au or ou or ow as in '*b*ough.'

It needs only to be noticed further that—

y always sounds as in '*y*ou.'
g „ as in '*g*o.'
j „ as in '*j*oin.'
gn as in 'poi*gn*ant.'
ng as in 'thi*ng*.'
ei as in '*v*ein.'

c whether for k or s, being superfluous, is not used.

Doubled letters should each be pronounced distinctly, as in Italian.

ae represents a sound intermediate between a in 'mat' and e in 'met.'

The above Rules are not adopted in the N.W. America Mission.

SERMON,

PREACHED

AT ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH, FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, MAY 2, 1881,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

BY THE

REV. T. P. BOULTBEE, LL.D.

PRINCIPAL OF ST. JOHN'S HALL, HIGHBURY.

LUKE XV. 4, 5.

"WHAT MAN OF YOU, HAVING AN HUNDRED SHEEP, IF HE LOSE ONE OF THEM, DOTH NOT LEAVE THE NINETY AND NINE IN THE WILDERNESS, AND GO AFTER THAT WHICH IS LOST, UNTIL HE FIND IT? AND WHEN HE HATH FOUND IT, HE LAYETH IT ON HIS SHOULDERS, REJOICING."

THERE are many sides from which this great Missionary subject may be approached; but, on the whole, they may be ranged under two classes. There is the side which is turned towards man, and the side which is turned towards God. We may regard man sinning, suffering, fallen, helpless, and his brother man going forth to seek and to save; or we may look behind all this, and endeavour to learn something of the will of God Himself towards the lost creature.

I have chosen rather to ask grace from above to enable us to take a glance at this higher side. For after all the great question is, What is the mind of God Himself in respect of Missionary work? I do not suppose there can be any hesitation, in such an assembly as this, about a thing which is the fundamental principle originating and sustaining all Missionary effort. But, gathered as we are, to survey the past, to take counsel about the future, to recruit flagging energies, and to reconsecrate all our work, we may well direct our thoughts to some of those higher considerations which touch the mind and will of the Everlasting Himself. These, glancing back into our own heart and conscience, illuminate the understanding, quicken the affections, and direct the conduct.

When eight only of this long series of anniversary sermons had been delivered, and on the ninth occasion no less a preacher than the venerated Legh Richmond was opening his discourse, he spoke thus:—"It cannot but occur to my mind, that on this great matter of promoting Missionary exertion in behalf of the heathen, little that is new remains to be said. Many pious and learned brethren in the ministry have urged on you the arguments and exhortations which the subject demands . . . so that novelty of matter is not to be expected. But, instead of being discouraged by this consideration, I the rather take comfort in that I find nothing new to be advanced." Seventy-two years have passed since those words were spoken to our fathers in a like assembly to our own. Long ago has the general assembly and Church of the first-born received those to whom the subject was then supposed to be so familiar in all its bearings. Wilberforce, Thornton, Goode, Pratt, Macaulay, Jowett, and whoever else then were striving in this noble cause,—they are no longer in this Church militant.

Some people tell us we are feebler if we are more numerous than they were. I know not. The Lord sends His labourers into His harvest, and some have a mightier sweep with the sickle than others can boast. But shall I say that the lapse of three score and twelve years has robbed this subject yet more of its freshness? Is it now worn more threadbare in argument, and more poverty-stricken in detail? Or is not the case far different? Has not year after year added to the cogency of the demonstration of Missionary truth? and has not the marvellous story of God's dealing with His Church been unfolding with matchless richness and variety as this century has waxed and is now waning? At that ninth anniversary, when Legh Richmond was preaching, the report of the proceedings of the Society may be summed up in this abstract. Certain German Missionaries, whom they were employing in Sierra Leone or its immediate neighbourhood, were engaged in some commencements of religious work, had a few converts, and were attempting slight educational efforts. The Committee were cautiously hoping that something might be done in India, and voted £500 to the Rev. Henry Martyn and some others to promote translations of the Scriptures, the one thing which as yet they saw possible for that vast country. They were also preparing to send out a small Missionary colony to New Zealand, with a few Christian craftsmen and others, from whom they hoped light might shine forth among that nation of cannibals. The African Mission cost them something under £1000. The New Zealand Settlement figured for £106. They promised £500 for translations of the Bible in India. The training of Missionaries cost about £300, and that was in Germany; an English Missionary had hardly yet been found.

It is not for me to anticipate the Report which will be presented to-morrow. But need I add one word to enhance the contrast between the Reports of 1809 and 1881? Your minds have drawn it while I was speaking. Seventy-two years!—an ordinary lifetime! St. John went to his Master at the close of the first century, when a very similar duration of time had elapsed since the crucifixion. I doubt much if he could have told of greater results of Apostolic labour; they may have been more concentrated, and here and there perhaps more striking in some of their relations; I doubt if they were numerically greater.

Have our faithless hearts been tempted to listen when the world has talked of the failure of Missions? Failure! Let your minds now glance at the combined results of these seventy-two years of united Protestant Missionary effort, which has gone forth not only from our own land but from all the brotherhood of Reformed Christendom. Let thought now girdle the earth in rapid flight; let it speed westward and ever onward with the circling sun. How rapidly the wide-spread regions fly! There is "the great lone land"—the vast regions of North America, and all those wastes of snow; there pass the fair islands of the wide Pacific, with the New Zealand that now is; there rise to view Japan, China, India, Madagascar; then, flinging off the clouds which for centuries have veiled its lakes and mighty rivers, Africa—east, west, and south—opens its treasures. Your thoughts have sped on their momentous journey: What tidings have they brought? There were many things—terrible things—they might have noted; but they were sent on one special errand; they were bid to report what God has been pleased to work among the heathen since that time, seventy-two years ago, when Legh Richmond was preaching before this Society. Now what report has their more than electric speed brought back from the earth's wide circuit? They might almost say, "Mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of Hosts." As the varied Churches in all stages of growth in heathen lands, or what were heathen lands fifty years ago, have passed under review, there seemed to resound through the ages of eternity the Divine mandate, "Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." We have surveyed the earth; we saw man feeble, but God omnipotent; and now faith, reinforced by sight, exultingly reports: "The Son of God has asked, and the Father has given." "This is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes."

So, turning to our special subject, once more I say to you what Legh Richmond said seventy-two years ago: "We are met to speak of the glory of Him, who is the same yesterday, and to-day, and for ever, whose covenant is eternal, and whose love, like Himself, is from everlasting to everlasting; we are met to declare the things that pertain to the increase and prosperity of His kingdom, whose goings forth have been of old."

In following out this view of our subject—the mind, purpose, and will of God in regard of the Missionary work of His Church—I have chosen not one of the more dogmatic sayings, such as this, "Who will have all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth," but I have chosen one of the simple parables, from a feeling that in them we often seem to come nearer the very heart of God than the harder doctrinal statements often permit. It is natural that it should be so. In the more formal announcements of His will the voice comes to us, as it were, from the midst of the "light which no man can approach unto." In the parables, not only does "God manifest in the flesh" speak, but He speaks of the mind and will of God under human semblances, and condescends to compare "those thoughts which are not as our thoughts" to our human feelings, often in their simplest and most homely relations.

I need not enlarge upon the general nature of the similitude on which the parable now before us rests; I need not range over the Old Testament, in its varied pictures of the Almighty Shepherd of Israel, and "the sheep of His pasture;" I need not dwell on the touching words of our Lord about the Good Shepherd, who gives His life for the sheep, who knows them, and whom they follow; for the parable before us takes one specific view of this shepherd relation which goes direct to the very centre and pith of the whole Gospel errand, and of all Missionary labour. The ideas presented to us are few, simple, and unmistakable. Here is the shepherd-owner; not a "hireling, whose own the sheep are not." He has a flock which he cherishes—"one hundred sheep;" ninety and nine are safe, but one wanders away. The shepherd cannot rest; he must go forth and search for the lost one; he rejoices when he finds it, and brings it safely home.

How comparatively trifling the interests involved, the action, and the emotion! Yet these simple things touch on the darkest problems of humanity, on the deepest things of God. Here are two classes of ideas: those which group round the lost sheep; those which belong to the action and emotion of the seeking shepherd. The first of these is full of the incitements of Missionary zeal and labour—the hopeless condition of the sheep, alone on the "mountains," as St. Matthew words it, beset by manifold perils from drought, from hunger, from beasts of prey—the misery of the soul which has wandered from its God, lost in the mazes of this world, lost in the abyss of eternity. For it may well seem that the utmost ideal of absolute hopeless perplexity is an immortal soul face to face with an unknown eternity, gazing into the very horror of darkness.

But I have already said that I do not propose to occupy you with that side—the human side—of the great Missionary subject, but with the Divine side of it; and surely this is the one presented by this parable. The very drift of it is the action and care of the shepherd. Regarding it for a moment as a picture, the ninety and nine are dimly seen in the background, folded somewhere in the wilderness pasture; yet more remote is the lost one hidden away in the ravines of the mountains. The whole light is brought to a focus on the shepherd, either hastening away with anxious, eager quest, or returning with exulting joy. What then have we here of the shepherd? "He leaves the ninety and nine in the wilderness!" Are we required to find an exact equivalent to that ninety and nine? Must we show some proportion of the human race, some percentage of the saved and lost? or must we find some specified number of unfallen angels, or of worlds where sin is not? This were to lose, as it seems to me, the point of view of an exquisite picture. Surely no precise proportion is here intended; the numerical contrast belongs to the true development of the central thought which is here illustrated. The loss must be the least possible in order to bring out in highest relief the Shepherd's anxious love. "All safe but one! One, said you, one only? Let it go. Why did it wander? why should I risk life, or limb, or even toil? It may return; if not, it will hardly be missed when I gather night and morning my ninety and nine." Nay, it is the reverse. "One gone! I must follow it; it cannot return; it will perish; I will not lose it." Here is no question of the discovery of some arithmetical ratio; it is a picture of emotion, of anxiety, and toil, in which these numbers supply the contrast of light and shade to make manifest the Shepherd's love.

That Shepherd! Let us bring together these two verses: "I am the Good Shepherd; the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep."—"By whom also He made the worlds." In the great universe there might be myriads of holy creatures, myriads of unfallen worlds. The cry goes forth that they are incomplete, one is lacking from the full tale. The Lord of glory, He who has the wealth of creation, and the unexhausted might of creative power, is moved in the very seat of His power, that He may go forth to rescue and save. Can we overstate the wondrous truth which "the Son who is in the bosom of the Father" has thus "declared"—more than declared—illustrated with imperishable colours and unmistakable outlines. The love of God cannot fail to follow with its ceaseless care those creatures of His which have never gone astray. But, so to speak, He subordinates all else to this plan of redeeming, self-sacrificing love; he acts as if the lost were alone in the universe; he forgets, if we may say so, for our poor human race, the myriads of the unfallen, the angels, the principalities and powers in heavenly places. In the multitude of worlds which fill the great void of space He sees only one of the least, the little revolving planet on which we dwell. All this because of that poor lost sheep which is forlorn and wandering there. For this He suffers voluntary deposition from the throne of everlasting light; for this, casting aside the robe of the Godhead, and the adoration of the angels, He descends alone on the earth where the lost one may be found; He seeks—in order to seek he takes our form and likeness, he lives in suffering, he dies as the slave dies.

I am not speaking to those who need to be taught these things, who require quotation and verse to prove them. You, who know this mystery of the redeeming love of God, are here not to learn it, but to be detained awhile in meditation upon its depths. Yet it is at this mystery that unbelief starts aside, and comes in as one full of reverence cloaked with humility; it casts its eye on the myriad orbs which spangle the sky of night, and deems this little globe of earth a thing whose utter loss would sway with but slight oscillation the balance of the universe of God. And as for man, what is he? A creature so slight, so perishing, so foolish, that, inverting the Psalmist's meaning, it borrows his words—"Lord, what is man that thou art mindful of him?" Unbelief can be humble as well as proud—too proud to seek salvation, too humble to think itself worthy to be sought.

I do not think this unbelief really depends on the critical objections to individual things or words in Scripture which resound so loudly and are urged so persistently. These are but the dust of the conflict which rages around the Word of God; they hide the heat and centre of the fight. Those who make them know that other men, their equals in learning, count such objections as small things lying in the scales of the cumulative evidence for Holy Scripture; those who repeat them must for the most part know that they are not competent to weigh their value. And practically what becomes of such things when the heart itself is once aroused? These little verbal objections, the mere dust of controversy, subside; the heart, conscience-stricken, seizes this wondrous truth of eternity—infinite in its grasp, though lying within the compass of this small parable. I am lost—lost. God, with unutterable yearnings of Almighty love, seeks me. That I am lost, I know; else, why this overpowering sense of sin? why this sad, purposeless life? why this dense, brooding darkness? I am "stumbling on the dark mountains;" I can reach no vantage-ground from which I may find an outlook over the infinite future; I am lost indeed. But this other thought, that God has seen me lost, has pitied me, longed for me, gone forth to search for me; can this also be true?—true as I know the other is true? If I may think this, the dawn begins to break upon the dark surrounding mountains. No longer without purpose or hope human life marks its faint wandering track on the shifting sands of time. Then I am not lost, I am being carried onward by love to a haven of light. How may I know this? Who but God can tell me the purpose of God? His revelation has opened to me the great secret of His love, and His inconceivable search; and now my heart tells me it is true—my love answers to His love. Where are my doubts now? That which has made clear to me the mystery of my spiritual state, and of God searching for His lost one, whom He desired with ineffable love, is truth and light to me. Is it not thus that doubt and unbelief vanish, and we know by our own hearts answering to God's Word that it is even so? and if the one sheep is lost, He will leave the ninety and nine and go after that which is lost until He find it.

As we have learned to understand Missions they are nothing else than this very parable. They are the action of the great Shepherd going forth to seek His lost ones. They are not the propagation of a creed or a formulary; though this also will follow. They are not the enlargement of some highly valued Church; though that also may result. Still less are Missions the spread of civilization, with its often questionable blessings, and its very certain evils, although civilization too will come—for "all these things shall be added to you." Yet these things, which are but the attendants, handmaids, or consequences of Missions, are all the world can see, and all the world bids us take with us, or encourages us to aim at. But these are not what God sees. He yearns for the lost sheep. He "sent His Son to be the Saviour of the world." The Son of man came "to seek and to save that which was lost;" He died to be "the propitiation for our sins;" He gives His Spirit that we may have "the adoption of sons."

This is the point of the parable before us, in which the Saviour set forth His own purpose—the purpose of His life and death; this is the issue before us at this moment; this is the spring of all true self-denial; this has given steadfast reliance to the dying Missionary—it is the love of God in Christ going forth to search for His lost ones.

It is, then, a Divine instinct in the soul which first founded, and has since maintained, this Society, and which has animated the heart of every man who has been one of its true Missionaries. If that mysterious contact with the very heart of God, if that insight into His Divine will and purpose towards fallen man, ever waxes faint and dull, the Society will languish. If, which God forbid, this simple truth of the Divine yearning should be lost, this Society would perish; some ecclesiastical skeleton of it might survive, or some seemly mechanism of philanthropic exertion might remain in action, but the Divine life, the internal harmony with God, the transcendent privilege of spiritual unity in work with Him who is a Spirit, would have perished.

Brethren, I have not paused to take up or even glance at the dark mysteries and abstruse (perhaps insoluble) questionings which gather thickly round this loss of man, this search of God. So far as this Society has life, it is the life of faith.

All I have desired to be permitted to do has been to take a glance of faith at this very direct utterance of the Son of God, who alone "knows the Father." That glance of faith—"beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord"—opens out for us a glimpse into the great compassionate heart of God. It may do us good to stop and look at such a sight. You may be desolate, and Divine comfort may be far away. Then look up—see the Lord Himself dying for you, because He knew you were a lost, helpless creature whom no one cared for; look up, and seek that Spirit which shall teach you to cry, Abba, Father! while you think of that love.

And surely for ourselves on this great anniversary we can wish nothing that could touch our own souls more nearly. Oh, what can we think of those who have not been found, as we were found? What of all those millions of poor heathen lost in the dark mountains? Did my Lord and Saviour die for these? has He forgotten them, that they are thus perishing? No; He never forgets; but, oh, it is we who forget. He left the work to us. He said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature;" and for ages no one went; and we have only within a very few years begun to go. But He has shown that He has not forgotten. The Missionary has gone forth, often feeble and forlorn, an isolated man, with little eloquence, and hardly able to lisp the strange language. But the great Shepherd is with him; it is He who puts forth His mighty arm; He takes the poor defiled heathen while His servant tries to speak for Him; He lays the lost one on His shoulder; He folds him in the great love of God, and cleanses him from the defilements of his wanderings, and carries him rejoicing to the sheltering place where all the redeemed ones rest.

Brethren, we are strong while we realize this. We are weak when we lose sight of it, and become entangled among the petty yet inevitable cares—the vexations of the Committee room; the disturbances of ecclesiastical divergencies; the weaknesses of agents; and the failures of contribution lists. "Keep yourselves in the love of God" is the secret of strength.

But the picture drawn for us in our text by the Saviour's hand gives us yet another glimpse that may nerve our failing vigour. The end is wholly joy. The Shepherd "lays it on His shoulders rejoicing." . . . He "calls his friends and his neighbours, saying, Rejoice with me." . . . "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God." We cannot search into these things. But this comes out with consummate clearness.

There is sympathy with us in heaven—grief at the loss of a poor sinner—joy when he is found—joy when he is brought home safely. Here, then, again is strength, to be in tune with these heavenly harmonies, to feel that grief, to enter into that joy.

Thinking of these things, must we not remember that captain in the Lord's host whose sweetness and love, as well as power, were with us only last year? How full was he of that heavenly sympathy, that most helpful grief, that radiancy of joy! What a holy calmness, what sweet serenity dwelt in his heart and rested on his brow even when anxiety in those last days pressed hardly, and labour was most heavy! Men have said since that there was a ripeness for heaven, a readiness for the eternal calm in which he is resting.

It was a wearied frame that sank under the cold waters of that mountain lake, and that sank (few of us doubt) because it had been overtaxed and was so weary—weary with the long, ceaseless search, though never weary of it. So the Master whom he loved so well, and whose quest he followed, carried him home at last.

Has he now done with this parable? Have those others, Venn and the blessed line of his predecessors, have they done with it? No; their searching time is gone, but their rejoicing time is come. The quest is over, but the joy remains. We are not parted. Let our joy now be in the search; there will be greater joy hereafter—that strange pulse of joy which vibrates through heaven from the throne itself, that joy which is "before the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth."

For us the work remains. May we be "strong in the Lord and the power of His might." And if our hearts grow faint, let us think of that "great Shepherd of the sheep" going forth in His love, so strong and so patient, and searching, even on the cross, for the lost one. Let His love, His joy be ours. Then, at last, through infinite mercy, His glory shall be ours.

REPORT,

It is with humble thanksgiving to God that the Committee desire to acknowledge the unwearied activity and ready liberality which have been so marked a feature of the past year, and which, notwithstanding commercial and agricultural depression, enable the Committee to announce that the total Receipts for the year have been 207,508*l.*

Of this sum 3007*l.* is a tribute of affection to the memory of Henry Wright; 5195*l.* has been contributed for and devoted to the Contingency Fund; 9620*l.* has been given for the double purpose of sending out some of the men detained at home and enabling the Committee to push forward their work as new fields may open before them, and 189,685*l.* is applicable to General Expenditure.

Benefactions			21,006	5	1
Legacies	£24,600	8 9
Less, to Contingency Fund	3690	0 0
			20,910	8	9
Sundries			8162	15	4
			189,685	9	3
From Extension Fund			1195	12	10

The General Expenditure is 192,310*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.*, which leaves the sum of 1428*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.* to be met out of the Contingency Fund.

This Fund, in accordance with the new arrangements, is to afford an opportunity of capitalizing some part of the year's Legacies, and the Committee have accordingly carried to it the sum of 3690*l.* Contributions have also been received from friends amounting to 1505*l.* The Fund has borne payments during the year amounting to 4354*l.*, and, through the kind assistance of friends who have agreed to meet under certain conditions the excess of Expenditure over Income, will be replenished so as to stand at 11,514*l.*

A few words of explanation are necessary with regard to the Extension and Enlargement Fund. The sums which have been received in response to the appeal of the Society's valued friends, the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth and the Rev. V. J. Stanton, as well as those given for the purpose of sending out some of the ordained men kept at home, have been placed to this Fund, and the sums expended in the despatch of these Missionaries have been drawn from it. A balance of 8425*l.* remains to the credit of the Fund, of which 5000*l.* will be reserved for the special purposes for which the donations were given, leaving 3425*l.* available for future enlargement and extension of the Society's operations; to which has been added, since these figures were made up, an anonymous gift of 3571*l.*

The figures of Receipt and Expenditure seem to justify the Committee in thinking that the recent financial arrangements they have made are acceptable to their supporters, and have not proved detrimental to the effectiveness of their missionary operations. On the one hand, while they are aware that some of their Missions feel difficulty in reducing expenditure, the Mission accounts show that the Committee have not been called upon to add more than about 3000*l.* to their estimates; and on the other hand, the special efforts of friends, judging from the contributions to the Extension Fund, appear to be directed in nearly equal proportions to obviating the necessity of keeping back European missionaries, and to placing the Committee in a position to go forward as new opportunities offer.

The Committee feel that the broad results of the year, viz., a clear account for the General Fund, and a sum of 3425*l.* in hand for the extension and the enlargement of the Society's Missions, may well call forth feelings of the deepest gratitude to God for the past, and of confidence and hope for the future.

The past year has brought very close home to the Church Missionary Society the solemn truth that the time is short, and that if the Lord permits some of His servants to serve Him here upon earth through many long years, He calls others to His immediate presence in the very midst of their usefulness. Within five weeks, in the summer of 1880, John C. Miller and Edward Auriol entered into the rest they had long been expecting, and Henry Wright and George Maxwell Gordon were summoned as in a moment to a higher service for the King they loved. The Committee would render humble and heartfelt thanksgiving to Almighty God for the great services which, by His inspiring grace, all four were enabled to do for the Church Missionary Society, and through it for the extension of the kingdom of Christ throughout the world. Dr. Miller in the pulpit and on the platform, and Mr. Auriol in the Committee-room and in still more private council, had few equals in devotion to the Society's spiritual principles, intimate knowledge of its work, and wisdom in pleading its cause. Mr. Gordon, as a missionary who gave both himself and his substance freely and unreservedly to the Society's service, and who died as a soldier of the cross ministering to the bodily and spiritual wants of the soldiers of his country, has left a bright example to all who come after him. Of Henry Wright, with his affectionate and sympathizing disposition, his large-heartedness of spirit, his unbounded generosity, his untiring industry, his complete dedication of time and talents and property to the Master's service, his holy and prayerful walk with God, the Committee would say with deep thankfulness, "The Lord gave him," and with humble submission, "The Lord hath taken him away." Nor can they look back over the eight years of his Secretaryship without adding, "Blessed be the name of the Lord!" They dare not regard his removal as "premature." It was his own favourite phrase that "God measures life by love," and so measured, his life was a long one indeed.

In opening a Fund for the purpose of keeping fresh in the memory of the Society the devoted services of their late beloved fellow-worker, the Committee have felt that they had the hearty concurrence of all their friends. Remembering his deep, active, and generous interest in the evangelization of Africa, they felt that a memorial which would be of practical service in that great cause would be the most appropriate. In the choice they made of the object to which this Fund should be applied, they were guided by their desire to carry out Mr. Wright's known views and wishes, that the Highland Lassie given by himself and his family should be replaced by a larger and more suitable vessel, and that such a steamer would be of the greatest service to the Society's East and Central African Missions. They have therefore invited contributions to provide a missionary ship for the East African coast. The response, including promises, amounts to 4100*l.*, and the Committee trust that within the next twelve months there may be a Henry Wright mission steamer doing the same excellent service on the East Coast that is being rendered by the Henry Venn on the West Coast.

The Committee would acknowledge the goodness of God in guiding them, as they believe, to the selection of a successor in the Secretariat. They submit with confidence to this meeting the name of the Rev. F. E. Wigram, assured that he will be specially welcomed both on account of his near relationship to his beloved predecessor, and because, like both Henry Venn and Henry Wright, he freely places his services at the Society's disposal as an Honorary Secretary.

[Since this Report was presented, Major-General George Hutchinson, C.B.,C.S.I., has been appointed Lay Secretary of the Society, in succession to Mr. Edward Hutchinson.]

The Rev. John Rooker, having accepted the Vicarage of St. Peter's, Clifton, has resigned the Directorship of the Missionaries' Children's Home. The Committee thankfully acknowledge the valuable services rendered by him and Mrs. Rooker in the care and education of the children of the Society's missionaries during two periods of office, extending together over ten years. The Committee have appointed as his successor the Rev. A. J. P. Shepherd, M.A., Fellow, Lecturer, and Chaplain of Queen's College, Oxford, and late Chaplain to the Bishop of Lahore. They would here express hearty thanks to the Rev. T. K. and Mrs. Weatherhead, late of Bombay, who have taken charge of the Home in the interim.

HOME ORGANIZATION.

During the past year, the Committee have been making active efforts to extend and perfect a department of the Society's organization which was initiated twenty years ago, but has not hitherto been largely developed. In 1860, the Committee, while heartily acknowledging the valuable and self-sacrificing labours of the Treasurers and Secretaries of Associations, of their clerical supporters, and of the individual collectors throughout the country, expressed an opinion that enlarged resources might be obtained through the assistance of Honorary District Secretaries appointed by the Parent Committee, and representing the Society itself. They proposed "a sub-division of counties into districts of such moderate size that clergymen and laymen of influence might undertake to canvass their neighbours for support, and to arrange for meetings, sermons, and deputations. Such a sub-division of labour," they thought, "would greatly augment the efficiency of the Association Secretaries." A considerable number of Honorary District Secretaries have accordingly been appointed from time to time; and many of them have done the Society great service in the way indicated. But, except in one county, Norfolk, the scheme has not been carried out in its entirety. Individuals have worked nobly, but there has been little combination. The districts have been undefined, and large portions of the ground have not been covered. The Committee have lately been endeavouring to extend and develope the system, and they are glad to be able to report that a large number of additional Honorary District Secretaries have accepted office, by no means as an honourable sinecure, but as involving real responsibilities to the Society. The following counties are now entirely mapped out into defined districts, with an Hon. Secretary for each district:—Bedfordshire, Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, Cambridgeshire, Derbyshire, Devonshire, Hampshire, Huntingdonshire, Leicestershire, Norfolk, Northamptonshire, Nottinghamshire, Oxfordshire, Shropshire, Somersetshire, Staffordshire, Suffolk, Warwickshire, and East and West Yorkshire. In other counties similar arrangements are in progress.

In Norfolk, for some years past, a Church Missionary Union has proved a most useful agency in bringing the clerical and lay friends of the Society together periodically for prayer and conference, and strengthening their love and loyalty to its spiritual principles. Church Missionary Unions on the same plan have now been organized for Cambridgeshire, Bedfordshire, and Huntingdonshire; for Essex; for Hampshire and the Isle of Wight; for Leicestershire; for Nottinghamshire; for Suffolk; and also for East London. The Committee thank God for these tokens of widening and deepening interest in the Society and its work. They are assured that under the stimulus thus supplied, increased resources may be confidently looked for; and they pray that much blessing may be vouchsafed to all these efforts to arouse the sympathies of Christian people in behalf of the evangelization of the world.

SUPPLY OF MISSIONARIES.

The policy of retrenchment which the Committee were constrained to adopt last year, in view of the rapid increase in the number of European Missionaries, involved the necessity of keeping back several candidates ready and eager to be employed in the Mission field. There were already six remaining of the preceding year's supply from the Islington Institution; and to these were added, by the special ordination of Missionaries at St. Paul's Cathedral on St. Barnabas' Day, June 11th, sixteen more (excluding an African presented for orders at the same time). Yet the Committee had, after most careful examination of the Society's position, determined upon sending forth only five new men each year for three years, besides permitting each year eight of those who might be at home on sick leave or otherwise, to return to the field. Several friends, however, whose hearts God had touched with a just sense of humiliation at the failure of His people to provide the means for support for the agents He had raised up in answer to their own prayers, generously came forward and offered special contributions for the purpose of sending out at once some of the detained men. The Committee could only thank God for these offers, and accept them as indications of His will; and although they felt the responsibility of making an increase to the staff which must add to the Society's liabilities in years to come, they have, after full deliberation, sent forth three of the five allotted to the present year one year sooner, and seven others whose expenses are guaranteed for three years. Besides these, yet five more have been permitted to go under special circumstances; making fifteen in addition to the original five. Of these twenty, fourteen were Islington men (leaving eight still detained at home); two were graduates of Cambridge, one of Oxford, and one of Dublin; one was from St. Bees; and one was a Lay agent. In addition, again, to all these, two Cambridge graduates already in the field have been accepted, one in Madras, and one in New Zealand.

During the year seven candidates have been accepted for further training; and the number now at Islington and Reading is thirty, besides nine awaiting ordination.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

During the year sixteen European Missionaries, including three Laymen already engaged in the Missions, and one Native, were admitted to Deacon's Orders by the Bishop of London; one by the Bishop of Mauritius, acting under a Commission from the Bishop of London; four Natives by the Bishop of Colombo; two Natives by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; one Native by the Bishop of Madras; and two Natives by the Bishop of Victoria; making a total of twenty-seven deacons. Twenty-five deacons, including twelve Natives, have been admitted to Priest's Orders, viz., three by the Archbishop of Canterbury; three by the Bishop of London; four by the Right Rev. Bishop Perry, and one by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Mid China, both acting under the Bishop of London's Commission; one by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; two by the Bishop of Jerusalem; two by the Bishop of Madras; three by the Bishop of Victoria; and six by the Bishop of Auckland.

NUMBER OF LABOURERS.

During the year 1880-81, twenty-one European Clergymen have been sent out from England or received in the Mission; and thirty-one European labourers of all classes have, through death or other causes, ceased to be on the Society's list. The number of labourers on May 1st, 1881, is as follows:—

Abroad—
Missionaries in Holy Orders	175
Lay Missionaries	30
Female Teachers	8	—213
At Home—
Missionaries in Holy Orders	35
Lay Missionaries	6
		257

The present number of ordained Native labourers is 201, exclusive of the Clergy attached to the Sierra Leone Native Church. There are also eight country-born clergy engaged as agents of the Society.

Missions.

WEST-AFRICA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived in 1804.)

FOR some years past the absorbing interest of the great missionary enterprises in East and Central Africa has tended to withdraw attention from the Western coast of the Dark Continent, on which the first triumphs of the Gospel by the instrumentality of the Church Missionary Society were achieved. The Committee trust that West Africa may now again claim a fairer share of the Society's resources both in men and means, and of those prayers of the holy and humble men of heart upon which, in the gracious providence of a prayer-hearing God, so much of missionary success depends. One of the important events of the year has been the visit of the Rev. J. B. Whiting and the Lay Secretary to Madeira, as a deputation from the Committee to confer with Bishop Crowther and other representatives from the Niger, Yoruba, and Sierra Leone Missions, upon certain causes of anxiety that existed in each of these three fields of labour, and to devise plans for the consolidation and development of the work in all three. The Committee warmly acknowledge the able services of the Deputation, and confidently look forward to important and happy results from the Conference in all three branches of the West Africa Missions.

The Madeira Deputation.

The Bishop of Sierra Leone is on the point of returning to England and resigning his see, after a service in Africa of eleven years, the longest episcopate since the Bishopric was founded. The first three bishops, it will be remembered, died at their posts within a year or two of their consecration. The Society is deeply indebted to Dr. Cheetham for his untiring and devoted labours from first to last.

Bishop Cheetham.

In SIERRA LEONE, and even in the interior countries approached from it, the Committee do not look forward to an extension of the Society's own operations: rather to the increasing readiness and ability of the African Church to undertake missionary as well as pastoral work. The only European agents remaining are the Principal and Vice-Principal of Fourah Bay College, the Director of the Female Institution, and a young lay missionary at Port Lokkoh; and each of these spheres of labour, it may be hoped, may ultimately be occupied by Africans.

Fourah Bay College.

The Madeira Deputation report that the affiliation of Fourah Bay with Durham University has given a decided stimulus to the desire for higher education on the West Coast, and that African Christians will be prepared in due time to take the responsibility of providing that higher education; while the signal success of the Grammar School, which, under the able managemennt of an African head-master, has long been self-supporting, encourages the hope that the College also will lose no prestige when the day comes for its transfer to Native hands.

Progress of the Sierra Leone Church.

The Native Christians connected with the Church of England number some 16,000, or about one-half the Christian population of the colony. Of the rest, the majority are Wesleyans. There are fifteen pastorates or parishes, most of them being old C.M.S. stations. The number of Native Clergy connected directly with the Sierra Leone Church as pastors or missionaries is nineteen, which is exclusive of three in Government employ as Colonial Chaplains and three in the service of the C.M.S. Five were ordained last year by Bishop Cheetham. The following notice of this ordination is from the Missionary Friend, a well-edited local magazine :—

On Trinity Sunday, 23rd May, in St. George's Cathedral, Freetown, the following were ordained deacons :—

John Asgil, Curate of Christ Church, Pademba Road.

N. H. Boston, L.Th., Fourah Bay Coll. (Durham University), Secretary to Sierra Leone Church Missions.

N. S. Davies, B.A., Fourah Bay Coll. (Durham University), Tutor of Fourah Bay College.

D. Felix, Fourah Bay Coll., Curate of Trinity, Kissey Road.

S. Hughes, L.Th., Fourah Bay Coll. (Durham University), Bishop Cheetham's Itinerating Missionary to the Northern Rivers.

The Ordination Sermon was preached by Rev. James Johnson from John xx. 21, As My Father hath sent Me, even so I send you, and dwelt chiefly on Christ's commission to His Church, which commission the Church delegates to her ministers. The candidates were presented by the Rev. M. Sunter, M.A., Master of Fourah Bay College. The cathedral was densely crowded.

During the examination week, at the request of the Bishop, addresses were delivered to the candidates at Bishop's Court by Revs. D. G. Williams, M. Pearce, and J. Johnson, dwelling chiefly on the duties and responsibilities of the ministerial office.

The Native Church Anniversary was held on May 18th and 19th, 1880. The Rev. James Johnson, who was on a visit to Sierra Leone at the time, preached in the cathedral from 2 Cor. xi. 8—"I robbed other churches, taking wages of them, to do you service"—and strongly urged the duty of self-support. At the Annual Meeting, the Bishop presided, and the Report, presented by the Rev. D. G. Williams, stated the total receipts for the year to be 2017*l.* 1*s.* 3¼*d.*, and that the year had closed with a balance of 44*l.* in hand. The Bishop had confirmed 1230 persons; "spiritual work had much progressed;" and the Society's late Sherbro Mission had been taken into the Pastorate, the Rev. Obadiah Moore being appointed to it.

Missionary efforts of the Sierra Leone Church.

The local missionary society, the "Sierra Leone Church Missions," continues to prosper. Encouraging letters from its agents in the Bullom and Quiah districts, Tasso Island, &c., are printed in the magazine already referred to. In the number for October last, a very interesting account is given of a valedictory dismissal, on the plan so familiar to the Parent Society's friends in England, at which Instructions were delived to the Rev. N. H. and Mrs. Boston, appointed to the Bullom Mission, and to the Rev. S. Hughes, appointed to Isle-de-los, where there is a Mission carried on by a Church Society in Barbados. The Instructions and addresses on the occasion are printed in extenso, and are full of a true missionary spirit. Mr. Boston is Secretary of the Church Missions and editor of the Missionary Friend.

Sierra Leone Grammar School.

The Rev. M. Sunter has continued in his office of Principal of the Fourah Bay College, and has been assisted by the Rev. C. L. Reichardt, the Rev. N. S. Davies, one of the newly-ordained Africans mentioned above, and the Rev. J. B. Bowen (African). The Rev. James Quaker (African) is still at the head of the Grammar School, with Messrs. Spain and Marke (Africans trained in England) as his assistants. This school continues its flourishing career. There are 111 pupils, of whom 62 are boarders. The spirit in which the school is conducted is illustrated by the fact that there is a weekly prayer-meeting for the pupils, conducted by the tutors in turn, a weekly class of "inquirers" (who cannot be heathen, but the sons of Christian parents), and a monthly missionary meeting, at which the Society's periodicals are read and explained. The missionary hymns, with music, which have appeared in the Juvenile Instructor, have been eagerly learned by the boys. The School Missionary Association raises about 50*l.* a year for the "Sierre Leone Church Missions." In June, 1880, nineteen of the boys were confirmed by Bishop Cheetham.

The Annie Walsh Female Institution is under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Burton, with whom are associated Miss Young, and two African ladies, Miss Lynch and Miss Quaker. Mr. Burton acts also as the Society's Building and Industrial Agent in the Sierra Leone and Yoruba Missions.

PORT LOKKOH.

There is now only an English lay agent at this station, Mr. J. A. Alley. The Rev. A. Burtchaell, who had returned to England in weak health, was taken to his rest at an early age in Nov., 1880. Mr. Alley holds services, classes, &c., for both the English-speaking Sierra Leone settlers and the Timneh Natives. He has also, by conversations with passing traders, and by visits to neighbouring villages, endeavoured to make known the Gospel to Mohammedans and heathen from the interior.

YORUBA MISSION.

Badagry, 1845; Abeokuta and Oshielle, 1846; Ibadan, 1852; Otta, 1852; Lagos, 1852; Leke, 1875.

UNLIKE Sierra Leone, the YORUBA MISSION will need reinforcement from England. The Native Church at Lagos, indeed, continues to flourish, and raises large sums for religious objects; and in the interior, particularly at Ibadan and in the Ondo country, the Native missionaries in the employ of the Society have laboured with patience and acceptance, although in so much isolation. But "there remaineth very much land to be possessed," and the Committee four years ago formed plans for advance, which have not been carried out because the Mission has not been strengthened. With the exception of one young missionary added two years since, and another just sent out by means of special offerings made for the purpose in memory of Henry Wright by his congregation at Hampstead and by other friends, the youngest member of the European staff has been labouring twenty-one years—a fact which shows most significantly the necessity of adding to the number. In the meanwhile the Interior Mission has suffered much from two causes, (1) the continuance of inter-tribal wars, by which Ibadan and its out-stations are still cut off from free intercourse with Abeokuta, and can communicate with the coast only by a long and circuitous route; and (2) the difficulty of keeping the Native Christians clear of the evils of domestic slavery, which is the universal custom of the country. A Conference on this latter subject was held just a year ago at Lagos, which was attended by delegates from the Abeokuta congregations and others, and drew up certain rules to be observed in the Christian community.

Obstacles in the Yoruba Mission.

From Dec. 17th, 1880, to Feb. 20th, 1881, the Bishop of Sierra Leone was engaged in a visitation of the Yoruba Mission and Native Churches. Several of the functions performed by him are mentioned below. Here it may be stated in addition that he confirmed at the several stations he visited 479 Native candidates.

LAGOS.

The European missionaries at this port are the Rev. J. B. Wood, Secretary to the Yoruba and Niger Finance Committees; the Rev. A. and Mrs. Mann, in charge of the Female Institution; the Rev. C. H. V. Gollmer, Principal of the Training Institution; and the Rev. T. Cameron Wilson, the "Henry Wright" missionary above referred to. The Rev. J. A. Maser left for Europe in May, 1880. Previous to his departure, Mrs. Maser was presented by the Colonial Surgeon and the Colonial Treasurer, in the name of several English and Native friends, with a purse of fifty guineas, "in recognition of their appreciation of her many and valuable services in cases of sickness during her long residence in Lagos, rendered irrespective of creed or country."

Testimonial to a missionary's wife.

Lagos is divided into four districts for church purposes, viz., Faji, Breadfruit, Aroloya, and Ebute Ero. Of these the first only is now in direct connexion with the Society. The other three form the Lagos Native Pastorate, an organization on the Sierra Leone plan, which will, it is hoped, in course of time relieve the Society of the bulk of its responsibilities on the island of Lagos. The Native pastors are, at Aroloya, the Rev. N. Johnson; at Ebute Ero, the Rev. W. Morgan; and at Breadfruit, the Rev. James Johnson, who has returned to his old "parish," as explained in last year's Annual Report. This last-named district has been taken into the Pastorate organization from March 25th last. Its new church, St. Paul's, a spacious and commodious building raised mainly by the exertions of Archdeacon Henry Johnson, during his incumbency, was solemnly dedicated to the service of God by the Bishop of Sierra Leone on New Year's Day, on which occasion more than 1200 African Christians were present. The important congregation of this church, with the manifold parochial agencies of the district, need the services of two clergymen; and the Rev. S. Pearce has been acting as Assistant Curate. Lately, however, he has gone to fill a temporary vacancy at Bonny; and the Rev. E. F. Willoughby, who has been educated in England, and was ordained by the Bishop of London at the memorable ordination of twenty-two missionaries on June 11th, 1880, is now helping Mr. Johnson. These, it will be understood, are all Africans. No reports have been received this year from either of the three pastorate districts.

Progress of the Lagos Native Church.

In the Faji district, which remains directly under the Society, there are two churches, viz., Christ Church for the English-speaking population, which is served by the European missionaries; and St. Peter's for the Yoruba-speaking Christians of the district, the pastor of which is the Rev. T. B. Wright. A new church with the latter name was opened on Sept. 10th. Its congregation numbers 470 persons, of whom 267 are communicants. Their contributions for religious purposes amounted in the year to £139 8*s.* 5½*d.* Mr. Wright baptized sixteen adults on Sept. 5th, one of them being a Mohammedan woman.

Educational agencies at Lagos.

As at Sierra Leone, so at Lagos, the higher Educational Institutions are carried on by the Society. Here, too, they are three in number, the Training Institution, the Grammar School, and the Female Institution. Of the Grammar School no recent Report has been received. Its Principal is the Rev. Isaac Oluwole, B.A., one of the Fourah Bay students who have graduated by means of the affiliation with the University of Durham, and who was ordained by the Bishop of Sierra Leone on Feb. 13th last. In the Female Institution there have been from 54 to 58 girls, mostly the daughters of the more well-to-do Native Christians. In the early days of a community like that of Lagos, among whom material prosperity advances more rapidly than a high standard of morals, it is not to be wondered at that Mr. and Mrs. Mann are but partially satisfied with the tone prevailing among their pupils. Nevertheless they are encouraged by letters of genuine gratitude received from old students, showing that lasting good is being effected by their labours. The Native assistant teachers are well spoken of, and enjoy the respect of the girls and the confidence of the parents. In the Training Institution an essentially Scriptural education is given to twenty Native Students. The instruction includes Algebra, Geography, General History, English Grammar, Political Economy, Natural Science, and Moral Philosophy; but the main effort is directed to a thorough knowledge of Holy Scripture, and large portions are committed to memory. Mr. Gollmer refers to the instructions delivered to him by the late Hon. Clerical Secretary of the Society at his valedictory dismissal, in which the words occurred, "Like teacher, like scholar," and it is his "earnest desire and prayer that he may be a bright and living example to them all." Mr. Gollmer has other duties besides those of the Institution. He manages the Mission Book-shop. He is Secretary of the Lagos Auxiliary Association of the C.M.S. He takes an active part in superintending the elementary schools, which are under a School Board connected with the Native Church.

Aim of an educational missionary.

EBUTA META AND OTTA.

On the removal to Abeokuta of Mr. Faulkner, who had been for some years in charge of Ebuta Meta, making it a base for what might be called the Western Itinerancy, the Outlying Yoruba stations.

Rev. James White, the Native pastor at Otta, was appointed to succeed him. In the absence of an ordained pastor for Otta, that station also is superintended by Mr. White.

There are 635 Native Christian adherents connected with the two stations, including the neighbouring outlying farm villages of Ebuta Meta—Apapa, Iwaya, Muroko, Oja, Okuta, and Agege. Of these, 276 are communicants. Fifteen adults were baptized during the year.

BADAGRY.

The Native clergyman at this station, the Rev. Daniel Coker, is unable to report more hopefully than in previous years of the prospects of the Gospel among the peculiarly hard-hearted Popo people; but he has been well received by several of the petty kings and chiefs in the interior.

LEKE AND ONDO.

These stations represent the extension to the eastward undertaken five or six years ago. LEKE is in charge of Native lay teachers, and no detailed information has lately been received. The Bishop of Sierra Leone held a confirmation there in February. Of the ONDO Mission, on the other hand, an interesting account has been sent by the Rev. C. Phillips, the Native missionary at Ode Ondo, the capital of the country.* He has now a congregation of some eighty persons, mostly Ondos, but a few of them traders from Lagos. Seven adult converts were baptized during the year. A chief expressed to Mr. Phillips his conviction that seven years hence it will be hard to find in the country a sincere believer in idolatry; but, the latter well remarks, "mere disbelief in idolatry is not what we desire, for this might only result in atheism."

The god of small-pox.

The Ondo people have suffered severely by a visitation of small-pox, which caused great mortality, and moreover gave an opportunity to not a few impostors to make gain by pretending to drive away the disease, which is worshipped as a god. Others sought to raise an outcry against the Mission as the real cause of the calamity. This delusion may have been refuted by the heavy loss inflicted by the epidemic on the family of Mr. Phillips himself, three of his four children having been taken from him, in the mysterious providence of God, within three weeks.

Human Sacrifices among the Ondos.

The cruel custom of human sacrifices at burials is still observed by the Ondos. Among those who died during the year were two head chiefs. In one case five persons were immolated; and in the other (that of the Lisa or prime minister) fifteen were killed and their corpses thrown into the grave, while two others were buried in it alive. The British authorities, however, have been endeavouring to put a stop to these atrocities. In August an embassy was sent by the King of Ondo to Lagos, the head of it being a chief named Oyegbata, who has renounced idolatry, has learned to read the Yoruba Scriptures, and desires to be baptized, but cannot dispense with his numerous wives. The envoys were kindly received by the Governor of Lagos, and were expostulated with regarding the sacrifices of human beings; but without immediate result, for the death of the Lisa, and its horrible accompaniment, occurred after their return to Ode Ondo. But in December Consul Hewett proceeded up the lagoons and paid an official visit to the king, remaining at the town eight days; and after much discussion on this and other matters, a treaty was signed which provided for the abolition of human sacrifices. At the Consul's request, Mr. Phillips held a thanksgiving service in the mission chapel for the success God had vouchsafed to his efforts. This is an excellent example of the good moral influence which British Representatives abroad may exert, and the support they may indirectly but not less effectively lend to Christian Missions.

Good Influence of British Authorities at Lagos.

An official despatch from the Acting Administrator of Lagos conveys in very warm terms the "thorough and grateful appreciation" of himself and of the Consul for the "important services" rendered by Mr. Phillips on this occasion. Mr. Hewett is quoted as saying, "The Church Missionary Society is to be congratulated on possessing so faithful and so hard working a servant: his heart is thoroughly in the work, and his earnestness and energy must in time bear good fruit."

ABEOKUTA.

The period of the Rev. James Johnson's residence at Abeokuta as Superintendent of the Interior Yoruba Mission, viz., from March, 1877, to near the close of 1879, was a testing time for the Native Church, which had for so long been more or less left to itself. Mr. Johnson's Reports, which were published at great length in the C.M. Intelligencer, contained much that was highly encouraging; yet it was evident that in the Christian community at Abeokuta, numbering more than 2000 souls, many of them hereditary Christians of the second generation, there were not a few actuated by very mixed motives, and far from maintaining a high standard of godliness. Mr. Johnson laboured most devotedly for their spiritual improvement, and not without success. But two matters became causes of serious controversy and division. In the first place Mr. Johnson, having been specially commissioned by the Society to endeavour to rouse the Church to greater efforts for the support of its own religious ordinances, strove with characteristic energy to bring about a general rise in the scale of class fees, &c., which was strenuously resisted by some of the people. In the second place, being also desired by the Committee to take measures for the clearing of the Christian community from the taint of domestic slavery—at least so far as the mission agents were concerned—he flung himself not less vigorously into the conflict with a system naturally hateful to one who is himself an example of the happy results of British interposition in behalf of African slaves (his parents having been rescued by British ships). On both questions he was well supported by the Christian balogun or war-chief, John Okenla, and by the leading Native Christian merchant at Abeokuta, Mr. Henry Robbin. But a party in the Church opposed him as vehemently as some of the believing Jews opposed St. Paul in his long struggle for the freedom of the Gospel; and perhaps Mr. Johnson may have acted with some undue impetuosity. The result, however, was that it was thought necessary, for his own sake, as well as for that of the cause he had so faithfully served, to restore him to his former less difficult sphere of labour in Lagos, and to place an English missionary at Abeokuta for a while. The Rev. V. Faulkner, who laboured there prior to the outbreak of 1867, and is therefore known to the older chiefs, removed thither from Ebuta Meta in May, 1880. He found not a little in the condition of the Native Church to pain and grieve him; and many difficulties arose in carrying out the rules (already alluded to) which were framed by the Lagos Conference on Domestic Slavery in the spring of last year. It was not until the visit of the Bishop of Sierra Leone in January of the present year that matters were satisfactorily arranged, as it may be hoped they now are. The Committee are deeply indebted to Bishop Cheetham for his kindness and patience in dealing with this and other difficult questions, and for the wisdom of his decisions in several cases submitted to his judgment. And they earnestly trust that these controversies being now out of the way, the Native Church may have rest, and be edified, and walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost, be multiplied.

Struggle with Slavery at Abeokuta.

Mr. Faulkner gives the number of Christian adherents at Abeokuta and its out-stations as 2113, of whom 644 are communicants. There are 130 boys and 122 girls in the schools. The contributions of the people during the year amounted to 267*l.* 15*s.* 9¼*d.* The baptisms were—adults, 45; children, 42. The Bishop confirmed 147 candidates during his visit.

IBADAN.

The Rev. D. Olubi has continued to superintend the work of the Mission, with special charge of the township of Kudeti; while Messrs. S. Johnson, W. S. Allen, and J. Okusendhe have had charge of the two other townships, the first two of Oke Aremo and the last of Ogunpa. Mr. A. F. Foster and Mr. G. Vincent are the agents at the out-stations of Iseyin and Ilesa.

Trials at Ibadan.

During last year the work was greatly impeded by the state of warfare still subsisting between Ibadan and Abeokuta. Owing to this the movements of the agents were restricted, or to use the expression of one of them, they were "shut up as birds in a cage." The roads were closed, and serious privations have been endured. Journals up to June, 1880, have been received, which manifest the faith that upholds the agents in their work, and their belief that present calamities will ultimately be overruled for good, both to themselves and to those to whom they minister.

the prospects more hopeful and inviting. Reports came home which seemed to indicate general weakness and failure on the part of the Native agents, and against some of them serious charges were made. To inquire into these matters was the object of a visit paid to the river last year, at the Committee's desire, by the Rev. J. B. Wood of Lagos, and also one of the principal duties laid upon the Madeira Deputation. The result of Mr. Wood's inquiries, and of the conference with Bishop Crowther and Archdeacon Crowther at Madeira was the conviction that some of the reports had sufficient foundation, but were of an exaggerated character. In the worst case, as reported, the man was not an agent of the Society, though at one time indirectly connected with the Mission. At the remoter stations on the river, it was clear that evil results had followed from the isolation of the agents, who in three or four cases, surrounded as they were by temptations, and with few helps in leading a godly life, had failed to maintain the consistency of their Christian character. Moreover, some of them had engaged in trading, which, however innocent in itself, tended to arouse the jealousy of the regular traders, and thus to supply a motive for not a few unfounded reports. All these subjects have received the prayerful consideration of the Committee. The voluntary resignation of three or four of the agents relieved the Mission of one cause of weakness. One or two other doubtful cases remain to be investigated by the Bishop. Strict rules have been laid down with regard to trading, and the scale of stipends, which was very low, has at the same time been revised. Many inquiries having been made by the Society's friends respecting these various matters, the Committee have felt it right thus briefly to summarize the actual facts.*

Openings on the Upper Niger.

On the other hand, the Deputation returned to England with increased respect and regard for the leaders of the Mission and for some of the other agents; and also with a deepened sense of the reality of God's work of grace in the Delta of the Niger, and of the wonderful openings for extended missionary effort on the upper river—or rather rivers, i. e. both the Kworra and the Binué. The remarkable exploratory voyage of the Henry Venn Mission steamer up the latter great waterway, in 1879, not only revealed the existence of tribe after tribe ready to receive teachers, but reminded us that by the two great branches of the Niger we have a facility of access into Central Africa to which no route from the East Coast affords a parallel.* The Committee are persuaded that one of the Society's earliest advances should be in this direction; and a nobler field for the Krapfs and Livingstones of the future cannot be imagined.

In view of these inviting openings, the Committee feel that the time has come when on the Niger, as much as in other parts of Africa, the white man should take his place by the side of the black man in proclaiming the name of their common Lord and Saviour. Moreover, white traders have become numerous on the river; and it is not desirable that the heathen Natives should suppose traffic, however legitimate, to be the only motive of the white man in visiting them, and religion to be a thing for the black man only. As a first step, therefore, on the recommendation of the Madeira Conference, arrangements have been made for the Niger Mission to be put upon a footing similar to that of other Missions, and to be administered by a regular Missionary Conference and Finance Committee, under the presidency of the Bishop, but with an English Secretary as the direct representative of the Parent Society. To this end, therefore, the Committee hope that the providence of God may direct them to a clergyman of experience willing to spend and be spent in this cause. His presence and counsel will be warmly welcomed by Bishop Crowther and Archdeacons Dandeson Crowther and Henry Johnson, to whom, and to the other Native clergy and lay agents, the Henry Venn would enable him to be of the greatest service.

Plans for the Niger Mission.

Another subject which received the careful attention of the Madeira Conference was the importance of making provision for the sound and systematic training of the present and future teachers and ministers of the rising Native Churches on the Niger. The Committee have warmly approved the plans agreed upon for the regular theological instruction of the agents by Archdeacons Crowther and Johnson, the preparation of Christian books in the languages of the Niger territories, and the establishment of small boarding-schools for the Scriptural education of promising boys; as well as for the promotion of female mission work by the wives of the Native agents—upon which important subject the Deputation report that they had very satisfactory consultations with Mrs. Dandeson Crowther.

In 1879 Bishop Crowther had been prevented by the serious illness of his wife from leaving Lagos for his regular visitation of the Mission. Last summer, however, he left her lying on a sick-bed, proceeded to the river, and made the round of all the stations, occupying six months in doing so. On Oct. 17th he returned to Lagos, and found her at the point of death. "It was," he says, "one of her earnest wishes, during her long illness, that she might die in my arms;" and he arrived just in time to commend her departing spirit to the Lord. Adjai, afterwards Samuel Crowther, and Asano, afterwards Susanna Crowther, were children of the same tribe, kidnapped, rescued, and landed at Sierra Leone about the same time, and scholars of the same C.M.S. school there. They were married in 1829. The Committee would here express their sincere sympathy with their venerable friend on this heavy bereavement.

STATIONS IN THE DELTA.

There are four stations at four of the principal outlets of the network of streams forming the Niger Delta, viz., Akassa, at the mouth of the main channel, the Nun; Brass; New Calabar; and Bonny.

The remarkable character of the movement towards Christianity in the Brass and Bonny territories is fully confirmed by the inquiries of the Deputation. It is emphatically an indigenous movement, due mainly to the voluntary efforts of the converts themselves. The people by hundreds are throwing away their idols and attending Christian services. At BONNY, sixty-seven duly instructed adult converts were baptized last summer, one of them being the rich woman mentioned in the last Annual Report as daily gathering her large household together for family prayer; and there are nearly 400 candidates for baptism. The two churches are thronged every Sunday, and one of them has been enlarged to hold nearly a thousand persons; a chapel has lately been built in a neighbouring hamlet by King George Pepple, who is taking a very hearty interest in the Mission, and setting a good example to his subjects; while the famous juju temple studded with human skulls is going to ruins. A village opposite Bonny, on the other side of the river, has been named by the inhabitants "the Land of Israel," because there is not an idol to be found in it; and any persons in Bonny town who may be persecuted, as some still are, by those chiefs who are clinging to heathenism, are invited to take refuge in this "Land of Israel." At a large town thirty miles in the interior, named Okrika, which is a central market of some importance, the chiefs and people, influenced by what they had seen at Bonny, and without ever having been visited by a Christian teacher, spontaneously built a church, with a galvanized iron roof and benches to seat 300 worshippers, got a school-boy from Brass to read the church service on Sundays, and then sent to ask the Bishop to give them a missionary. This place was visited by Archdeacon Crowther for the first time in August last. His account of his reception is deeply interesting :— Indigenous Christianity at Okrika.

On the 13th of August I landed at Okrika, and was warmly welcomed by all the leading chiefs of the country. King George Pepple had got every chief of Bonny to give a boy or two to man his gig-canoe that took me ; so that my going to Okrika was not an act of an individual, but of the king and all the chiefs. So glad were the Okrika people to see the first missionary in their land, that visitors poured in that evening, and though we had prayers at ten o'clock p.m. they did not stop coming in till twelve at midnight. Reception of an African Archdeacon at a heathen town.

The next day, Saturday, I visited the king ; no less than eight chiefs, with their followers and people, went with me. I there made known the object of my visit, that I was sent by the Bishop, through the help and convenience afforded me by the Bonny king and chiefs, to preach the Gospel, according to the Divine command given by our Lord. I then took out my Bible, and gave a brief address on the creation, the fall, and redemption by Christ. After this I plainly stated that they should not expect from us wealth, neither that, by our coming to Okrika, merchants, ships, &c., wonld follow, but that our work is, and will be, to seek the salvation of souls, and whatever we teach their young is subservient to this. The king answered that what I had told them was good, and he was glad to welcome us ; that every one is at liberty to embrace whatever religion he likes. I invited him to come to church ; this he promised to do when we are established.

On Sunday, the church, measuring 53 feet by 19 feet, and 9 feet high, built by the Okrika chiefs, and covered over with galvanized sheetings, was filled in the morning with 403 persons, among whom were nine chiefs, who are the leading ones of the country. In the afternoon there were 410, and the nine chiefs. I read prayers in Ibo, and all answered nicely. The sermon was a double interpreting into Okrika and Ibo by David, an interpreter I took with me, as there are nearly as many Ibos as Okrikas in the country. The morning text was St. John iii. 16; the afternoon, 1 Kings xviii. 21.

On Monday I was taken round the town by all the chiefs, and shown a large piece of ground, not five minutes' walk from the town, for the Mission station. It is quite an open and good high ground, with three villages at the back, and the town in front; the furthermost village is about ten minutes' walk. The population of Okrika cannot be less than 10,000. That Monday evening all the chiefs were sent for, fifteen in all, to test how far they could give in support of the work. I told them the state of the funds of the Society at present, and how the funds are collected by the self-denial of many persons, and even children, of things for their own good. I went on to eradicate the idea that the Queen gives "plenty of money" to send missionaries abroad, an idea prevalent along the coast here; who the informants are we don't know. I told them how Bonny people gave 300*l.* at the establishment of the Mission in their country, Brass 200*l.*, New Calabar 200*l.*; after which the school fees came to 100*l.* every year, being 2*l.* a year for every boy, and no less than fifty boys to commence with. They answered, that they would consult, and let the Bishop know what they could give, as they were willing to do so. I need not add that there is wealth in the country; the only difficulty is the tutoring them to the habit of giving regularly; this, with prayer, perseverance, and good management, will eventually be overruled.

An African Archdeacon making bricks.

I took with me from Bonny a brick-mould I brought with me on my last visit to Lagos, and asked the chiefs to show me their clay (as Okrika is a sort of promontory shooting out from the mainland, though at flood-tide the creeks are full, and make it an island). In ten minutes they sent for and brought two boxes of clay, which I got their boys to tread. The first six bricks I turned out myself, to the astonishment of all. The chiefs tried to prevent my soiling my hands, but I told them that work is one of the teachings of the Bible, and if honestly done no one should be ashamed of it.

The Lord has prepared the hearts of the people for the Gospel, as this incident will show. After the afternoon service and sermon, from 1 Kings xviii. 21—showing the triumph of Elijah's God over Baal, though Elijah was the only visible servant on the Lord's side, and Baal had King Ahab, Jezebel, the princes, chiefs, 850 prophets and priests, and the whole country, yet all had to acknowledge that his Lord is the God—a chief called Somiare, who had been hesitating, and happily was at church, came after service and shook my hands, and said, "Uka ogula tà"—palaver set to-day. I asked him how. He answered, "You will know to-morrow." On Monday morning he came in a canoe, containing a large and a small box full of idols and charms; four other chiefs who are Church adherents were with me. We all stood at the wharf; and there he told me that he had decided to follow Christ, to throw away his jujus, and have nothing more to do with such folly. I answered, "Good; may God strengthen your heart!"

The idols "utterly abolished" at Brass.

At Brass the position and prospects are of the same encouraging character. Bishop Crowther speaks of the "wholesale castings away of symbols of idolatrous family objects of worship, a large pile of which, of every shape and description, of wood and clay, of iron and brass, are to be seen in the store at the Mission-house, a few selections of which will be made for Salisbury Square. The village of Tuwon seems to be almost cleared of these idols; the only priestess, an old woman whom I saw, seemed very much reduced for want of means to procure provisions, there being no applicants for divination. She seemed very much mortified at the influence of Christianity, which is annihilating the gods out of the country." The whole population of this place, which is the native town adjoining the trading factories, does not exceed 600; and of these, 500 now profess Christianity. Bishop Crowther confirmed seventy-two of the converts in the Mission church at Tuwon on June 27th, the congregation numbering 472 persons. At Nembe, the king's capital, thirty-five miles up the creeks, which has only just been adopted as a regular out-station, and which is much more populous, the Bishop found equally large congregations gathered Sunday by Sunday. "It is indeed a refreshing sight," says Mr. Wood of Lagos, "to be present at a service on Sunday at Brass, and see the church well filled with persons listening to the message of salvation, and to remember what the past life of the greater number of them may have been. It is no secret that the Brass people were cannibals, although they do not now like to be reminded of it. Whatever it may be owing to, humanly speaking, that both at Tuwon and at Nembe so many have joined us, of one thing I feel no doubt, that the Spirit of the living God has been at work in many hearts.

Once Cannibals, now Christians.

It should here be mentioned that the late King Okiya of Brass did not die unbaptized, as mentioned in the last Report. He was solemnly admitted into the visible Church by Archdeacon Crowther, in the presence of 250 persons and six chiefs, on Advent Sunday, 1879, a fortnight before his death, receiving the name of Josiah Constantine. At the date of the Bishop's Report, no successor in the throne had yet been elected.

Baptism of King Okiya.

Akasa still continues an unfruitful field; and at New Calabar the work has been practically at a standstill, owing to the barbarous civil war between rival chiefs.

THE MIDDLE AND UPPER STATIONS.

The stations between the Delta and the Confluence of the Kworra and Binue are Osamare, Alenso, Onitsha, and Asaba. At the Confluence there are Lokoja on the west side and Gbebe on the east; and some ninety miles further up the Kworra is KIPO HILL. At all these places there are small congregations, but no great impression has as yet been made on the people. The Christian community at Onitsha, which was the oldest on the river, and much the largest, and which included many Africans from Sierra Leone and Lagos engaged in trade, was scattered by the destruction of the town a year and a half ago by a British gunboat. Some are now settled at Asaba and Alenso; but a good many have returned to their old home, and it may yet be, in God's providence, that Onitsha shall become a centre of Christian light and influence. ASABA is likely to be a station of great importance, and two Native clergymen will be located there, one of whom will, it is hoped, be able to carry on vigorous missionary itinerations.

Human Sacrifices on the Niger.

At this place several cruel customs prevail. Asaba is a land of chiefs, or kings as they call themselves, there being no less than 420 of these petty dignitaries. On admission to the order each of these must offer a human sacrifice; and at death two more victims, slaves, must be put to death. The Mission agents have made great efforts to bring about the abolition of this practice, but without success as yet.

GBEBE was one of the stations first occupied on the river, in 1857; and it was there that the first baptisms in the Niger Mission took place, in 1862. But shortly afterwards the town was destroyed in a civil war; and it was only in 1879 that Bishop Crowther received an invitation to reoccupy it. Mr. P. J. Williams was accordingly stationed there, and has been labouring with much zeal and diligence. He is now able to preach in the Igbira tongue, and has made a first draft translation into that language of portions of Scripture and of the Prayer Book. He conducts various services and classes, which are fairly well attended; and he has paid several visits to neighbouring towns and villages. The degree of influence he has been enabled by the blessing of the Most High to gain is manifest from the fact that, on one great festive occasion, he succeeded in stopping all human sacrifices.

Human Sacrifices stopped by an African Evangelist.

LOKOJA will be the residence of Archdeacon Henry Johnson, who, relieved at last of the pastoral and educational duties which so long detained him at Lagos, has now joined the Niger Mission.

EAST AFRICA MISSION.

Kisulutini, 1844; Frere Town, 1875.

HITHERTO the East Africa Mission has been generally identified with the work of which Mombasa is the base; and the interior stations have been regarded as intermediate posts of the Victoria Nyanza Mission. The Usagara country, however, is certainly part of East Africa, and the Mission there will probably be more closely linked in the future with the Mombasa Mission. It is partly with a view to the consolidation and more efficient and economical management of both, and also in hopes of the early extension of the work up the coast northwards, that the Committee desire to provide a small sea-going steamer which shall ply between Zanzibar, Mombasa, and other ports, and which will not only be a convenience to the missionaries, but will, it is hoped, prove a most useful movable base and permanent head-office for all operations on the mainland. As mentioned in a former part of this Report, they have invited contributions to provide such a steamer as a memorial to their dear and lamented brother Henry Wright, and they trust that within the next twelve months there may be a Henry Wright mission steamer on the East Coast, as there is a Henry Venn mission steamer on the West Coast.

Proposed "Henry Wright" Mission Steamer.

MOMBASA MISSION: FRERE TOWN AND KISULUTINI.

The staff at these stations has been unaltered during the past year. The Rev. A. Menzies and Mr. J. R. Streeter are the missionaries at Frere Town, the latter acting as Lay Superintendent; Mr. J. W. Handford has conducted the school, but his health having failed after five years' diligent and successful work, he is now on his way home; and the Rev. H. K. Binns has been in charge of Kisulutini. The Rev. W. E. Taylor, a qualified medical man, who was sent out last summer to reinforce the Nyanza Mission, was transferred to Frere Town at the beginning of the present year.

The population of Frere Town is about 430 souls. Of these the great majority are the liberated slaves rescued some five years ago (and a few since) by the British cruisers and handed to the Mission by Dr. Kirk. There are also here some of the "Bombay Africans," i. e. ex-slaves landed by the cruisers in former years at Bombay, before the East Coast Missions existed, and who have since migrated to Mombasa. At Kisulutini or Rabai, fifteen miles inland, the old station of Krapf and Rebmann, there are some 250 souls connected with the Mission. These include (1) the majority (about seventy) of the Bombay Africans, (2) others of the lately liberated slaves, (3) some fifty of the Wanika natives of the country who have settled down as adherents of the Mission, and (4) a large number of fugitive slaves from Giriama and other surrounding districts.

Of the Frere Town population, about one-fourth are children at school, rescued as children from the slave-ships. There are also forty or fifty young children born in the settlement. The adult freed slaves number about 220. Some are still in the employment of the Mission, but most of them have been encouraged to cultivate small plots of ground allotted to them, and thus to support themselves. These plots or shambas are at a place called Mawani, three miles from the settlement, and here many of the people have from half an acre to two acres under cultivation. The staple article is mahogo; and they would have done better with it than they have, had it not been for the ravages of wild pigs and porcupines, and for a succession of unduly dry seasons. "Oh, for one good year's rain!" wrote Mr. Streeter last year; "it would be the making of Frere Town." The poor creatures complained that they "worked hard and saw no sweetness in it." In addition to these shambas, however, Mr. Streeter has given them also smaller plots close to the settlement, for growing roots, keeping Mawani for corn; and on these plots several have now built houses for themselves (forty in all), which are, in fact, part of Frere Town.

Prosperity of Frere Town.

The Committee have received with much satisfaction a more promising agricultural report from Mr. Streeter this year:—

"In the first place, I think we began our year well; the forty houses built by the people themselves, scattered over what used to be all jungle, and the favourite haunt of lions and leopards, looked pretty and imposing, and made our people think more of their town; and as each had his own plot of ground, they worked with a will, turning up with their big jembies the hard ground (which no Arab or Swahili would touch) in great rough clods to stand our "winter sun"—so that when the rains came they had just to break it down and sow; but then we received a check, for no more rain came for a time, and much rice was withered, and I had to give them fresh seed; but we took heart, and sowed again, and many reaped fair crops in September; two men I know over thirty bushels each. For the Mission here and at Rabai we reaped about 300 bushels, enough to carry the children for rice food till it comes again; besides, we have grown mahogo sufficient to give them a meal a day throughout the year, and have enough now to last another nine months, besides other things, such as fair crops of pojo, fiwe, and mawele, which I might liken to peas, beans, and canary seed. I might also mention that, while we are growing these things, I have the ground planted over with young cocoanut-trees, and there are nearly 3000 coming along nicely, those I first put in being from six to ten feet high, so that with care for a few years we ought to have a valuable estate by-and-by. Then, for the first time, we have had good latter rains, so we sowed and reaped again at Christmas, when, in spite of many troubles, our people were fairly happy; and twenty more have built, or are building, their own houses. I could for the first time think our place was fairly established, and often lately I catch myself saying, "Thank God, our place is settled." This has made me very happy, as it was one of the works I came to do, and for the first two years I doubted if I should succeed; but now with others I believe it is done, and to One alone be all the honour; praised be His name.

This may not be direct missionary work, but it is one of the most important of auxiliary agencies, and its success is a distinct relief to the Society's funds, which have now very little to provide towards the maintenance of the people. The various services and classes for their spiritual benefit have been continued as before, and not without result. The freed slaves baptized on Easter Day, 1879, are described as (with two slight exceptions) faithful to their profession, and influencing others by their good example. Nineteen more of this section of the community were admitted to the visible Church on Easter Day, 1880. Concerning these Mr. Menzies writes:—

Baptisms of freed slaves at Frere Town.

"For some months we had been looking forward to Easter, as the time when we might hope to add to the usual joy of the season one over and above in the baptism of some more of the freed slaves, who had been carefully instructed during the year. Accordingly, on the Tuesday previous, eighteen from our class of inquirers were selected, who had given the best evidence of an earnest desire to follow the Lord Jesus, by regular attendance at the class and consistent lives. And these, in their own way, severally expressed faith in the Saviour, and a sincere wish to be baptized in His name. Those we did not feel able to accept were directed to sit on a bench a little apart: and one of the women, finding that she was excluded, left the schoolroom and went home. She was afterwards found sitting in her house weeping, in great distress because she had not been accepted. I sent for her, and was so well pleased with her answers that I admitted her for baptism, so making our number nineteen. Her Christian name is Naomi. Of these nineteen adults there were six couples—husband and wife making public confession of their faith in Christ together. The others were also married men or women, but their partners had either already been baptized or were still unbaptized.

On Easter Sunday, after a hearty morning service, thirty-four of our number partook of the Lord's Supper together. The congregation numbered 205. In the afternoon 240 were present in the church to witness the baptism of their friends. The service was in Swahili, in order that the candidates might the better understand the nature of the rite, and be able to take an intelligent interest in it. They stood and replied to the questions in a loud, clear voice, and then knelt to receive the outward sign of baptism, and a new name to commemorate the happy day that fixed their choice. They all looked very quiet, and impressed with the importance of the decision they had made. Many prayers have been offered for them. May the Lord keep them safe under His sheltering wings, and grant them daily grace to walk worthy of their high and holy calling.

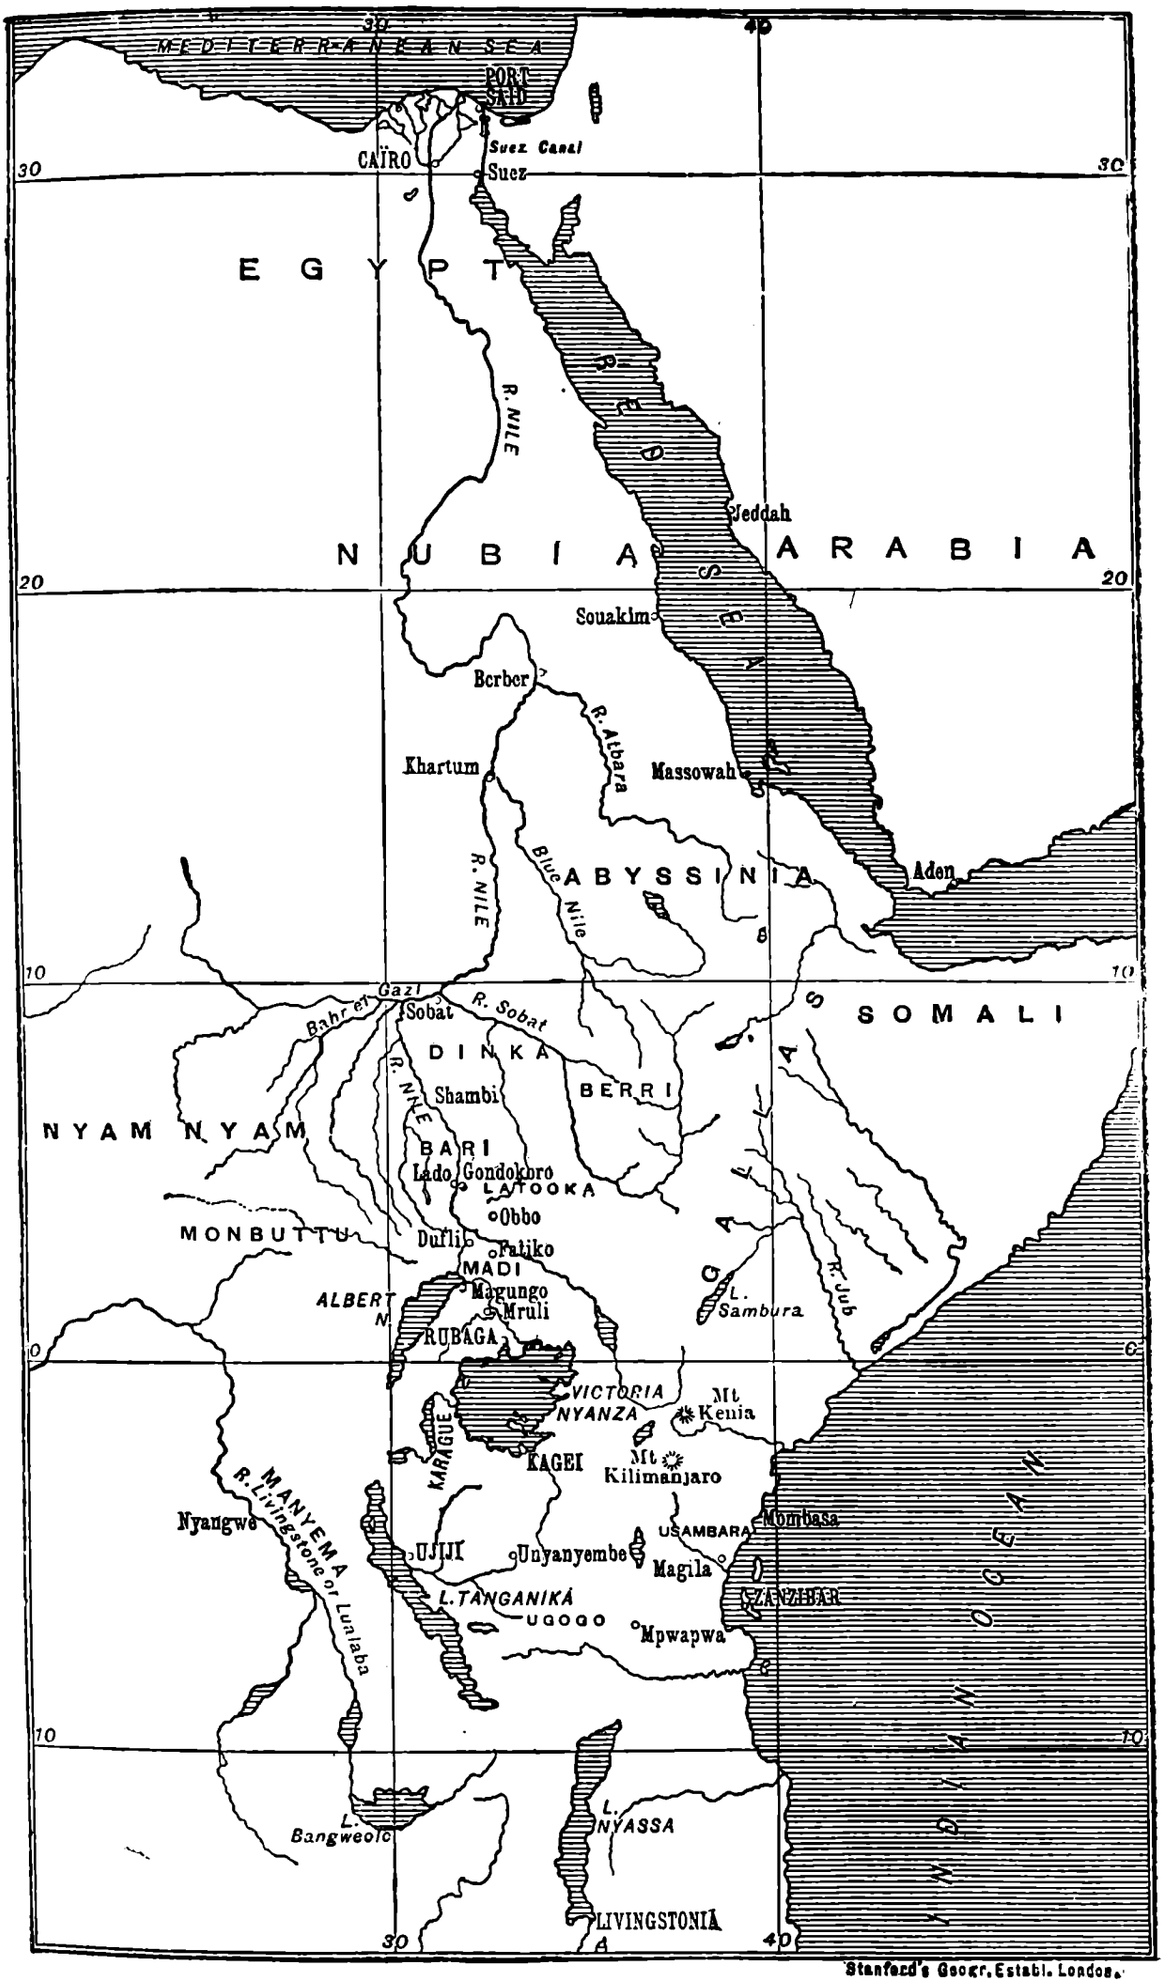

Thus the seed so diligently sown by Mr. and Mrs. Price and Mr. and Mrs. Lamb, as well as by their successors and the Native catechists, has, through the grace of God the Holy Ghost, sprung up and borne fruit. The Sunday-school also, which is Mr. Streeter's especial share in the machinery of Christian instruction, can show spiritual results. A manifest work of grace is going on in the hearts of many of the children; and the death of two are mentioned, both of whom, there is good reason to believe, had learned to love the Saviour, and have but been removed to the "upper fold."

The "Little Room" at Frere Town.

There is at Frere Town also what is known as "the little room," a place of social resort and recreation as well as of simple instruction. Mr. Streeter says of it,—

We have continued to meet there half an hour every day throughout the year. Nearly all attend. I started the year, with Ishmael's invaluable help, with teaching them some Psalms, as I thought it would be nice for them to have portions of the precious Word stored where none could take it from them; and we have learnt the 1st, 23rd, 27th, and three others, besides the Venite, Magnificat, responses for church, hymns, &c.; so that now they attend the Sunday morning service well. Mr. Menzies, I think, is glad to know that his flock can join in knowing a little of what they are about. At this room I tell them all sorts of things. This year we have an almanack, which is well scrutinized, and when the next eclipse comes they will not want to beat the ngoma, like our Swahili brethren, fearing a great snake is swallowing the moon.

THE NILE BASIN, &c.

Stanford's Geogr. Estabi. London.

The school has again and again been mentioned by visitors, naval men and others, as the brightest spot in the Mission. It has been carried on with untiring zeal for five years by Mr. Handford; and the results are certainly remarkable. A few months ago he sent home a bundle of papers written by the children at the last examination, which included dictation in both English and Suahili, translation from Suahili into English, answers to questions in grammar, geography, arithmetic (with sums fully worked out in compound fractions), Scripture, and the Church Catechism; and an autobiography of the candidate! Mr. Handford wrote, "The examination was conducted on the strictest principles." "Every child in the first class passed in reading, both English and Suahili, and in reading the English Bible they can very readily translate the passage read into Suahili, which, in the Scripture lesson, I frequently make them do, so as to insure their getting a thorough understanding of what they read." Their singing in parts, at sight, on the Tonic Sol-fa system, is highly spoken of by all who hear them. These children, it must be remembered, were, less than five years previously, slave children on board slave ships, knowing neither English nor Suahili, but only the dialects of the countries (far to the south) whence they were stolen. Efforts have also been made to give industrial teaching to the elder boys; and each year some have been drafted from the school to manual employment.

Examination of Freed Slave School Children.

Similar good work has been done at Rabai; and Mr. Binns has baptized some adults since the close of the year. He has also been actively engaged in preparing Christian books in both Suahili and the language of the Wanika. The oldest convert at this station, Abraham Abe Gunja, has died peacefully. He was Krapf's companion in some of his earlier journeys, and was baptized by Rebmann in 1861. His son Isaac is an excellent Mission agent. Mr. Binns writes:—

In this station the people are enjoying a state of peace and plenty, the very late rains of last year having provided them with an abundant supply of Indian corn, &c. I am glad to say they are giving very little trouble, and many of them show unmistakable evidence of a renewed heart. I can now without any diffidence leave the place in the charge of Isaac. He is assisted in the administration of justice by four elders whom I appointed at the beginning of last year, and the plan works exceedingly well. All minor cases are brought before them, and only serious ones are brought to me. Every case is reported to me individually by Isaac. The four elders whom I appointed are one from each division of the people.

Native Christian Elders in East Africa.

Giriama Christians

The Christians of the Giriama country have become "two bands." Some, with the leader, Abe Sidi, have moved to a place called Fulladoyo, apparently an island in the River Voi, where more than a hundred people have gathered round him; while others remain at the original settlement at Godoma. Mr. Streeter paid them two visits during the year, and was much pleased with their simple, teachable spirit.

Difficulties in East Africa.

Notwithstanding all these evidences of blessing, the past year has been a time of anxiety in the East Africa Mission. As on the western side of the Dark Continent, so on the eastern (though in different ways), domestic slavery has been the cause of serious difficulties. The very success of the Society's colonies of liberated slaves at Frere Town and Kisulutini has endangered their existence. The people of Mombasa and the neighbourhood see the poor creatures rescued only within the last four or five years by her Majesty's cruisers from the slave dhows, and handed over to the Mission, now living in comfort as free men, cultivating their own little plots of ground, building their own little huts on the Society's land, enjoying the rest of the Lord's Day, seeing their children taught to read and write like the white man, and having access at all times for counsel and guidance to patient and sympathizing Englishmen. Master and slave alike note all this, the one with envious hatred and the other with not less envious longings. The slave flees to the Christian village for refuge from cruel treatment; the master demands his ejection; the missionary has no power, in a country where domestic slavery is within the law, to harbour the fugitive.

Frere Town in peril: Providential Deliverance.

Under such painful circumstances, it is not surprising that difficulties should arise; and in September last, the gathering excitement culminated in a threatened attack by the Arab slave-owners upon both the Society's stations, which for two or three days were in imminent peril.* In the merciful providence of God, the danger was averted by the unexpected arrival of a British gunboat, the mere sight of which—though it had only come to bring a naval officer on sick leave on a visit to the Mission, and only stayed a day or two—was sufficient to cause the abandonment of the attack. Some time after, the Consul, Dr. Kirk, came to Mombasa and arranged the dispute. Some fugitive slaves who had settled near Kisulutini had to be sent away; but the Sultan of Zanzibar put in irons three slave-owners who were leaders in the disturbance.

* See the fuller account in the C.M. Intelligencer, Jan., 1881.

The Committee continue to receive important testimony to the efficiency and success of the Mission. Lieut. Cutfield, R.N., the officer already referred to, writes, "I cannot speak too highly of the way in which the work is carried on;" and Dr. Kirk, though disapproving Mr. Streeter's action in one matter (under a misconception, as has since appeared), yet has highly commended him in two official despatches for his "good management of the station," to which, he says, "the C.M.S. is greatly indebted for the progress and improved prospects of the Mission." A letter from Captain Brownrigg, R.N., of H.M.S. London, the senior officer on the East Coast, describes a visit paid by him to Frere Town in March last. "In sailor parlance," he writes, "I caught every one aback. I saw them in their daily life. I can truly assure you I spent a most pleasant two days, and left much and deeply impressed with all I had seen." Captain Brownrigg not only attended the various services and classes, but also very kindly himself took a class in the Sunday-school. "I took," he says, "the first class of boys, and was much struck with their intelligent answers. The answers were not given parrot fashion. They seemed clearly to understand justification by faith, and several other questions I put to them. Mr. Streeter is most energetic."

Testimonies of Naval Officers to the work in East Africa.

The Committee were unable to include, in the number of missionaries sent out during the year, an additional man for East Africa, and the proposed advance into the Teita country has therefore necessarily been deferred. But they fully recognize the importance of gradually moving forward, and with a view to this, another young missionary has been appointed to proceed to Mombasa in the ensuing autumn. It may be that hereafter direct communication may be opened up with the Society's Usagara Mission through the Wakamba country formerly visited by Dr. Krapf: and even that a new and much shorter route to the Victoria Nyanza may be traversed before many years have passed, either through the Teita and Chagga territories, or up the Ozi and Dana rivers.

NYANZA MISSION.

Mpwapwa, 1876; Rubâga, 1877; Uyui, 1879; Mamboia, 1879.

UNDER the general heading of NYANZA MISSION are included, not only the Mission in Uganda, but also the intermediate stations in Usagara and Unyamuezi. Usagara is now linked for certain administrative purposes with the East Africa Mission, as already intimated; but it is still, for the present, more convenient in this Report to group all the interior stations together.

USAGARA MISSION: MPWAPWA AND MAMBOIA.

One of the earliest plans formed by the Society for its Mission to Equatorial Africa was that an intermediate station should be established between the coast and the Lake, "somewhere in the highlands of Usagara." Ultimately MPWAPWA was fixed upon, on the recommendation of Lieut. Cameron, the well-known traveller. It was first occupied for a few months in 1876; but the permanent establishment of the station dates from the spring of 1878, when Dr. E. J. Baxter and Mr. J. T. Last arrived there. In the autumn of 1879 these brethren were joined by the Rev. J. C. Price and Mr. H. Cole; and all four are still in the country.

Usagara and its Tribes.

Mpwapwa is a collection of small villages scattered over a considerable area. The population is not large; but the position is one of great importance. It is just on the frontier line between the hill country of Usagara and the great plain of Ugogo; and all the routes from the coast to the great lakes converge there. It stands about 3000 feet above the sea level, in the midst of mountains rising to 6000 feet; and its healthiness has been proved by the freedom of the missionaries from the fevers so prevalent in other parts of East Africa. In one of the latest letters received, Mr. Cole says, "No fever approaches our dwelling." The natives are partly Wasagara (i.e. people of Usagara), and partly Wagogo (i.e. people of Ugogo). The language of the latter (Kigogo or Chigogo) appears to be the most important, and is being assiduously studied by the missionaries. They have already become tolerably familiar with the Suahili or coast language (Kisuahili), which is the lingua franca of all that part of Africa, and some of the people who have gathered round the Mission are learning to read Suahili books.

Following the route eastward from Mpwapwa to the coast, the following tribes are found:—to the south, the Wasagara; to the north, the Wakwafi or Wakamba (supposed to be the same people). The route then passes through the territory of the Wakaguru (people of Kaguru) and Wanguru (people of Nguru), among whom are some settlements of Wakamba from Ukambani, a country far to the north visited by Dr. Krapf, and the language of which was one of those included in his Vocabulary of Six African Languages. Then come the Waseguhha (people of Useguhha); and then the mixed race of the coast known as Wasuahili. In addition to these, villages of Wanyamuezi are met with here and there, the result, no doubt, of the wandering habits of the people of Unyamuezi (which is 300 miles further west). The porters of the now numerous caravans are mostly of this tribe. Except the Wakwafi, whose language Krapf considers to belong to a totally different family—a view confirmed by the missionaries now in the country,—all these tribes appear to be allied, and their languages more or less connected. Some of the people attached to the Mpwapwa Mission speak three or four tongues. A great and wide field is therefore open to missionary effort; and, except among the coast people, who are Mohammedans, there is no powerful religious system to be overcome. The principal obstacle so far is the seeming incapacity of the people to take in any ideas whatever above those of their daily life and wants. "Sometimes," writes the Rev. J. C. Price, "after I have tried to talk a little seriously to them of eternal realities, and have asked if they understood me, they reply, 'Yes, Bwana [master], give me some cloth.' (Cloth, it will be remembered, is the currency of the country.) Nevertheless, the same missionary says, "Though I am still only able to stammer at the Chigogo, my happiest hours are those spent at the tembes [compounds, or homesteads] of the people, trying to deliver scraps of the Master's message." Dr. Baxter wrote a year ago, "I feel certain that we have won the confidence and affections of the natives, both old and young;" and Mr. Cole, in a recent letter, says, "Our work, though uphill and trying, does not fail to yield encouragement and cause for thankfulness. We can point to cases where the seed sown is manifesting itself in the daily life and conversation."

First efforts at Mpwapwa.

Dr. Baxter is the secretary and secular head of the Mission, Mr. Price the ordained missionary, and Mr. Cole the agriculturist. The latter has fifty acres under cultivation; but the success of his farming experiments has been hindered first by lack of rain and then by heavy floods. Dr. Baxter's medical skill has not been in such urgent and frequent request as might have been expected, partly, he says, owing to the healthiness of the climate. He has, however, been enabled to save the life of more than one of the Europeans who passed the station during 1880. There were twenty-three of them—a surprising number considering that the name of Mpwapwa had never been heard in Europe ten years ago. They would probably include the L.M.S. and French missionaries, some members of the Belgian expedition, and one or two English travellers and sportsmen. The French priests were much pleased with some Suahili hymns which had been put into type by means of a small printing-press, and asked for copies of "There is a happy land," and "One there is above all others"—which, it is needless to say, were gladly given to them.

New Station at Mamboia.

MAMBOIA is three or four days' journey nearer the coast than Mpwapwa, in the Kaguru country. There is a Wanyamuezi settlement close to the road; but the station, established by Mr. Last in January, 1880, is at the village of the local chief or "sultan" of the Wakaguru, on a hill 800 feet higher. This "sultan" had been visited by Mr. Last, and had repeatedly begged him to come and settle among his people; and the new Mission thus begun appears to be one of great promise. While there are advantages in a centre of tribes and languages and traffic like Mpwapwa, there are advantages also in a station located a little off the trade routes and in the midst of a distinct people.

The first Englishwoman in East Central Africa.

To this new home Mr. Last has taken his newly-married wife, the first Englishwoman to penetrate the interior of Eastern Equatorial Africa. She joined him in September last at Zanzibar, where they were married, and then proceeded up country, arriving safe and well at Mamboia on Nov. 20th. They were received with great delight by the people, and have arranged a plan of missionary work—Sunday services for both the Wakaguru on the hill and the Wanyamuezi in the valley, classes for the women, visiting the neighbouring villages, &c.—which in God's good time will surely bring forth fruit to His praise.

Mr. Last has been visited by some Wakamba from a district five days' journey to the north, whither they have migrated from their own country. He hopes one day to return the visit.

UNYAMUEZI MISSION: UYUI.

Uyui is a collection of villages about twenty miles to the north-east of Unyanyembe, the well-known Arab capital of Unyamuezi, where the Sultan of Zanzibar has a governor. The situation of Uyui is much more healthy than that of Unyanyembe, and it has the advantage of being under Native and not under Arab rule. It is described as "a very large town for Africa." The place was first recommended for a mission station intermediate between Mpwapwa and the Lake, by Lieut. Smith, and afterwards by the Rev. C. T. Wilson. Both of them, and subsequently Mr. Mackay, were kindly received by the chief, Mayembe-gana ("hundred spades"), and also by Said-bin-Salim, formerly the governor of Unyanyembe, who had been superseded there and had retired to Uyui. The latter has since died. Mr. Stokes and Mr. Copplestone arrived at Uyui, on their way to Uganda, on Oct. 6th, 1878, and, staying there a short time, built a mission house and established a depôt for stores. On their return from Uganda a year afterwards Mr. Copplestone took up his abode at Uyui, Oct. 15th, 1879, and there he has since remained. On June 5th, 1880, he was joined by Mr. Litchfield, who had come south from Uganda for the benefit of his health; but the latter left again for the Lake on Dec. 1st.

New Station at Uyui.

Mr. Copplestone has been working with great patience and determination. The necessary buildings and their simple furniture—which, he remarks, cannot be dispensed with "if we are to live like civilized beings"—are almost wholly the work of his own hands; but he has been assiduously studying the language of Unyamuezi, and has lost no opportunities of teaching the people. He has built a little school-room, and began to use it on Jan. 21st of the present year. "I trust many from that place," he says, "will rise up and call the Redeemer blessed." He is assisted by one of the Frere Town African Christians, Moses Willing.

This station was believed to be in serious peril a few months ago, when war was expected between the Sultan of Zanzibar and the powerful African chieftain, Mirambo, in consequence of the death of two Englishmen in the employ of the King of the Belgians in a fight between Mirambo's people and another tribe. The missionaries (Mr. Litchfield was with Mr. Copplestone at the time) were advised to seek safety in flight, but resolved not to leave their post unless actually obliged; and for the present it is hoped that peace may be maintained. The immense importation, however, into East Africa, during the last two or three years, of fire-arms and ammunition, which the Committee deeply deplore, has put a new temptation to fighting in the way of all the Native tribes; and it has yet to be seen whether the recent multiplication of expeditions of all sorts into the interior may not tend to inflict upon those fair regions the evils which European intercourse has but too often brought in its train, rather than to pave the way for Christian civilization.

UGANDA MISSION.

The last Annual Report contained tidings from Uganda which arrived while the sheets were passing through the press, three weeks after the Society's Anniversary. The most important news thus communicated was that just before Christmas, 1879, Mtesa and his chiefs, influenced by a sorceress who was supposed to be possessed by the spirit of the Lake, had publicly proclaimed their rejection of both Christianity and Mohammedanism, reaffirmed the old heathen superstitions of their nation, and forbidden the people resorting to the missionaries. There were in Uganda at the time three members of the C.M.S. Mission, the Rev. G. Litchfield and Messrs. Mackay and Pearson. In February, 1880, Mr. Litchfield, being ill, left the country northwards, in hopes of reaching Egyptian territory, but failed, owing to the hostility of Kabba Rega, the King of Unyoro. Returning to Uganda, he crossed the Lake southwards in April, and joined Mr. Copplestone at Uyui in June. He was accompanied thither by Mr. Mackay, who went to fetch supplies, and afterwards returned to the Lake, but had to wait some months for canoes to cross it, which he was about to do at the date of his last letters, Nov. 1st. During this period of waiting at Kagei, he well employed his time by translating St. Matthew's Gospel into the language of Uganda. Meanwhile, Mr. Pearson was left alone in Uganda, and reports up to July 29th that Mtesa still showed no favour either to him or to the French Romanist Mission, but had again professed himself a Mohammedan, and was for the time altogether under the influence of the Arab traders. No letters of later date have come to hand; but intelligence has been received indirectly that Mr. Mackay and Mr. Pearson were together, and well, some time in December, and that the position and prospects of the Mission were in statu quo.

Present position of the Uganda Mission.

In the meantime a reinforcement has been moving towards the Lake. At the date of the last Annual Report, the Waganda Envoys brought over by Mr. Wilson and Mr. Felkin were in England. They were received at Buckingham Palace by her Majesty the Queen, and having been shown many of the most interesting sights of London, the manufacturing districts, &c., they left England on June 22nd to return to Uganda viâ Zanzibar. In November they reached Uyuï, accompanied by the Rev. P. O'Flaherty and Mr. Stokes, and on Dec. 1st, the party, joined by Mr. Litchfield, started thence for the Lake, at the southern end of which they arrived on January 8th. The Committee trust that it may please God to use the testimony of these chiefs to the greatness of Christian England as an instrument for again influencing the king's heart in favour of the Mission; but whether this hope is fulfilled or not, they leave their great enterprise, which was undertaken, planned, and carried out from the first, not without human error and infirmity, but certainly with unceasing prayer, to His gracious care whose message of love it was designed to carry into the heart of Africa.

The Committee rejoice to be able to state that a noble and for the time most encouraging work has been done in Uganda, notwithstanding all vicissitudes and discouragements. The five months between June and December, 1879—that is to say, the period subsequent to those troubles which led to Messrs. Wilson and Felkin leaving for England with the Envoys—were, on the unanimous testimony of the missionaries then in the country, the brightest time in the history of the Mission. King, chiefs, and people were eager for instruction; by means of a small printing-press, reading-sheets were supplied, and great numbers learned to read; and services were held every Sunday (as indeed they had been from the beginning, though with some interruptions) in a building erected by Mtesa for the purpose in the palace grounds. Both Mr. Mackay and Mr. Litchfield made good use of their opportunities. Mr. Mackay's knowledge of the Suahili language gave him the lead in the public preaching; while his companion was equally diligent in personal intercourse with the Natives. "I have found," writes the latter, "the poorer people ready and eager to listen to the story of the cross. In numbers of instances the hearers have testified their astonishment and joy at the love of Jesus in dying for them." The Arabs kept up furious opposition, and the French priests acted sometimes as friends, sometimes as foes; but not a few of the people appeared really interested in the Gospel message, and when Mr. Pearson returned to Uganda after some months' absence he was astonished at the sight, and wrote, "This is the finger of God." A few brief extracts from the letters and journals will illustrate this remarkable episode in the history of the Mission. Mr. Litchfield writes:—

Good Work done in Uganda.

Rubaga, Uganda, Nov. 2nd, 1879.—Here, in our Rubaga Mission, I am very thankful to be able to report progress. Not of our work, or of our deserving, but purely from God's good hand upon us. Peace is upon us, and there is a wonderful change from the days of our troubles here—in fact, it is like clear sunshine after storm. Mtesa is now taking up the question of education in earnest, and is ordering all his chiefs, Matongolis, pages, and soldiers, to learn the alphabet, &c., in English characters. Mackay and myself are never free from learners, some of whom are waiting with the daylight. We have our hands full of work to supply them with brain food, and the small printing-press sent out with us from England is in daily requisition. With knowledge will come the desire for literature, and our next work, and most important, will be the translation of the Bible. I am afraid it will be another twelve months before we could venture on this task; but our tongues are gradually becoming loosened, and we can both teach simple Scripture lessons in Kiganda. These last three months I have been very busy building, and have now finished a house for myself, a house for my boys, and am getting on with a fence which will enclose one-third of the Mission compound. Some one hundred banana-trees are already planted, and I hope to get four or five hundred more yet, as several chiefs have offered to give me them. Mackay and myself are now on visiting terms with every chief in the capital, without an exception, and not a day passes without our house being filled with visitors.

You can readily understand how all this cheers our hearts, and makes us praise Him who has wrought this change. In medicine too there has been some progress, as this last month's journal shows over 200 cases, most of which are cures. Mtesa has sent us no food supply for four months, but we have managed to buy, and have never wanted. We live, as regards food, exactly as the natives, and find our health keeps good, and no ill-effects ensue. The king and others are asking for baptism, and we hope for bright days ahead. Pray for us.

From Mr. Litchfield's Journal.

Aug. 9th, 1879.—Found a slave of Monoculia (a chief) waiting for some medicine he wanted. I accompanied him to his master to see the patient, and was warmly welcomed by the chief, who has often been at our Mission-house, and seems really desirous of learning the truth.

Sunday, 10th.—Went, as I had promised, to see my patient at Monoculia's house. As this chief seemed anxious to talk on religion, I tried to explain the death, resurrection, and love of Christ to him in my broken, stammering language. After a while he went outside and sent a slave to fetch me. I went to him, and found him in a very small hut on his knees, and he asked me to pray. I said I did not know Suahili, but he said, "Pray in A praying Chief in Uganda.

English, God understands you." And I did so, deeply moved by the scene.

Sept. 15*th.*—Walked up to Monoculia's, taking with me several magic-lantern slides illustrative of the life of Christ. He would have me to pray with him in a little hut he has built, and which he calls the house of God.

Oct. 19*th.*—Continued the Scripture lessons out of St. John's Gospel to the most advanced pupils. They appear to take a real interest in the truths of God.

Sunday, Oct. 12*th.*—Went to court with Mackay for service, and enjoyed a really pleasant time. We held it in the king's house, and not in the chapel, and the king seemed to take a deep interest, and translated faithfully for his chiefs. He reminded me of a father surrounded by his children, more than a king with his subjects. His pages sat round his bed, and it was difficult to realize we were in Central Africa amongst a savage nation.

Nov. 28*th.*—Thirty-two men and boys were down for instruction to-day, and I feel quite knocked up with so much teaching, as they kept me hard at work talking for the space of four hours. When they had gone I started printing, and got 150 sheets of advanced reading-lessons printed on the one side. Afterwards had a good spell at digging and fencing.

Sept. 29*th.*—Gave a Scripture lesson to my reading pupils, and to a knot of men as well, this morning, out of the first chapter of John. They seemed to understand it, and my heart rejoiced that God had so far unloosed my tongue as to enable me to stammer in this language. Some of my boys can read very fairly now, and if we had the Gospel translated into Kiganda this teaching might have great influence. Bible Lessons in Uganda.

Oct. 2*nd.*—The Matongoli, who is the overlooker of the builders, is very desirous to learn, and has got the Lord's Prayer off by heart, and daily listens to my teaching from the Gospel.

Oct. 7*th.*—The king appears to be taking a real interest in the things of eternity at this present time, and few days pass without his holding a long discourse on them. I had a crowd of boys down to see me and to read; and I gave a Scripture lesson of nearly an hour's length, out of St. John's Gospel.

From Mr. Mackay's Journal.

Sunday, July 27*th,* 1879.—Litchfield and myself went to court together, and had service. I have written new prayers, one for the king, and one for the chiefs and people, in addition to the parts of the Prayer Book I ordinarily use. Part of the Litany I have incorporated in these. The lesson I read was the third of John's Gospel—the second birth. Afterwards the Arabs had much to say on their doctrine of fatalism, and I did my best to refute their blind belief. Two padres were present, but were silent. I took care in the lesson to say nothing to rouse their Public Preaching in Uganda.

opposition, unless the whole subject of justification by faith is contrary to their creed. At any rate, I thank God that they were quiet, and did not spoil our service other than by constant whispering between each other.

Sunday, Aug. 3rd.—Litchfield and I went early to court. Found Katikiro and chiefs already assembled in the chapel (by the king's order). Read prayers, and had an hour's lesson on St. John iv.—Christ in Samaria. Fair interest was shown throughout. But, oh, the coldness of the carnal mind!

Saturday, 9th.—I have now gone through the whole of St. Matthew's Gospel, much of St. John, portions of Kings, and of the Acts. I now mean (D.V.) to take St. Luke's Gospel.

Sunday, 17th.—Litchfield and myself went early to court to hold service. The Katikiro and chiefs rose and came in a body to the chapel, where we had prayers, Chambalango rendering the Swaheli into Ruganda. The king sent for us before we had time for our lesson, but we found on admission that he wanted a passage read to him. He then asked me to read the 4th chapter of Revelation. We did so, and explained it shortly.

This afternoon I had a couple of lads for hours with me; we translated the first chapter of Genesis into Ruganda together.

Sunday, 24th.—Every day during the last week I have had one or two lads with me in the afternoons learning to read, and giving myself considerable help in their own tongue. I have written out translations of several chapters of the Scripture reading lessons. To-day I have attempted the Creed, and got a fair rendering. Of the Lord's Prayer I have got several versions some time ago, but the best requires revision. Little by little I hope to get our whole Sunday service translated into Ruganda.

La-Work anda.

Sunday, 31st.—Held service in the chapel, our subject for lesson being the touch of the sick woman and the raising of Jairus' daughter. It was a good passage from which to teach the sickness of sin and the only way to life. What would I give to see signs of these solemn truths sinking down in the hearts of all!

Sunday, Sept. 7th.—Mtesa asked about baptism. He said, "I wish to be baptized, and my chiefs." I then told him that baptism could not be performed on any except true believers, and these we judged not by their words, but by their actions. He asked me to explain more fully. I told him that we judged a good tree by its fruit being good; that many were ready to say that they believed, and were willing to become Christians; but who were ready to live as Christians? I saw no one yet laying aside lying, stealing, witchcraft, murder, Sabbath-breaking, and such like. After further talk, I asked him if he would, for instance, be willing to lay aside polygamy, and be content with only one wife. I said that we could not baptize a man who, in his daily life, went right against the commands of God.

Tuesday, 16th.—Terrible conflict with the Mussulmans. They blasphemed terribly against the assertion that our Saviour was divine. The Superior of the French Mission was present, but said nothing, and I believe understood very little. The Mussulmans are themselves only ill-informed on their own creed, but are correspondingly fanatical. They are besides glib talkers, and talk any one down with ease. Opposition of Moslems in Uganda.

Sunday, 28th.—The chapel was filled, those of lesser rank sitting outside. After reading prayers in Ruganda, I went over again the subject of last Sunday, showing that the united testimony of prophets, angels, apostles, and the Lord Himself was that He was no less than the Son of the Living God and the one Saviour of the world. Then came the special subject for to-day —the value of an immortal soul.

Such lessons are by no means over formal, but are given much in the way in which Moslem teachers explain the Koran. We all sit on the floor on mats, and in a familiar way I endeavour to inculcate the great truths of eternity. Many listen attentively; and as their habit is to repeat over their understanding of each clause, I get an idea of how far they have caught my meaning, and derive no little encouragement also in so feebly fulfilling so great a duty. It is an awful position to stand between darkness and the light of life. The royal "chapel" in Uganda.

I had just finished when the king asked us into his house. He had a lot of books (Arabic New Testament, &c.) by him last Sunday. The two Massoudis were there, and Mtesa asked them if they had brought a book they had many days ago promised to bring as conclusively proving something Mohammedan. They had, and read largely from it. Then I asked to be allowed to read Christ's own testimony as to His divinity, and the king bade me read. The Mussulmans maintained that at the end of the world their prophet would come to be the judge of all. I refused to argue on the matter, but read aloud the 24th chapter of St. Matthew. Mtesa acknowledged that he believed in our Lord as the Son of God from all eternity and as the future only Judge of the world. He seems to take pleasure in discussion, however.

I liked exceedingly Mtesa's behaviour to-day. I often think there is the work of God in his heart. We must only pray earnestly that the Lord will give him grace to be a real disciple. It is no small matter for such as he to leave the way of his forefathers and live a Christian.

As already mentioned, these bright prospects were quickly over-clouded; but the Committee are assured that the seed of the Word thus sown cannot be lost, and that fruit shall yet spring up from it to the glory of God, even though it be not until "after many days."*

PALESTINE MISSION.

Jerusalem, 1851; Nazareth, 1852; Salt, 1873; Nablûs, 1876; Jaffa, 1876; Gaza, 1878.

Work in Bible Lands.

THE PALESTINE and PERSIA Missions are both designed for the setting forth of the Gospel of Christ among Mohammedans; but in both cases it has been found desirable to form a nucleus for a pure Christian Church by accepting the voluntary adhesion of members of the Greek, Latin, and Armenian Churches, who have become dissatisfied with the corruptions and superstitions of Oriental Christianity. To the HOLY LAND the Society was originally invited by its former missionary the late venerated Bishop Gobat, and most of the work it now carries on was initiated by him. At Jerusalem, Jaffa, Nablûs, Nazareth, and Salt there are Protestant congregations ministered to by its European and Native missionaries; and there are chains of out-stations, with schools in the villages, in the Plain of Esdraelon, in the upland valleys of Benjamin, and in the hill-country of Judah. At Gaza, the population of which is almost entirely Mussulman, and on the mountains of Gilead on "the other side Jordan," more purely evangelistic work is carried on; and in the Hauran, by means of schools, the Gospel is preached to that strange people, the Druses. As far as the Mohammedans are concerned, in a country where, under Turkish rule, the baptism of one of them would almost certainly be followed by his death, the most useful evangelistic agencies are those which quietly prepare the way for the more aggressive work for which God's own time cannot now be far off. These are—schools, in which Moslem as well as Greek children are taught the word of God, as already mentioned; and the printing-press—which has been actively employed in the past year in producing Christian books in Arabic.

The Committee have received a report on the position and prospects of the Mission from their friends Canon Tristram and the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth, who have been visiting Palestine together. This report is under consideration.

JERUSALEM.

The missionaries now stationed at Jerusalem are the Rev. T. F. Wolters, Secretary of the Mission during the past few years; the Rev. John Zeller, who carries on the Diocesan School founded by the late Bishop Gobat, and generally superintends the pastoral and evangelistic agencies; and the Rev. W. T. Pilter, who was directed to remove from Nazareth last summer to engage in the work of the Preparandi Class. The Rev. Michael Kawar is the Native Pastor.

The Native Christians attached to the Society in Jerusalem and its out-stations number 415 persons, of whom forty are communicants. Their contributions during the year for religious purposes amounted to 20*l.* This sum is not large; but the year 1880 was one of great scarcity and distress in Palestine, many of the poorer classes barely keeping themselves alive by feeding on the roots and leaves of wild plants. The Rev. M. Kawar states that many of his flock, especially in the out-stations, seemed to find comfort under their earthly troubles in the preaching of the Gospel, and that they were thankful for being preserved from the far severer famines that had prevailed over the greater part of Asia Minor.

Mr. Kawar has had much religious conversation with Moslems, more indeed than in any preceding years. The Book depôt has been very useful for this purpose. Of the seventy children attending the girls' school more than half are Mohammedan. The Moslem girls take great delight in learning Christian hymns. Many Greek and Latin Christians, Mr. Kawar believes, are convinced of the errors of their own Churches, and would join the Protestant community were they not dependent for subsistence on their convents.

Mohammedan School-girls at Jerusalem.

The Præparandi Institution contained at the beginning of 1880 eleven pupils. Seven of these, having completed their course, have found posts of usefulness in the Mission, and are giving satisfaction.

The Printing Press has issued during the year, among other Arabic tracts and books, The Life of Bishop Gobat, The Sinner's Friend, and Lessons on the Liturgy for Bible Classes.

The reports from the out-stations are favourable. The principal group of these is a chain of Christian villages, fifteen miles north of Jerusalem, Ramallah, Tayibeh (the ancient Ophra), Gifireh, and Beer Zeit. These lie nearly in a line from east to west on the high plateau of the mountains of Benjamin. Ramallah is the central point, and is occupied by Mr. G. Nyland. Mr. Nyland reports a decided change for the better. The Gospel is more desired and asked for. Even Greek priests frequently attend his Bible readings; and among the neighbouring Mohammedan villages there is a marked diminution of fanaticism.

Five miles south of Jerusalem lies another group of Christian villages, at one of which, Beit Sahur, a simple-minded and pious schoolmaster, an agent of the Society, labours with zeal and patience. This village occupiesthe traditional site of the field, half a mile from Bethlehem, where the angels proclaimed to the shepherds the birth of Christ the Lord.

JAFFA.

The Rev. J. R. L. Hall writes of the work at this station in a cheerful and thankful spirit; not so much on account of actual fruits visible, as from the spirit of inquiry which is evidently abroad. The adherents of the Mission number 157, of whom twenty-five are communicants. The children attending school are from 300 to 400.

Encouraging signs in the Jaffa Mission.

At Jaffa itself more young men have been in regular attendance at the services than at any previous time; and great interest is shown in the Bible classes. In the Boys' School Mr. Hall is able to arrange that three and a half hours are given every day to Scriptural instruction. In addition to the Holy Scriptures themselves, every child learns first, the Church Catechism, and afterwards, with thorough and careful explanation, the Thirty-Nine Articles.

Ramleh was under the more immediate care of Mr. Hall's coadjutor, the Rev. Nasir Odeh (who has since removed to Nazareth). Here there had been sad dissensions; but through God's blessing on Mr. Odeh's efforts, union and peace have at length been restored, and the numbers at the services and in the schools have increased. At Lydd, the work has gone on without interruption, the schools continuing to flourish.

The people of Abûd were in extreme ignorance, especially of religious truth, when Mr. Hall first came in contact with them. "Now," he observes, "it is most enjoyable to visit them, the constant Amens and other ejaculations during prayer showing the reality which they feel communion with God to be, and reminding one of happy hours spent in revival work in England." In addition to the boys' school, a girls' school has been recently opened, which is very well attended, there being no other school for girls within twenty-five miles of the village.—Haifa, at the foot of Mount Carmel, is another of the Jaffa out-stations, with a very small Protestant congregation.

GAZA.

Gaza is in population the second city in Palestine, and of its 21,000 inhabitants the great majority are Mohammedans. The Rev. A. W. Schapira's work among them is of a very interesting character. In his school for Moslem girls he has some 45 in regular attendance, and in that for Moslem boys a varying number (from 40 to 5) who come only irregularly, besides 48 girls and 42 boys in the Greek schools. There is also a Sunday-school, attended by fifty boys and girls, Greeks and Moslems mixed. On Christmas Eve there was a Christmas-tree for the children, who sang hymns on the occasion in English and Arabic, and recited about the birth of Christ in English, Arabic, Turkish, and Greek, all in the presence of the leading Moslems and Greeks of the town. The Governor addressed the meeting, and encouraged the children to attend, and the parents to send them. The Greeks and the Jesuits have opened opposition schools, but have entirely failed to draw the children away. Mr. Schapira has a reading-room, and a dispensary, both which have proved very useful. He has also visited, twice each, twenty-four Moslem towns and villages.

Work among Mohammedans at Gaza.

NABLÛS.

The Rev. Christian Fallscheer is the missionary at this station. His Report is very cheerful in tone. "Our Mission tree," he writes, "grows on slowly but steadily. I often think that when the late Bishop Bowen of Sierra Leone, who laboured here two or three years (in 1854-56) in the service of the Society, could come again to this town, he would see that the Lord has done wonders, and therefore he would wonder, like a person who, having planted some young trees, after ten or twenty years returns again to see that the trees have grown. But a person who sees those trees every day will not perceive this growth, unless he looks upon them with eyes of love and tenderness." There are now 210 adherents at Nablûs and the out-stations, of whom 69 are communicants. A chapel and school-house have been erected at Nablûs during the year, notwithstanding many local obstacles.

NAZARETH.

The Native Christians attached to the Mission at this station are 420 in number, of whom 65 are communicants. Its missionary, the Rev. J. Huber, speaks of the past year as a sifting time, some former adherents having seceded through disappointment at not obtaining the temporal benefits they had erroneously anticipated. Mr. Huber is also striving to introduce more and more the system of self-support. These efforts are not altogether without success, but are seriously hindered by the contrary practice of the Latin and Greek Churches. The former of these seem indeed to Mr. Huber to be deliberately buying over all the Christians of the country. Among the female members of the congregation there seems to be more spiritual life than before; the services and the Bible class are better attended by them; and several of the younger women who have been trained at the Deaconesses' Orphanages at Beyrût and Jerusalem are exercising a good influence.

SALT.

At this place, generally believed to be the ancient Ramoth Gilead, there are 265 adherents of the Society's Mission, of whom 39 are communicants. The Rev. Khalil Jamal is the pastor. The Rev. T. F. Wolters writes:—

Hopeful work on the other side Jordan.

In Salt there has been progress. A recent visit led me to contrast the present state of things with that of nearly four years ago, when I first visited the station. Then there was disorder; now there is order. Then there were quarrels; now there is union and harmony. Then there was slovenliness in the services of the Church, and other appointed means of grace; now these are presented before the people in a way calculated to draw, to interest and to profit. Then there was a school, not worth the name, with five or six pupils; now there is a school with nearly seventy children. Of course, all is not perfect; but there is much to encourage; and there are also signs here and there of a deeper appreciation of the truth, and of its influence upon the life, especially so among the children who attend the school. Last summer a public examination was held, to which Mr. Jamal had invited all the principal persons in the town, Mohammedans as well as Christians. Some Bedouin sheikhs too, were present. All were very much pleased, and the practical result is that some of these sheikhs have expressed their willingness to send their boys to Mr. Jamal for instruction.

Mr. Behnam Hassuneh's work too, among the Bedouins, has been encouraging on the whole. He is gladly received in their tents, and has opportunities of preaching the truth.

From El Hosn the news is very cheering. Our catechist, Mr. Suleiman Nassar, has repeatedly visited the villages on Jebel Ajlun. His message is received with readiness by Mohammedans as well as Christians. Some of the former gladly borrow Christian books and read them with interest.

On the whole, our work beyond the Jordan is just now very encouraging. There are drawbacks, no doubt. The poor inhabitants feel the weight of Turkish misrule, and the desire of being protected from the oppression of the Government is not altogether absent from the calculations of those who attach themselves more or less to our Mission. But such motives are less prominent than on this side of the Jordan. There is more independence of character, and therefore a greater prospect that the Gospel message will be received for its own sake.

THE HAURAN.

The work in this district, which is almost exclusively among the Druses, is superintended by the Rev. F. Bellamy. His plan has been to reside at Nazareth, and to make from thence two annual journeys to the Hauran, where he endeavours to introduce the Gospel into guest-rooms of the Druses, and also inspects and exercises the schools that have been established amongst them. One of these journeys, taken in August last, was of exceptional interest. Mr. Bellamy crossed the famous "region" of Argob or Trachonitis, now called El Lejah, well known for its remains of the "giant cities," but into which Europeans rarely penetrate. He also travelled beyond Jebel Hauran (the "Hill of Bashan") almost to the verge of the great Syrian desert.* Everywhere he was hospitably received by the Druse Sheikhs. They pay no attention themselves at present to the Gospel message, but as they allow Christ to be taught without reserve in the schools it is to be hoped that the parents may be reached through the children, and that the children's own hearts may be drawn to the Saviour. One hundred and eighty boys, and twenty girls, are under instruction at five different places. In each school the Society is responsible only for the salary of the master, the Sheikh and his people providing all other expenses. God's Word has thus found entrance amongst a people who are "hated alike by Jews, Moslems, and Christians," and who are therefore a legitimate object of the Society's direct efforts. The message sent to one of them by Mr. Bellamy may be emphatically endorsed :—"My dear friend, our wish is that the Druses become Christians; not such as you see in this country, but such Christians as are described in the New Testament."

Work among the Druses.

It may here be mentioned that a most striking illustration of the bread cast upon even Mohammedan waters being found after many days has lately been given to the Committee. Four years ago, under financial pressure, the Society closed its Turkish Mission at Constantinople. Its missionary, Dr. Koelle, however, remained at his post: and it will be remembered that at the close of 1879 all Europe was startled by the report that Dr. Koelle and a Turkish Ulema who had assisted him in translations had been arrested; that though the former had been at once set free, his books had been detained, and the Ulema, Ahmed Tewfik Effendi, thrown into prison; and that Sir H. Layard had delivered an ultimatum to the Porte. After an anxious negotiation with the Sultan himself, Sir H. Layard succeeded in recovering the books, and in saving the life of the Ulema, who was, however, banished to the Isle of Chio, and thence has lately escaped and come to England—since which the recent calamitous earthquake has destroyed a large part of the population of that very island. He is fully convinced of the truth of Christianity, though as yet unbaptized, and earnestly desires to be the means of making it known to his countrymen. He is a man of great learning, and of the highest consideration among the Ulemas of Constantinople, and might have looked forward to the highest office an Ulema can fill. The Committee, in asking much prayer on his behalf, would encourage their friends to remember, when they survey unpromising fields like Turkey and Persia, where Christ is allowed to be a prophet but denied to be the Son of God, that "no word from Him can fruitless fall!"

PERSIA MISSION.

In Persia, the work of Bible colportage, in which Mr. Bruce has been engaged under an arrangement with the Bible Society, is perhaps the most important that can be carried on at present. Dr. Hoernle's Medical Mission has been commenced on a small scale, a dispensary having been opened, which is attended by varying numbers of both Armenians and Mussulmans. The Sunday services and Sunday schools have been regularly held; and the congregations are maintained, though they have not increased. The Armenian schools are efficiently worked by the excellent Native Christian Master (formerly with Mr. Price at Nasik), Carapit Johannes.

The Committee cannot but be thankful that a testimony in behalf of the Lord of the whole earth is borne in the heart of the ancient kingdom of Persia, even though the outlook is still very unfavourable for any marked results.

Mr. Bruce is now on his way to England on a visit.

INDIA.

General Summary.

Extent and variety of the Society's work in India.

THE Society's Missions in India differ from those carried on by it in all other parts of the world, both in extent and variety. Nearly half of its whole foreign expenditure belongs to India. No less than 120 European missionaries are maintained there, which is nearly half the whole number on the roll. In connexion with the Society or the Native Churches it has built up, there are 112 Native clergy, and 1962 Native lay teachers; while the number of schools of various grades exceeds a thousand. Geographically, the Society's stations dot nearly the whole peninsula. Calcutta and Lower Bengal, Santâlia, the North-West Provinces, the Central Provinces, the Punjab, Sindh, Bombay and the Deccan, Madras, Tinnevelly, Travancore and Cochin, and the Telugu country—all these are occupied by it in greater or less strength. All, moreover, are distinct fields, each with its peculiar difficulties, and, thank God! each presenting features of special encouragement. At the presidency cities, and at such provincial towns as Masulipatam, efforts are made to bring the Gospel before the educated, English-speaking Hindu, who is often a graduate of one of the Indian Universities, familiar with English sceptical literature, and scarcely concealing his contempt for the heathen superstitions to which he nevertheless still renders some outward homage. In the city of Madras, for example, one-third of the Hindus are stated to be English-speaking. At great centres of idolatry like Benares and Nasik, Brahminism in all its ancient bigotry and pride confronts the missionary. Among the rural populations that densely throng the broad valleys of the Ganges and the Kistna, Hinduism is seen in its popular form, gross and grovelling; while among the Shanars of Tinnevelly we find a degrading devil-worship mixed with it. In the hilly districts of Central India there are many millions who are not Hindus at all, but represent the old races that inhabited the peninsula before the great Aryan invasion of 3000 years ago: and these, as nature-worshippers of a primitive type, and without the iron bonds of caste, are peculiarly open to missionary effort. In the North-West, and in the large cities all over India, the Mohammedans are an important section of the population; while the Parsees of Bombay, the Sikhs of the Punjab, and the Syrian Christians of Travancore, must not be omitted from the enumeration. Among all these the Church Missionary Society is labouring.

And its agencies are of the most varied character. For the educated Hindus, personal intercourse, public lectures, and high schools and colleges which prepare their students for the Indian Universities; for the masses of the people, bazaar preaching, systematic itineration from village to village, and vernacular schools; for the non-Aryan tribes, missionaries specially commissioned to go and live in their midst and master their unwritten tongues; for the Mohammedans, again, men set apart to give themselves heart and soul to the controversy with Islam; and in fields of exceptional difficulty, as in Kashmir and on the Beluch frontier, Medical Missions to exhibit in the most practical form the beneficence of Christianity. To all which must be added the great task of fostering the Native Churches, leading them on to a vigorous independent life, while assisting them in the training of their clergy and the education of their children, and encouraging them in their efforts for the conversion of the surrounding heathen.

Need of more men in India.

Notwithstanding the multifarious work thus carried on by the Society in India, openings in every quarter invite extended effort. The Committee have now before them urgent applications for at least twelve additional missionaries. Yet the scheme of retrenchment framed last year contemplated reductions in India alone amounting prospectively to 7000*l.* a year. The expenditure would not, however, be in any case actually lowered to that extent; for in addition to three new missionaries allotted to India under the general arrangements for annual reinforcements, and four added under special circumstances, the Committee have been enabled, through the liberal offerings of private friends for this particular purpose, to send out six others, making thirteen in all; which is of course exclusive of missionaries returning to the field after a period of rest at home. But the twelve now asked for are in addition to the thirteen new men just mentioned. There is therefore no prospect of the cost of the European staff being diminished.

Native Church Councils.

But some considerable portions of the other savings proposed have been effected without serious injury to the work, mainly by means of re-arrangements consequent on the progressive development of the Native Church organization. The North-West Provinces Church Council has now held its fourth annual meeting, the Punjab Council its fifth, and the Telugu Council its fifth. Those of the South—Madras, Tinnevelly, and Travancore—are of still older standing; and it may fairly be said of all, that they not only "hold on their way," but "grow stronger and stronger." The past year has witnessed the preliminary meetings of two more Councils, one for Bengal and one for Western India, which go far towards completing the organization of the Society's congregations.

Native Christianity in India—Signs of Advance.

On every hand signs are observable that Native Christianity in India is taking a position far in advance of what it has hitherto gained. We see it in the appreciative language of Anglo-Indian rulers, some examples of which, in the highest quarters, have been recorded during the year. We see it in the recognition accorded to the Churches by Native heathen rulers, such as the new Maharajah of Travancore, who visited the C.M.S. Mission at Cottayam within a few weeks of his accession in June last, and thankfully acknowledged that its labours were "increasing, year after year, the number of the loyal, law-abiding, and civilized population."* We see it in education. From the last report of the Syndicate of the Madras University it appears that 80 out of 1094 successful candidates in the Matriculation Examination, and 11 out of 85 in the B.A. Examination, were Native Christians—which is much in excess of their natural proportion relatively to their place in the population of South India. We see it in literature. A C.M.S. Native clergyman of Madras, who died last year, the Rev. J. Cornelius, was the translator into Tamil of Archbishop Trench's works on the Parables and Miracles, of Blunt's Undesigned Coincidences, of the S.P.C.K. New Testament Commentary, and of an "Essence of Theology" in two volumes compiled from standard English works; while in the Punjab, the Rev. Imad-ud-din has, with the assistance of the Rev. R. Clark, written original commentaries in Urdu on St. Matthew and the Acts—the latter, a book of 636 pages, having been published a year ago—and he is now similarly engaged on the Gospel of St. John. We see it in the externals of Christian worship. The Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan (who also is the translator of a commentary and the editor of a religious periodical) has rebuilt his church in Madras at a cost of 800*l.*, half of which was raised by the Native congregation, and the ceremony of dedication by the Bishop of Madras on Dec. 8th attracted not a little public attention. We see it in the spread of the Gospel through the efforts of Native Christians who are entirely free from European supervision, notably in North Tinnevelly, in the field where Ragland, David Fenn, and their associates, formerly laboured so assiduously, and with so little immediate fruit. That large district is now entirely in the hands of the Rev. V. Vedhana-yagam and his Native Church Council, and their success is not exceeded in any part of India, being particularly noteworthy among the caste people.*

The Jones Funds.

The evangelistic zeal of the Native Church has been much fostered by the "William Charles Jones Fund." The interest of this fund, which was established two years ago by Mr. W. C. Jones's munificent gift of 35,000*l.* Three per Cent. Stock, is employed in grants to such Native Church Councils as raise from purely local sources at least two-fifths of the cost of their own religious worship and pastoral work, for the purpose of providing agents for distinctly evangelistic labours; each grant to be met by an equal sum raised by the Council itself for the same object. The scheme has already proved a most wholesome stimulus in South India. The Councils there welcomed it at once with hearty gratitude, and they are already claiming grants amounting to 500*l.* a year.† The North India Councils have not as yet fulfilled the conditions; but ere long they will no doubt do so, and Mr. Jones's generous gift will find full employment; as his other contribution, the "Walter Jones Fund," and also the "Henry Venn Native Church Fund" and the "Roxburgh Colportage Fund," have long since. Another auxiliary Fund, raised last year in memory of the late Miss F. R. Havergal, has just come into operation. Grants have been made from it to maintain Native Bible-women in the Punjab, at Bombay, at Jabalpur, and at Masulipatam; and plans are on foot for the translation of certain of Miss Havergal's writings into three different Indian languages.

Theological Schools and Classes.

While the Committee are thus seeking in various ways to stimulate the development of the Native Church, they are profoundly sensible of the special duty laid upon the Society of training the Native Christian agents. Next to the preaching of the Gospel to the unevangelized heathen, this is its most pressing work. The Committee thank God that the past year has witnessed some distinct steps forward in this important department. In every one of the provinces occupied by the Society, provision is now made for the efficient discharge of so solemn a duty. The Divinity School for Bengal, under Mr. Blackett, established itself at the close of the year in the commodious buildings of the late Cathedral Mission College. The plans for the Divinity School for the North-West Provinces, under Mr. Hooper and Mr. Hackett, have been matured, and it will be opened immediately at Allahabad. In Tinnevelly, the Theological Class, formerly conducted with so much advantage by Mr. (now Bishop) Sargent, has been revived under Mr. Kember, and though humbler in the range of its studies than the institutions in the North, will not be less useful in its own sphere. In some of the other provinces the arrangements are less complete. On the other hand, the best known institution of all, the Lahore Divinity College, is able by God's mercy to report, in the tenth year after its foundation by Mr. French, that ten Native clergymen have been trained within its walls, besides several lay evangelists, some of whom will doubtless take holy orders hereafter. The Committee thank God also for the abundant testimony borne to the Christian devotedness and spiritual influence of very many of the Native Agents, both ordained and unordained.

Thus has it pleased God to bless the rising Native Churches, and the labours of the Society in their behalf. Not less has His grace abounded towards the Society's own direct missionary work. Although there has not in any of the districts occupied been a large ingathering in the past year, many interesting cases of conversion are reported. Among the Brahmins who have received the kingdom of God as little children, one, at Amritsar, is mentioned as an old friend of the Rev. Imad-ud-din. Mohammedans of good position and education have been baptized at Calcutta and Peshawar. Converts from the Vellalar and other relatively high castes of South India have endured much domestic persecution. Two of these, in North Tinnevelly, keep large private schools, and have much local influence. Another is a village head-man in the same district, who declares that a church proposed to be built in his village must be large enough to hold all the inhabitants, whom he is seeking to win over. Among lower castes and sections of the people, more than one remarkable case is reported from Western India, as will appear hereafter.

Notable Converts.

The general advance of Christianity in India, and particularly the influence of the Mission Colleges and High Schools, will doubtless increase the numbers of those educated Hindus who are called "Borderers." One missionary in Bengal mentions three Brahmins of his acquaintance in one small town who belong to this class. One, who was educated under Dr. Duff, has been for twenty-five years "a secret believer in the Lord Jesus," but shrinks from confessing Him in baptism; a second "is very far advanced, and always defends Christianity when it is spoken against;" and a third, a graduate of Calcutta University and the editor of a newspaper, "having been brought up in a Government school, has not much knowledge of the Bible, but desires to know more." Another missionary, at Jabalpur, laments that so many "make I dare not wait upon I would," and mentions one respectable merchant as "a sort of daylight Nicodemus, who comes in the quiet of hot mid-day, when no one is astir to mark his visits to the Padre Sahib." The Rev. V. Vedhanayagam writes of a Vellalar, who keeps a large private school,—"He has read the whole Bible; his knowledge of the way of salvation is clear; his veneration for Christ is great; his preaching to his heathen friends is touching and effectual; he does not worship idols, nor allow his wife or children to do so;" yet he is not baptized, though he promises to be so soon.

Work among the Non-Aryan tribes.

Four years ago, the Committee formed plans for extending the Society's operations among the non-Aryan hill-people, who it was justly feared were fast coming under the influence of that "power of absorption" which the Annual Report of last year noticed as still characteristic of Hinduism, but who were believed to be especially open to the message of salvation. Two of these tribes, the Santâls of Bengal, and the Arrians of Travancore, had already yielded a good harvest of souls to the Society's sowing, and from a third, the Kois of the Godavery, some converts had been gathered in. Distinct progress has now been made in this branch of missionary effort, particularly in the past year; though it is clear that among these races, as elsewhere, the sowing must be in tears, and the sower must walk by faith and not by sight. The Santâls do not come in so rapidly as once they did; but those already Christians "show forth" in many ways "the praises of Him who hath called them out of darkness into His marvellous light." The new Mission to the Gônds of Central India has been patiently prosecuted; and the confidence of the people is being gained. The Rev. W. Clark, late of Ceylon, has been sent out to resume and revive the work among the Arrians, so inseparably associated with the name of Henry Baker. A missionary has been stationed at Godda, with the express purpose of his reaching the Râjmahal Paháris who dwell on the hills skirted by the Santâl valleys. A more numerous race, probably, than any of these, is that of the Bheels, who inhabit the hills throughout a large portion of Western Central India. Efforts have from time to time been made to reach those inhabiting the province of Khandesh, where the Society occupies the town of Malegâm. But an entirely new Mission has been also established among the Bheels of Rajputana, at Khairwarra, through the liberality of the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth, who, in addition to his earnest efforts to increase the Society's General Fund, gave 1000*l.* to maintain for three years a missionary at this new station.* The Committee fervently pray that the Lord will graciously own the dedication of this sum to His service by giving the wild hill-men, to whom the Gospel is now sent for the first time, the hearing ear and the understanding and believing heart. They would thankfully commend also to His blessing their friend General F. Haig, the founder and benefactor of the Koi Mission on the Godavery, who during the absence on furlough of the solitary missionary engaged, has most generously himself gone to India to carry on the work.

The Frontier Missions.

By means of similar noble contributions the Committee have been enabled to carry out the policy set forth two years ago, at the outbreak of the Afghan War, of strengthening the Missions on the North-West Frontier in readiness for an advance into the hitherto closed countries of Afghanistan, Kafiristan, and Beluchistan. A check for 1000*l.* for this purpose was handed by a friend to the Secretaries at the last Annual Meeting; and another friend has undertaken to support for three years two young missionaries just sent out. Meanwhile the Committee would remind their friends that the Society has actually carried on an Afghan Mission for twenty-eight years. "May I beg of you," writes Mr. Hughes, "to press home the fact that both Peshawar and Bannú are in Afghanistan, and in the midst of Afghan people." Kashmir is also a frontier Mission, in which a noble work of Christian philanthropy has been done by the Medical Mission, the Orphanage, and the Famine Relief Fund. The latest development of the Society's frontier work is the Beluch Mission, in which, as in Kashmir, an ordained and a medical missionary labour side by side. This Mission was founded and to a large extent supported by the lamented George Maxwell Gordon, and the Committee accept it as a legacy of responsibility with not less thankfulness than they have accepted the noble pecuniary legacy of one-half of his private fortune in trust for the support of these Frontier Missions. Nor will they forget in days to come, if it shall please God to set before them an open door into the regions beyond, that in the years 1879 and 1880 Mr. Gordon was distributing Arabic, Persian, and Pushtu Gospels, and holding friendly religious discussions with Mohammedan maulvies, in the city of Kandahar.

Bengal Native Church Council.

As already mentioned, a Native Church Council has been formed for Bengal. The arrangements were completed at an important meeting held at Chupra in the Krishnagar district on May 20th, 1880, which was attended by no less than 500 delegates from the various congregations. The Council now consists of six Native clergymen and thirty lay representatives, viz., two each from the following churches:—Trinity and Christ Church, Calcutta; Kistopur (Emmanuel Church); Thakurpukur, Bonhûgli, Agarpara (Christ Church); Burdwan (Christ Church); Krishnagar (St. John's); and seven central churches in the Krishnagar district. The Rev. J. Vaughan is chairman, the Rev. Piari Mohun Rudra, secretary, and Babu Owesh Chander Dutt, treasurer. Besides the pastors, forty-five pastoral lay agents will be under this Council; and a Christian corn-dealer at Solo (Krishnagar), has accepted the position of an honorary catechist, also under the Council.

On the occasion of the Chupra meeting, the Rev. Piari Mohun Rudra, of Trinity Church, Calcutta, preached an excellent sermon on Christian unity, after which 150 persons received the Lord's Supper, including some of the moochie Christians hitherto (as will be remembered) regarded as outcasts by the others. Papers were read on "The Native Ministry," "Native Church Independence," and "Church Committees," by the Rev. Rajkristo Bose, Mr. Keshub C. Mondel, and Mr. Andrew Biswas. Of this meeting the Indian Christian Herald, an English Calcutta paper conducted by Native Christians unconnected with the C.M.S., says:—

> The Mission compound resembled a camp. Numbers of brethren were lodged in tents. Provision for the large gathering was made, consisting simply of dal, rice, and fish curry. It was a delightful spectacle to see the brethren of the West sitting cross-legged on the ground side by side with their brethren of the East, without any consideration of social standing. The Brahmin convert and the Mohammedan convert sat side by side cheerfully on the green grass, and had plantain-leaves for plates and earthen vessels for tumblers. A large number of Hindus and Mohammedans saw this feast of love, in which all distinction was ignored, and received, no doubt, a favourable impression of the power of the Gospel.

CALCUTTA.

Claims of Calcutta.

The capital of British India is not occupied by the Society in the strength which its importance demands, and which the Committee would desire. Of the six European clergymen maintained there, one, the Rev. H. P. Parker, is the Corresponding Secretary for the North India Mission; another, the Rev. C. S. Harington, is engaged in English work at the Old Church; a third, the Rev. W. R. Blackett, is Principal of the Theological Class for Bengal; a fourth, the Rev. R. J. Bell, was appointed Principal of the new Boarding School for Christian boys, but has been temporarily transferred to Agra, where St. John's College was without a Principal;—leaving only two, the Rev. Dr. C. Baumann and the Rev. A. Clifford, as general evangelistic and superintending missionaries. One or two men of combined devotion and culture might find a most inviting field of labour among the thousands of educated English-speaking Bengalis, who form so important a section of the population of Calcutta; and among the poorer classes, the work now done on a small scale by the Native agents of the local Calcutta Church Missionary Association, under Dr. Baumann's superintendence, might be indefinitely extended.

The Bishop of Calcutta has appointed Mr. Parker and Mr. Blackett two of his Honorary Chaplains.

The Old Church.

The "Old Church," as it is called, is the church built by Kiernander in 1770, the incumbent-chaplains of which (Brown, Thomason, &c.) in past times did so much for the cause of Indian Missions. It has been found advisable for several reasons that there should be in Calcutta an English congregation connected with the Society; and circumstances have rendered it possible to carry this arrangement into effect with little expense to the Society's funds. In 1869, the "Old Church" was, with the sanction of the Bishop, handed over to the Society, together with an endowment fund. A district is attached, in which there is a large body of Eurasian Christians who specially need ministerial care. The Rev. C. S. Harington is the minister of this Church. He thankfully acknowledges the assistance that he receives from the Secretary of the Society's North India Mission, the Rev. H. P. Parker. The church is fairly well attended; and the number and devoutness of the communicants are matters of thankfulness. A weekly service, and a mothers' meeting, for the Hindustani-speaking Christians, are held by the Scripture Reader and the Bible-woman respectively. A revived missionary interest is also shown in the Sunday School, the support of the children being given to Dr. Baumann's work among the "Sweepers"—a low caste of heathen, so denominated.

Bengal Divinity School.

The Society's Divinity School for Bengal, under the care of the Rev. W. R. Blackett, moved from Krishnagar to Christ Church, Cornwallis Square, in the city of Calcutta, in January, 1880. By the close of the year a more convenient abode was found at the premises recently occupied by the Cathedral Mission College, which has now given way to the Cathedral Mission Divinity College. Three students were sent out during the year to spiritual work, who are doing well, two in Krishnagar, and one in Calcutta. At the date of Mr. Blackett's Annual Letter, five students were under instruction, three of these being young men of superior education, and receiving their instruction mainly through the medium of English. The Rev. Piari Mohun Rudra renders valuable assistance. If only three or four well-trained and spiritually qualified men can be sent out annually, the college will be an inestimable blessing. Mr. Blackett rightly attaches more importance to quality than quantity, while he feels that all effort will be useless without the presence and energy of the Holy Spirit.

On July 1st, 1880, a Boarding School for Christian Boys was opened, in accordance with the educational policy formulated by the Committee in the previous year. It is under the superintendence of Dr. Baumann, and has already proved a real boon. Applications for admission have been numerous, particularly from Christian widows on behalf of their growing sons.

The Native Christian Congregations in and around Calcutta have been already enumerated in connexion with the Bengal Native Church Council. The Rev. Piari Mohun Rudra is minister of Trinity Church, Amherst Street; the Rev. Rajkristo Bose, of Thakurpuker; and the Rev. Molam Biswas, of Kistopur. The Rev. Modhu Sudan Seal, who is now advanced in years, resides at Kidderpore, where there is a congregation not connected with the Society, of which his son, the Rev. Anonto Seal, is pastor.

Of these congregations, and of the evangelistic work carried on by the Calcutta Church Missionary Association, and of the Society's schools, and of Agarpara, no regular report has been received this year. The Rev. Dr. C. Baumann is general superintendent of a large number of various Mission agents and agencies; and the Rev. A. Clifford is in charge of Christ Church district and of Agarpara. Interesting occasional notices of the diversified work carried on appear in the localized pages of an edition of the C.M. Gleaner published in Calcutta. Confirmations and prize distributions by the Bishop of Calcutta, social gatherings and missionary meetings, baptisms of converts, &c., are among the incidents thus recorded. On Oct. 31st, four adults were baptized by Dr. Baumann at Trinity Church. Three of these were educated Mussulmans, viz., a learned maulavi, a teacher of languages, and a medical practitioner. The two former have sacrificed influential positions at the mosque for Christ's sake. The fourth was a young Brahmin, who has endured much opposition at the hands of his friends.

Notable Baptisms at Calcutta.

KRISHNAGAR.

Our much-valued brother, the Rev. J. Vaughan, continues his devoted and untiring labours as superintending missionary of the KRISHNAGAR District. He is assisted by two younger brethren, the Revs. H. Williams and G. H. Parsons. Mr. Blackett, with the Bengal Divinity School, has removed to Calcutta, as before mentioned. The Training Class for Schoolmasters was, during the greater part of last year, under Mr. Williams's care, but has now been handed over to Mr. Parsons, and Mr. Williams set free for evangelistic work.

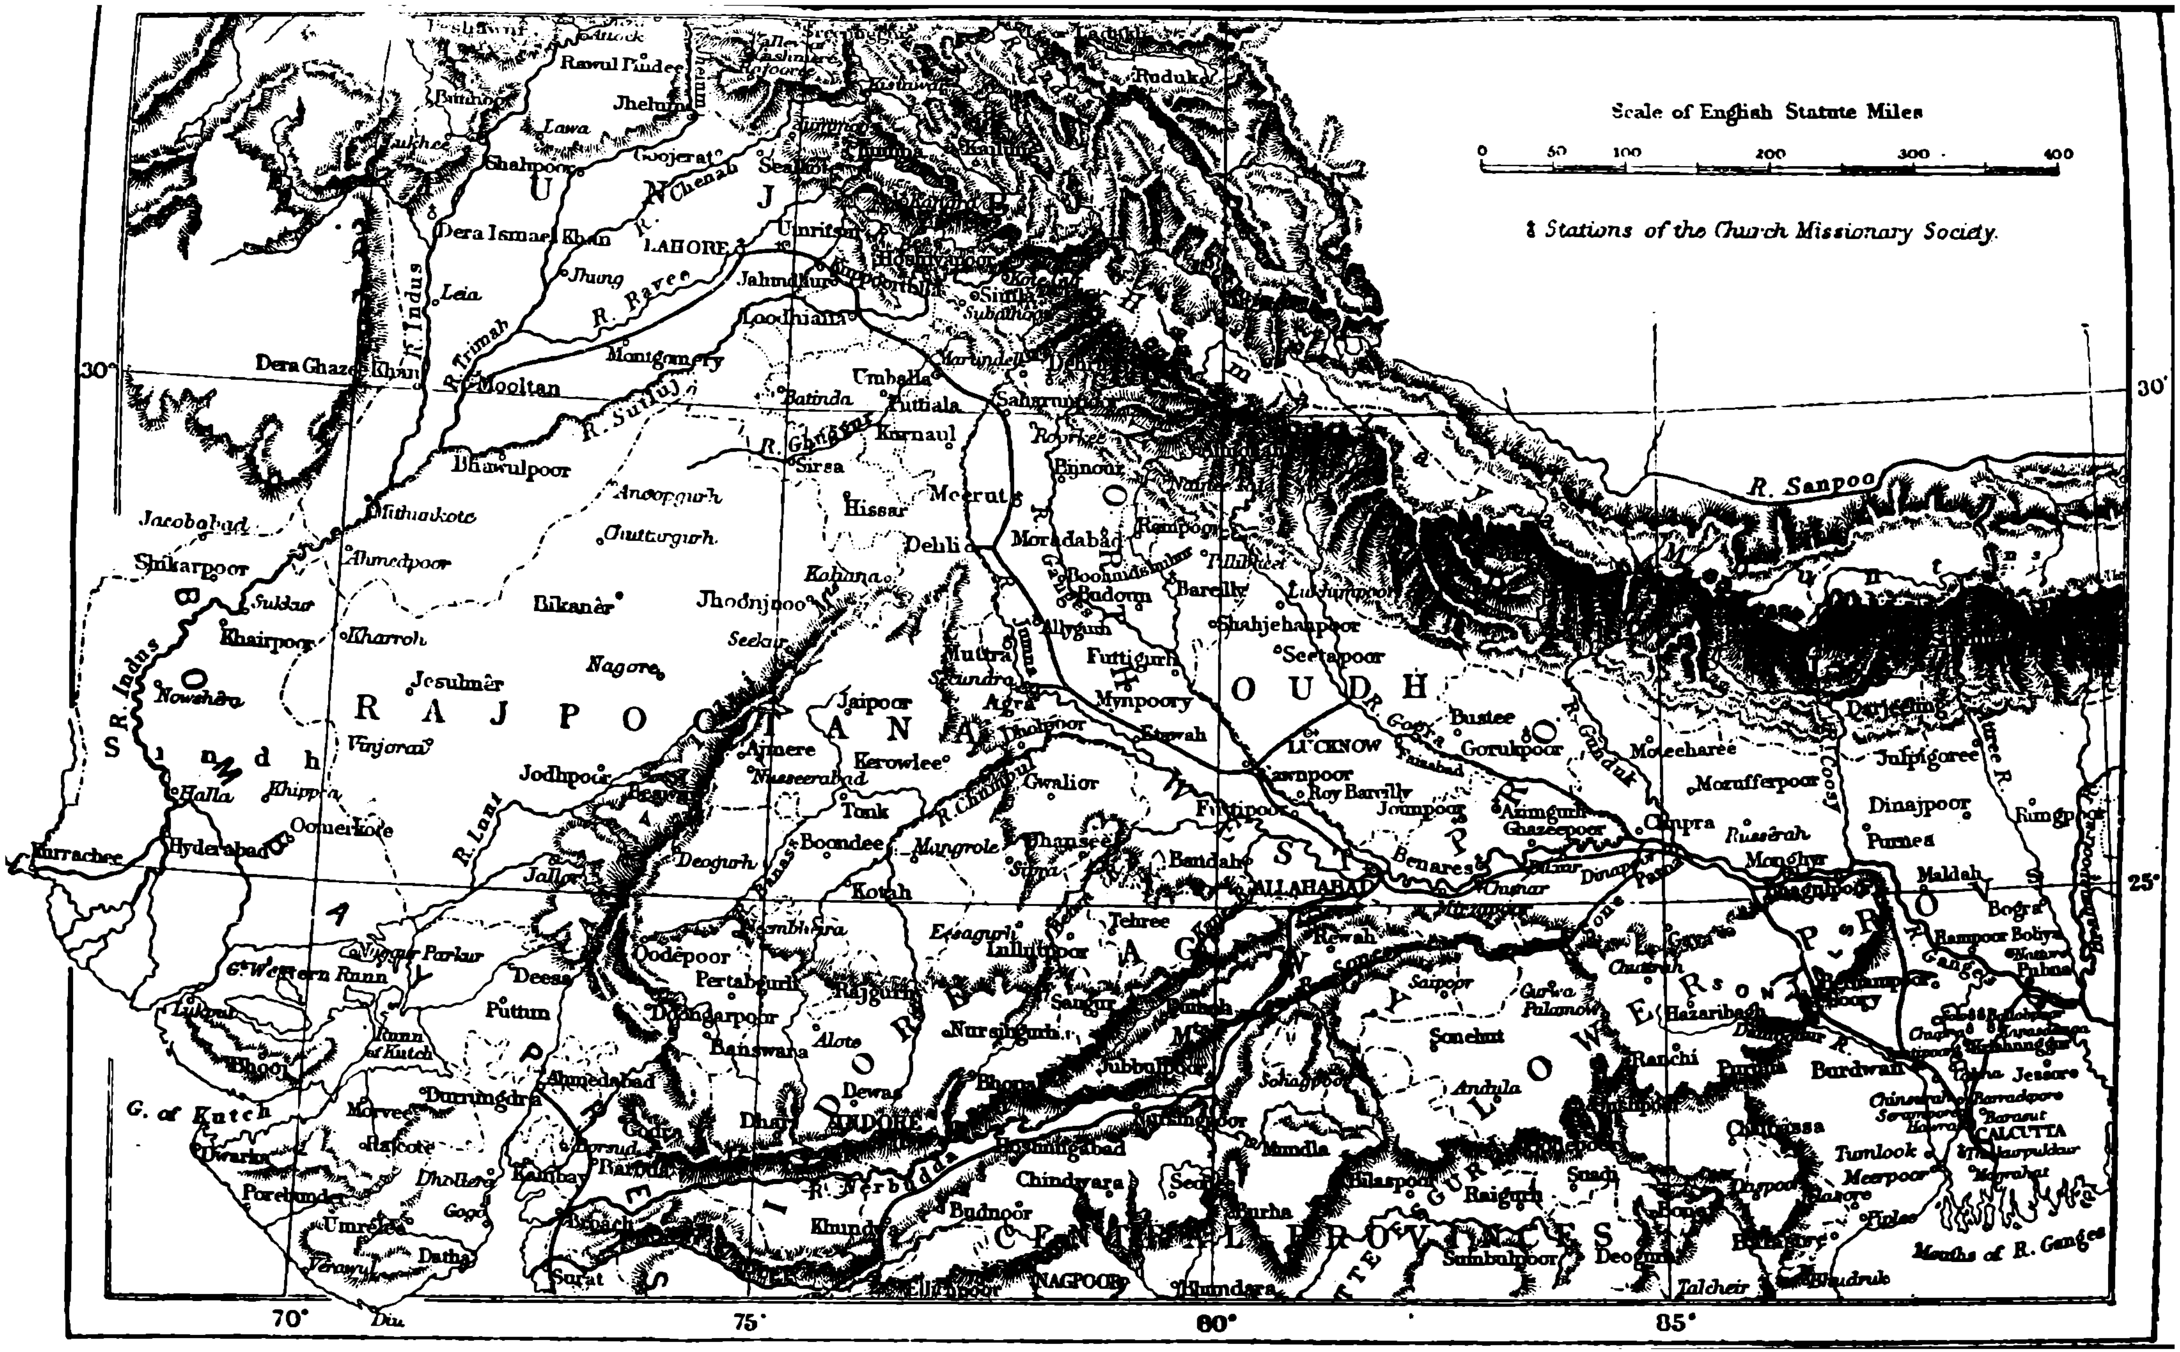

Mr. Vaughan has not ceased in his efforts to quicken the dulness and enlighten the ignorance of the 6070 adherents of the Mission, whose hereditary Christianity—for almost all are Christians of the second or third generation—is of a low type. The staff of Native helpers has been weeded during the year of several agents who did their regular round of duty in a perfunctory spirit, and exercised little active influence for good. This step, however necessary, adds much to the work of the missionaries in visiting congregations scattered in some fifty villages over a large tract of country; but it may be hoped that the arrangements now on foot for the training of both catechists and schoolmasters will ere long supply them with godly and efficient helpers. Some there are now who give them much comfort. Mr. Vaughan mentions three or four whom he hopes to see ordained, who "know what it is to have sleepless nights and burdened spirits in their yearnings after the spiritual life of their people." The victory gained by Mr. Vaughan in his arduous struggle with caste prejudices in the Christian community, appears, the Committee rejoice to say, to be an enduring one. Anxiety in that respect seems now quite at an end; and some remarkable cases are reported of bitter caste feeling in individuals having been succeeded by manifest tokens of the faith which worketh by love. The not less signal victory won in resisting the efforts of Romish intruders to entrap the more ignorant of the people was one, on the other hand, which will have, by the help of God, to be repeated, a fresh assault having been made upon the district within the last few months. On the former occasion, three years ago, Romish chapels and schools suddenly sprang up as by magic in all the principal centres of the C.M.S. Mission. "In six months," exclaimed one of the assailants to a C.M.S. agent, "not a vestige of your Mission will remain." But Mr. Vaughan, absorbed as he then was in the conflict with caste, and deeply discouraged by the whole aspect of affairs, threw himself into the struggle with the new foe, and, to use his own words, "The tide turned; the people came back; the enemy retreated; the priests' schools vanished; and their chapels, unused, are rotting on the ground." Now, however, a fresh detachment of priests and nuns has appeared in the district. They distribute little brass crucifixes to the Christian women to wear round their necks, and brand the little churches and chapels as devil's temples. The Committee earnestly ask that prayer may be offered to the Good Shepherd in behalf of His frail and trembling sheep, and also of the faithful under-shepherd who is wearing out body and mind in their defence.

Encouraging signs in Krishnagar.

"On the whole," Mr. Vaughan writes nevertheless, "I think light is spreading; I humbly trust also that here and there throbbings of spiritual vitality are being felt in hearts once utterly dead and cold. I hope God intends to raise this Mission from its low estate. We must go on working in faith." Three encouraging tokens for good may be noted. One is the gathering of ten converts from heathenism, most of them of higher social standing than the generality of the Krishnagar Christians. Several of them have verified their sincerity by the endurance of persecution, and three have passed through the Divinity School, and are now at work among their countrymen. The second is the hopeful commencement of systematic itinerant preaching to the heathen by the Rev. H. Williams. "He will, I hope," writes Mr. Vaughan, "be enabled to carry on his operations the whole year round. In the dry season he will have his tent, and in the rains we hope to get a boat in which he may sail along the rivers and preach in the villages on their banks. Thus far his experience is most encouraging. Hundreds are listening to his message with apparent eagerness and interest; and not a few seem to feel the power of the truth." The third is the hearty way in which the leading congregations, at the Sudder station, and at the seven district centres of Chapra, Bollobhpur, Kapasdanga, Joginda, Solo, Melliapotai, and Ratanpur, have joined in the Church Council movement already mentioned.

BURDWAN.

Revived work at Burdwan.

This station, with its many interesting memories, is at length reoccupied. The Rev. E. K. and Mrs. Thornton arrived here on the 8th January, 1880. Its being so long without a European missionary was partly owing to the fever that raged there for several successive years. Mr. Thornton has also charge of the out-stations of Bankara and Râniganj. The Native Christians number ninety-two, of whom about eighty are at Burdwan itself. No converts have been baptized during the year, but there is one candidate under instruction. Mr. Thornton found the spiritual life of the Native Christians at a very low ebb. The means of grace were very perfunctorily attended. There was also much of mutual envying and strife, together with an absence of evangelistic spirit. Considerable improvement, however, is now manifest, both in the attendance at the house of God, and in concern for their own individual spiritual life. A warm-hearted faithful pastor seems to be needed. May God raise up the right man!

The care of the Native Christians has not debarred Mr. Thornton from taking part in evangelistic work. By himself and his fellow-labourers (three Catechists and two Readers), the Gospel of the glory of the blessed God has been proclaimed morning and evening in the streets and bazaars of Burdwan, Bankara, and Râniganj, and also occasionally in the surrounding villages. The audiences vary from twenty to one hundred. These occasions bring to light the fact that many of those educated in the Missionary Schools are not only acquainted with Christ, but intellectually convinced of its truth, and only deterred from making open confession by fear of worldly loss. The villagers listen with pleasure and attention. The Babus, or gentry, many of them old pupils of Mission Schools, usually receive the missionary with kindness. Some of these are puffed up with pride; others seem to be sincerely seeking after the Saviour. "I would earnestly ask you," says Mr. Thornton, "to pray for these men, that God may be pleased to open their eyes, and draw them to Himself as trophies of Divine grace."

Santalia.

THE Santâl Mission has been again strengthened this year by the transfer of the Rev. A. W. Baumann, a Hindi-speaking missionary, from Faizabad in Oudh to the charge of the Godda station, with a special view of reaching the Pahâris of the Râjmahal Hills, who communicate with the outer world through the medium of the Hindi language, as the Santâls mostly do through the medium of Bengali. This addition to the staff makes six missionaries for the five stations. The Revs. A. Stark and R. Elliott (the latter a medical missionary) are at the central station, Taljhâri; the Rev. F. T. Cole, at Dharampur, in the Bahâwa district; the Rev. J. Blaich, in the Hirampur district; the Rev. J. Tunbridge, at Bhâgâyâ; and Mr. Baumann, as already mentioned, at Godda. Of the four Native clergymen, the Rev. Bhim Hasda acts as pastor of the Santâli congregation at Taljhâri, and the Rev. Ram Charan does the like work at Godda; while the Revs. William Sido and Sham Besra minister to the congregations of the outlying villages of Chuchi and Lakhipur, in the Bahâwa district.

Progress in the Santâl Church.

From TAIJHÂRI, Mr. Stark reports only seven adult baptisms, and the total numbers of Adherents (889) and Communicants (340) are little more than last year. But there are distinct signs of progress in independence and self-help in the Native Church. The local Church Council decreed that every agriculturist should contribute one rupee per annum towards the support of the Native pastor, and this contribution, aided by the Sunday offertories, already supplies more than half his stipend, which is only Rs. 18 per mensem. A High School has been successfully opened in place of the lately closed Boys' Boarding School. There are twenty-eight scholars, who, while receiving a free education, are entirely supported by their parents—"a great advance," justly observes Mr. Stark, "on the old system of giving free board and lodging in addition to free education." He hopes, as do the Committee, that the day may not be far distant when even these cultivators may pay school fees for their children. The new Preparandi Class, mentioned in last year's Report, has already sent forth three Native teachers for evangelistic work, two Santâls and a Pahâri, of whom Mr. Stark says that they are "educationally superior to previous agents, and," he thinks, "imbued with the right spirit." The Rev. R. Elliott finds his Dispensary an excellent mission agency, leading many heathen who share its benefit to inquire into the truth. The patients steadily increase in number, and the Santâl Christians themselves now contribute to its funds. Mr. Elliott also takes part in the educational and preparandi work.

The BAHÂWA district is so named from its railway station. The name of the village which is the head-quarters of the Mission, Dharampur, means "the holy place." The district comprises congregations numbering 769 souls, of whom 263 are communicants. Twenty-two adult baptisms are reported. Mr. Cole's Annual Letter is very interesting, especially with regard to the two Native pastors, the voluntary evangelists, the offerings of the people towards the support of their own Church, and the dispensary :—

Santâl Clergy and people.

The Native pastors in this district have given us every satisfaction. They are very much respected, and are working hard. The Lakhipur congregation has much improved under the care of the Rev. Sham Besra. He is not very clever, but he is earnest, and full of love. The Rev. William Sido, of Chuchi, writes, "The Christians of this district are walking well. They are striving to do what is right. Love is increasing among them. The heathen around are convinced in their heads, but not in their hearts." The Rev. Sham Besra sees greater signs of life than when first he took charge of Lakhipur. "The people are growing in knowledge, and show great attention in listening to the Word of God." He says, too, that he is much helped by three of the Christians in his district. One of them regularly conducts the Sunday services at Atgaru, and acts as the Catechist of the place. He receives no pay, and does it simply for the love of the work. He is a well-to-do man, and is thus able to exert a great influence over the people. He also mentions a very interesting case in another part of his district. In the village of Kargo a man asked for baptism. After instruction he was baptized with his children. His wife left him through the threats of her parents, but afterwards went back to him and her children. She in turn was convinced, and was baptized. Soon afterwards persecutions began in earnest. Part of his land was taken away. The heathen gathered outside his house at midnight, and tried to frighten them with devilish noises. The man and his wife were in great fear, but they knelt down and prayed and were comforted. This was repeated; but when the heathen saw they could not gain their purpose they left off. He was also tried in another way; his oxen sickened and died, and thus he was not able to plough his lands. He had to become a servant to his heathen mother-in-law, who allowed him to plough with her oxen in return for his services. With difficulty he managed to farm his own as well as his relative's land. The heathen taunted him, saying, "Although you serve God, yet how is it He does not take care of you? The bongas are angry, and you are being punished by them, and your God is not strong enough to help you." The man answered them, "Yes, it is true great troubles have come upon me; but God has kept us, and He sees us still." They are not allowed to touch any of the vessels containing food or water belonging to their heathen relations, but still they are very happy, and are firm in their faith.

Santâl offertories.

The weekly offerings during the year have been steadily increasing. The first fruits of everything are brought to church, and offered to God in kind. The heathen will not eat of their crops till they have sacrificed to devils; and we press it upon our people not to eat without first thanking God, the Giver of all good things. They show great readiness in following our advice in this, as well as all other respects. They are a very tractable people. The more one has to do with them the more one loves them. Happy is the man whose lot is cast amongst them! Half the salaries of the two Native pastors have been paid for by the contributions of the people. The harvest offerings were made in kind. Twenty-eight maunds of rice (a maund is 80 lbs.), that is, just one ton, were collected in the seven congregations of this district. Besides the rice, other produce, and money also, was given. Two village chapels have been built by the Christians, and one repaired during the year. These were built entirely by the people, not a pice was given by the Society. The one at Lakhipur is a very fine building. It was an interesting sight to see the Native pastor, the Rev. Sham Besra, working with the people in its construction, and I do not think I ever enjoyed handling an axe so much as when I helped to cut some of the beams. The joy was very real, it reminded me of the Israelites working willingly in the construction of the temple.

A lovable people.

Nearly all the people, I believe, are more or less voluntary agents. They try to make Christ known to those with whom they come in contact. All the teachers in the schools here go voluntarily to the villages around to preach. They also take turns in addressing the people who come for medicine every day.

Mission Dispensary.

We have opened a charitable dispensary. Government assists us by giving a monthly grant of money to buy medicines. During the past five months, 2131 patients have been attended to. Last month the total prescribed for was 682. This is a glorious opportunity for making known the Gospel, for not only those who are sick are brought under the sound of the glad tidings, but also the relatives who accompany them. A young Santâl who has been trained in the Government Medical School assists me.

Santâli Books.

We have finished the translation of the "Epistles for the Day" in Santâli. The Collects have been revised, and we hope soon to have them printed. A small book, explaining the "Ten Commandments," with illustrations by A.L.O.E., has been published for us by the Calcutta Tract Society. A second edition of our Santâli Hymn Book has been printed. The Calcutta Bible Society has asked us to revise the "Four Gospels" in Santâli, which are now out of print. We are now busily engaged in this very important work.

BHAGÂYÂ has been but recently occupied. This station, and that at Dharampur (already noticed), are the two established in response to the appeal made by Sir W. Muir five years ago. The Bhagâyâ district is extensive, and the religious aspect of its Santâl population varies considerably, some being almost entirely Hinduized, while others are still in the most primitive condition. Mr. Tunbridge, who was the first missionary to settle in the district, came amongst them in December of 1879. The people were then exceedingly shy and suspicious; but this has worn off. Upwards of one hundred boys are now attending school. There are seventy Christian adherents. Mr. Tunbridge's account of the out-station Telgâwa illustrates the character of the converts, and the difficulties they have to encounter:—

A Santâl Convert's difficulties.

We have some thirty Christians here, eighteen of whom have been gathered into the fold since my last report. Our last converts were the village chief, his wife and boy. This man had been our greatest enemy, and being chief, priest, and medicine-man combined, he was capable of giving us a good deal of trouble. He had prevented any one working as servants with our Christians, and several times threatened to drive them all out of his village, taking their lands and everything away. This, of course, he had no power to do openly, but he might have done so by craft, &c., which the Santâls know to their cost. But the Master was watching, and in due time sorely afflicted this man's family. In his distress he cried aloud to his gods, but, as he told me afterwards, "they would not hear." He was then filled with fear and powerfully possessed with the idea that the God of heaven, whose servants he had persecuted, was punishing him for his sin. He begged most earnestly for instruction and baptism, and declared to all his intention of becoming a Christian. He persevered in his intention, and in due time I baptized him. He had been a great drunkard, but for the last five months has not, I believe, tasted a single drop, as he promised me at his baptism. He was no sooner a Christian than he wished to clear out, together with his fellows in the faith, and live in a Christian hamlet which he proposed founding. I tried to dissuade him from this, for the present, as he might win over some of his heathen neighbours, but no, he has already commenced building. Thank God, all of them seem to stand firm!

The Rev. Ram Charan, the senior Native pastor (not himself a Santâli, but a Hindu), was in charge of the GODDA district prior to Mr. Baumann's arrival in November. The congregations number 227 souls, of three totally different races, Hindus, Santâlis, and Pahâris

BHAGALPÛR.

Merciful Deliverances.

The Committee thank God for signal mercies vouchsafed during the year to the Society's veteran missionary at Bhagalpûr, the Rev. E. Droese, who has laboured at this station more than thirty years. He was at Naini Tal at the time of the calamitous landslip by which so many valuable lives were lost, and he himself had a narrow escape. He was there recruiting his health after what the medical man called a miraculous recovery from brain fever. "Thus twice in the year," to use his own words, "he has been to the very gates of death; but the Lord has spared the life of His unworthy servant, and his prayer now is that the remainder of his days may be spent in more entire devotion to the Lord and His blessed service."

Continued progress among the Satguruas.

The whole number of adherents at BHAGALPÛR and at its out-stations, Jamalpur and Sahibganj, is 402, barely half of whom are adults. The Communicants are 81. There were 27 adult baptisms during the year, mostly from among the new Satgurua converts, of whom so interesting an account was given in last year's Report. These converts have had to bear much persecution, but have remained faithful, and have grown in the knowledge of the truth. Some of them were indisposed to give up caste observances, but Mr. Droese's advice, to abandon everything connected with idolatry, while retaining merely social customs, has been generally followed. Several other families are believed to be ready to come over. The adhesion of these Satgurua people, 71 in all, has strengthened the independent element in the Christian community of the district, and Mr. Droese is now encouraged to hope that the time has come for taking measures to form a Church that might be set free from missionary tutelage. A catechist now at work among the Satguruas, who is "intelligent and pious, and heart and soul devoted to the work of the Lord," might, he thinks, be selected as the first Bhagalpûr Native pastor. The Committee earnestly hope that Mr. Droese's patient labours may ere long be crowned by the successful accomplishment of this plan.

It is from Bhagalpûr that the Pahâris of the Rajmahal Hills have hitherto generally been reached; and Mr. Droese has been occupied some time in preparing books in their language, which he is one of the few who have studied. He has translated St. Luke's Gospel and portions of the Prayer Book, and prepared a Vocabulary and Grammar. These will be very useful to future missionaries.

North-West Provinces.

Agra, commenced 1813; Meerut (Mîrat), 1815; Benâres, 1817; Gorakpur, 1823; Azimgarh and Jaunpur, 1831; Lucknow, 1858; Allahabad, 1859; Faizabad, 1862; Aligarh, 1863.

Retrenchment and reorganization in the N.-W. Provinces.

THE retrenchments resolved upon by the Committee in the spring of last year involved, as will be remembered, some important changes in the Society's North-West Provinces Mission. European missionaries were to be withdrawn from Allahabad, Azimgarh, Aligarh, and Lucknow and Faizabad in the old province of Oudh. St. Peter's College at Allahabad was to be closed, with several other schools attended chiefly by non-Christian boys. Benares and Agra were to be strengthened by the concentration there of an adequate European force; and from these two centres visitation and help were to be given to the congregations at the closed stations, which were to have Native pastors provided for them, and to be linked together by means of common connexion with the North-West Provinces Native Church Council. Gorakpur, Jabalpur, and Mîrat were to be continued as ordinary Mission stations. To carry out, as far as practicable, this general policy, the Calcutta Corresponding Committee matured a comprehensive plan for the re-arrangement of large portions of the work, under which the Native Church was to take a more active and independent part in the provision of pastoral ministrations for its members; and both the Local Church Committees and the Provisional Council have accepted with readiness the responsibilities laid upon them. This Council has for its Treasurer an English civil servant at Allahabad, Mr. G. E. Knox; and the Committee have received with much thankfulness his testimony to the energy and independent spirit manifested by the Native Christians.

Energy of Native Christians.

Various circumstances have led to some modifications in the arrangements above referred to. The Committee have consented to the Rev. G. B. Durrant remaining at Lucknow for the present, as it proved impossible to leave the very important and interesting work there entirely to the Native Church; and also to the Rev. J. Stuart continuing to reside at Aligarh as his headquarters for evangelistic work, although that place will be regarded as an out-station connected with Agra. But for Faizabad a Native pastor, the Rev. F. Abel, has been provided, the Rev. A. W. Baumann being transferred (as already mentioned) to Santâlia; and Azimgarh becomes an out-station of Benares, the Rev. B.

H. Skelton accepting other work in India unconnected with the Society. Mr. Skelton had just been able to complete the long unfinished church at Azimgarh, and had recently done important service in superintending the multifarious agencies of the Gorakpur Mission for two years during Mr. Stern's absence in Europe.

As regards Allahabad, a new departure has been made. The Committee had proposed with full confidence to leave the large Native congregation to the sole charge of its excellent pastor, the Rev. David Mohun; and when the Rev. G. H. Weber, who had ably and zealously worked the station, was compelled by serious sickness to come home for a time, St. Peter's College was given up, and it was not intended to replace the European missionary. But the great importance of the Society being well represented at the capital of the North-West Provinces was strongly urged upon the Committee by Sir W. Muir and other friends; and at the same time a lady, Mrs. Harvey, of Hampstead, offered to provide 400*l.* a year during her lifetime, to support a missionary there. The Committee could not but accept so plain an indication of the Lord's will, and resolved to seek for a clergyman with the special qualifications needed to exercise the influence desired by friends on the spot. In the meanwhile, however, a proposal was actually on the way from India to establish the projected Divinity College for the North-West Provinces at Allahabad instead of at Benares; to utilize for this purpose the St. Peter's College buildings; and thus to secure an occupation of Allahabad without interfering with the Committee's general scheme. Here again, the Divine leading seems manifest. The removal of the Revs. W. Hooper and H. M. M. Hackett, the Principal and Vice-Principal of the Divinity School, will give to Allahabad English missionaries in every way fitted to represent the Society at such a centre, and not injure Benares as the headquarters of extended evangelistic operations—rather the contrary, for Mrs. Harvey's generous gift, by relieving the general funds of one of the Divinity professors, has indirectly enabled the Committee to strengthen Benares by sending out an additional man thither, one of those ordained on March 13th. It may be added that the placing of the new Theological College at Allahabad is also the outward and visible sign of an extension of the scope of its teaching. The original idea was to make it a purely Hindi institution, with exclusive reference to Hinduism, and for this the sacred city of Benares was the natural locale. It has been found, however, desirable to provide for the reception of Urdu-speaking students also, with a view to work among the Mohammedans; and on this basis Allahabad is a more suitable centre.

On a review of the whole matter, the Committee cannot but observe that although they have changed their plans under varying providential circumstances, the result, by the good hand of God, has been a considerable saving to the Society, distinct development of Native Church independence, and a strengthening of important departments of the work, with but a slight retrograde movement at one or two minor stations. They earnestly pray that an abundant blessing from on high may rest upon the Mission as now re-arranged, and that from the teeming population of the Gangetic Valley a richer harvest of souls may be reaped in years to come.

Good results of re-organization.

BENARES.

The Rev. Brocklesby Davis is the superintending missionary at this old and important station. The Revs. W. Hooper and H. M. M. Hackett have also been there, preparing for the new Divinity College, which is now, however, as already explained, to be established at Allahabad. The Rev. J. J. Johnson has been chiefly engaged in the study of the language; and the Rev. F. E. Walton, who has just been sent out, can have no other task for some time to come. Mr. J. Treusch and Mr. J. Baumann superintend the Girls' Normal School and the Boys' Orphanage. Mrs. Grime was actively employed in the superintendence of the city schools until she was transferred, a few months back, to the Punjab. The Rev. Aman Masih Levi is pastor of the Native congregation. The Christian adherents, including those at the out-stations Jaunpur, Chunar, &c., are 410 in number; of whom 69 are Communicants. In the various educational institutions there are 1306 children. The Rev. B. Davis, in addition to his other duties and responsibilities, acts as Principal of *Jay Narain's College.

GORAKPUR.

"After an absence of twenty-two months on furlough," writes the Rev. H. Stern, the Society's veteran missionary at this station, "I reached Gorakpur on the 5th of March, 1880, accompanied by Mrs. Stern, who for the first time entered upon her missionary duties, whereas in my case it was the twenty-ninth year of missionary life, of which twenty-seven years have been spent in Gorakpur. Whilst, therefore, to her everything was strange, to me it was returning to my home, where I was met and welcomed by familiar faces. Our truly princely reception, which was marked by every expression of affection and joy on the part of both Christians and non-Christians, amidst fireworks and illuminations, friendly greetings, and addresses of welcome, accompanied by kind gifts, among showers of flowers and fruit, and ending with songs of praise and thanksgiving, was most overwhelming, and will make the day ever memorable in our missionary life."

Joyful reception of an old Missionary by his people.

The Native Christian community, whose members thus enthusiastically welcomed their father in Christ back to his old post, comprises, at the central station and at the agricultural Christian settlement of Basharatpur, 753 souls, of whom 177 are Communicants. This number includes 306 inmates of the Boys' and Girls' Orphanages. The Mission is well known for its multifarious agencies. At Gorakpur itself there are a High School, two Anglo-Vernacular Middle-class Schools, three Elementary Boys' Schools, a Girls' School, and an Industrial School; and at Basharatpur, two Christian Schools, and others for non-Christian children. Among the evangelistic agencies, there is a Native Christian Missionary Association, and a Zenana Mission, both entirely carried on by Natives. The cultivation of the 1200 acres of land belonging to the Basharatpur settlement comes also under the missionary's supervision. Such a charge demands administrative powers of no mean order, and the finances of such a Mission need watchful care, especially as some branches of it—the Orphanages, for instance—are supported independently of the funds of the Society. Mr. Stern found all the machinery in good order on his return, the Rev. B. H. Skelton having ably filled his place; but his account of the spiritual condition of the congregations is not as satisfactory as might be wished. It is, however, a good feature of the Native Church, that although it has yet to attain to independence of foreign control and care, it is a missionary Church. Through the efforts of its Missionary Association, which is aided by the Henry Venn Fund, eleven converts were gathered in during the year, and were baptized in October last. "It was evident from their answers," writes Babu P. C. Chatterjee, a teacher there, "that they were thoroughly conscious of their sinfulness and helplessness, and that there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved, but the name of Christ Jesus our Lord. May the Lord," he adds, "help these simple believers, and us also, so to live in this dark land as to glorify His holy name!"

Fruits of a Native Missionary Association.

ALLAHABAD.

The new arrangements for this station have been already noticed. The Native Christian village of Muirabad continues to enjoy the ministrations of its excellent pastor, the Rev. David Mohun. In January last, the Marchioness of Ripon visited the village on Sunday morning, and attended the Hindustani church service. She manifested much interest in the work, and afterwards sent Mr. Mohun a donation of Rs. 100 for the church fund. Sir William Muir, to whom this Christian community owes so much, has received a letter from the Principal of the Central (Government) College at Allahabad, Mr. A. S. Harrison, in which the latter says:—"I attend every Sunday morning, going down on my tricycle, but find myself the sole European there. Good old Mohun is much the same as ever, but age is telling on him. The native congregation is good in number, and reverent. One of my pupils and Mohun's eldest son accompany the harmonium with their violins." Lady Ripon at Muirabad.

LUCKNOW.

The circumstances under which there is still one European missionary of the Society at Lucknow have been already explained. It is now not likely that the entire withdrawal from Oudh contemplated at one time will be effected. It appears that the plans of the American Mission do not admit of the hope that its energetic agents would occupy the district even were it left to them; and the work in Lucknow itself is of a kind that still demands the Society's care. Although the Committee reluctantly selected the Province of Oudh as one of those fields where, so far as was apparent, the Society's Missions could be spared with the least disadvantage, they do not forget the circumstances under which, by the invitation of Sir R. Montgomery, the Lucknow Mission was first established after the mutiny; nor can the touching appeal of the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth on its behalf at the Annual Meeting in this present year be ignored.*

During the past year the Rev. G. B. Durrant has most bravely toiled on alone at Lucknow, assisted by the excellent Native pastor and the Native head-master of the Main School, the Rev. D. Solomon and Mr. W. Seetal. Notwithstanding the departure of his two European brethren, the closing of several out-stations, the cessation of the Society's educational grant, and the sight of vast populations in the surrounding country as yet scarcely touched, he "accepted with thankfulness the decision of the Committee"—i. e., that he be permitted to A solitary Missionary's work at Lucknow.

stay at Lucknow himself—"counting it," he says, "a high privilege thus to hold the fort for the Master." The work has comprised the care of the Native congregation, and the "Epiphany School" for their children; the Main School, with 300 names on its roll, mostly Hindus; a Bazaar Girls' School for Mohammedan girls, of whom fifty attend; daily Bazar preaching; five out-stations still maintained; colportage work in connexion with the Roxburgh Fund; and an English service. No adult baptisms in the past year are mentioned; but there are some inquirers, including a young Mohammedan, who has undergone much persecution, and has given other evidences of sincerity, but who still needs careful instruction preparatory to baptism. The young Hindu, Nahal Singh, whose baptism was recorded in last year's Report, "still holds faithfully on his way, and adorns the doctrine of God his Saviour in all things. His conversion," Mr. Durrant adds, "with his wife and family, has been an immense gain to the cause of Christ in Lucknow." He is now second master in the Main School, where, "with quiet, loving zeal, he brings the claims of the Gospel before the boys, and presses that Gospel upon their acceptance. He is there, as everywhere else, a bright example of Christian consistency." With this man and another excellent Christian teacher working under Mr. Seetal, Mr. Durrant regards the school as "a powerful missionary agency."*

AGRA.

Under the scheme for the concentration of the Society's work in the North-West Provinces, already referred to, Agra was to be one of the centres of work the staff of which was to be strengthened. In the providence of God, however, this has not as yet been effected. The only ordained European missionary, the Rev. J. A. Lloyd, returned home at the beginning of this year; and his place as Principal of St. John's College has been temporarily taken by the Rev. R. J. Bell of Calcutta. Mr. A. H. Wright carries on the Normal School and the Boys' Boarding-School; Mr. P. M. Zenker superintends the evangelistic work; Miss Ellwanger, and the ladies of the Female Education Society, conduct the Girls' Schools, &c.; and the Rev. Katwari Lall is pastor of the Native congregation.

St. John's College still holds its own in the University Examinations, having, at the last Matriculation Examination, passed three students in the 1st class, while the Agra Government College, with its much greater advantages, only passed one. The Committee rejoice to find that this important institution, founded thirty years ago by the present Bishops of Lahore and Waiapu, is now becoming the accepted place of higher education for Christian students of the North West-Provinces, who come to it in increasing numbers, and who, though representing of course so small a minority—one may say so small a fraction—of the population, are nevertheless beginning to take a foremost place in the academical successes. One of three in the 1st class in the Government Examination was a Christian; and so was a student in the preceding year who was awarded a Government Scholarship. The main purpose, however, for which the Society established and still maintains the College, is that it may be a Missionary agency among heathen and Mohammedans; and the Committee rejoice to know that its religious teaching has not fallen to the ground. They are persuaded that so long as that teaching is faithfully carried on, the Lord will not permit His own word to return unto Him void.

Success of St. John's College, Agra.

Of the out-stations linked to Agra as a centre, the most important are SECUNDRA, where the Rev. J. Erhardt superintends the Christian village and Orphanage; ALIGARH, now regarded as an evangelistic outpost, and occupied as such by the Rev. J. Stuart; and MATTRA, where an excellent catechist, Munshi Quasin-ul-Din, has succeeded the Rev. Madho Ram (removed to Jabalpur), and is labouring with much zeal and tact. Each of these congregations, as well as that in Agra itself, now has its Church Committee in connexion with the N.W. Provinces Council.

The Christian village of Secundra contained 606 souls on the night of the recent Indian census, February 17th, of whom 37 were non-Christians. The majority, however, are the inmates of the Orphanages. The "Christian adherents" are returned as 121, of whom 68 are communicants. "The village," writes Mr. Erhardt, "we ought to call, properly speaking, our depôt. It contains the few families who are more or less employed in the Orphanages as teachers; the rest are our young married couples, who begin life there, and prepare for their start in real life in some other locality." Diligent evangelistic work is done under Mr. Erhardt's direction by both paid and voluntary catechists. "The colporteurs supported by Colonel Roxburgh's Fund," he says, have worked hard. Their share in the good work I often think the hardest. To struggle on with a load of books, under an Indian sun, and sometimes be hooted out of a village by some boisterous spirits soon after their arrival, is not encouraging." Of the good done by the Orphanages, Mr. Erhardt writes:—

Work of Roxburgh colporteurs.

Good Fruits of the Secundra Orphanage.

We have had much to cheer us in our work. A great number of our youths are developing into steady Christian characters. Those men immediately connected with us in school work we can observe best, and their influence upon their younger brethren has been for good. The most advanced in Christian life has had the misfortune of becoming blind. We greatly hope he may be utilized by accompanying his young wife in visiting zenanas and explaining the word of God there, for which he is eminently qualified. His wife with another of our female teachers, are to work in the Panjab. Our youths, studying in Agra, in the Normal and Government Medical School, give us much joy likewise. One of them was this year among those few who came out in the 1st Division. When he heard it, he wrote, "It is not my work or exertion, it is the Lord's doing, and therefore of the scholarships I obtain I shall give the tenth to the Lord." Our young mechanics, compositors, pressmen, carpenters, &c., have lately been attracted to Ajmere, a large railway station. There are some forty of them: they meet regularly for prayers, and they hope to form a Native Christian Community and have their own Native pastor. Zenana work and the reading of the Scriptures to Native women gives a new sphere for Indian women. We have several of our young women, married though, who have been engaged in this work. Lately we have had applications from the Punjab, and we are glad to be able to help them.

Among the children are still a large number unbaptized, and some seventy are under instruction for confirmation. I prepare these carefully, but the chief preparation must come from the Holy Spirit. It is a pleasure to teach these young Christians, and encouragements are not wanting to keep us from ever getting weary in our work. We are more favoured than many of our brethren by being permitted to see that we do not spend our strength for nought. There are fifty of our young people now engaged in various capacities in the Lord's work in Northern India. But not unto us, unto the Lord be the glory for having made these living epistles that can be read by all men.

MÎRAT (MEERUT).

The Rev. J. G. Hermann Hoernle has continued his multifarious labours at this station. (See an article in the C.M. Intelligencer of March, 1881, entitled "What a 'Weak Mission' can do.") He has now also to superintend the Christian colony at Annfield, in the Dehra Dhûn Valley, 130 miles off, whence his venerable father, the Rev. C. T. Hoernle, has at length retired to Germany, after a service in the Mission-field extending altogether over fifty-five years.

There were fourteen adult baptisms in connexion with the Mîrat Mission during the year.

JABALPUR: AND MANDLA (GÔND MISSION).

THESE are the Society's two stations in the Central Provinces. They must ever be linked together in thought by the fact that Mandla is the headquarters of the new Mission to the Gônds, with a view to which Jabalpur was occupied twenty-seven years ago. The Committee rejoiced to send the Rev. E. Champion back to India in October last, not to resume the station work at Jabalpur, in which he had been engaged for many years, but to spend and be spent for the evangelization of the Gônds, in accordance with his long-felt and oft-expressed desire. He would find on his return that, as mentioned in last year's Report, his young colleague, the Rev. H. D. Williamson, could report hopefully of his first year's work among that people, and that the Rev. T. R. Hodgson was carrying on the Jabalpur Mission itself with zeal and success.

The number of Christian adherents connected with the JABALPUR congregation is again apparently less; but the diminution (from 124 to 91) is caused by the removal of the Girls' Orphanage to Mandla. The adult Christians have slightly increased, two converts having been baptized, and some residents in the town hitherto attached to no Church having joined the community. The congregation is, through its Church Committee, connected with the Provincial Council of the North-West Provinces, and has now a Native pastor of its own, the Rev. Madho Ram, late of Agra, concerning whom, and his little flock, Mr. Hodgson writes:—

A Native Pastor and his flock.

The Rev. Madho Ram came to us in March last. The Calcutta Corresponding Committee kindly allowed him to come at my request, he being an old friend of mine, known to me in Agra. At first the arrangement was only temporary, and our Church Committee very liberally voted the sum of fifteen rupees monthly towards his stipend, which has continued to be regularly paid by our Christians. At the last meeting of the N.-W.P. Church Council, however, it was decided that he should stay with us as a definite and final arrangement: a decision which to all of us in Jabalpur was a cause of great rejoicing and thankfulness, as he has endeared himself to all of us. I cannot speak too highly of the good influence his faithfulness, his earnestness, and lovable and consistent Christian character have had over our Native Christians. To myself he has been an especial comfort and help, and it is the prayer of all of us that he may long be spared to us. It was a matter of special importance that our first Native pastor should be a man of ripe experience and Christian character.

There has been a continuance of harmony and Christian love among our Native Christians which has rarely been disturbed. At Christmas we had a great gathering of young and old in the manner of the Natives of this country, only sanctified in our case by prayer and praise. Funds to the amount of over Rs. 100 were liberally supplied by our friends in Jabalpur, and the day was spent among the lovely scenery of the Narbadda Valley, and ended by a magnificent display of fireworks. There is no reason why our Christians should not have their festivals and rejoicings as well as their heathen neighbours.

Our Native Christians as a rule, though mostly comfortable in their circumstances, are not by any means rich. Yet out of their little they have learned the lesson of giving with a liberality which to me, knowing the Native character and its weaknesses, is hardly less a matter of wonder than of thankfulness. Contributions to various objects throughout the year have come to little less than Rs. 300. This sum, given in goodwill and ungrudingly for God's work, probably represents far more by a good deal than the enforced and unwilling contributions of Hindus to their Brahmin priests, taken on an average. Here is one good test at least of the power and effects of Christianity. When it opens the hand of a Hindu who shall say it has not opened his heart ?

Some further extracts notice the evangelistic work, and one of the adult converts of the year :—

We have continued our preaching steadily and regularly in Jabalpur morning and evening, holding to our appointed stations in the centre of the busiest thoroughfares, proclaiming to young and old, small and great, Hindus and Mussulmans, that one and only name whereby we may be saved.

Work among basket weavers.

An interesting feature of our work during the last year has been the special effort made among the low-caste "basors" or basket-weavers, a little colony of whom are settled near the Mission compound. Great hopes were raised at first, when they held more than one "panchayat," or caste meeting, to consider whether they should all embrace Christianity in a body or not. They failed to come to any decision, but they are receiving regular visits and instruction from the catechists, who have, however, influential opposition to contend with from the "chaudre" or headman, whose wife has been "got at" by the Brahmans, one or more of whom now never fail to be present whenever the catechists go amongst them.

Silent spread of Gospel truth.

Itinerating tours have been made in the district of Jabalpur by the catechists at favourable opportunities, and by myself when possible. The field is a vast and varied one, and an encouraging

one. We have visited most of the large fairs held in the district, and on these occasions, and also among the villages, never fail to meet with most encouraging tokens of the silent and secret spread of Gospel truth. Christian books and portions of Scripture have been distributed and sold, probably to a greater extent than one has any idea of; for it is rare now to meet a man who has not some knowledge of Christianity, and it is no uncommon thing to be told, "Oh, I know all about what you are saying; I have got a Gospel at home!"

Diffused knowledge of the Gospel.

I have paid two visits to Damoh during the year, where two of our catechists are labouring under the supervision of the good Civil surgeon of the station, Dr. Skipton. This town appears to me by far the most bigoted place I have seen, and our catechists have a very difficult time of it indeed. This year, to our great joy, we have seen the firstfruits of this Damoh Mission in the baptism of one convert. An old "guru" has long lived in the neighbourhood of Damoh, with whom our catechists often conversed on religious subjects. The old man has frequently expressed his admiration of the doctrines of Christianity, and more than once has announced his intention of "some day" becoming a Christian. Alas! for the narrow road and the bearing of the cross, and the leaving all to follow Christ! One day, being pressed to come to a decision, he spoke as follows:—"I have everything I want; my disciples feed and clothe me, and maintain me in ease and comfort. If I become a Christian, will you Christians give me a house and feed and clothe me, and preserve me from the necessity of working?" To this there could be only one reply: "He that loveth these things more than Me is not worthy of Me." One of his disciples, however, a Rajput youth, had heeded and learned more than his master, or had learned the "way" of a better master; so, leaving his guru, he came and took up his abode with Peter, one of the two catechists, and there he remained for several months under instruction; after which I brought him into Jabalpur, where he was baptized by the name of Prabhu Das—"servant of the Lord." He has now gone, under the care of Mr. Champion, to the agricultural settlement near Mandla, where we hope he will remain, and, like his forefathers before him, be a husbandman and tiller of the soil.

Conversion of a Hindu guru's disciple.

The various schools give instruction to 641 children. The education is distinctively and avowedly a Christian one, but it is evidently appreciated by the people of Jabalpur, for Mr. Hodgson mentions that "the Municipal Council has voted valuable pecuniary aid on the ground of public benefit, and the Government has lost no time in sanctioning the vote." This, he adds, is "a substantial proof that the Mission has gained for itself a recognized standing among the benevolent public institutions of the place." He concludes his Annual Native appreciation of Mission Schools.

Letter by dwelling on the importance of Jabalpur, as "no decayed and crumbling seat of empire, but a vigorous and thriving town."

From MANDLA Mr. Williamson is able, by the goodness of God, to send a Report of the first year's work among the Gônds, which gives encouraging promise of a future in-gathering from among that scattered but numerous race:—

My work among the Gônds, looked at by the light of another year's experience, appears to me as increasingly promising.

Gônd Mission—Results of first year.

Having made a point of revisiting the villages in which the Gospel had been preached the previous year, I am, I think, warranted in saying that our work has not been in vain; almost universally the name (at least) of our Lord Jesus Christ was remembered, and in some cases repeated to us by little children of nine or ten years; in many instances the people (and it must be remembered that the Gônds are very truthful) told us that they had given up praying to their idols, and had daily repeated the short prayer which we had taught them. This is much to be thankful for when it is remembered that these people had only heard the Gospel once, and that a whole year had elapsed before they could be visited again. Over and over again our auditors have with one voice protested that Prabhu Isa Masih shall be their God, and that they will give up their idols. The only thing, humanly speaking, which stands in our way is the impossibility with our present staff of workers of visiting the same village more than once a year: and what can poor ignorant villagers, never accustomed to think or to hear anything new whatever, be expected to remember of what we tell them, if our visits are to be so few and far between? The European staff consists of Mr. Champion, who was obliged to be in England all this last year, and myself, each of us with one catechist. We do not ask for or expect more European labourers, but surely some three or four catechists might be given us to assist in this extensive and promising work. Two or three millions of Gonds, scattered over hundreds of miles of country! here is scope for earnest, faithful labour.

More labourers asked for.

Inexpensive itinerating.

My catechist and faithful fellow-worker, Pundit Dial Masih, accompanies me in all my tours, and is invaluable; fortunately he does not mind roughing it, a sine quâ non in this work. In February and March he and I made an experiment which if possible shall be repeated every year; we went, that is, out into the district minus tents and the usual encumbrances attached to camp life, taking three baggage ponies, a man to cook (a Christian), and a pony boy. In this way, putting up in any empty hut which the village contained, we spent six weeks of the pleasantest time I have ever enjoyed in India. We got among the people as one never can do with tents, we had every advantage in hearing and picking up their language, we avoided the bullying of the villages (to some extent the unavoidable result of having Hindu and Mussulman servants with one), and lastly we gained the people's confidence by living amongst them, an incalculable advantage to the work for which we have come out, the preaching of the glorious Gospel of Christ. It is unnecessary to say that this way of travelling is infinitely cheaper to the Society.

One word as to the language. As far as Hindi is concerned, I am thankful to say that my tongue seems somewhat loosed at last; but learning Gondi is slow work; the language is difficult, and no one competent to teach can be found, so that it comes in in driblets, a drop in one village and a drop in another. We are forming vocabularies, picking up short sentences, and attacking the grammar; but speaking in Gondi seems some way off yet.

KHAIRWARRA (BHEEL MISSION).

The new Bheel Mission.

This is a new station, founded in the past year, as is well known, by means of the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth's special benefaction for the purpose. The Bheels are an aboriginal Kolarian tribe, numbering from two to three millions of souls, and scattered among the hills of Rajputana, Indore, Khandesh, &c. They have a language of their own, but understand Hindi. KHAIRWARRA is a military station in the heart of Rajputana, the headquarters of the Meywar Bheel corps. A small church was dedicated there to the service of God by the Bishop of Calcutta in 1878, there being no other within a hundred miles; and some Christian officers at the station earnestly desired a missionary who might supply English services for them while devoting his main energies to the evangelization of the Bheels in the surrounding hills. In consequence of Mr. Bickersteth's offer last year, the Rev. Charles Stewart Thompson has been appointed to this interesting field of labour, upon which he has entered in a true missionary spirit. The Committee humbly pray that this effort, small as it is at present, and merely tentative, may be the germ of a great and noble work among the Bheel people.

Missionary Force in the Punjab.

THE Committee unfeignedly thank God for the recovery from serious and prolonged illness, during his stay in Europe, of the beloved Secretary and Senior Missionary of the Punjab and Sindh Mission, the Rev. Robert Clark. He found himself able to venture on the return journey to India in October last, and he has been decidedly better in the Punjab than he was in Europe, though still suffering from bodily weakness. Mr. Clark's return has set Dr. Weitbrecht free from the duties of the Secretaryship, which the latter had ably discharged in his absence. Mainly through the special contributions already more than once referred to, the Committee have been enabled further to reinforce this Mission with six additional missionaries, two for the general work in the Punjab, two specially for the Frontier, and two for Sindh. On the other hand, the death of Mr. Gordon at Kandahar has removed from the work one who was an example of zeal and devotion to all his brethren; and Sindh is about to lose its much-esteemed senior missionary, the Rev. J. Sheldon, whose health is in a very weak state, and whom the Committee have desired not to delay coming home, although it is not possible at the moment adequately to supply his place. Another brother who had retired, and who has been a distinguished benefactor of the Punjab Mission, the Rev. F. H. Baring, the Committee rejoice to hear has determined to return to his important sphere of usefulness at Batâla, though, at his own wish, that district, hitherto occupied by him in the name of the Society, will be made over to him to work independently at his own charges. They thank God for putting it into his heart thus unreservedly to consecrate himself and his substance to the noble object of building up a Native Church in the place where its foundations have been laid with so much self-denying earnestness by Miss Tucker and himself.

Mr. Baring's Plans.

Punjab Native Council.

The Report of the fifth meeting of the Punjab and Sindh Native Church Council, held at Christmas last, contains the usual highly interesting reports, papers, and speeches by the pastors and delegates, and shows no diminution of spirit and efficiency. The Council now maintains two Missions of its own, at Majitha and at Kulu. At each place there is a Native evangelist, appointed by the Council and supported by its funds. "These," said Mr. Clark, in addressing the delegates, "are as much your Missions as the Amritsar and Peshawar Missions are those of the Church at home." A special feature of this meeting was the presence of the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth of Hampstead, who delivered an earnest address to the Council, and was charged by them with messages of affection and gratitude for the Committee and friends in England.

AMRITSAR.

A Many-sided Mission.

The Annual Reports from this important and many-sided Mission have not come to hand; but the fragmentary information before the Committee gives them abundant cause for thankfulness for the excellent work going on. During the greater part of the year under review, the Rev. W. Keene was in general charge as senior missionary. The Rev. R. Clark is now again at his old headquarters, and the Rev. T. R. Wade has been transferred from Kashmir to Amritsar. The Rev. A. T. Fisher continues at the head of the Anglo-Vernacular School and other educational work; Mr. H. F. Beutel of the Boys' Orphanage and Industrial School (now to be transferred to Clarkabad); and Mrs. Reuther of the Girls' Orphanage. Mrs. Grime, late of Benares, has succeeded Miss Henderson as Lady Superintendent of the Alexandra School. The Rev. Rowland Bateman has returned home for well-earned rest. There are four Native clergymen connected with the Mission, viz., the Rev. Imad-ud-din, the well-known preacher and writer; the Rev. Daud Singh, pastor of the Christian village of Clarkabad; the Rev. Bhola Nath Ghose, headmaster of the Narowal Boys' School, and pastor of the small congregation there; and the Rev. Mian Sadiq Masih, itinerating evangelist, having his headquarters at Batâla.

The whole number of Christian adherents, including Amritsar itself and also Narowal, Batâla, Clarkabad, Jandiâla, Taran Taran, Majitha, Uddoki, and Fathgarh, is 537, of whom 104 are communicants. There were 80 baptisms during the year, including 38 adults.

Of the Main Boys' School, which educates 699 boys, Mr. Fisher reports that it is in a satisfactory state educationally, and obtained a very favourable report from the Government Inspector; and, viewing it as a missionary agency, that though no pupils were baptized during the year, there are inquirers. One boy who had gone to Lahore University, has embraced Christ; and one of the masters, a high Brahmin, an old friend of the Rev. Imad-ud-din, received baptism in May, 1880, "and has been leading a Christian life and making use of his opportunities of acquiring religious instruction." Mr. Beutel and Mrs. Reuther send satisfactory reports of the Orphanages, in which there are 30 boys and 45 girls; and the former gives an encouraging account of the work of the Native evangelists under his supervision. "Not seldom," he writes, "when opposition is raised by a bigoted Hindu or Mohammedan, some one of our hearers will stand on our side and defend evangelical truth. In cases where it is difficult to put a stop to excited ignorance such an occasional assistant is very welcome, and thus we find the word of our blessed Lord confirmed, 'He that is not against us is for us.'"

Christian Village of Clarkabad.

Of the Christian village of Clarkabad, the Rev. Daud Singh reports as follows to the Native Church Council:—

Clarkabad was was formerly a jungle. Here now stands a Christian village. The newly-built church can be seen for miles round. A jungle has been transformed into a blooming garden. For all this we must give thanks to the Almighty. The Rev. R. Bateman has laboured hard for the good of the settlement. He has worked with his own hands in building the church; and all other improvements are due to his kind exertions. There are 37 families now settled in Clarkabad. The number of Christians, including children, is 175. The people are poor and ignorant. I and my wife teach them. We hope that by the grace of God they will improve day by day. There were 36 baptisms (26 adults) during the year.

The Rev. Mian Sadiq Masih, of the Itinerant Mission, refers to the death of one of the Christian faqirs mentioned in last year's Report, and to the excellent influence of another:—

Christian Faqirs.

There was a Christian faqir living at a distance of twelve miles from this place. He had been mentioned several times in previous reports. It has pleased God to call him away from the troubles of this world. We thank God that he (Jamal Shah) was a faithful witness to his crucified Saviour up to the point of his death. When he was dying his relatives tried to induce him to become a Mohammedan, but we thank God that he was firm in his faith up to his death. A few minutes before his death he asked his son to read a chapter from the Holy Gospels for him, and pray to the Lord Jesus Christ. After hearing the Word and praying to Christ he looked cheerful, and said that he would be comfortable in Christ's lap. According to his dying request, he was buried in the compound of his house. I am sorry to say that his son is not so faithful; but still we thank God that Jamal

Shah's mantle has fallen on his pupil, Banda Shah, who has been mentioned in previous reports too. It is this faqir whose house is built on the land given by Mr. Abdulla Athim to the Church Council; and because there has been made a well and travellers' resting-house there, several persons come to him, some of whom stay there at night. Hence Banda Shah gets a very good opportunity to preach the Gospel. He bears witness to Christ, not only by his conversation, but also by his life. Accordingly, whenever I went in that neighbourhood they all spoke of him as a good man.

The Alexandra Girls' School at Amritsar, which has been established by the energy of Mr. Robert Clark, belongs to this Society, although it has been worked by ladies connected with the Zenana Societies. The present Lady Superintendent, Mrs. Grime, is an agent of the C.M.S. It now contains forty-five pupils of the higher class of Native Christians in the Punjab and Sindh. It was lately visited by the Viceroy of India, who warmly expressed his approval of all the arrangements, and took occasion to declare his views on education as follows:—"For myself I have always held and maintained at home—and my views upon that subject have undergone no change—that no education can be complete and thorough if it does not combine religious and secular education."

Viceroy of India on Religious Education.

LAHORE.

The Lahore Divinity College continues to be ably conducted by the Rev. F. A. P. Shirreff and the Rev. H. U. Weitbrecht. It has now thirteen students. Since the College was opened by Mr. French ten years ago, ten Native clergymen have gone forth from it, besides several lay evangelists, some of whom will doubtless be ordained hereafter. The ten are the Revs. John Williams, of Tank; Imam Shah, of Peshawar; Bhola Nath Ghose, of Narowal; Sadiq Masih, of Batala; Katwari Lall, of Agra; Aman Masih Levi, of Benares; Yaqub Ali, of Lahore; and the late Samuel Carter, of Lucknow—all connected with the C.M.S.; also the late Rev. Ilahi Bakhsh, and the Rev. Asad Ali, the latter ordained last year for the S.P.G. Mission at Delhi.

Results of the Lahore Divinity College.

The Native Christian congregation at Lahore, numbering 211 souls, is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Yaqub Ali. A new church, built with funds chiefly raised by Dr. Weitbrecht, is in course of erection at the extra-mural Native settlement of Anarkali.

KÔTGÛR AND KANGRA.

The Committee do not propose to continue the occupation of these two hill-stations by European missionaries. It is hoped that Native pastors may be provided for the congregations. The Rev. W. Rebsch, however, continues to reside at Kôtgûr, and thence visits Simla also, where there is a community of Native Christians, chiefly servants of the English visitors. These have now a Church Committee in connexion with the Punjab Church Council. They were ministered to for some time by a lay pastor, Babu Nobin Chander Das.

PIND DÂDAN KHÂN (JHELUM ITINERANCY).

The return home of the Rev. C. P. C. Nugent invalided, in the spring of last year, left PIND DÂDAN KHÂN without a resident missionary; and the death of Mr. Gordon deprived the Jhelum Itinerancy, of which that place was the head-quarters, of its founder and leader. Part of Mr. Gordon's legacy to the Society's Punjab Mission is directed to be applied to the maintenance of this station; and a Eurasian lay agent, Mr. C. Matthews, who has passed through the Lahore Divinity College, and who worked under Mr. Gordon, has continued to labour there, superintended (from Lahore) by Dr. Weitbrecht. He preaches in the bazaars, visits Mohammedan maulavis, conducts a school which is attended by sixty boys, and itinerates in the Salt Range during the vacation. One maulavi was visited who had been under Mr. Gordon's influence, and whose incipient convictions had been deepened by a serious illness. "He spoke in unfeigned terms of the love of Christ, and openly declared his belief in Him in the presence of several Mohammedans. He was very anxious to see Mr. Gordon, but said nothing definite about baptism."

Mr. Gordon's last letter to the Jhelum Mission.

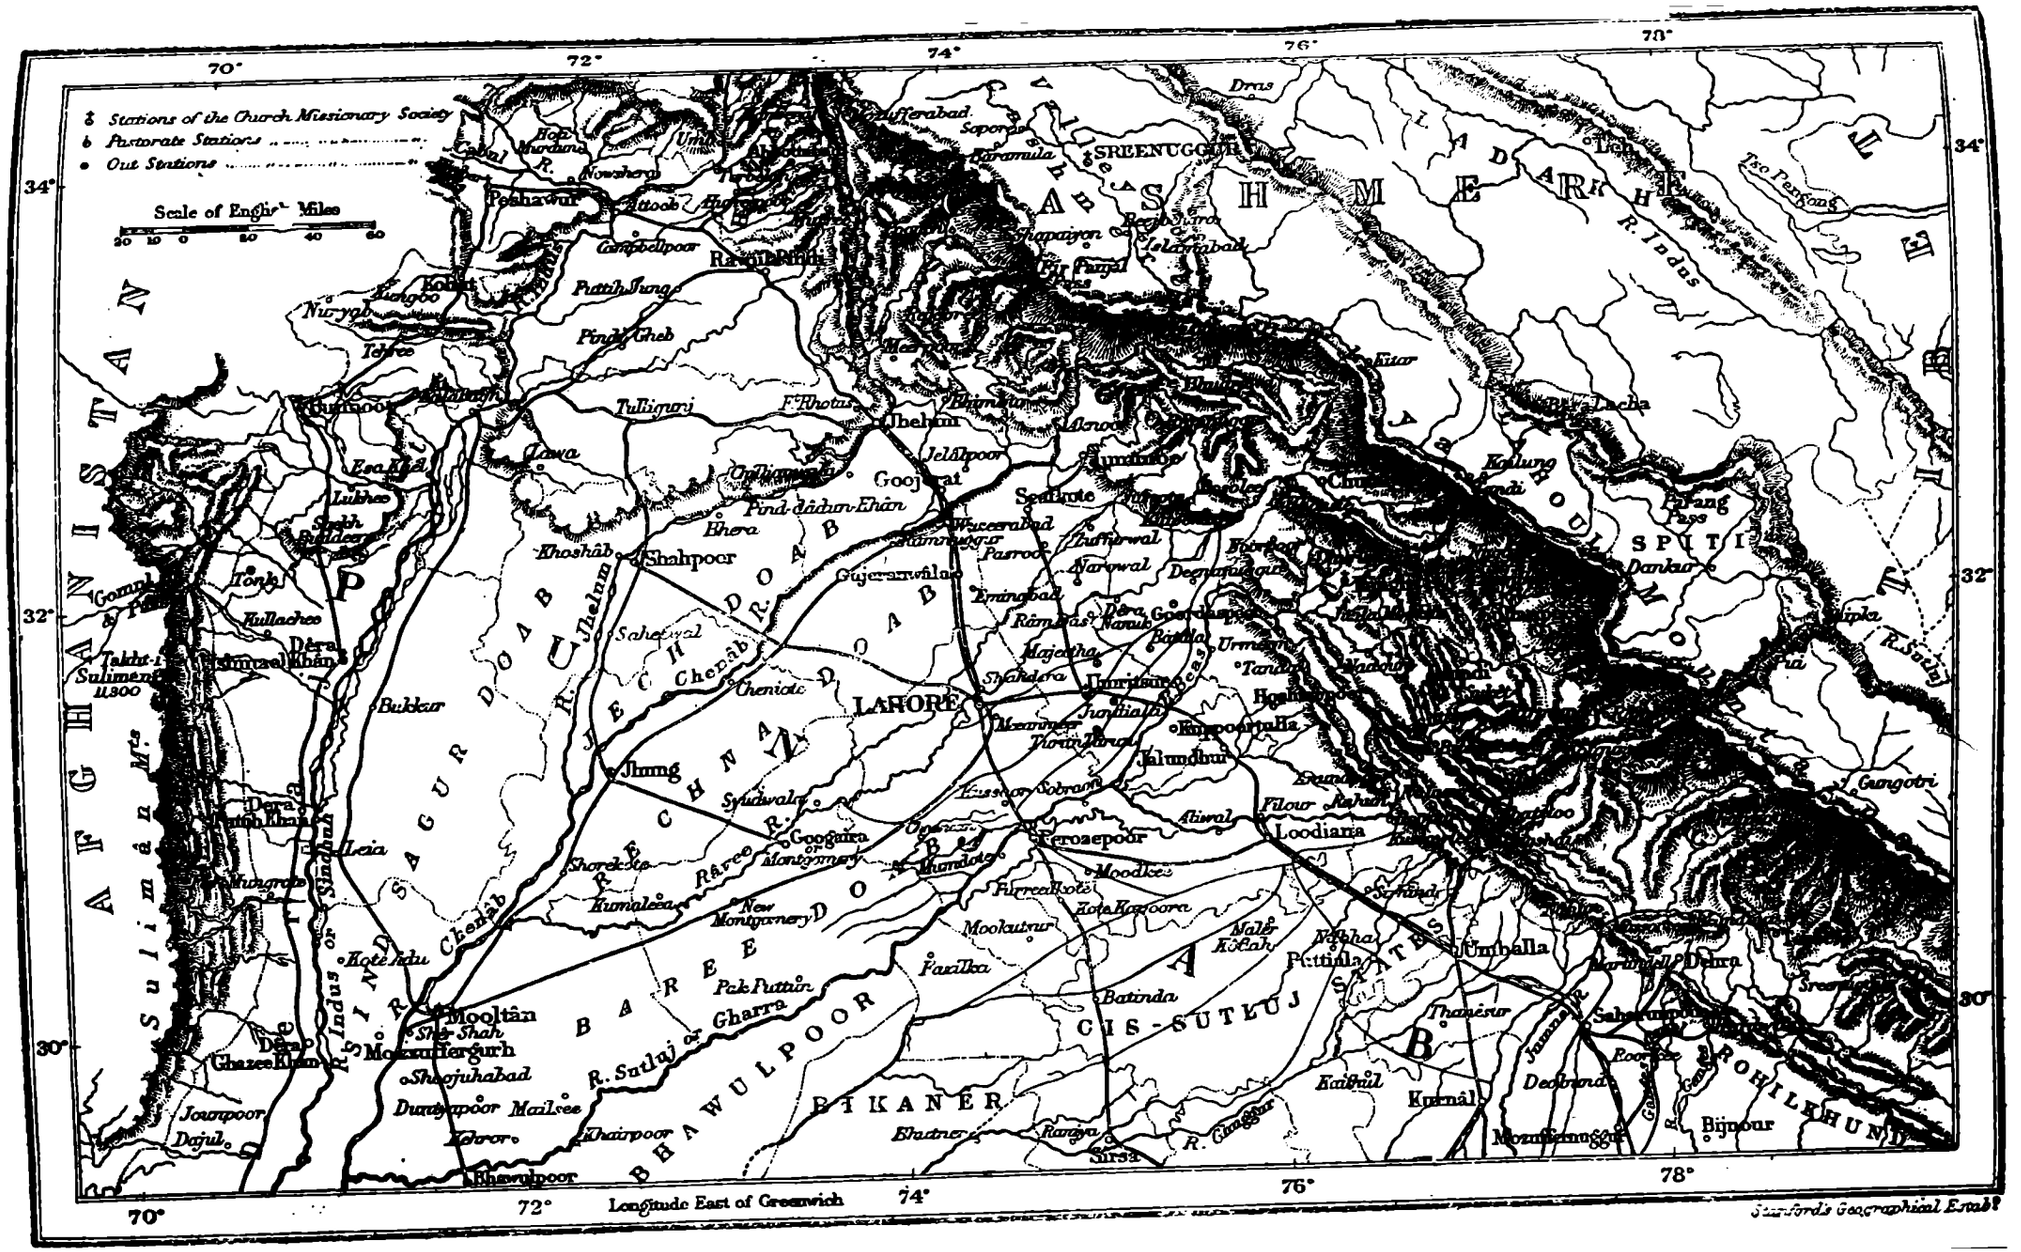

Mr. Gordon's last letter to Mr. Matthews, dated Kandahar, June 20th, referred to this maulavi, and to the school:—

> I trust the illness of the Moulvie may have made him pray more to Christ. His is a very difficult case, and deserves our prayerful sympathy. . . . How great your privilege if you are used to bring some boys to Christ. . . . There will of course be ups and downs. It is the second time a Mission school has been started there. Twenty years ago the attempt was made and abandoned. But God, who has put it into our hearts to try again, will not suffer it to fail.

Pind Dâdan Khân is likely to be a place of increasing importance, being on the new railway from Jhelum to Dera Ismail Khan.

during 1880, but has since been transferred to Kashmir in succession to Mr. Wade. The Committee desire to make MULTÂN a strong central station and base for the Southern Frontier Mission; and they have appointed to the charge of it the Rev. Trevor Bomford, M.A., of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, who offered himself to the Society in 1875 in response to the appeal for men put forth in that year at the instance of the late Rev. David Fenn, but whose health broke down unexpectedly and prevented his going out. His restored strength has been well tested by two years' parochial work at Cambridge, and the Committee accepted his renewed offer with peculiar pleasure. They have also designated to Multân one of the young Islington men ordained on March 13. The educational branch of the Mission is conducted by Mr. W. Briggs; and Mrs. Briggs, a Native lady, zealously labours among her country-women.

Mr. Doxey's Annual Letter contains some interesting details of the work, which must be omitted for lack of space. The congregation includes sixty-two Christian adherents, of whom twenty-nine are Communicants. There were two adult baptisms last year, one of them a case of much interest:—

Conversion of a Mohammedan Woman.

A Mussulman woman, by her intercourse with the members of one or two of our Native Christian families, became favourably impressed by their living Christianity, and resolutely and in spite of the opposition of her husband and friends wished to join us. She was seized and taken back to her husband's friends, but in her eagerness to become a Christian came back again the first opportunity. After instruction, in public baptism she witnessed a good profession before many witnesses, and remains steadfast and happy to the present. A charge of abduction was brought before the court, but this, through the simple, truthful, and bold statements of the convert herself, who appeared in court in purdah, could not for a moment be sustained. She retained her old name in her baptism—Sharíf Khatún, or the "noble lady." This conversion, we must say, was through the instrumentality, with God's blessing, of our Zenana Mission work, the chief portion of which is under the experienced management of Mrs. Briggs.

Among the Native soldiers of a Madras regiment quartered at Multân in view of a possible summons into Afghanistan, Mr. Doxey found some Christians, who much appreciated his visits to them, and the opportunities he gave them of intercourse with the Christians of the city.

Literary Warfare between Hindus and Moslems.

Sindh Corresponding Committee. The sale of vernacular Christian books there has stimulated a somewhat remarkable literary warfare, which is waged between the Hindus and Mussulmans. The former have published seven books and the latter ten, attacking one another's tenets. One work by a Hindu, exposing the immoral tendencies of Islam, was suppressed by the Government on account of its indecency; and a petition in the author's favour was presented by his Hindu friends, which justifies an attack by him on Christianity on the ground that "the patriarchal history of the Jew, the Christian, and the Mohammedan is the same, and the exposure of the mistakes of the one naturally involves the exposure of the mistakes of the other."

DERA GHAZI KHAN (BELUCH MISSION).

The new Beluch Mission.

The Rev. A. Lewis and Dr. A. Jukes were the missionaries at this station during 1880. While deploring the loss of their "dear friend and chief, the Rev. G. M. Gordon," they write in no despondent tones. The following are extracts from Mr. Lewis's Annual Letter:—

First Church Service at Dera Ghazi Khan.

Good Friday, March 26th, is especially memorable, as being the first day on which a Native congregation of Christians was gathered together. We met, like the infant Church of old, in an upper chamber, overlooking the main bazaar of the city, and earnest prayers were offered by those two or three in Christ's name, that the Holy Spirit might be outpoured on the world around. Easter Day saw our first Communion.

At the close of 1879 we had the pleasure of welcoming amongst us a worker whose assistance is very valuable. This is the head catechist, who was working with Mr. Baring at Batala. He is a Christian of some fifteen years' standing, a native of Rajanpur in this district. Owing to his having expressed a desire to work in his own country amongst his own people, now that a Mission is established here, Mr. Baring, in a most self-denying manner, sent him down to join us with a colporteur, a newly baptized convert. On the 7th January, the catechist, colporteur, and I set off on a tour for preaching and book-selling. Many towns and villages were visited by us, in which the message of the Gospel had probably never been proclaimed before. We had the opportunity, too, of visiting both Dajal and Rajanpur, towns in which the relatives of the catechist live. They belong to a numerous and influential tribe of Jats, called Machis. As he had not seen or heard of his people for many years, it may be imagined that it was with somewhat excited and tumultuous emotions that the catechist one afternoon approached Dajal. But it was indeed a cause of rejoicing to find that all bitter feelings, consequent upon one of their number having become Christian, were buried, and the absentee was gladly welcomed. Their kindly disposition towards us was evinced by presents of milk, butter, flour, &c. Ever since this first meeting they have remained our fast friends, always willing to help us, and, which is best of all, listening to, and asking questions about, the Living Word. A similar welcome, too, awaited us at Rajanpur.

Mr. Lewis also attended an annual gathering of pilgrims at a place called Sakhi Sarwar, situated in the midst of wild and desolate scenery, and visited by Sikh, Hindu, and Mohammedan devotees. The tent was pitched in a dry torrent bed, where most of the pilgrims were collected during the day. It was open to visitors of all kinds from sunrise to sunset. Every morning and evening large and attentive congregations listened to the Gospel message from the missionary and the catechist, while the colporteur sold books.

Preaching to Pilgrims on the Frontier.

Inquirers have been fairly numerous, and the number of Christian books sold, considering the low state of education in the district, is satisfactory.

The hopes of founding a hospital at Choti have not been realized; and the whole subject of the place for the permanent settlement of the Beluch Medical Mission is still receiving the careful consideration of the Committee.

DERA ISMAIL KHAN AND BANNU.

During the absence of the Revs. T. J. L. Mayer and W. Thwaites in England, these two stations in the Derajât, with the out-stations of Tank and Isa Kheyl, have been under the charge of the Rev. A. Bailey. The Christian adherents number thirty-seven, and there are 485 boys under instruction. Notwithstanding the peculiar difficulties of missionary work in these frontier districts, Mr. Bailey is by no means discouraged. "Few Missions so young as this," he observes, "have so rich a heritage of prayer and faithful labour as have been bequeathed to us by missionaries like Bruce and Handcock and our beloved Bishop, and these must bear fruit to the praise and glory of the source whence they flowed." Bishop French lately visited both stations. He speaks highly, in particular, of the school at Dera Ismail Khan, which has been conducted by one of the early converts from among its scholars. No report has come to hand of the work carried on at Tank by the Native medical missionary, the Rev. John Williams; but the Rev. R. Clark, in communicating to Mr. Bickersteth the messages sent by the members of the Punjab Native Church Council to the Parent Society, writes as follows:—

A heritage of prayer and labour.

A Native Medical Missionary.

The Rev. John Williams said, "Tell the Home Society that the frontier people greatly value the help which they have sent through the Medical Mission at Tank; that their Government have closed their own hospital, because the sick and wounded come to the Mission dispensary; that the Missions at Dera Ishmael Khan and Tank have brought the Gospel into direct contact with the wild fanatic tribes on the frontier, and beyond it; and that he begs the Committee to pray for them, and also give thanks for God's past mercies to them; and also send out more missionaries to labour amongst the Afghans." Mr. John Williams is a remarkable instance of a Native Christian man standing alone as a Native medical missionary amongst the Afghans. When they burnt down the Government Dispensary at Tank with a part of the city, they purposely spared his house and dispensary, because he was their friend. It is now eight or nine years that he has maintained his ground, alone, on the very borders of our territory, where he has done great good. His example shows us the importance of Medical Missions, especially amongst a warlike people, who have no care for the English, or let us rather say, who have a spirit of much independence, and great courage.

PESHÂWAR.

The Rev. T. P. Hughes and the Rev. Worthington Jukes (the latter just now on a short visit home) still zealously and ably carry on this important Mission, the largest of the Society's frontier stations. The Rev. Imâm Shah is pastor of the Native congregation.*

Mr. Hughes' brief but very interesting annual letter is dated from an Afghan village, Zeydah, belonging to the Yusafzai tribe:—

A Letter from an Afghan Village.

I am now the guest of the leading chief of Yusafzai, one of the most important sections of the Afghan people. My host is Ibrahim Khan of Zeydah, the grandson of Ursalla Khan (an Afghan chief who fled, and died in exile, when the British first occupied the Peshawar Valley). Ibrahim Khan's father came back and submitted to English rule, and his son is one of our most loyal Afghan chiefs. He has lately served with credit as a political officer with General Bright's army, and has been presented by Lord Ripon with a khilat of fifty pounds at the great durbar at Lahore. Ibrahim Khan has been a true friend of mine for fifteen years, and for some years past I have been the guardian of his eldest son Abdul Ghafur Khan, a youth of sixteen years.

I am always welcome in Zeydah. There is a large and handsome bungalow in the centre of the village which the Khan assures me he has built for my special use, and it would cheer the hearts of our Christian friends at home to see the copies of the Scriptures in Pushtu, Persian, Urdu, and Arabic, which have been reverently placed by Muslim hands upon the shelves in the room in which I am now sitting. I have just said prayers with an Afghan Christian who resides in this village from an Urdu Book of Common Prayer which has been carefully preserved in this room for the last eight years by this Mohammedan chief.

Christian Scriptures in an Afghan chief's house.

My Afghan friend is no bigot, for about two hours ago we sat down a party of twelve to dinner, and our Christian Afghan brother, Shah Moneer, was invited by our host to form one of the party. Our conversation, like our meal, was miscellaneous. The weather, the crops, the Afghan war, the Lahore durbar, Lord Ripon's Christianity, the last murder (there have been five in this district lately), Russia, Ameer Yakub Khan, the railway to Attock, trial by jury, conversions to Christianity, and dozens of other topics upon which I was expected to give the very latest and best and most authoritative information. As I sat in the midst of this little company I could not help thinking of the marvellous change which has come over these parts since I first came to Peshawar sixteen years ago. It was not then considered safe to travel in the district, but now a Christian missionary is the honoured guest of a leading Afghan chief who does not hesitate to invite an Afghan convert of his own village to dine on the same carpet.

Great changes among Afghans of Peshawar Valley.

The erection of our Memorial Church in the city has been delayed in consequence of the high rates of material and labour; but now the war is over I hope we shall soon have a place of worship in the very heart of the city of Peshawar, which shall be a centre of spiritual influence and Christian life. I attach great importance to our presenting the devotional side of Christianity to the Mohammedan mind, rather than the polemical, and I believe a well-ordered Christian church with its worship conducted by a clergyman, himself a convert from Islam, will do this.

A Church for the Afghans.

There seems to be little chance of our establishing a Mission either in Cabul or Candahar, may I therefore beg of you to press home the fact that both Peshawar and Banu are in Afghanistan, and in the midst of Afghan people. Afghanistan extends to the Indus, and the British possession of Peshawar, where the ancestors of many of the Barakzai chiefs have lived and died, has always been a source of grief to the Cabul Ameers. The national poet of the Afghans was a native of Peshawar. If you can only get Christian people to realize this, perhaps those who are so much interested in the Afghan people will come forward to support our Afghan Mission, without asking us to follow in the wake of war and bloodshed, and of political strife, into the regions beyond for the present.

and daughters of an Afghan who was baptized in 1865, and who had been absent in the recesses of his own country ever since, but now brought his nearest and dearest to be received into the Church; and an Afghan munshi who was tutor to a young chief baptized five years ago, and who has yielded to the influence of his former pupil, and with his family, took upon himself the vows of Christ on the day after last Christmas Day.

Mr. Jukes's Annual Letter contains interesting notices of the schools (in which there are 458 boys), the hostel, conversations with maulvies, &c.:—

Afghan Schools.

Scriptural instruction is given to as many classes as we can make satisfactory arrangements for, but there is still the same old difficulty in securing the services of efficient Christian masters to fill the lower classes, and to give that Biblical instruction which the younger scholars require. The reading of the Bible is not compulsory, my object being to let the Gospel do its own quiet work in their hearts, and for that reason I am very particular in having it taught in as interesting a way as possible. The result is that I never find the lads absenting themselves whilst it is being taught, but, on the contrary, they seem to take the liveliest interest in it, and ask many questions. In out-door exercises I encourage the game of cricket, and it is wonderful how kindly they take to it, the only drawback being that there are no schools near to which they can send challenges, which would be a great stimulus.

Afghan Hostel.

The Afghan Hostel, which has been established now for some years in our own compound, so as to enable the lads on their return from school to be under our personal superintendence, is exceedingly satisfactory. The number is greatly increasing, and their moral tone and scholastic attainments are yearly improving. A few years ago, it would have been considered chimerical to expect Afghan lads to come and live in our compound, or, in any way, to place themselves underChristian supervision, but in this, as in other parts of our work, we can feel the good hand of our God upon us, and take courage.

During the past year I have itinerated in the district two or three times, and have been much struck with the continued kindness, hospitality, and attention of the majority of the people, and more especially of the village chiefs. A great deal of this is attributable partly to our own system of hospitality which we show to all comers, after the custom of the Afghans, and partly to our wearing the Afghan dress; a practice on our part which the Natives much appreciate. Less excitement is thereby caused by our presence in the village, and the demeanour of the people is more marked. In the Mosques the mullahs talk, and the people listen, with greater equanimity of temper than would otherwise be the case. An interesting way of preaching to them, as we are all seated on the ground in the mosque, I have found, is by giving the maulvie an Arabic Bible; to show his learning he will at once read some portion of it aloud, and to show that he is a greater scholar still, he will prove that he understands it by translating it into Pushtu, which he does with much zeal. The maulvie, having thus been put into a good temper, willingly carries on conversation on the subject, which is often most interesting. He invariably comes to visit me afterwards in my tent, which produces a good effect on the villagers. Should the maulvie be ill, a visit to him and a judicious application of remedies, is most beneficial in removing bigotry and opposition. One thing we must endeavour to put more and more before the people is the devotional aspect of our Holy Religion, and for that reason I always decline to argue when they wax warm in discussion.

Our guest-house is a most invaluable institution and the most encouraging feature of our work, enabling us to see privately more of the people than we can manage in the village. We have a few Nicodemuses here, and at Abbottabad, who come for spiritual instruction, and show the greatest interest in their study of the Bible. May God lead them to the truth as it is in Jesus!

Afghan boys at Batâla.

My colleague, Mr. Hughes, and I were very much impressed with the tone of the Batâla Boarding School for Christian Boys when we visited it in January last, in order to see the progress of our Christian Afghan boys studying there. They all seemed very happy and cheerful, both at lessons and in the playground. The moral tone and ring of the whole school was so unexceptionally good that we left three more Afghan lads there, two of them being the sons of a recent Afghan convert, and the other being the youngest son of Shah Moneer, whose two elder sons are already in the school.

KASHMIR.

Patient work in Kashmir.

Few missionaries in any part of the world have had severer labour than the Rev. T. R. Wade and Dr. E. Downes during the last two or three years among the famine-stricken Kashmiris. They have dispensed large sums, including considerable grants from the Society's Indian Famine Fund, in the relief of the miserable people.

Their more direct missionary work has been characterized as before by patient perseverance, with but few signs of visible success. The hospital has, indeed, been in active operation, and has been a source of temporal benefit to several thousands of persons. From Jan. 1st to Nov. 13th there were 6230 out-patients, who paid over 12,000 visits. On an average there had been 55 in-patients. The operations performed numbered 700. This Medical Mission leads to some friendly feeling towards the missionaries and the religion which they teach; but Christian benevolence is so little understood by the people that some hidden motive is suspected. The missionary efficiency of the hospital is greatly hindered by the difficulty of obtaining Christian assistants. At the date of Dr. Downes's Annual Letter all his assistants were Mohammedan. Much desire has been manifested to obtain, and in some cases, to purchase Christian books. There have also been several inquirers, and some have received instruction; but Mr. Wade has not seen his way clear as yet to admit any to baptism. Mr. Wade has made tours in the neighbouring district; and thinks that "the work amongst the villagers is much more interesting and hopeful than in the city, where vice is so rampant." There are now 56 children in the Orphanage (hundreds have passed through it). It is under the charge of Christian Natives superintended by Mrs. Downes.

Mr. Wade has done important service to future missionary work in the country by translating, for the first time, into the difficult and little known Kashmiri language, the New Testament and a great part of the Prayer-Book. The Four Gospels, having been finally revised for the press, were to be printed during last winter, Mr. Wade having come down to Amritsar to relieve Mr. Clark and Mr. Bateman. Dr. Downes also is about to leave Kashmir shortly, his strength having been greatly tried by the labours of the last three years. The Committee have designated a young medical missionary to succeed him in the course of the present year.

Sindh.

THE Revs. J. Sheldon, J. Bambridge, and G. Shirt were the missionaries in this large province during the year; the two former at Karâchi and the latter at Hydrabad. Two younger brethren have lately joined them; but Mr. Sheldon's weak state of health after nearly twenty-seven years' labour compels his immediate return home, for a time at all events.

Baptisms in Sindh.

At KARÂCHI there are 87 Christian adherents, of whom 37 are communicants. Two adults were baptized at Christmas; one a Sindhi of respectable family, who, like several other of the converts, had gained his knowledge of Christianity in the Mission School; the other a Hindu gosain (devotee), who gave up the gains of his calling by embracing the truth, and moreover underwent much contumely and even bodily suffering. Mr. Sheldon speaks of "the radiance of joy which lighted up the old man's countenance as he publicly acknowledged Christ." The evangelistic work was interrupted in the summer by the agitation consequent on the disaster to the British arms at Maiwand. The influence of both Islam and Hinduism on the masses, however, Mr. Sheldon believes to be "unquestionably on the decline:"—

Decline of Islam and Hinduism in Sindh.

This is especially seen in the growing disregard shown to Mohammedan pirs and Hindu gurus. Years ago a visit of a maharaj used to excite almost general adoration; the most respectable of the people would follow him everywhere, showing the most abject reverence; now, when he perambulates the city, it is with difficulty a few Natives of any influence can be induced to accompany him. The same may be said of Mohammedan pirs; numbers of their former followers have openly thrown off their allegiance, and have refused the payment of the annual tribute, though threatened not only with exclusion from Paradise, but also with present death for their recusancy. Amongst the educated, and particularly the better classes of the Sindhis, who have received an English education, there seems some hope of a decided change. They have openly rejected idolatry, and the Brahmo Somaj, with its increasing indefiniteness and intangibility, fails to satisfy them. A late visit of a leading Brahmist lecturer did little to draw them out.

Personal intercourse, Bible-classes, public lectures, and a book depository, are the agencies employed to reach these various classes.*

The educational branch of the Karâchi Mission continues to give much encouragement. Of the Anglo-Vernacular School, Mr. Bambridge reports that the number of pupils has risen from 100 to 151. At the close of the year the fees were nearly doubled, and it was proposed to quite double them shortly, yet no boy left, and several new boys joined; and this in a place which can boast of the most successful Government School in the whole Bombay Presidency. It need not be said that in this Mission School distinctive Christian teaching holds a prominent place. The other schools bring the total of pupils under instruction up to 501 boys and 37 girls.

At HYDRABAD, Mr. Shirt has diligently prosecuted his most devoted labours, educational, evangelistic, and literary. There are as yet only sixteen Christians, besides ten at Sukkur. The schools educate 253 boys and 90 girls. The Pilgrim's Progress in Sindhi has been finished during the year; and about one-sixth of the Old Testament has been translated. No less than 3632 portions of Scripture, tracts, and small books were sold. "Our Report," says Mr. Shirt, "does not reveal what all true Christians long for, large accessions of true converts to Christ; but if we persevere in faith and patience, there can be no doubt that from the lethargic Sindhis will arise some who shall hereafter be jewels in the Saviour's crown. Meantime let our friends do for us what Aaron and Hur did for Moses." Mr. Shirt's very interesting account of the Girls' School must be printed here. Let it be remembered that in scarcely any part of India is female education so backward as in Sindh :—

Interesting Girls' School at Hydrabad.

This school, which has now an average attendance of between fifty and sixty girls, was opened by Mrs. Isenberg, in 1868, with two or three small girls, whose progress was naturally very small; for they were so unaccustomed to anything like discipline and system, that all we could do for a long time was to try to teach them to sit still and listen, without frightening them away. It was uphill work, as almost every new undertaking is, and cost many weary limbs and sickening hopes. We have now three mistresses and a monitor—a girl who has been altogether educated in our school, and who last June passed the sixth Government standard, which embraces arithmetic, history of India, geography, physical geography, with map-drawing. We have had the honour of passing the first girls in Hydrabad both in the fifth and sixth standards. This year we have fifty-five girls preparing for the different standards from the first to the fifth inclusive. It has again and again been a great disappointment to us to lose most of our advanced and promising girls for no other reason than that they were eleven and twelve years old, and too big, as their friends thought, to attend school. We had hoped that this objection would have worn out by this time, and doubtless some of our readers think it is high time we ceased to record such a matter; but reforms seem to make way very slowly with regard to female education. Plain needlework, and the peculiar kind of embroidery in working which Hindu women employ their spare moments for ornamenting their jackets and boys' caps, are both taught, and Mr. Ghulam Alli, the Deputy Educational Inspector, who examined the school last June, was pleased to express his satisfaction with the work each girl submitted for his inspection. At his suggestion we have introduced knitting, which the girls have taken up with evident liking. Scripture lessons are given daily, in which we have been greatly helped by some beautiful pictures sent from England. The girls also learn hymns, texts of Scripture, and a small catechism.

As a proof that idolatry is losing its hold upon the women, we may mention that for the last sixteen months there has been a weekly Bible reading in the school-house, which is attended by several respectable Hindu women, who we trust are gradually learning to throw off their old and grievous superstitions, and to know their God as He has revealed Himself to us.

In March of this year the Bishop of Lahore visited Hydrabad. In his remarks on the Mission he calls attention, inter alia, to the important work done by this Girls' School:—

It was but little I was able to do beyond spending one morning in the examination of the Native Girls' School, the Anglo-Vernacular High School (boys), and the City Vernacular School (boys), all connected with the Mission. Recollections of my old work for eight years at Lahore lead me to feel the deepest sympathy with those engaged in this school department, the most severely exacting on the time, patience, and strength of the missionary, of all his labours, at least until the organizing of many new-formed Churches is laid upon him; a work in most parts of India of the future rather than of the present. I can well understand from my own experience the joy with which my brother Mr. Shirt must welcome a fellow-labourer again, after being alone so long, and one who appears by his spirit and character, as well as gifts, to give so much promise of worthily following in Mr. Shirt's steps, as he followed his Master's. I must also heartily congratulate Mrs. Shirt on being able to hand over her work with the Native girls and women to one so well qualified and so zealous as Mrs. Redman. The Girls' School is a bright spot in the female schools of our Missions; a happier, more eager and animated group of scholars it would be hard, I think, to find.

I never visit the Mission without thanking God and taking courage, and feeling myself refreshed and edified. The example for so many years before the people's eyes of such steady, loving (to human eyes) unrewarded toil (as this world's rewards go), must leave its impress on the city, however hard and bigoted the population. Some of the head pupils in the first class promise high excellence. As before, I was pleased by the numbers found worthy to be drafted into that class, and to have so much of Messrs. Shirt's and Redman's daily care and instruction; combining both the παιδαγωγὸς and διδάσκαλος, as the old Greeks called them (the moral educator and intellectual instructor), in one and the same person, which was not the rule with the Greeks.

BOMBAY AND WESTERN-INDIA MISSION.

General.

THE Western-India Mission is one of those which has been strengthened during the year. The Rev. J. G. Deimler and the Rev. R. A. Squires have returned to Bombay, the former to resume the work among the Mohammedan population which was suspended three years ago, and the latter to organize a Divinity Class for superior Native agents. Two of the Islington men of 1879 had been allotted to this Mission, but one was among the number detained at home that year on account of the Society's financial position. This year he has joined his comrade.

Interesting gathering of Native Christians at Nasik.

This increase of labourers has been coincident with an important step for the development of the Native Church. The first general gathering of the C.M.S. Native Christians of Western India took place at Nasik last Christmas, and occasion was taken to inaugurate a Native Church Council, the Rev. H. C. Squires, the chairman appointed by the Parent Committee, presiding, and five Native Clergymen and eight lay delegates being present—the latter comprising two each from the Bombay, Nasik, Maligâm, and Aurangabad congregations. The Rev. Ratanji Nowroji, of the last-named station, was unanimously elected Secretary, and has sent to the Committee a most interesting descriptive narrative of the whole proceedings of the three days' gathering,* of which the Council meeting was but a small part, though probably the most important as regards future results. There were besides, a Conference of the Society's missionaries; a meeting of all the Native agents in its employ, ordained and unordained; three general meetings of the Nasik congregation and the visitors, at which addresses were delivered and missionary information given; evangelistic services for the heathen; and various social and devotional gatherings. At the general missionary meetings the Bishop of Bombay, who was at Nasik at the time, kindly presided.

Among the most important addresses were one by the Rev. Ratanji Nowroji on "The Native Church," and one by the Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji on the Society's Mission in the Presidency. The wife of the latter brother assembled the women and children of the Sharanpur Christian settlement during one of the sittings of the Missionary Conference, and addressed them on "the duties of the rising generation," and her three daughters seem to have added much to the pleasure of the social gatherings by their vocal and instrumental music. Among the English visitors was Major G. A. Jacob, Inspector of Army Schools, who rendered valuable service by "a long and eloquent speech in Marathi" at one of the general meetings, in which he "showed the necessity of preaching Christ and Him crucified boldly but affectionately;" and also by a public lecture to the educated Brahmins of Nasik, of which the following deeply interesting account is given:—

Remarkable Lecture to Brahmins by Major Jacob.

At 5.30 p.m., the well-known Petha's Wada, situate at the banks of the Godavery, was full of educated Brahmins who came to hear Major Jacob's Marathi lecture on Krishna and Christ. The meeting was presided over by the Brahmin Deputy Collector. The lecture lasted for three-quarters of an hour, and was listened to with remarkable interest and attention. The learned lecturer, in a kind and conciliatory tone, put forth the results of his reading the life and character of Krishna as depicted in their scriptures, proving how utterly unworthy he was to become a saviour of sinners. He told them that his object in placing the facts before them was not to hurt their feelings; but, as a friend and well-wisher, to entreat them to consider whether Krishna could really be an incarnation of a holy God. The lecture, interspersed with several Sanscrit quotations, was fully calculated to arrest attention. He then briefly, but clearly, delineated the life of Christ, which was in perfect harmony with His sublime teaching. While Krishna's life was revolting, and teaching objectionable—Christ's life was exemplary, and teaching highly beneficial. He could tell them from personal experience that he had obtained peace and comfort to his soul by receiving Him, as He really is, the Saviour of the world. In His life, and in His teaching, He ever proved Himself a true Incarnation of the Deity.

When the lecture was ended with enthusiastic applause, an elderly Brahmin (nephew of our Christian brother, Govind Shastri) arose to thank Major Jacob for his able lecture. He acknowledged that both he and his co-religionists regarded Christ, with all becoming respect and reverence, as an Incarnation of the Deity—holy and harmless—unlike any other teacher that had appeared on earth; but he failed to see in what way His death was the meritorious cause of the world's salvation. As for Krishna's sins and shortcomings he felt that, as an incarnation of God, he was at liberty to act in any way he deemed best; and the faults and failings of the superior were not to be called into question by the inferior!

Major Jacob replied that Christ being pure and sinless became our surety—dying in our place, the Just for the unjust. And as for the life and character of a superior being coming from God to teach us, it was incumbent upon him to practise virtues of the purest description, before we could be induced to reverence him as a Divine Teacher.

The Chairman thanked the lecturer and dismissed the assembly.

BOMBAY.

The Rev. H. C. Squires, who is Corresponding Secretary of the Western-India Mission, also ministers at the Society's English Church at Girgaum, which occupies a position in the city, and to the Mission, similar to that of the Old Church at Calcutta, and to which are attached most of the varied agencies usually found in a well-ordered parish at home.

In the Robert Money School, of which the Rev. T. Carss is Principal, there are 267 pupils, of whom 49 are Brahmins, 178 Hindus of other castes, 2 Mohammedans, 26 Jews, 1 Romanist, and 11 Protestants. Mr. Carss thus refers to the School as a Mission agency, and to the Christian instruction given in it:—

Religious teaching in the Robert Money School.

I desire now to speak of the Institution as a field of missionary labour, for, though fond of teaching, I never allow my scholastic duties to cause me to forget the privilege and responsibility that are mine as an ambassador of Christ in this heathen land. I am glad to report that the young Brahmin who was baptized last year is going on well under the careful training of Brother Roberts at Nasik. At the beginning of this year, there was every prospect of another Brahmin convert from the school. The lad had left Bombay for about two years, during which time I corresponded with him. At last he decided to become a Christian, and came to Bombay to be baptized. Whilst preparing for baptism he fell ill, and was obliged to leave Bombay.

The religious instruction in this Institution gives me much anxious thought. We know that in all lands the carnal mind is enmity against God, but in this country we have, in addition, to contend against a strong feeling in the minds of our pupils that it is a waste of time and energy to study a subject which forms no part of the examination for which they are preparing. We seek to remove or lessen this feeling by trying to make the Scripture lesson the most attractive of all, and by never allowing the Bible and punishment to be associated together in their minds. When teaching Divine truth, I seek to win the boys to a knowledge and love of the Bible by laying aside as far as possible the character of the schoolmaster, and appearing before them as the minister of Christ and their friend. I encourage the boys to ask questions and to state freely all their difficulties and objections. Whilst teaching other subjects I find or make opportunities of speaking of Christ, and I encourage the boys to come to me privately for conversation. We would ask the prayers of some of God's people that the seed which is sown here daily with prayer and in faith may bring forth fruit to the glory of the Saviour.

One of the chief uses of this Institution is to form a place for training our Christian boys, and I have always sought in every way to encourage their attendance. All the Christians meet daily for prayer at the opening of the school. The non-Christian boys are invited and encouraged, but not compelled to be present.

A Missionary encouraged by his Reports being read.

In November, we were favoured with a visit from the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth of Hampstead, who expressed his satisfaction with our work, and who gave the senior class an admirable address on "Christian Ambition." I have often had a depressing feeling that our Reports were either not read or unkindly criticized; you can, therefore, imagine what comfort it gave me to find that almost the first words of Mr. Bickersteth on meeting me were, "How is the young lad that you baptized last year getting on?"

The Native Congregation, numbering ninety-five souls, is still under the pastoral care of the Rev. Appaji Bapuji. There were seven adult baptisms during the year. Mr. Bapuji writes thankfully of the Church Committee recently formed with a view to connexion with the Native Church Council.

The Rev. Jani Alli's hostel for Christian lads studying at the Colleges or High Schools of Bombay has had ten inmates during the year. One of these was a son of George David, the well-known African catechist at Frere Town.*

NASIK AND SHARANPUR.

The NASIK district, with the Christian village of Sharanpur and four out-stations, has continued under the charge of the Rev. W. A. Roberts. The two young missionaries lately sent out are residing at this station while learning the language. The Rev. Lucas Maloba is the Native pastor. The Christian adherents at Sharanpur number 252, and those at the out-stations 132. Of these, 150 are communicants. Two whole families were baptized at the villages of Igatpuri and Deolali, twenty-eight and eight miles respectively from Nasik. The numerous institutions of Sharanpur—Orphanages, Poor Asylum, workshops, farm, &c.—have been conducted with no diminution of energy, and are all in a satisfactory condition financially. Evangelistic work has been less vigorously carried on, owing to the loss of four Native agents, two by death and two by removal. Mr. Roberts gives daily instruction to a Divinity Class and a Normal Class, but the numbers are small, and he very earnestly begs that the former at any rate may be put upon a more permanent and efficient footing. The Committee trust that the return of Mr. R. A. Squires to India will lead to this being done.

JUNIR.

This station, since its establishment in 1844, has frequently been left without an ordained missionary, owing to the lack of adequate force, and has been in charge of Native catechists. In June last year, the Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji, a Native clergyman who offered himself to the Society, was commissioned to make Junir the head-quarters of an active Itinerant Mission. In the five months that ensued to the date of his first Annual Letter, Mr. Sorabji travelled 560 miles, visited 98 villages, and preached to 20,000 people.

MALEGÂM.

The Rev. F. G. Macartney, in a very interesting Annual Letter, writes thankfully of "God's many mercies" vouchsafed during the year to the labourers at this station, the only one in the extensive and populous district of Khandesh. There are just one hundred Christian adherents, and a Church Committee has lately been formed. "This," says Mr. Macartney, "has proved a great benefit, as it gives the people a more direct interest in the affairs of the Church, and will certainly prepare them for independence and self-support." Evangelistic work is carried on over a wide extent of country by the Native catechists, who have paid no less than 1453 visits to various towns and villages during the year. The principal out-stations are at Dhulia, the zillah town of the collectorate; Chandor, 26 miles S.W.; and Ranâla, 80 miles N.W. At the latter place there has been an adult baptism under remarkable circumstances:—

Remarkable history of Hindu guru, and baptism of his son.

Cornelius Kashi-Ram is about thirty-eight years of age. He belongs to the Mahar section of the community, but is a well-to-do man. He owns about twenty head of cattle, has six fields under cultivation, and possesses two houses of his own. His father is a well-known guru in those districts: and although the father himself has not yet become a Christian, yet it was through his teaching that the son has been received into the Christian Church. Dasharat, the father, who is now an old man, first heard the Gospel at Nasik more than thirty years ago, while attending a yatra at that place. He has visited the chief places of pilgrimage in India, and his fame is so great that his advice and assistance have frequently been sought by strangers who do not live in his immediate neighbourhood. On three occasions he has attended the Singhast, a celebrated Hindu festival, held once in twelve years at Nasik, and on each occasion has received portions of the Scriptures and tracts from Christian preachers whom he has met with there. After reading parts of the Pentateuch at home he came to the conclusion that he ought to offer sacrifices to God in order to be saved. He gave up the worship of idols, rejected the caste system, and on three separate occasions during three years he offered a sacrifice near Ranâla in the presence of many people. The victims chosen for sacrifice were —a sheep, a goat, and two pigeons. The old man tells us that the order of procedure was as follows :—First of all the persons called to the sacrifice bathed. Prayer was then offered by Dasharat, the presiding guru, and the sacrificial fire was kindled. Each man and wife joined hands and cast into the fire oil, clarified butter, camphor, and some other ingredients. Lastly, the animals were slain and their blood allowed to run into the fire, while Dasharat prayed that the sacrifice might be accepted and his own and the people's sins forgiven. A feast of course formed the conclusion of the ceremony. All this was the result of the conviction of sin, and a desire to obtain forgiveness by the only way the old guru knew of. He had not yet heard about the one all-sufficient sacrifice once for all offered for man's transgressions. Four days after the last sacrifice was offered Kashi-Ram's eldest son died. Father and grandfather at once imagined that God was angry with them for having dared to offer sacrifices. According to Hindu mythology low-caste men have not been unfrequently punished by God for daring to intrude upon the Brahman's prerogative. The sacrifices therefore ceased.

About nine years ago one of our catechists, Krishnaji Dhurmaji, visited Ranala while on a preaching tour. He came across Dasharat, heard all about his doings, and taught him the way of God more perfectly, showing him that "the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin." The old man bought a Bible, read and studied it, and has taught and persuaded his son to become a Christian. Kashi-Ram was instructed for several months by our agents, and has twice visited me in Malegam. I had the pleasure of baptizing him in December at Ranala, in the presence of a large concourse of people. This is the first baptism that has taken place in that part of the country, and we trust and believe that it is the earnest of a larger ingathering into the fold of Christ. Kashi-Ram's wife and sons we hope to baptize soon. Altogether there are about twenty inquirers in those parts. These are all Dasharat's disciples, and he is now visiting them and urging them to become Christians. We wish very much that the old man, whose convictions of the truths of Christianity are so strong, would enter the fold of the visible Church himself. I doubt not that he will do so eventually. His idea at present is to get his disciples to follow the example of Kashi-Ram. He fears that if he receives baptism now his influence with his followers will cease, and he wants first to persuade them to embrace the Christian religion. The old man is certainly doing a good work as an unpaid agent, and we hope to see good and permanent results from the movement in that quarter.

The Bheels of Khandesh.

An important section of the widely-spread Bhîl or Bheel tribe is found in the hills of Khandesh, and efforts have from time to time been made to reach them by the missionaries at Malegâm, though hitherto with little success. Mr. Macartney sends some account of them, and describes them as still wild and uncivilized in the extreme, and to a large extent independent, but as having given up their old occupation of robbery and plunder, in the consciousness that the strong arm of British law can reach them if necessary even in their mountain fastnesses. Some of them understand Marâthi, but the majority speak a language of their own, which is not spoken by any of the Mission agents. Mr. Macartney is desirous of making a beginning by placing two Native evangelists, able and willing to endure hardness, at some convenient spot near Nandurbar, for those Bheels who live south of the Tapti River, and who are more accessible than those on the further side of it, among the Satpura Mountains.

AURANGABAD.

The Rev. Ratanji Nowroji continues his excellent work at this important town in the Nizam's Territory. Mr. Ratanji does not return the total number of "adherents;" but the baptized Christians are 446, of whom 230 are communicants. Here, as at the other Western-India stations, a Church Committee was formed last year, concerning which Mr. Ratanji says, "I own I had many fears as to its success; but the hearty response given by the congregation far exceeded all anticipation. The Native Church Fund, although small, meets all Church expenses, pays for four Bible-women, and gives a helping hand to the poor and needy." A pleasant account is given of the Christmas services and festivities:—

Native Christian Christmas festivities.

Five marriages were solemnized on Christmas Day. I felt that when there was a universal rejoicing throughout the Christian world, the solemnization of matrimony could not be unsuitable on that day. The many interlacing services of the day were particularly solemn. The appearance of the congregation, dressed in their very best, was imposing; and with four adult baptisms, five marriages, an address from the chaplain of the station, and last, but not least, the celebration of the Holy Communion, the day was indeed a day of solemn rejoicing so utterly unlike the vain and worthless festivals of the heathen. At four in the afternoon we all sat down, after the Native fashion, to a grand Christmas dinner, provided by the liberality of the chaplain and a few members of his congregation. There sat, side by side, men and women originally belonging to different castes and creeds, and I could not help thinking that such a sight would have gladdened the hearts of the noble Christians of dear England who so liberally support the great cause of Missions in this remote heathen country. It would have afforded them a lively illustration of the marvellous success of Christ's Gospel.

Evangelistic work is vigorously carried on, the well-known musical preachers, with their kirtan, taking a leading part. "Men of powerful lungs, and with hearts burning with love for perishing souls, can always," remarks Mr. Ratanji, "have ample work to do for their Master." He mentions as very useful with Mohammedans the little tract called The Sinless Prophet of Islam, which points out that Christ is the only one of the six great prophets recognized by them to whom even the Koran attributes no sin. There were 18 adult baptisms, one a very touching case:—

An aged Convert.

There is an old man residing at Saigaon, where we have a large and flourishing out-station. I was much struck when I first saw him ten years ago; and I still remember having told him that as his flowing, silvery beard made his countenance so venerable, Christianity would beautify the closing days of his earthly pilgrimage. "Now, listen to me," said I, "and I shall tell you of the great matchless love which God has shown in sending His Son to save a poor guilty and perishing world." "I shall hear you with pleasure," said he, "but do not expect me to embrace Christianity; for that I shall never do. The sun will sooner rise in the west, and set in the east, than I shall suffer myself to be persuaded to give up the religion of my fathers." For ten long years did the old man resist the Truth, showing no indication of any change; but at last the Truth triumphed over him, as it has triumphed over countless men of his stamp. The meek, child-like attitude with which he received baptism along with his wife, afforded a striking contrast to the hostility he had shown in the days of his ignorance and unbelief.

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.

I. Madras.

The Rev. A. H. Arden has continued his active labours as Secretary of the Madras Corresponding Committee. The only other Europeans connected with the Society in Madras are three Missionaries engaged in special work among the Mohammedans, and one who has been in charge of the outlying village congregations of the Palâveram district.

Death of an old Missionary.

A devoted Missionary of many years' standing was taken to his rest on the 30th June, 1880—the Rev. John Bilderbeck. He was an East Indian, of Dutch descent, and born and bred a Roman Catholic; and as a youth he was trained for the priesthood of his Church. But he early saw her errors, embraced the Protestant faith with his whole heart, and was ordained by Bishop Spencer in 1843. The Rev. V. Simeon, one of the two Native pastors in Madras, who now labours in that part of the city (Black Town) where Mr. Bilderbeck so long preached the Gospel, bears warm testimony to "his great zeal, diligence, and boldness of character; his liberality to the poor; and his faithful service to his Master."

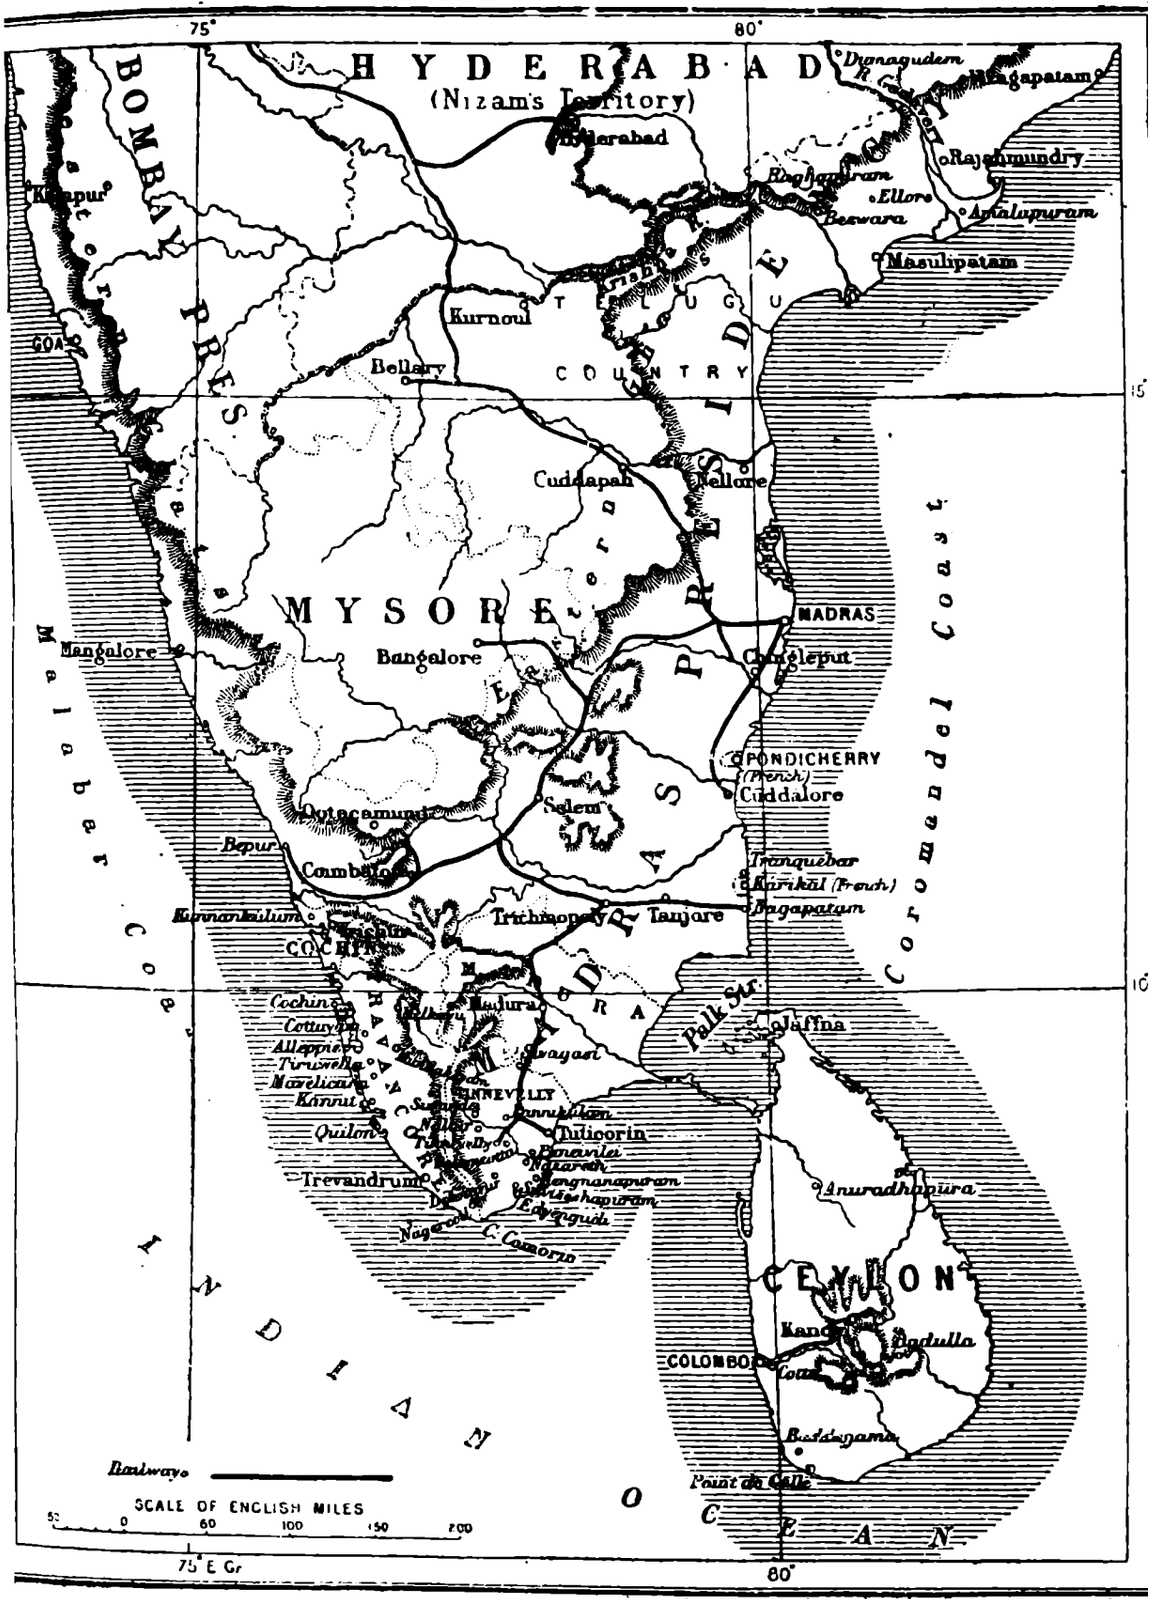

Mr. Simeon and the Rev. W. T. Satthianâdhan divide between them the charge of the Native congregations in the city. In their two Pastorates, the Northern and the Southern, there are, respectively, 501 and 412 Adherents, of whom 213 and 180 are Communicants. Mr. Satthianâdhan presides over the Church Council, which comprises both.

Mr. Satthianâdhan's Church and Schools.

An interesting event was the dedication of Zion Church at Chintadrapetta, which took place on the 8th December, 1880. At the organization of the Madras Native Church Council in 1867, the two congregations of John Pereira's and Chintadrapetta were formed into a pastorate and placed under Mr. Satthianâdhan's care. At that time the Chintadrapetta congregation numbered (numerically) 130 persons. The average attendance was only 60. Year by year progress was made until the attendance was trebled. A larger building was needed, and with the help of 400*l.* from friends in England, a sum of Rs. 7000 was raised, with which the church has been much enlarged, and is now erected, capable of seating about 350 persons.

founded by the Rev. R. C. Macdonald, and were carried on, after his departure, by the late Rev. J. Cornelius, have, since the latter's death, been transferred to the Native Church Council, and are reported on by the Rev. W. T. Satthianâdhan. The reductions ordered by the Committee last year have involved the diminution of these schools from nineteen to twelve. Four were transferred to other Missions, and three were closed. There are now 859 children on the rolls. Mr. Satthianâdhan also reports on the Hindu Girls' Schools carried on with so much loving zeal by his wife, in which there are 358 scholars; and on the Sunday Schools connected with the Southern Pastorate, which are attended by 400 children.

Mrs. Satthianâdhan is also actively engaged in Zenana Mission work. She has now access to no less than 74 Zenanas, in which she has 130 Hindu ladies under instruction.

Every Native Christian, and especially every Native Pastor, in a heathen country ought to be an Evangelist. Among other evidences that this duty is not neglected by the Native Church in Madras, may be mentioned the fact that every year witnesses a certain number, more or less, of adult baptisms, in connexion with the different congregations, some of these being very interesting cases. It will be remembered, moreover, that the Native Church Council has agents appointed specially for work among the heathen, in the support of whom it is aided by a grant from the William Charles Jones Fund. The Society has also on its own funds an agent similarly employed in Madras, the Rev. Samuel John, a son of the late Rev. John Devasagâyam, of Tinnevelly, and brother of Mrs. Satthianâdhan, who was ordained by the Bishop of Madras on 14th March, 1880. Mr. John has sent to the Committee an interesting and encouraging account of his labours among (1) educated Hindus; (2) those who are uneducated; (3) Christian students at the colleges; (4) inmates of orphanages. Of the first class he writes:—

English-speaking Hindus in Madras.

I might safely say that, according to the last census, one-third of the Hindu population of this city is composed of English-speaking Hindus. The extent to which the educated Hindus are acquainted with the truths of Christianity cannot be very easily determined, and although all educated Hindus have not declared themselves professed Christians, yet the fact that they are indebted to Christian education for their refined views, exalted sentiments, &c., cannot be denied. Christianity has also shaken their dependence and reliance on the Hindu religion. Their adherence to the superstitious usages and ceremonial observances arises only from a desire to keep up their conformity to existing customs of Hindu society. Among the so-called educated there is a class of men who are well disposed towards Christianity, and who are always waiting for opportunities to free themselves from the thraldom of Hinduism. These men are deterred from taking a bold step, inasmuch as they will have to separate themselves from their dear relatives and friends, and also lose their paternal estate. Property among Hindus is not easily divided. It is only when there arises a great necessity, individuals of a family have their respective shares. Converts to Christianity fare badly in reference to their property. Legal measures must be adopted, and even then failure, and not success, attends in the majority of cases. The young man who embraced Christianity in the early part of the year 1878, has not, as yet, recovered his paternal estate. I beg, therefore, humbly to state that as converts from Hinduism are likely to come to us deprived of their means of living, empty-handed, so to speak, there should be some funds to back us, and thus enable us to give them the necessary help.

MOHAMMEDAN MISSION.

Mohammedan Mission.

The Rev. E. Sell and the Rev. M. G. Goldsmith have continued this important work, and have been joined by a brother of the latter, the Rev. H. Goldsmith, who went out to India at his own expense, and has lately been accepted by the Society as an honorary agent. The HARRIS SCHOOL, which forms the nucleus of the work, contains 134 pupils, all Mohammedans, and all receiving instruction in the Old and New Testaments. Mr. Sell writes:—

Last year our boys carried off two out of six Government Scholarships given to Mussulmans who pass highest in the matriculation examination. I think there is every prospect of our maintaining this position this year also.

The Gore Langton Scholars.

His Grace the Duke of Buckingham, and the Lady Mary Grenville, while yet in Madras, continued to take an interest in the school. We have not been able to do all that the late Lady Anna Gore Langton (the Duke's sister) wished us to do, viz. to keep up a separate school for the sons of Mussulman nobles. They would not come in any sufficient numbers unless the school was purely secular. To this the late Lady Anna Gore Langton, as well as we ourselves, objected, and so the scheme of a separate school fell through. Personally, I am glad, for the objections to it were many. What has been done is to get a fewer number of the descendants of Carnatic nobles, and to aid them by the payment of fees and gifts of books. They are called Gore Langton scholars. In some cases they have a few privileges granted to them, but in no case is absence from the Scripture lesson allowed. There are now eight such scholars. During the year the Duke has kindly used his influence to appoint two of the Gore Langton scholars, one the son-in-law of the late Prince Arcot, and the other a young man of high rank, to the Government service. This has kept the fact of such a class before the minds of the Mussulman community, and thus indirectly gives us influence. The Maulvies, however, still oppose us.

Moslem Boys under Scripture teaching.

Mr. Henry Goldsmith has kindly helped me in the Scripture teaching as far as his non-acquaintance with Hindustani would admit of. As he came quite fresh to the work, and as it is a new experience to him, I thought you would like to know his impression of Scripture teaching in a school; so I asked him to write a short report. He says,—"I can only say with great thankfulness that I have met with encouragement in all three classes which have been under my tuition; especially, perhaps, in the 6th class, where the boys are old enough to take a lively interest in the whole question of our Mohammedan controversy. I have been pressed with all kinds of questions. Some of them are of such a nature as to prove not only that the claims of our sacred faith are being better understood, but also that the boys themselves begin to feel the untenable character of some of the pretensions of the false prophet. I have deemed it wise to allow a portion of the allotted hour to be devoted to the consideration of the questions brought forward. At times, naturally enough, some anger has been evinced at my unwillingness to admit the claims of Mohammed, but as a rule we have been able to discuss in a friendly spirit. The intelligent answers given by more than one to the questions from the Acts, set in the examination, have been pleasing."

At the last Annual Meeting and Prize Distribution at this School, in February of the present year, the Right Hon. W. P. Adam, Governor of Madras, who has since died, presided.

The Rev. M. G. Goldsmith assists, while at Madras, in Scriptural teaching at the Harris School. But his main work is among the Mohammedan population generally. This is carried on by meetings three times a week in the Triplicaine Gospel Hall, and by conversations with groups of persons whom he may meet with in the streets. There are not wanting interesting cases of thoughtful hearers.

The Mohammedans of the Telugu Country.

On the 30th of July, Mr. Goldsmith paid a visit to Ellore, with the view of ascertaining what might be done for the Mohammedans of the Telugu districts. The result was that he stayed in the Telugu country for the remainder of the year, his brother taking his place at Madras. Some of the Mohammedans in these districts are military pensioners, who as a rule are favourably disposed to Europeans. The boys in the Mission Hindustani Schools (Hindustani here, as in Madras, is the Mohammedan language) he found to be intelligent, and to have, "like so many Mohammedans, a good deal of right religious feeling, which forms an excellent basis, as it were, for the doctrines of the Gospel." But he also met with bitter opponents of Christianity, who fortify themselves with controversial books imported from North India. There were several lively discussions, but "these," remarks Mr. Goldsmith, "though likely at times to be hot, seem necessary in this work, and some of them have been as quiet and orderly, and in subjects as vital and profitable as we could wish." The Mohammedan villagers, among whom there is much ignorance, and neglect of even the ordinary obligations of their own religion, seem in some respects more open to conviction than the town people. Mr. Goldsmith thus concludes:—

The Controversy with Islam.

The general attitude of Islam is hostile to us, and so it always must be, the more the distinctive and vital doctrines of the cross are held up. Some who are friendly at first become very bitter when they find the importance we attach to these fundamental truths. This is just as it should be, if they are earnest followers of the "Prophet," and they are the most hopeful class we meet with. The next thing is to show the grounds of our faith and its claims upon them, and further intercourse frequently softens their opposition. This is the great argument for earnest persevering testimony, which cannot be in vain (Isa. lv. 11). We see no cause for desponding after eight apparently fruitless years in this country, but rather just the reverse. Never was there better ground for hope. Fearful mischief is done by the controversial books written by Maulavies against us—books which borrow from all the European infidel writers and tend to downright scepticism and rejection of all divine books and of the Koran itself. Islam allies itself with the devil in the great battle of Truth and Error, and many promising young men are poisoned in this way. It condemns itself by its evil associates, and teaches us to see the magnitude of the real interests at stake. We must overcome, if God be with us, and we have sufficient evidences that He is "working with" us, and we expect visible "signs" in due time (Mark xvi. 20).*

PALAVERAM AND OOTACAMUND.

No reports have been received from these districts. During the year, PALÂVERAM and the Madras Itinerancy were under the charge of the Rev. J. D. Thomas. There are 570 Christian adherents, of whom 252 are communicants (an unusually large proportion). These will in future be connected with the Madras Church Council. At OOTACAMUND, there are 346 adherents under a Native pastor, the Rev. Samuel Paul.

II. Tinnevelly.

The Mission is divided into nine districts, viz. 1, Palamcotta; 2, Mengnânapuram; 3, Dohnavur; 4, Paneivilei; 5, Pannikullam; 6, Nallur; 7, Surandei; 8, Suvisêshapuram; 9, Sivagâsi (North Tinnevelly).

THE Committee received with much concern, at the end of March, the news that Bishop Sargent was seriously ill. They have been most thankful for more hopeful accounts since, and earnestly trust that their honoured friend may long be spared for the work in which he has been so signally blessed.

The Duke of Buckingham on C.M.S. work.

Palamcotta was honoured in November by a visit from the Duke of Buckingham, then Governor of Madras, who after inspecting the various institutions, gave Bishop Sargent Rs. 1000 for Mission purposes. Before leaving India, his Grace accepted a present of books illustrative of the Society's work in South India, and in his letter of acknowledgment to Mr. Arden, he said,—

I have felt much interest in the work of the Church Missionary Society, and trust its efforts to spread among the races of Southern India the knowledge of the Bible, and to lead them into the paths of life, may be rewarded by increasing success—and that its zealous labourers may feel that their labour has not been in vain.

The Bishop of Calcutta in Tinnevelly.

In March of this year, the Metropolitan of India, Bishop Johnson of Calcutta, paid his first visit to Tinnevelly. An interesting account has been received of his reception at Palamcotta, Paneivilei, and Mengnânapuram. An extract is subjoined, relating the incidents of his visit to this last-named place:—

Imposing Scene at Mengnânapuram.

At 12 o'clock on Thursday night, March 24th, Bishop Johnson arrived at that far-famed centre of C.M.S. work—Mengnânapuram. Many years had passed since a previous Metropolitan, Bishop Milman, had visited the station. The Metropolitan and his chaplain entered the station at midnight, so that it was not possible to make the demonstrations of welcome that otherwise would surely have greeted them. But these demonstrations were only deferred till the following morning, when they were conducted through the village to the western end of Church Street, where an imposing scene presented itself. The long broad street, with its rows of feathery palm-trees on either side, its numerous festoons of flowers, and banners and other decorations, was lined on both sides with people from end to end. At the far end of the street was the noble tower and spire of the magnificent Gothic church, which is the glory of this station. All down this street was one continued greeting—by the men, women, agents, school children, and Native clergy from the Mengnânapuram combined districts. As they approached the gate near the church, two long rows of Native clergy received the Metropolitan; and then on either side of the church porch were the girls and boys of the Boarding Schools. As the Metropolitan entered the church, a select number of children from the Boarding Schools sang very sweetly in English the hymn commencing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and as the last echoes of the voices died away, the Litany was commenced by the Rev. Viravâgu Devanâyagam, the senior pastor of the station. Leaving the church, the Metropolitan went to Mrs. Thomas' bungalow, and was introduced to one whose whole life's energy has been devoted to work for Christ in this portion of the Master's vineyard. The exceeding pleasure felt by the Metropolitan in meeting this devoted servant of Jesus can be better imagined than expressed. Here was one who formed a connecting link between the present and the past of 40 years' distance, who, with her sainted husband, and other devoted workers, had laboured on through all that long period in faith and patience, and who had literally seen, as fruit of all this labour, the desert transformed into the garden of the Lord—the little one become a thousand, and the small one a strong nation.

An aged widow still at work.

After meeting twenty-four of the Native clergy at breakfast, and visiting the excellent Boarding School for Girls—the Elliot Tuxford School, so long and so ably conducted by Mrs. Thomas, sen.,—the Metropolitan proceeded to the church. Here were gathered together for worship in the church, built by Mr. Thomas, no less than 2850 Native Christians, who had come to greet the Metropolitan, and to hear from him words whereby they should be built up and strengthened. The whole assembly formed a sight not easily to be forgotten. As the long line of Native Clergy and the Metropolitan walked up the church, the children, led by Miss Thomas, who presided at the harmonium, sang an English hymn with much taste and sweetness. Several Native clergymen took part in the service. After the 3rd collect, the choir sang as the anthem the chorus,—"And the glory of the Lord," and the excellent manner in which it was rendered showed how carefully Miss Thomas had trained the children's voices. The Metropolitan preached from the words, "For with God nothing shall be impossible," Luke i. 37. His sermon was interpreted by the Rev. Joseph David, the Native Pastor of Mengnânapuram, and was listened to with wrapt attention. It was full of comfort and encouragement, and pointed the hearers to that unfailing source of strength and hope which would enable them to persevere and to struggle against and overcome every difficulty and every obstacle in the great work that yet lay before them.

A congregation of 2850 Native Christians.

At 3 o'clock his Lordship began to receive the deputations from the various congregations of the district. The Native Clergy, Catechists, Schoolmasters, Schoolmistresses and heads of congregations all came in turns with their addresses and their offerings; and when these had all been presented, the Metropolitan addressed the combined assembly seated on the spacious lawn in front of the station bungalow. He told them how deeply interested he was in all that he had seen and heard of their welfare and progress, and of the great work that has been going on in their midst for so many years, and spoke to them stirring words of hope and encouragement in their attempts to advance towards self-support and independence. At the close of this address the whole assembly gave three hearty cheers to the Metropolitan.

The Bishop and Chaplain next made the ascent of the tower and spire, from the top of which a magnificent view of the "Terai" of red sand, the palmyra jungle, and the sea in the distance could be obtained. His Lordship attended the evening service, at which a special sermon was preached by one of the Native Clergy.

On Saturday morning there was a celebration of the Holy Communion,—at which the Native Clergy, Catechists, schoolmasters, and leading members of the congregation, to the number of 230, were present.

At 9.30 his Lordship had a meeting with several of the wives and mothers of the congregation, some of whom are voluntary workers among the heathen in the villages round.

Next an interesting half-hour was spent in the Boys' Boarding School—where his Lordship was most enthusiastically received by the masters and boys. The Bishop was pleased with the reading and answering in English by the boys of the highest class,—and the whole school just before the Metropolitan left sang a hymn in English very nicely.

A Deputation of Native Children.

The last thing the Metropolitan did at Mengnânapuram was to receive 675 day scholars from the different village schools situated within about four miles of Mengnânapuram. Of this number about 120 were heathen. To Christians and heathen the Bishop spoke in most loving and appropriate terms—and most earnestly entreated the little heathen pupils to learn of Jesus, to know Him, and to love Him, and to become His children. These addresses were followed by one last one to the Native pastors, Catechists, and teachers, giving them counsel and encouragement, and earnestly exhorting them to patient continuance in well-doing.

Detailed reports of the eight districts in South Tinnevelly under Bishop Sargent's immediate superintendence, viz., Palamcotta, Dohnavur, Suviseshapuram, Mengnânapuram, Paneivilei, Pannikulam, Nallur, and Surandei, have not been received, no doubt in consequence of Bishop Sargent's illness. But the statistical returns from the Madras office, which have been prepared by Mr. Arden with great care, supply in themselves some very interesting particulars. A condensed table is subjoined, which includes also North Tinnevelly:—

This table may be profitably compared with the corresponding returns three years previously, just before the large accessions of 1878; and thus a view may be obtained of the results of the great movement of that year towards Christianity.

Three years' progress in Tinnevelly.

At the close of 1877, there were 768 villages containing Christian adherents connected with the C.M.S. At the close of 1880, there were 955. Increase in three years, 187.

At the close of 1877, there were 31,061 baptized persons, and 10,462 persons under instruction, but not yet baptized; total adherents, 41,493. At the close of 1880, the corresponding figures were 38,657 and 15,606; total, 54,263. Increase in three years, 7596 baptized, and 5144 unbaptized; total, 12,740 souls. (This increase does not represent the whole gain from heathenism; for the deaths in the Christian community range from 700 to 1000 a year.)

At the close of 1877, there were 7793 communicants. At the close of 1880, there were 9517. Increase, 1724.

In 1877, there were 349 adult baptisms; in 1878, 811; in 1879, 1511; in 1880, 1012. (The rest of the increase in baptized members of the Church arises from the baptisms of the children of Native Christians.)

At the close of 1877, there were 462 churches, chapels, "prayer-houses," or school-rooms in which divine service was held. At the close of 1880, there were 669, of which 129 are described as pukka churches. Increase in the three years, 207.

In 1877 the Native Christians contributed Rs. 11,097 to the local Church funds; in 1880, Rs. 25,565. (Apparently, however, the former return was not quite complete). An interesting item in last year's return is as follows:—"Proceeds from Native Church Endowments, whether in Government securities, lands, rents, or bank deposits, &c., Rs. 2252."

The Tinnevelly District Church Councils are, the Committee rejoice to say, making good use of the William Charles Jones Fund (see page 56). By means of the grants from this Fund, amounting this year to Rs. 4100, together with their own contributions which have enabled them to claim the grants, fifty agents have been at work in eight out of the nine districts, and made last year nearly 12,000 visits to the villages comprised in the respective circles allotted to each. Another important feature of this branch of the work is the sale of Bible Portions and Tracts which the Catechist carries with him on his preaching tours. No less than 20,000 of these were disposed of last year.

The Jones Fund in Tinnevelly.

The higher educational institutions in Tinnevelly have undergone several changes from time to time in their grouping and administration, these changes being generally dependent upon the particular missionaries available for the work. For many years there was a Preparandi Class under the care of Mr. (now Bishop) Sargent, a Vernacular Training Institution for Schoolmasters under Mr. Spratt, and an Anglo-Vernacular School under the late Mr. Cruickshanks. During the last ten years the Training Institution has sometimes been amalgamated with the Preparandi Class and sometimes with the School. Latterly all three branches have suffered somewhat through the weakness of the European staff; but during the last twelve months plans long in contemplation have been matured, and it is hoped that by the Divine blessing all three will in future be carried on with much increased efficiency. The Rev. T. Kember now conducts the Theological Class and the Training Institution at Palamcotta, in which there are respectively 18 and 69 students; and the School is under a lay agent; while the Rev. Henry Schaffter has started another Anglo-Vernacular School and College in the heathen town of Tinnevelly as a directly evangelistic agency. He opened it there last February, and in September had 220 pupils.

Tinnevelly Educational Institutions.

Mr. Schaffter mentions two encouraging incidents which occurred lately at Palamcotta. A catechist employed in the Training Institution was the means of bringing to the knowledge and confession of Christ a Shanar priest, whose income mainly consisted of alms given in return for the sacred ashes distributed; and a whole family of the Retti caste were baptized, who had been brought under the influence of the Gospel by a Native Christian who is a postmaster in Government employ, and who has a medal and a pension for great bravery displayed by him in the Mutiny of 1857. This postmaster rebuked a boy of thirteen, who was playing in the street, for using improper language, telling him it was displeasing to God. The boy, much astonished, went to his house and asked him what other things displeased God. He invited the lad in to family prayers, and the acquaintance thus begun led to the boy's family all coming under this Christian postmaster's instruction, and so to their conversion.

Sarah Tucker Institution.

The Sarah Tucker Institution continues its important and successful work. The Rev. A. H. Lash, who for several years had charge, was compelled, by failure of health, to leave India in September, 1880. During the year closing on September 30th, 38 Candidates had been sent up for the Government Teachers' Certificate Examination, of whom 35 were successful. Of 25 students who left during the same period, 22 found employment, most of whom were employed in the Branch Schools. Others became teachers in Madura, Tanjore, and the Neilgherry Hills. Twelve new branch schools were opened, thus increasing by 300 the number of Hindu girls under instruction. The Bishop of Madras, who preached at the annual distribution of prizes, wrote subsequently a letter to Mr. Lash, in which he remarked:—

Bishop Gell on Female Education.

> The C.M.S. appears to me to have acted most wisely in establishing the training institution of which you are the head. When we contemplate the millions of women in India, and the magnitude of the demand upon female teaching-power, it seems as if nothing were more important in our generation than to multiply and intensify the Christian teaching-power as much as possible. On all sides the ancient prejudice against the education of girls is relaxed or relaxing. In many a town openings are already known to exist, or would be soon found if sought for, or might be created by some preliminary information and persuasion. Without depreciating the value of those Native Christians who, though not formally trained for the purpose, are yet imparting what they know to the daughters of India, it seems clear that a teacher who has learnt how to teach is a better instrument in teaching than if he or she had not learnt, and is consequently able to do more effectual work.

Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Lash.

On Mr. Lash's departure two farewell meetings were arranged by his Native friends and pupils. The first was held in the Usborne Memorial School, which, besides being employed for educational purposes, has served as a meeting place for friendly religious discussions. An address was presented to Mr. Lash by a graduate of the Madras University, which contained the following sentences:—

We owe it to you that we met here in social union and intercourse, officials and non-officials, Christians and Hindus, Natives and Europeans, to the number of about 100 on the average. Sometimes the hall was so overcrowded that people had to sit on the daïs, the number of the audience being over 190; the religious discussions you conducted were characterized by a liberal spirit and a calmness highly commendable, and no less rare.

On the following day a larger meeting, attended by about six hundred persons, was held in the quadrangle of the Sarah Tucker Institution, when a handsome piece of plate was presented, together with a sum of money, to be spent in providing portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Lash that might be hung on the walls of the Institution and Usborne School.

The Rev. V. W. and Mrs. Harcourt have succeeded to the Principalship, and have already issued a vigorous first half-yearly Report, full of interesting matter.

NORTH TINNEVELLY.

The Chairman of the Native Church Council for this district is the Rev. V. Vêdhanâyagam, which comprises the whole of North Tinnevelly, the scene formerly of the devoted evangelistic labours of Ragland, David Fenn, Meadows, and others. The following extracts are from his deeply interesting Annual Letter:*—

Mr. Vedhanâyagam's Annual Letter.

In Vageikulam district the numerical advance during the year has been from 1786 to 1900, and in the whole North Tinnevelly (Sivagâsi district) it has increased from 3980 to 4900; adult baptisms, 101; Communicants, 710. The following table will show you that the district has been making a steady progress from 1857, when it was handed over to a station missionary.

Conversions in North Tinnevelly.

Intelligent individuals from good families continue to join us. I had the privilege of baptizing some during the year; two of them being Vellalars amongst this generally proud bigoted caste. For a long time we had no conversions from this district. But God, with whom nothing is impossible, is now beginning to bring them one by one into His fold. I mentioned in my last Annual Letter that I had the privilege of baptizing two intelligent Vellalars.

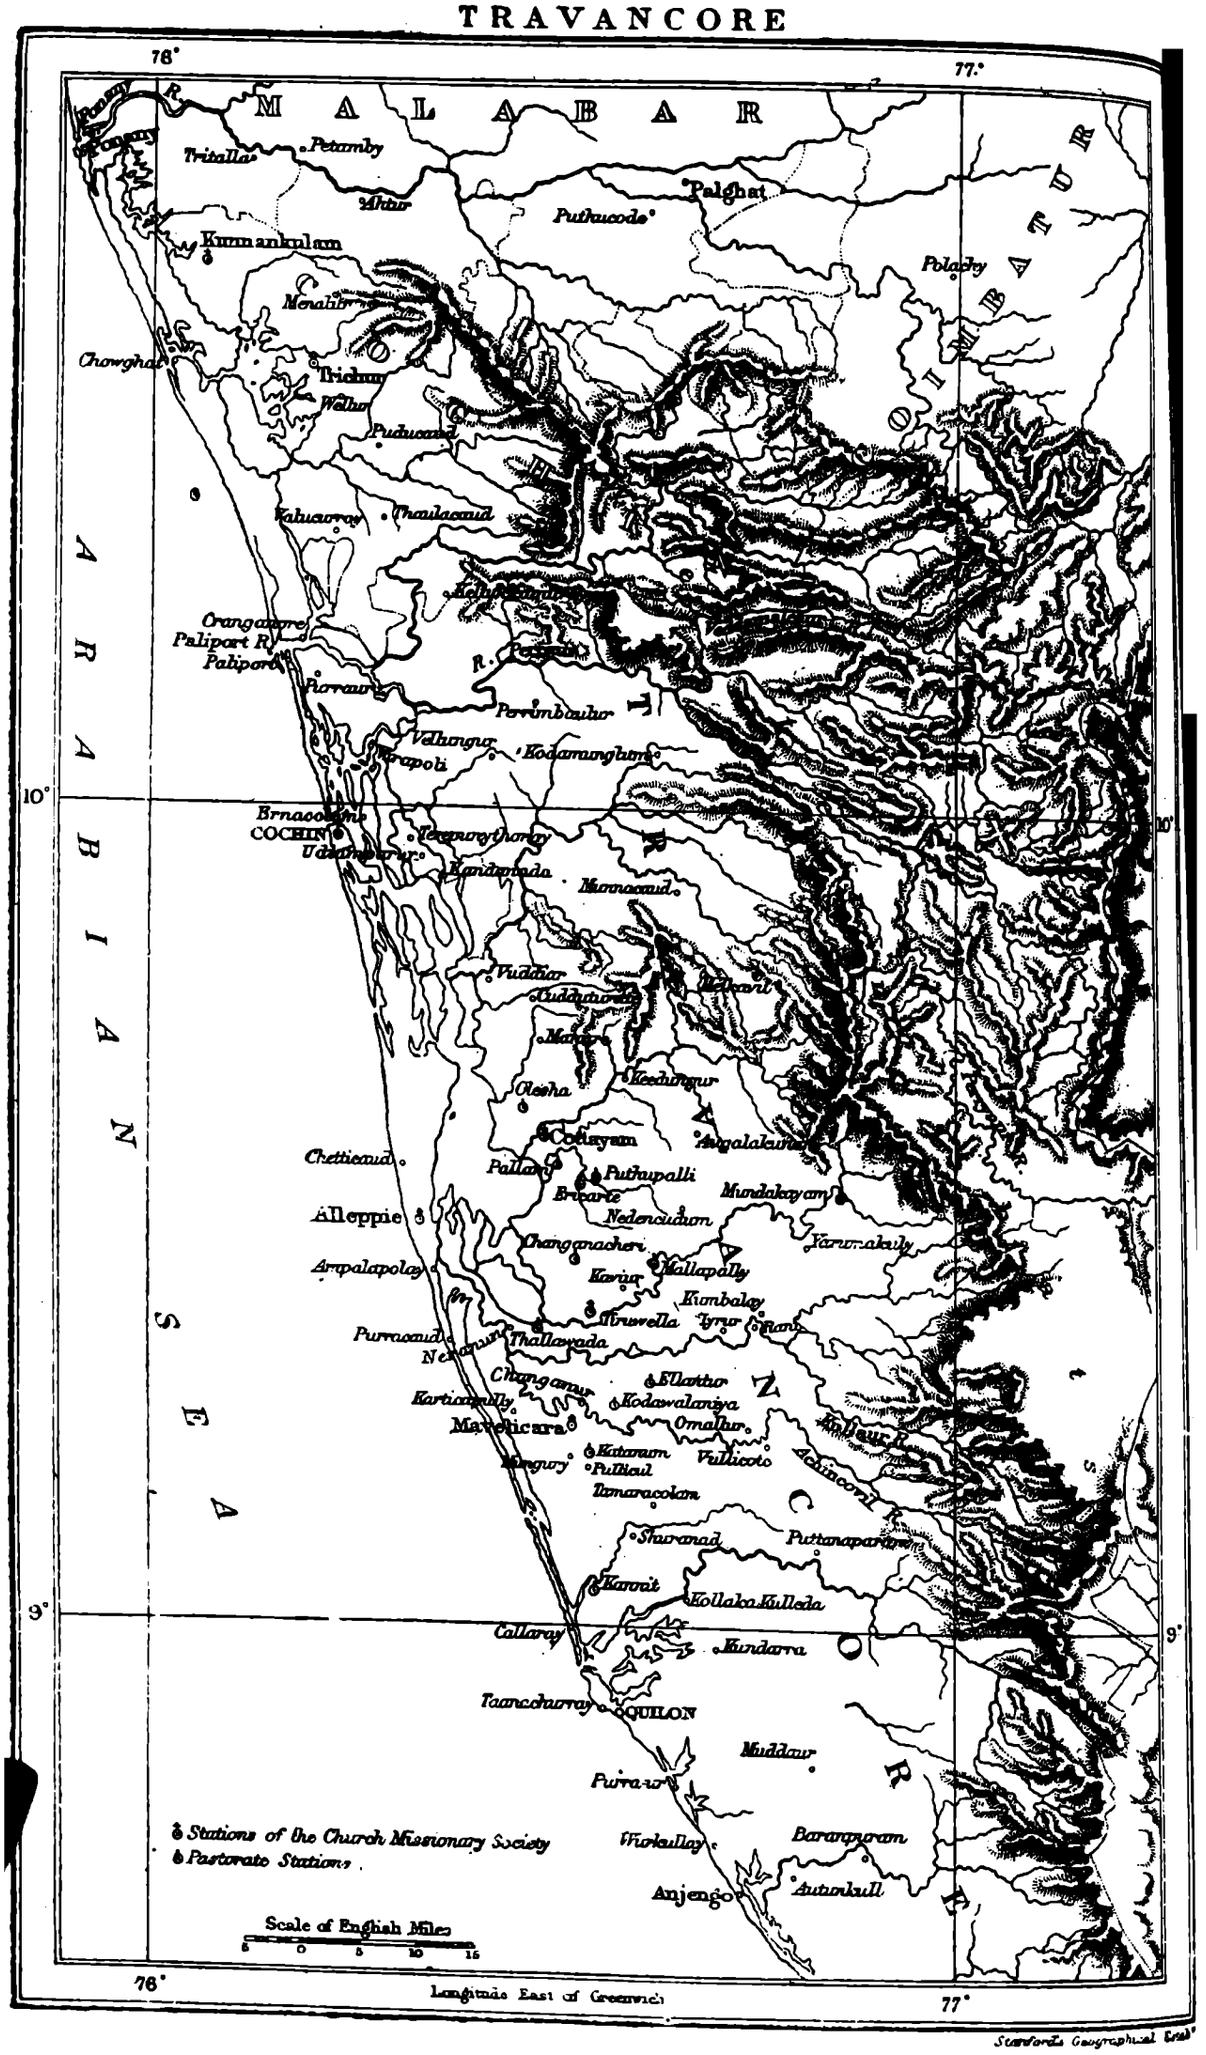

* The whole letter, with an account of the Mission by the Rev. A. H Arden, is printed in the C.M. Intelligencer of June, 1881.

Of the two baptized this year I have had one who came with his wife and four children. The other, who is about 25, was the first-fruits in Sunkeranainarcoil, one of the most important towns in Tinnevelly. He has been listening to our preachings for several years together, with no apparent result till about eighteen months ago, when he began to read the Bible for himself, with a real concern for the salvation of his soul. He soon openly declared his belief of the truth of the Bible, and his intention to become a Christian. Persecution followed. He had a young woman espoused to him, and the intended union was to have taken place several months since, but it was stopped by his heathen relatives. He was not, however, discouraged at this great disappointment, but went on his way, steadily looking to Jesus, proclaiming the Gospel, as usual, to the heathen around him, exposing the folly and sinfulness of their idol worship and other superstitious practices with his usual sarcastic way ; for he is a clever and witty man. He keeps a private school of 100 children. We are so thankful that one at least from this town has at last been reclaimed ; for this town, as well as Strivilliputtur and Kalugumalei, which are the most important towns in North Tinnevelly, stood for many years unmoved against the repeated and earnest pleadings of the itinerating missionaries. It is evident that a shaking of dry bones is now taking place in these towns.

Conversion of a village headman.

We have also been blessed with a conversion of a respectable and influential man, Naidu of Puliampatti, where good old Perinba Naik lives. He is a village official invested with a sort of authority over the whole village, receiving an endowment land as his pay for the post he holds. He had heard the Gospel preached to him for several years, and read the Bible carefully, though not with an intention of coming over to Christianity. Every time I saw him, and urged him to become a Christian, his reply was, "I am already a Christian, reading the Bible, and praying to God." He had so many hindrances standing in his way of becoming a Christian ; one of which being that he would lose the favour of the zemindar. But when I saw him in May, seven months since, and spoke to him seriously, he made up his mind to delay no longer. The zemindar, knowing he was a man of decision, knowing also that his change of religion would not affect his own interest, did not meddle with him. The man is looked up to with respect by the Hindus, as well as Christians, in that neighbourhood. He is a diligent reader of the Bible, from which he is able to quote suitable texts, even such passages from the Old Testament prophecies as are now being fulfilled. Moreover, his zeal for the service of God is praiseworthy. He, of his own accord, has undertaken to pay the expenses of the lighting of his church, and expressed his opinion, more than once, that the contemplated substantial church in his village should be so large as to contain all the people of the village.

TRAVANCORE

Stanford's Geographical Estab.

III. Travancore and Cochin.

(Commenced in 1816.)

The Mission is divided into six districts: 1, Cottayam, Pallam, and Mundakayam; 2, Mâvelikara and Tiruwella; 3, Alleppie; 4, Alwaye; 5, Trichur; 6, Kunnankulam.

Influence of the Travancore Bishopric.

Bishop Speechly has been actively engaged in the visitation of all parts of his new Missionary Diocese, and has administered the rite of Confirmation to many hundreds of Native candidates. Everywhere he has been most warmly received, not only by the C.M.S. congregations, but by those of the Syrian Church. For instance, at Kunnankulam in Cochin, "it was a wonderful sight to see all classes and parties pouring out of the town and swelling the procession on the Bishop's arrival. All the paraphernalia the Syrians use in the reception of their own Metrans was sent down." The presence in the country of an Anglican Bishop intimately acquainted with the people and their language, and faithfully preaching the pure Gospel, as well as the spectacle of 15,000 members of the Church he presides over, gathered as they have been out of many various races and castes, yet "with one mind striving together for the faith," can scarcely fail to influence for good the Syrian community, distracted as it is at the present time by no less than eight rival Metrans. Of these Metrans it may be sadly said, that most, if not all, "seek their own, not the things that are Jesus Christ's." A law-suit has been begun for the temporalities, which the reforming Metran declares will last for three generations of the office. A respectable family of Syrians lately joined the Anglican congregation at Cottayam. The father said that "now in his old age he wanted to be nourished in heavenly things, not to be cited, either as witness or defendant, in the interminable law-suits which distract every Syrian parish." Another Syrian, a rich man, has paid the whole cost of opening a new out-station in the Cottayam district, and has also given to various Mission agencies sums amounting to more than Rs. 300.

Distracted state of the Syrian Church.

Provincial Native Church Council.

On Feb. 2nd, 1880, the Bishop presided for the first time over the Provincial Council of the Native Church; and, for the second time, exactly a year after, on Feb. 2nd, 1881. On this latter occasion, the Revs. Koshi Koshi, Ambarta Thoma, P. Joseph Poten, Oomen Mâmen, and Kuruwella Kuruwella, took part in the opening Church service and devotional exercises. The Rev. Koshi Koshi, as Secretary of the Council, presented its Annual Report, which gave utterance to some feeling of discouragement on account of the Parent Committee's rule of reducing the Society's grant-in-aid by one-twentieth annually. The Committee do not at all lose sight of the poverty of a large proportion of the Travancore Protestant Christians; but they are sure that in the long run their Native brethren will thank them for having firmly resisted all pressure to continue subsidizing the Church to such an extent as to hinder the growth of its conscious independence, and that, too, at the expense of aggressive work among the heathen elsewhere. Meanwhile, the Committee rejoice to observe the vigorous efforts made to raise local funds, and if there is a difficulty in bringing these up to the point of adequate provision for all the Church's wants, this is only what the Society itself, great as are its resources, has continually to face. Papers on the financial affairs of the Church, which are described as able and exhaustive, were read at the Council Meeting by the Revs. K. Koshi, K. Kuruwella, Kunengheri Korâtha, and and G. Kuryan, and a Finance Committee was appointed. A Report was presented from the Native Church Missionary Association, which employs four Evangelistic agents. That the Travancore Christians are not behindhand as a Missionary Church is evidenced by their being able to claim grants from the W. C. Jones Fund, amounting in the present year to Rs. 1080; and the Rev. F. Bower, the Chairman of the Mâvelicara or Southern District Council, writes in encouraging terms of the work done by the Catechists thus maintained.

Native Church Finance.

In April of the present year, the Metropolitan of India, Bishop Johnson of Calcutta, visited the Travancore Mission. During Passion and Easter weeks he gave addresses daily in the chapel of Cottayam College.

Return home of Mr. Maddox.

The Society's Mission in Travancore has suffered a real loss by the return home of the Rev. R. H. Maddox, who has accepted the vicarage of Kirkheaton. He had retired prior to 1876, but went out again in that year under special circumstances for two years, instead of which he has stayed four, and has done most useful service at a time when the Mission staff was unusually weak in numbers. He was commissioned to start on a new footing the Itinerant Mission in the hitherto little-worked district stretching from Cottayam northward; but several other branches of work necessarily fell upon him, including the charge of three important stations, Trichur and Kunnankulum in Cochin, and Allepie, and the general superintendence of the Cottayam and Pallam Pastorate Districts. In the face of responsibilities so various, the reader of his Reports* must have been surprised to come upon this sentence: "Any spare time that I have been able to secure has been given to the work of Bible revision." The Archbishop of Canterbury has conferred upon Mr. Maddox the Lambeth B.D. Degree, in recognition of the value of his Missionary labours.

On the other hand, the Committee have been glad to send back to this Mission another labourer who in past years has done eminent service, the Rev. J. H. Bishop; and also to appoint to it the Rev. W. Clark, the Society's long-tried Ceylon missionary, to take charge of the Arrian Mission, and also labour among the coolies of the Pir Merde coffee estates. Mr. Bishop, on his return to Travancore, after three years' absence, writes:—

"Advance all along the line."

I notice many signs of progress and encouragement. There has been an advance all along the line. Native Church principles are being developed. The idea of ultimate self-support is everywhere recognized as being nyâyam or just. The Church is gaining slowly but surely a position of influence in the country. I was astonished to find the number of Native Christians holding important Sircar posts.

The new Maharajah of Travancore.

On the 17th of June, 1880, the new Maharajah of Travancore succeeded to the throne on the death of his father. He is a Fellow of Madras University, and has long been known for his enlightened views and appreciation of European culture, though not a Christian. Within two months of his accession he paid a visit to Cottayam, and inspected the Society's institutions there, including the College, the Cambridge Nicholson Institution, the Mission Press, and the Girls' School still carried on by the venerable Mrs. Baker, sen. Addresses were presented to his Highness by the masters and students of the College, and the English and Native clergy. In his replies, spoken in English, the Maharajah noticed the fact that "long before the State itself undertook the humanizing task of educating its subject population, the Christian Missionaries had raised the beacon of knowledge in the land," and concluded thus:—"Your labours have been increasing, year after year, the number of a loyal, law-abiding, and civilized population—the very foundation of good government."

COTTAYAM.

Since the commencement of 1880 the Cottayam College has been under the care of the Rev. C. A. Neve. The number of students is 215. "I find," says Mr. Neve, "the tone of the boys' characters good, and there are amongst them, I believe, many true Christians. They seem to take much interest in Bible study, and in the weekly prayer meetings. They also sustain the weekly preachings to the heathen in the bazaars with interest, and on Sundays many of them teach the Bible in heathen schools." The College continues to take a good place in the Peter Cator Examinations in Scriptural Knowledge, which are open to all South India. At the last examination a Cottayam boy won the second prize in the Higher Grade.

* See C.M. Intelligencer, July, 1880.

The Colleges, &c., at Cottayam.

The Rev. W. J. Richards has continued in charge of the Cambridge Nicholson Institution, which combines a Divinity Class and a Training Institution. There are six students in the former division, and fifteen in the latter. They take an active part in evangelistic work, particularly at great Hindu fairs. At one of these, in honour of the goddess Bhagavati, "we were," says Mr. Richards, "treated to stones and refuse."

A voluntary lay helper, "firm as a rock."

Mr. Richards has also ministered to the Cottayam congregation, the Native pastors having all separate charges elsewhere; but he hopes one of them may be spared for this central station. There are fourteen voluntary lay helpers, one of them "an old veteran, Koshi Ashan, a most energetic, upright, and loving Christian, and firm as a rock for the Mission or the Pastorate." Twelve adults were baptized at Christmas, and twelve more, with as many children, were to be received at Easter—these latter all gathered in by a Christian leper who lives isolated among the heathen.

The Girls' Boarding School, which has been carried on by Mrs. Baker, sen., for more than sixty years, still enjoys the advantage of her loving care and prolonged experience. There are about fifty inmates. One of the Native pastors, the Rev. A. T. Thoma, writes:—

Good wives from a Mission School.

The girls formerly taught in this school, unlike the generality of women in this country, have become real help-mates to their husbands, by being qualified to help them in keeping household accounts, paying the labourers in the paddy-fields, teaching the young children, and so forth, according to their circumstances and position in life.

TIRUWELLA AND MAVELIKARA.

The Rev. F. Bower is the missionary of these southern districts. No report of them has been received during the year.

ALLEPIE.

The Native congregations at Allepie and its out-stations number 639 persons. Of these 165 are Communicants. Nine adult converts received baptism during the year. The most satisfactory section of the Native Christian community is a large congregation of converted Pulayans (the original slave caste) at a place called Pûnapra. The Mohamail Christians, who are converts from the fisher caste, also bear a good name. The congregation at Allepie itself is less satisfactory. Exposed to the many temptations that are prevalent in a busy and crowded seaport, it needs earnest prayer and careful shepherding. The Rev. W. Clark is at present in charge.

MUNDAKAYAM, AND ARRIAN MISSION.

The Hill Arrians.

This deeply interesting Mission, so inseparably associated with the name of the late Henry Baker, has been in Native hands since his death. The Rev. W. Clark has now taken charge, and will, we trust be privileged to breathe fresh energy into the evangelistic work among the hill tribes. He will reside at Pir Merde in the Ghauts, where a mission is to be organized among the coolies on the coffee estates; but until a house is ready for him, he remains at Alleppie, and visits the hills at regular intervals.

In December last, Bishop Speechly travelled by bullock-cart and on horseback into these mountain districts, and confirmed 157 candidates.

TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

The Rev. J. H. Bishop, who has just rejoined the Mission, has taken charge of these districts in the kingdom of Cochin, residing at Trichur. He has been favourably impressed with the condition of the congregation at that important heathen town; less so with the aspect of affairs at Kunnankulam. "Trichur," he writes, "with its enormous pagoda and Sanscrit College, is a stronghold of Brahminism. I ask for your prayers that I may have faith, wisdom, and patience given me, in starting and maintaining educational and evangelistic efforts to reach something beyond what has been called the outer fringe of Hinduism."

For the first nine months of the year 1880 the Rev. A. F. Painter was in charge. He spent "many happy days" in evangelistic work in the district. His notice of a Native helper, an ex-Brahmin apparently obtained from the L.M.S. Mission in South Travancore, will be read with true thankfulness:—

A Christian Brahmin preaching the Atonement.

Through the kindness of our Bishop I was able to get, as itinerating reader, a Brahmin convert well-connected at Trevandrum. He proved himself most invaluable in preaching to the high castes. His strong point was in preaching the atonement. It was delightful to listen, as he set forth to his hearers the sinfulness of man, and the holiness and love of God—a love which manifested itself in sending His only begotten Son that He might offer Himself as the one perfect sacrifice—the true purusha-mêdha —to take away the sin of man, and reconcile him to God. It was often very refreshing to myself to listen. He knows no English, but is a diligent student of his Bible, and I trust also a true servant and disciple of the Lord Jesus. Would we had more such!

IV. Telugu Mission.

The Telugu Mission comprises Masulipatam, 1841; Ellore, 1854; Bêzwâra, 1858; the Koi Mission (Dummagudem), 1860; Raghapuram, 1872; Amalapuram, 1876.

Claims of the Telugu Mission.

THE Mission to the dense Telugu-speaking population of the extensive districts lying between the Kistna and Godâvari rivers is by very many years the youngest of the Society's South Indian Missions.* It differs in this respect from Tinnevelly and Travancore, and also in having to a much smaller extent reached the well-to-do middle classes and lower Hindu castes. Excepting the few Brahmin converts from the High Schools, the four thousand Christian adherents are almost all from the out-caste population, mostly from the Mâlas, the Pariahs of this part of India. Hence the difficulty which is found in training the Church to self-government and self-support, and in providing competent Native pastors and teachers. For the present, therefore, this Mission much needs an increase in the European staff. Yet in the past year no less than four out of the eight English missionaries who were in India at the date of the last Annual Report have since come home, viz. the Revs. W. Clayton, J. Cain, A. W. Poole, and W. G. Baker, in three cases under peremptory medical orders. On the other hand, one missionary at home, the Rev. J. Harrison, has returned to the field; and one of the Islington men of the year was allotted to this Mission. As regards the remotest of the stations, Dummagûdem, on the Upper Godâvari, the Society's lack of service has been nobly supplied by a devoted volunteer. General F. Haig, R.E., who was the founder of that Mission twenty years ago, generously offered to go out and take charge of it himself during Mr. Cain's absence. It has been, since Mr. Cain left, with its widely scattered out-stations, in the sole care of the excellent Native brother, General Haig's own convert, the Rev. T. V. Râzu, who is now advancing in years, and not in strong health. The Committee, it need scarcely be said, accepted this offer most gratefully; and the General sailed in March last.

In the meantime, the efforts of the missionaries still in the country to carry on their heavy burden of work have been seconded by the Native Church with a spirit and energy that could scarcely have been expected. It is interesting to see them "beckoning unto their partners which are in the other ship to come and help them:" that is, Tamil Christians from Tinnevelly have been fetched up to Masulipatam and Ellore, into what is to them virtually a foreign country—the language being different—to assist in the work. Two of these, who had taken the B.A. and F.A. degrees respectively at the Madras University, have become masters in the Noble High School, where their influence ought to be very helpful; another, a Tamil Brahmin, has taken charge of the Gudivâda sub-district; and a fourth, an inspector of schools in Tinnevelly, has been ordained by Bishop Sargent as a missionary to the Telugu country, and is now at Ellore, working under Mr. Alexander, and diligently learning the Telugu language.

Tamil Christian Agents in the Telugu Mission.

But besides this, Robert Noble's first Brahmin convert, the Rev. Manchala Ratnam, who has hitherto been engaged in a high-class educational post, has been transferred to Masulipatam for pastoral and evangelistic work, handing over his school to an unordained fellow-convert, a graduate of Madras University. Pastors, however, may now be looked for ere long from among the Mâla Christians themselves, as appears from the Rev. F. W. N. Alexander's account of the fifth annual meeting of the Provincial Church Council—in which also is noticed the evangelistic efforts of the Council, and the Tamil helpers already alluded to:—

The Native Church Council selecting Candidates for holy orders.

The meeting of the Telugu Provincial Council was for several reasons more than usually interesting this year. By the wish of the Madras Corresponding Committee and of the Bishop, the important duty of choosing candidates for holy orders was this year exercised. The mode of procedure was as follows:—First, they were to be chosen by the missionary in charge of the district; secondly, they were to be passed by a vote of the District Council to which they belonged; thirdly, they were to be examined by a sub-committee of the Provincial Council, consisting of one European and one Native clergyman, as to their intellectual, moral, and religious fitness; and finally, on their report the Provincial Council was to pass a formal vote for their admission or not as candidates for holy orders. This was all gone through. Two candidates were recommended from Ellore, and one from Raghapur. The Ellore and Raghapur District Councils sent their approbation of the men chosen. Mr. Baker and Ratnam Gâru were chosen as examiners, and by their report one of the men was rejected, while the other two, being approved, were recommended to the Provincial Council and were, nem. con., allowed to pass as candidates selected by the whole Telugu Church.

Evangelists under the Native Church.

The Committee will be glad to hear that decided progress is made with regard to the Evangelistic Agency supported by the Council. It was resolved to appoint another agent at Tiruvûr. This is a very important town, and has a Native tahsildar resident in it. A hospital has lately been established by the Local Fund Board, and along with other agencies of European civilization we wanted the Gospel to enter; but this place is more especially chosen because it stands on the northern border of the Raghapur district, as Chintalapûdi does to Ellore, and both are well up, on different lines of road, towards Dummagûdem, so that in two directions we are stretching out the hand to our distant outpost on the Upper Godavery, and planting an Evangelistic Agency on the borders of the Nizam's country. The fund is supported by sermons preached in all the districts of the Telugu Mission, supplemented by a grant from the Henry Venn Fund.

In February and March of this year, the Bishop of Madras visited the Telugu Mission, held an ordination at Ellore to admit the Rev. H. W. Eales and the Rev. S. Vores (the Tamil missionary above alluded to) to priests' orders, and confirmed 259 Native candidates, not including those at Bezwâda, the number of whom is not given. The Bishop's chaplain, the Rev. S. Morley, writes :—

A Bishop's Chaplain on the Mission.

In his recent tour, the Bishop visited the following stations of the C.M. Society, Ellore, Bezwada, Raghapur, and Masulipatam, besides some smaller places. At all these there were confirmations, and the usual routine of visits to schools, &c. I wish both the friends (and enemies, if such there be,) of Missions could visit these Mission stations, and see the missionaries and their wives in the midst of their work, with its anxieties, its hopes, its difficulties, and its encouragements. One marked feature of the present state of the Telugu Mission is the great desire on the part of the people outside the Mission stations to be taught. To see the eager faces of people, who came from a distance to ask for some one to be sent to teach them about God and the forgiveness of sins, would I think do more to draw forth subscriptions than any worded appeals. The cry of the workers is for help to send teachers to these hungering souls. The work is greatly undermanned. Agents could be sent, but the sad remark I heard again and again was, " Where is the money ? " I never felt, as I now feel, what a deep responsibility is laid upon the Church of Christ to do more in the way of self-denying help. If the Church prays the Lord of the harvest to send labourers, the Church must find the wherewithal to pay the labourers. Let the Church offer her Lord the means to send the labourers; and He will do His part, forHe has already given to the people the desire to be taught.

The New Secretary of the Bible Society.

Before proceeding to review the stations of the Telugu Mission more in detail, the Committee must, in passing, express their pleasure at the appointment to the Secretaryship of the British and Foreign Bible Society of the Rev. John Sharp, who was for twenty years connected with this Mission, first as Rugby Fox Master, and then as Principal, of the Noble High School.

MASULIPATAM.

In the Noble High School, of which the Rev. E. Noel Hodges continues Principal, and in a Branch School connected with it, there are 300 students. Six Christian masters are now employed, including the two Tamils above mentioned; which is of course in addition to the non-Christian teachers necessarily engaged in so large an establishment for certain branches of instruction. This year there is no conversion to report; but, writes Mr. Hodges, "God has given us manifest tokens for good, and cause for good hope that some who are convinced may be converted, and have grace given them to take the final step which shall separate them unto Christ." In the following touching terms he pleads for more prayer at home:—

Special Prayer asked for the Noble High School.

> How true it is that "a prosperous Mission can only be sustained in an atmosphere of prayer and faith and love." (Memoir of Rev. H. Venn.) It is our earnest desire and endeavour to act up to this principle; and every day sees all the Christian masters kneeling together in my private room at school, during the recess, in the heat of the day and of the day's work, to be refreshed from the presence of the Lord, and to entreat Him for the conversion of our dear pupils. And while we are waiting, and tempted at times to say, "Hath God forgotten to be gracious?" it may be that He too, is waiting to bless us—waiting for you to intercede for us.

Noble's old Students.

The loss of Mr. Poole, whose auxiliary work in holding private intercourse with the students, conducting Bible-classes, and giving public lectures, was so valuable, is severely felt. Mr. Hodges has, to the utmost of his strength, striven to fill the gap. He finds former students of Noble's "freely and with much feeling admitting," in times of trial and sickness, "that there is no religion to be compared with that of Christ, for the hope and joy and peace it brings men;" but high position and the wealth of this world make them, alas! always "turn away sorrowful."

The Vernacular Training Institution for schoolmasters is under the charge of the Rev. J. E. Padfield. Forty young men have been under training during the year. Of the purely vernacular students, who, says Mr. Padfield, "form the backbone of the village mission agency," twenty-three entered for the 5th Grade Government Schoolmaster's Certificates, of whom twenty-one passed, twenty of them in the first class. For the 4th Grade Certificate Examination five students entered, of whom three passed in the first class and two in the second. "Now," continues Mr. Padfield, "comes the difficulty. Here is a body of well-trained Christian men ready for work, and here is work ready for them; and now we are told by the Madras Committee that owing to reduced grants from home we must reduce rather than advance. In a young Mission like this, with new openings all around, this is simply disastrous." The Committee earnestly trust that appeals like these may touch the hearts of many readers of this Report.

Men ready, work ready, money wanting.

The Girls' Boarding School (formerly Mrs. Sharkey's school) is under the charge of Mrs. Padfield. The numbers have increased, there being 59 boarders and 13 day scholars. Sixteen of them were baptized in March, 1880, some as adults and some as infants, but all after careful instruction. "In each case," writes Mr. Padfield, "it was no unmeaning ceremony, but a solemn step and a happy service."

The important Caste Girls' Schools carried on by Mrs. Clayton while she was in India, have been undertaken by Mrs. Hodges, who finds them "an object of ever-increasing interest, and a labour of love." "Education," says Mr. Hodges, is now "as good as a large dowry to a Hindu girl, and is becoming of higher value every year." Therefore he would seize the opportunity now presented as it has never been before, to elevate the women of India, "for they are the dead weight that hangs about the neck of missionary hopes, and the female influence at home is keeping back many an anxious inquirer from entering the kingdom of God."

Value of Female education.

The Book-shop, which was set on foot by Mr. Poole, has proved a decided success. It is almost self-supporting, and its missionary character is witnessed by the large proportion of religious books sold. The number of books and tracts of all sizes sold last year was 3803, of which 1530 were religious.

The Rev. Manchala Ratnam, one of "Noble's converts," after six years' useful service at the Bezwâda High School, is (as already mentioned) now once again at Masulipatam, having charge of a small but not uninfluential congregation, and uniting pastoral with evangelistic duties. He thus describes his past and present work, and a short term of service in the Noble School which came in between the two :—

The Rev. M. Ratnam on his past and future work.

Towards the end of January, 1880, I made over the charge of the Bezwâda High School to one of my brother converts, Mr. Mallâdi Venkatâratnam, a graduate of the Madras University, and came to Masulipatam to act for Mr. Poole, who has returned to England invalided. Since then, in September last, I was appointed (1) to the charge of the Telugu congregation at Masulipatam, (2) to visit the upper classes in this town, and (3) to itinerate in the neighbourhood of Masulipatam.

With regard to the Bezwâda school, with which I was connected for more than five years, I am thankful to state, through God's goodness, that the result produced at the beginning of last year in connexion with the University examinations was unparalleled in the bygone years. Out of five candidates sent up for Matriculation Examination, three were successful ; and out of seven sent up for the Middle School Examination, six became successful. Such a result as this was never known in the history of that school. With regard to the spiritual character of the teaching also, it was very gratifying to notice how the leaven was at work. Although no conversions as yet have taken place, two or three dear lads that left the school, and are now holding Government appointments, are seriously thinking about the welfare of their souls. One of them now stationed at Guntûr, a Brahmin, will, I presume from the letters he constantly writes, embrace the blessed religion of Christianity ere long. May our God give him grace to take this important step ! The other two seem to vacillate. It is through God's grace alone they can break through the iron bands of caste and prejudice.

As to Mr. Poole's work, which I had to perform for a short period of about six months, I was so pleased to work again in the Noble High School to which I owe my spiritual birth. Both the teachers and the boys were very much attached to me, and I had many opportunities of setting the Gospel truths before them.

My present work is of a very peculiar nature. Most important as it is, yet it is very difficult to speak of the result. To God alone, who directs the hearts of men and works upon their feelings by the sweet influences of the Holy Spirit, it is known. He alone can break the stony heart and subdue it. My business is to scatter the seed far and wide as judiciously as I can. The Lord only can make it spring up by the outpouring of His Blessed Spirit in due season. The increase is the Lord's. I have at present to deal with the upper classes—the Brahmin Pandits, &c. They are most prejudiced, and yet show me the greatest deference, and generally listen to the Gospel truths with marked attention. They seem to feel the force of the truth. To embrace it, however, will I fear take a long time. Nothing is impossible with God. I have now under my charge about 190 souls. Of these 137 are Christians and the rest heathen. To minister to these people one requires a great deal of wisdom and prudence. May the Lord help me to carry on this work to His satisfaction!

BEZWÂDA.

The Rev. W. G. Baker was in charge of this station during the year, but has since returned home invalided, much to the regret of his brethren and of the Committee. The Rev. John Harrison is now again in residence at his old post.

ELLORE.

The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander writes :—

Progress at Ellore.

It is my happy privilege to report a decided increase this year in the total number of adherents and Christians. There are 849 persons under instruction in the Ellore district, and of these 664 are baptized Christians. This is a gain of 80 on the latter, and of 72 on the former. The communicants have advanced from 115 to 128, and this latter number will be largely increased after the Bishop's expected visit in February next, when the newly-confirmed persons will be admitted to the table of the Lord. For the last three years I have had to return an annual decrease under the head of "Total Adherents;" now that the pressure of famine is removed, and a good crop is promised this year, the downward tendency is checked, and the statistics show a gratifying increase under every head, and I have no doubt we will now, with God's blessing, go on from year to year showing an increased number of the Mâlas gathered into the fold of God.

The Anglo-Vernacular School is in charge of Mr. Martin Browne, who has been transferred from the Travancore Mission. It contains 213 boys, of whom five are Christians, 119 Hindus, and 89 Mohammedans. In the religious teaching of the school, Mr. Browne is assisted by the Rev. G. Krishnayya (who gives to this work, however, only a certain part of the day, being employed during the remainder in evangelistic work among the adults), and by V. Venkayya Gâru.

RAGHAPURAM.

Good work at an isolated station.

At this remote and isolated station, on the borders of the Nizam's territory, the Rev. J. Stone has, with his devoted wife (a daughter of the Society's tried friend, Archdeacon Hone, who has recently been called to his rest), been labouring for two or three years most faithfully and earnestly, amid no little discouragement from sickness and other causes. The number of adherents has increased from 703 to 800; of baptized Christians, from 606 to 646. Mr. Stone reports that there is "a great move among the Madigas [an outcaste race below even the Mâlas] towards Christianity," and that large numbers would come over if only there were teachers in sufficient numbers. This remark should be compared with that by Mr. Padfield about the trained men he has ready for work, but who cannot be engaged for want of funds. Two superior agents, however, of high caste origin, have been supplied to this district lately from Madras. "Nothing," says Mr. Stone, "has for a long time so encouraged me."

AMALÂPURAM.

A station occupied by Native Evangelists.

This station, in the delta of the Godavari, was recommended for occupation fifteen years ago by Capt. C. Taylor, who gave Rs. 3000 towards the expense. It is now occupied by two Native agents, both of them converts from heathenism, Mr. A. Subbarâyadu, who has been there since 1875, and Mr. R. Srinivâsam, B.A., of the Madras University. The former preaches to the heathen and teaches for three hours a day in the Anglo-Vernacular School, of which the latter is head-master. The Gospel is made known to the heathen by public preaching, by domiciliary visits, and by receiving visitors at the Mission-house. It is too early, humanly speaking, to expect large accessions, but quiet and attentive audiences are almost always met with; while bigoted Brahmins and others who once shunned Mr. Subbarâyadu as an apostate, now frequently come to his house to converse with him on religious subjects. The school contains 100 pupils, and a branch school, a feeder to it, is attended by forty boys.

DUMMAGUDEM.

This station, on the Upper Godavari, is the headquarters of the Mission to the aboriginal Koi tribe. The circumstances under which it has been left in the charge of the Rev. I. V. Razu, and the offer of General Haig to go out thither until the Rev. J. Cain shall be able to return, have been already noticed.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced 1817.)

I. Colombo and Cotta. II. Baddegama. III. Kandy. IV. Jaffna.

The Bishop of Colombo and the C.M.S.

In their last Report, the Committee stated that the negotiations with the Bishop of Colombo which followed on the Advice of the Five Prelates upon the questions at issue between the Bishop and the Society had resulted in arrangements being come to under which his Lordship was prepared to license and ordain members of the Society and to supply episcopal oversight to the Mission. It may now be thankfully reported that although one or two minor difficulties arose on the spot, those arrangements have proved to be workable in practice, and there is every reason to hope that so long as they govern the Society's position in the island, its operations will, with the Lord's blessing, go on without let or hindrance.* Mr. Ireland Jones, upon whom (with Mr. Oakley) so much devolved in the four years' controversy, and who was brought home last year for the final negotiations, is now engaged in the far more congenial work of preaching the Gospel over a district comprising some 700 square miles, having taken up his headquarters at Kurunêgala, the place where he began his evangelistic labours twenty-three years before, the Bishop having withdrawn his objections to his residence there.

New questions, however, have since come to the front. Changes are taking place in the relations of the State to the ecclesiastical establishment in the island, which will probably result in Church appointments being no longer made by Government, and in State grants for the stipends of the Bishops, chaplains, &c., being withdrawn. In view of the possible effect of these changes upon the Society's missionary operations, the Committee have the subject under careful consideration.

Increased Missionary staff in Ceylon.

The reports of the Society's missionaries for the past year tell of the continuance of that steady evangelistic, educational, and pastoral work which has been for many years so characteristic of the Ceylon Mission. The Committee have been thankful to be enabled to send out an appreciable reinforcement, three European clergymen having been added to the staff—though for the time they are but filling the places of others at home on furlough. The Native clergy have also increased by five. There are now seven C.M.S. missionaries to the Tamil population and four to the Singhalese, besides the minister of the English-speaking congregation at Colombo, the Principal of the Kandy College, and the venerable Secretary of the Mission, Mr. Oakley. There are eight Singhalese and seven Tamil Native clergymen. Four of these were ordained deacons by the Bishop on Feb. 2nd last.

* See C.M. Intelligencer, June and December, 1880.

Theosophists in Ceylon: Buddhist opposition to Christianity.

The opposition of the Buddhists has been more active than in former years, their zeal having been provoked by the visit to Ceylon of two persons from America calling themselves Theosophists, who publicly avowed their belief in Buddhism, practised its ceremonies, fraternized with its priests, and accepted the worship of its devotees. Thousands flocked to see a white man, and particularly a white woman, who had become Buddhists; the Bible was vehemently abused, and even publicly kicked in the town of Kandy; a Native comic paper held Mr. Dowbiggin and two catechists up to ridicule as devil-priests; but not a single Christian was moved from his faith, and in not a few cases the opposition tended rather to the furtherance of the Gospel.

The following succinct general Report on the Mission for the year ending 1880, has been published in the island, signed by the Revs. J. Ireland Jones, W. E. Rowlands, and S. Coles:—

Summary of the year's work in Ceylon.

The past year, while presenting in the work of the Mission no very remarkable features, affords many proofs of substantial progress. At the various stations, 110 adults have been admitted to the Church by baptism, and of the zeal and earnestness of some of these the reports contain very gratifying particulars.

It is rather remarkable that although there has been this numerical addition to our congregations, the statistics show that the total number of adult Christians in connexion with our stations is considerably less than it was last year. The depressed state of trade in the island may to some extent account for this in the case of Tamils—many of whom have returned to India; but it is difficult to see how the fact can be explained as regards the Singhalese. On the other hand the amount of Native contributions exceeds by some Rs. 2500 the amount received last year, and this is the more remarkable in view of the financial difficulties which have more or less affected almost all classes in the island. Native subscriptions for religious purposes have reached the large sum of Rs. 15,177, and this, in view of the development of the Native Church, is a matter of considerable importance. It has resulted to some extent from the warm interest shown in the erection of a new church at Kurunêgala, by many friends in that town and elsewhere. The amount contributed by Europeans was Rs. 21,051·97. The ordinary income of the Tamil Cooly Mission for 1880 was larger than that received in any previous year, excepting 1876 and 1877, when special circumstances led to unusually large contributions. The failure of Mr. Cavalier's health and his consequent return to Europe, have thrown on Mr. Rowlands, since May last, the charge of the whole of this extensive Mission, but the Sub-Committee are thankful to learn that there is prospect of his being relieved to some extent of this heavy responsibility by the arrival from Europe of the Rev. F. Glanvill.

The Kandyan Itineration is now divided into two parts, the western portion being under the charge of Mr. Jones, and the remainder under Mr. Coles. In both divisions there has been considerable encouragement, and the Gospel has been preached to large numbers of attentive hearers. The completion of Emmanuel Church at Kurunêgala, above alluded to, has afforded great satisfaction to the Native Christians there, and will greatly tend to consolidate our work at that place. Several interesting cases of adult conversions are reported in connexion with the Itinerancy. The Native Christians in connexion with the Kandy pastorate have more than maintained their character for liberality —and, more important still, greatly assist their minister by taking part in efforts for the spiritual welfare of those around.

Trinity College has greatly improved in both numbers and standard of education under the able suderintendence of Mr. Dunn. The Committee regret that Mr. Dunn is compelled to abandon for a time a position he has so usefully occupied, and hope he may soon be enabled to return to it. The Rev. J. G. Garrett, who has just arrived to take up the duties of Principal of the College, will, we doubt not, more than maintain the high character the college has hitherto borne.

In Colombo the services in Christ Church, Galle Face, have been regularly conducted in the three languages and well attended. An important advance has been made in regard to the work of the Tamil Church by the appointment of an ordained Native pastor from India. The street-preaching has been continued, and it is noticed that the audiences are quiet, and more attentive than formerly. The Rev. J. I. Pickford has been licensed to the districts of Maradana and Hultsdorf, so dividing the Tamil work with Mr. Wood, and a neat and commodious church is being erected in Maradana by local subscriptions, which it is intended, on completion, to transfer to the Society, for Divine Service, in the English, Tamil, and Singhalese languages. The Singhalese work in Colombo is connected with the Cotta Pastorate, and has been encouraging, although tried, in common with other stations, by opposition excited through the recent visit of the Theosophite leaders.

Cotta, as formerly, is marked by its extensive and successful educational operations. Its Female Boarding School especially affords ground for encouragement, and has been most useful in providing teachers for girls' schools in several parts of the island.

The Christians connected with the Native Church have increased their contributions for the support of the Native Pastor, while the evangelistic operations in the Liyanwela district have borne fruit during the year, amidst much opposition from Buddhists under Theosophite influence.

Baddegama has been greatly tried by the death of many connected with the district. It has among others lost Mr. Sirimanna, its leading controversialist. Its schools, which have increased in numbers and attendance, have led many to inquire into the truth of Christianity. The district has been visited by the Bishop of the Diocese, who spent ten days in itinerating through it. He confirmed forty-eight persons, and with Mr. Allcock preached to large numbers of Buddhists. The report contains interesting accounts of the conversion of several adults. This district has lost a warm friend and supporter by the death of Mr. Bowman.

We are happy to state that the Jaffna Mission has been strengthened by the arrival of the Rev. G. T. Fleming to take charge of the Chundicully Seminary, and assist Mr. Simmons, who since Mr. Blackmore's death has been greatly overburdened.

The entire Ceylon Mission now has connected with it 6030 adherents, of whom about 4000 are adults, and 1500 are communicants, and nearly 11,000 children are being educated in its schools. For these results, we desire to ascribe all praise to the God of Missions, and we look to Him with confidence for continued and increased blessing.

I. Colombo and Cotta.

COLOMBO.

Varied work in Colombo, English, Tamil, and Singhalese.

THERE is an English church and congregation attached to the Society in Colombo, which, while it has been helpful to the Mission in several ways, may be regarded as self-supporting, inasmuch as its contributions towards the Society's work exceed its expenses. The Rev. Henry Newton, M.A., is the minister. The congregation numbers about 145 persons, of whom one-third are communicants. A prosperous Sunday School of about fifty children (English-speaking), scarcely finds employment for all that volunteer to teach.

The Society's Tamil Mission of Colombo embraces a considerable portion of Colombo itself, as well as the Tamil population of Galle, in the south, and Negombo, ten miles north of Colombo. Two missionaries are engaged in it—the Rev. D. Wood and the Rev. I. J. Pickford. The latter received a licence from the Bishop at the close of 1880. The Tamil Christians connected with the Colombo Mission number 895, the communicants being 265. Thirteen adult converts have confessed Christ by baptism. The principal congregation at Galle Face Church has now its own Native Pastor—the Rev. John Gabb, lately labouring under Bishop Royston in Mauritius. Mr. Gabb has entered on his work with humility and zeal.

The Singhalese congregation at Galle Face Church, under the charge of Mr. Dowbiggin, of Cotta, assisted by a pastoral Catechist, is larger and more regular than at any former time. Consisting largely of domestic servants, its numbers naturally fluctuate; but there is no doubt that the Catechist has laboured zealously, and gained the esteem of the congregation. They, on their part, have built for him a suitable house as a pastoral residence.

The foundation-stone of a new church (in the district of Marandaku), to be called St. Luke's, was laid October 28th by the Rev. J. I. Jones. The cost of the building has been borne principally by the European and Burgher residents of Colombo. When completed, Tamil and Singhalese services, as well as English, are to be held in it.

COTTA.

The Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin, who is now in his fourteenth year of uninterrupted missionary work in Ceylon, continues in charge of this station. He is chairman of the Native Church Council, connected with which are two Native clergymen, Rev. H. De Silva and Rev. H. Kannangar.

Pastoral, Evangelistic and educational work at Cotta.

The Cotta district is one of the oldest of the Society's fields of labour in Ceylon, having been entered upon in the year 1822. Numerically, the progress has latterly been slow, and its outward manifestation is obscured by the steady migration that goes on from Cotta and the neighbouring villages to towns and roadside villages in the Kandian country. Including some small Singhalese congregations attached to the Society in Colombo, the adherents amount to 1139, and the communicants to 233. Fifteen adults were baptized during the year, and the contributions for religious purposes amount to Rs. 1488. In the contributions, as also in the number of Communicants, there is an advance upon last year. Mr. Dowbiggin believes that he sees among the people "signs of a deeper feeling that we must more than ever be frequent in supplication at the throne of grace." It must also be borne in mind that all pastoral expenses, including the salaries of the pastors, are borne by a Native Church Fund, to which the Society's grant-in-aid is gradually diminishing. To meet this increasing burden, pastoral aid meetings are held every year for the purpose of stimulating contributions, and voluntary personal service is rendered by the more intelligent Native Christians.

The Cotta Native C.M. Association continues its labours in Liyanwela, where two converts have been baptized, and there are five candidates; and in Angampitiya, where the contest is very severe.

The children attending the Mission Schools have increased during the year from 2577 to 2751, in spite of very active Buddhist opposition. The Cotta Girls' Boarding School, under Mrs. Dowbiggin's care, is full to overflowing; and the English Boys' School, under a Native head-master, containing 104 boys, of whom 18 are boarders, yields yearly its candidates for baptism.*

II. Baddegama.

Baddêgama, commenced 1819; Bentote, 1861.

BADDÊGAMA.

THE missionary of this district is the Rev. J. Allcock, who is also chairman of the Native Church Council. There are two Native Pastors, the Rev. Garagoda Arachchigé Bastian Perera, and the Rev. Abraham Suriârachchi Amarasêkara, both ordained on Feb. 2nd, 1881. The Native adherents number 541, of whom 162 are communicants; the corresponding numbers for 1879 were 523 and 151. Thirteen adult converts were baptized during the year. There are eighty-four inquirers on the list, the largest number that Mr. Allcock remembers in the district.

The following extracts from Mr. Allcock's Annual Letter will be read with interest and thankfulness:—

Bishop Copleston at Baddêgama.

The Bishop of the diocese has laboured for ten days in the district, and confirmed forty-eight persons. Out of these, about twenty-five have become communicants this year. The Bishop travelled many miles, visited a large number of schools, and preached to many heathen. His zeal, activity, self-devotion, and manner of preaching the Gospel to the heathen, are praiseworthy. His visit has certainly stirred up the agents and Christians to some activity.

I believe the schools are doing a great work in winning souls to Christ. In the three schools on Baddêgama Hill there are more than twenty inquirers. An encouraging case for teachers occurred this year at Lilwala, a jungle village six miles north-east of Baddêgama. A boy attended our school for four years, and passed the fourth standard. Then a Buddhist priest, commonly called Kahawe Hawuduruwo, enticed him to the temple and bewitched him by descriptions of the blessedness of being a Buddhist priest. Says he, "The people will praise and worship you. Adorned with the sacred yellow robes, you will receive divine honour. You will fare sumptuously every day; you will live in the temple and have an easy life; you will have none of the miseries of laymen and householders; no wife to feed, and no children to bring up," &c. The boy was ensnared by these fair speeches, and his parents were glad; not only because they were Buddhists, but also because their boy was provided with rice and curry, and they also got about twelve bags of paddy a year from the temple. He remained in the temple about three years; but the word of God and the Holy Spirit were still contending with his conscience. The flesh, the world, and the devil, were towing one way, the Word of God and the Holy Spirit another; and this year it resulted in a spiritual triumph. Satan and his host became enraged. One man threatened to stab him, if he did not say that Buddha and the priests were the most high refuge and strength of sinners. Others tried flattery and bribes, and for a time we were full of apprehension lest he should be moved by these trials and temptations. He has now cast off the yellow robes of the false one, and we trust that he has put on the pure and holy robes of Christ's righteousness, the girdle of love, the shoes of peace, the shield of faith, and the helmet of salvation. He has been baptized and confirmed, and is now a communicant. His mother and father were both present at his baptism, and are inclined to follow him.

* An interesting account of a recent visit of the Bishops of Calcutta and Colombo to Cotta appears in the C.M. Gleaner, of June, 1881.

Converts from the Mission Schools.

KURUNÊGALA.

The KANDYAN ITINERANCY has been divided into two sections, the western section, which consists of the Kurunêgala and Kaegala districts, being under the care of the Rev. J. Ireland Jones, and the remainder, the eastern, which stretches northward to Anurâdhapura and southward to Nâwalapitiya, under the care of the Rev. S. Coles.

Mr. Jones's district includes a part of the town of Kurunêgala, a large portion of the district of Seven Kôrales, and the entire district of Four Kôrales, the whole being about fifty miles in length and twelve or fifteen in breadth. The Native adherents number 499, of whom 80 are communicants. In Kurunêgala, a new church has been built, at the expense of the Native Christians, a very pretty building, capable of seating about 150 persons, which was opened for Divine service at the close of 1880. At Kaegalla there is now a Native pastor, the Rev. Johannes Perera Kalpagê, one of those ordained on Feb. 2nd. Mr. Jones thus describes his work:—

Mr. Ireland Jones's itinerant work.

My chief endeavour has been to visit each place in my district, where we have either a Christian congregation or a fixed centre for work. I remain a week or ten days at a time, so as to be able to examine the people as to their knowledge of Scripture, and instruct them in the subjects where deficiency was most apparent. Our Christians in these villages are very far from perfect. They have, in some instances, great weaknesses, and very serious defects; but there is a real work among them; they present a very striking contrast to the heathen around, and with many there is a wonderfully clear grasp of Gospel truth, and a life, as far as man can judge, consistent with it. In their further establishment and advancement one serious want exists, and it is one not easily remedied, namely, that of female education. Female education has, in this part of Ceylon, little or no value in the eyes of the villagers. The encouragement in the case of boys' schools is not much greater. It is difficult in these wild parts to get boys to school; it is still more difficult to keep them there. Almost for the first time in my experience, boys here have refused to join their class-fellows in receiving religious instruction. The parents in some cases object. One of our boys took home a Catechism on the Way of Salvation, but his father burned it.

Obstacles to education of both girls and boys.

With itineration in the villages where there are Christians I have combined, as far as possible, direct evangelistic efforts. In Kurunêgala itself, almost every day I have been in the town, I have preached to large numbers; and at the village councils—courts presided over by Native magistrates, which attract large numbers—at Narammala, Polgahawela, and Rambukkan, I have had excellent opportunities for setting forth the Gospel of Christ. At the first of these places a deep interest seemed to be excited—from morning till evening the people almost pressed upon us to hear the Word of God, and by evening my voice was quite gone. I was literally unable to speak.

Conversion of a wealthy Buddhist: "A Saviour for you."

One pleasing case of conversion here may be recorded, that of a very intelligent Native, a man of wealth, and some position. He came to Kurunêgala from Colombo many years since, and has settled here. His conversations with two friends—one a Mudliar, the other a Baptist overseer of plumbago works—led him to anxiety about his soul. His two friends advised him to come to me, and after a time he did so. After conversation with him—contrasting Christianity and Buddhism, and showing him how fully Christ met the sinner's need—I gave him some little English tracts by S. Haughton, one of them called "A Saviour for You." They were used of God as instruments for his enlightenment. He said he believed they were written expressly for him, and that now the burden of sin and anxiety was gone. He said, "It is the very simplicity of the way of salvation, which is its greatest difficulty: it now seems so easy." At another time he remarked, alluding to the custom of rubbing a black pigment on the ola leaf, to render legible the letters scratched on them with the stylus, "I used to know something of these things, but it was only like the ola book before the black was rubbed in!" He is now a rejoicing Christian—regular in his attendance at God's house, and a liberal subscriber to our funds, and very anxious for the conversion of his wife. I heartily thank God for one such case; but what of the almost countless rejectors?

III. Kandy.

Kandy, commenced 1818; Itinerating Mission, 1852; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855; Kurunêgala and Kaegăla, 1880.

THE Native Christian congregations in the town and suburbs of Kandy are under the pastoral care of the Rev. H. Gunasêkara and the Rev. B. P. Wîrasingha, and are connected with a Church Council, of which Mr. Gunasêkara is the chairman. The number of adherents is nearly 400. Their contributions for religious purposes amounted in the year to no less a sum than Rs. 3971.

Singhalese Itinerancy.

The western section of this Itinerant Mission has already been noticed under the head of KURUNÊGALA.

In the eastern division, which remains under the charge of the Rev. S. Coles, the registered adherents number 367, of whom 35 are communicants. Nineteen adult converts were baptized during the year:—

Preaching by the life.

One of these, when asked what led him first to think about salvation, replied that when he was living in an out-station in Ceylon he was much impressed by witnessing the good conduct of a Native Christian in Government employ, whose life was a continual protest against the surrounding ungodliness, and this made him feel that there was a power in Christianity which other religions did not possess.

Tamil Cooly Mission.

At the beginning of the year, this extensive and laborious charge was divided between the Rev. W. E. Rowlands and the Rev. A. R. Cavalier. In May, however, Mr. Cavalier's health broke down, and he was obliged to return to England. The Committee have sent out the Rev. F. Glanvill to take his place; but meanwhile Mr. Rowlands has been left alone. "It has been no uncommon thing with me," he wrote on Dec. 15, "not to be at home more than two or three days in a month, and sometimes not more than one. Together with this, I have had an immense amount of correspondence, so that at times the pressure and strain has seemed almost more than I could bear; but through God's great goodness I have been upheld, and am now as well as I ever was in my life." Mr. Rowlands has been encouraged by the revival of the local funds of the Mission. The pecuniary difficulties of the planters, owing to the failure of the coffee crops, and the fear of some of them lest the Society should be too yielding to the Bishop, had caused a heavy diminution in their subscriptions in the two previous years; and the Society had to make extra grants to the Mission in consequence. Last year, it now appears, only 300*l.* of the 850*l.* provisionally voted by the Society had to be used.

There are now 1217 adherents among the coolies, of whom 349 are communicants. The baptisms last year were, 28 adults and 75 children. There are two Native Assistant Missionaries, the Rev. Pâkkyanâthan Peter, and the Rev. Aralanâthen Gnânamuttu, the latter ordained on Feb. 2nd, last.

IV. Jaffna District.

Nellore, commenced 1818; Chundikuli, 1842; Kopay, 1847.

The Rev. J. D. Simmons continues in general charge of this district. The Committee have recently sent out the Rev. G. T. Fleming to take charge of the educational work, which is extensive and important. The four Tamil pastors, the Revs. J. Hensman, T. P. Handy, E. Hoole, and G. Champion, though now getting into years, and more than one in weak health, are still labouring faithfully. The congregations comprise 889 adherents, of whom 353 are communicants—an increase of 77 and 24 respectively. The oldest Native Christian in the Mission, Mr. Philips, who was baptized just fifty years ago, was bedridden at the date of Mr. Handy's Annual Letter, with no hope of recovery; yet he was "doing more for the glory of God than when he was in health. Not a single visitor left without hearing from him some word of admonition with regard to his or her salvation." To each he would say, "Listen to the last message of a dying friend."*

MAURITIUS MISSION.

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies (Madras Branch), 1857; 2. Bengali and Hindi-speaking Coolies (Calcutta Branch), 1857; 3. The Seychelles Islands, 1875.

THE Society's missionaries in the Island of Mauritius are the Rev. F. Schurr, the Rev. H. D. Buswell, and the Rev. Nigel Honiss, the former for the North India (Bengali or Hindi speaking) coolies, and the two latter for the South India (Tamil speaking). There are two Native pastors, the Rev. C. Kushalli (Bengali), and the Rev. T. Ephraim (Tamil). The Mission is deeply indebted to Bishop Royston for his constant guidance as a true chief pastor of the Church. As Chairman of the Missionary Conference and Finance Committee, he takes an active part in its management.

The Committee regret to say that the Mission staff has suffered much in the past year from sickness. Mr. Buswell and Mr. Ephraim have been seriously ill; Mr. Schurr and Mr. Kushalli have but weak health; and Mr. Honiss feels the effects of long and diligent service. It is hoped that a former Ceylon missionary will join the Mission this autumn.

Mauritius Native Church Council.

The 1406 Christian Coolies—four-fifths of them North India, and the rest Tamil—who still remain in the island, out of nearly 4000 who have been baptized since the Mission was begun in 1857, now have their own Native Church Council, with the Rev. H. D. Buswell as Chairman, Lieutenant-Colonel Robinson, R.A., as Treasurer, and Mr. Daniel Subhâni, a Bengali Christian, as Secretary. The Council held its first meeting in April, 1880, and its first Report has lately been received. It administers funds amounting to Rs. 9000 a year, the bulk of which at present consists of grants-in-aid from the Henry Venn and Walter Jones Funds and the Mauritius Government. "The union of the North and South Indian branches in the same Pastorates," writes Mr. Buswell, "has been effected without any real difficulty. Services are held, of course, in two languages, but the business of the Pastorate is conducted by representatives from both sections, and all begin to realize that they have common interests." And the Rev. F. Schurr writes:—

Harmony of Tamil and Bengali Christians.

It is a matter of rejoicing that the Native Church Council has been successfully established during this year, both Calcutta and Madras Christians agreeing with each other in love, and working together for the furtherance of the Gospel. The last meeting of delegates was very cordial, and therefore very hopeful for the future. The Native Christians have now begun to understand the benevolent intention of the Parent Committee, and are willing to carry out its injunctions; they also contribute liberally, according to their means. The delegates take now an active part in the deliberations, and some influence for good is already observable in the catechists who are put under the control of the Native Church Council.

In almost every one of the Society's Missions, the present Report has to point out the pressing need of godly and efficient Native agents, and of provision for their training. This need is felt in Mauritius also; but much difficulty is experienced in supplying it. The Preparandi Class under Mr. Schurr's charge is suspended for want of students; but his classes for the systematic instruction of the existing catechists are regularly held, and several of the men are working with faithfulness and earnestness, "building up their own Native brethren in faith, hope, and love, and preaching the Gospel to non-Christians, viz. to Hindus, Mohammedans, and Chinese, as well as Roman Catholic Creoles." There seems, however, to be scarcely one who can be recommended for ordination. It is a good sign that some of the Christians are coming forward to give a part of their time to voluntary evangelistic work. "The labours of the catechists," continues Mr. Schurr, "have not been in vain, a few having joined our community. The increase of converts has not been large, but it is our plan to instruct them well, and to look for a change of heart and life, before we admit them to baptism." The number of baptisms during the year was 145—adults, 94; children, 41.

Good work of Native agents.

An interesting fact mentioned in the Report of the Native Church Council is that in the last twenty years no less than eighty inmates of the government prison have received the Gospel and been baptized, mostly by the Bengali pastor, the Rev. C. Kushalli.

Converts made in prison.

The Rev. H. D. Buswell's Annual Letter contains some interesting examples of good work, and of the Divine blessing attending it:—

> There has been a marked increase in the average attendance of our several services, and so far as it is possible for us to judge, there has been growth in grace and knowledge. I ought to mention with special thankfulness the improving tone of the women of our congregations, attributable, under God, I think, to the quiet, plodding labours of the Bible-woman.
> Our schools have progressed in numbers and general efficiency, and I trust in the best sense of the word, usefulness. Nearly all the children are either Hindus or Mohammedans. They are, of course, instructed daily in Scriptural truth. However, when I measure apparent results with the expenditure of means and effort, I am tempted to think sometimes the work of this kind is hardly remunerative. The Lord, however, has again and again graciously rebuked my want of faith. A few weeks ago I had the pleasure of baptizing a young man who received his first impressions of Divine truth in one of our Estate Mission Schools. The young man first attracted my attention as he was planting flowers over the grave of a late master of the school which he attended a few years ago. It was to me a pleasant testimony of grateful and affectionate respect for the master to whom he felt himself indebted.

Results of Mission School work.

Another illustration of the power of the incorruptible seed of Divine truth to germinate and grow after having been long buried may be of interest. A month or two ago I was walking over a neighbouring hospital, when a Tamil man called me to his bedside, and asked for baptism. A request of this kind from a stranger who had received no instruction from us took me somewhat aback. In conversation I found that he had been educated in a Mission school in Madras, and that the instruction there given in his younger days had not been forgotten. Under the teaching of the Spirit, it had produced within him a conviction of his need of a Saviour, and of the suitableness of the provision God had made in the Gospel. Finding him increasingly feeble, and very anxious to make a profession of his faith, after a week or two I consented to baptize him. Three days after his baptism he entered into rest.

The Rev. N. Honiss is in charge of the important Boarding School at Plaisance, formerly conducted by the Rev. P. Ansorgé. No Report has been received from him.

Opposition of Romanists.

The principal difficulty in the Mauritius Mission is the opposition of the Romanists. They have long been extremely active among the Creole population, a great part of which has been won by them; and now they are strenuously endeavouring to draw away the Hindus from Protestant influence. It is not a difficult matter for them to add to their ranks daily, when they give little, if any, instruction preparatory to baptism. Many of the sugar-planters, too, are Roman Catholics, and some of these forbid the Native catechists visiting the coolies on their plantations. There is also more activity than formerly among the Hindus and Mohammedans. Pagodas and mosques are being built all over the island; and the Brahmins are establishing pagoda-schools on the estates. Under these circumstances, Bishop Royston earnestly appeals for increased help, and for the prayers of God's people.

SEYCHELLES.

Mr. H. M. Warry has continued in charge of the Industrial Institution at Capucin, in the Island of Mahé, assisted by Mr. Pickwood. In this Institution thirty-three African children —ex-slaves or the children of ex-slaves—are receiving a Christian elementary and industrial education. The number is smaller than last year, the Committee having directed that the maximum age for inmates be fifteen.

Bishop Royston spent a month in the Seychelles Islands, on his way back to Mauritius from England, in October and November, and on two occasions ascended the mountain to Capucin and stayed at the Institution. He writes very favourably of its condition and management. In such work disappointments must be expected, and much patience is necessary, as many Christian workers in England know well who are interested in Reformatories and Industrial Homes. But the Bishop testifies to the "marked progress" visible, and to the "promising results" of Mr. Warry's work, following on that of the Rev. W. B. Chancellor. He twice examined the children in the presence of the Chief Civil Commissioner of the Seychelles, and of some naval officers; and all were fairly satisfied with the result, both in Scriptural and secular subjects. "The after effects," he writes, "will, by God's blessing, be greater still in every direction, not only in the children, but among their future surroundings generally."

Good work done in the Seychelles.

"Besides their constant Scriptural teaching and training in the Institution," continues the Bishop, "Messrs. Warry and Pickwood are doing what they can for the good of the similar population in the neighbourhood; specially by simple Sunday services at Pointe au Sel and Barbaron. A marked blessing seems to me to have attended these efforts, in spite of the opposition of the R. C. priests; and I had the pleasure of confirming some of the young people both from Capucin and Pointe au Sel." The Committee thank God for the zeal and diligence manifested by their two brethren in seeking and shepherding these "few sheep in the wilderness."

CHINA MISSION.

(First attempted 1836—1840. Recommenced 1844.)

THE present aspect of missionary enterprise in the great empire of China cannot be better expressed than in those words of St. Paul which formed the text of the sermon preached by Archdeacon Perowne at the consecration of two Missionary Bishops for North China and Mid China in October last—"A great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries."

A great door opened in China.

"A great door" the Committee profoundly feel it to be. The two newly indicated spheres of episcopal labour—they can scarcely be called dioceses—comprise 120 and 156 millions of souls respectively, still leaving 90 millions within the area conventionally attached to the colonial see of Victoria, Hong Kong. The Church Missionary Society, having now withdrawn from Peking—where the Mission founded by it eighteen years ago will be carried on under Bishop Scott—is not represented in that part of the late Bishop Russell's "diocese" (if the word may be used for convenience' sake) which still bears the name of North China. Its energies will now be concentrated upon Mid China, in which are situated its stations at Shanghai, Ningpo, Hang-chow, and Shaou-hing. The Committee unfeignedly rejoice that the proposal, announced last year, to appoint to the episcopal charge of this great field one who for twenty-three years has faithfully sown in it the good seed of the kingdom, has been happily consummated; and they look forward with earnest hope to the extension and development of the work under the leadership of Bishop G. E. Moule. Mid China, though rather the smallest in area of the three episcopal divisions of China, is by far the most populous; and within its borders runs almost the whole course, 3200 miles in length, of that mighty river, the Yangtse-Kiang, up which immense and inviting fields of evangelistic effort lie open to the messengers of Christ. Nor is the Yangtse the only great water-way for the Gospel. Up the Tsien-tang, a smaller stream which in most countries would be a great river, Mr. Elwin last year travelled with his wife and family 170 miles in a Chinese boat to the hitherto unvisited city of Gyu-chow. If this central division were the only one in which the Society laboured, the door opened unto it would still be great indeed. But how much greater does that door appear when South China also, with the Fuh-Kien and Hong Kong Missions, is taken into view!

An "effectual door," also, it has long since proved to be;

and not least so in the past year. The number of baptisms in the Society's Missions was 520, more than two-thirds being adult converts. The total number of Christian adherents has risen to 4667, an increase in the year of 13 per cent.; and of these, 1700 are communicants, a very large proportion. And an effectual door.

But "great and effectual" as the open door is, "there are many adversaries." The great Adversary's handiwork has been only too manifest in China, as elsewhere in the Mission field. Again and again have the Committee been constrained to exclaim, "An enemy hath done this." Where Satan cannot stop God's work, he will hinder it; where he cannot hinder it, he will try to spoil it. He can even take occasion from the conscientious differences of good men to foster division and consequent weakness, as in the case of the well-known "Term Question." Still more, if either open hostility, or ill-concealed coldness, mark the conduct of officials—Chinese or British—as at Fuh-chow, or if converts are tempted to fall back into idolatry or sin, as at Hang-chow and Shaou-hing, the Committee well know who is the prime mover in each case, and can only pray that the God of peace may bruise Satan under His servants' feet shortly. But many adversaries.

Hong Kong.

This expanding Mission, which now comprises not only St. Stephen's Church and the agencies clustering round it, in the Island of Hong Kong, but also many out-stations occupied by Native agents on the mainland, in the Province of Quantung, has been under the charge, during the past year, of the Rev. John Grundy. The Committee lament, for his own sake, that by a combination of unforeseen circumstances this young and zealous missionary should have been left unassisted in so arduous a post, and that his consequent pressure of work should have impeded his progress in the language; but they note with thankfulness that he is able to write cheerfully of the general condition and prospects of the work. In Hong Kong "an increased desire is shown for the Gospel of Christ;" both the regular services for the Christians, and the daily evening preachings to the heathen,* are well attended; and the communicants are "very devout, and appear to realize the solemnity and responsibility of coming to the holy sacrament." There are eight preparandi students, "who work very promisingly, and whose conduct during class, A young Missionary left alone.

study, or recreation, would put to shame many young men in similar institutions at home." Their Chinese teacher was baptized on Easter Day, 1880, and is described as an intelligent and (it is believed) sincerely Christian man, who is respected and loved by them all. The theological instruction is given by Mr. Grundy himself and the Rev. Lo Sam Yuen.

The whole number of adherents is 183, of whom 66 are communicants. There were 25 adult baptisms in the year, mostly at the out-stations, which have been quietly multiplying almost without being noticed. Several have been opened, and the agents provided, at the expense of the Rev. E. Davys, whose services as an honorary missionary, during his residence at Hong Kong, the Committee gratefully acknowledge.

The Bishop of Victoria, the Society's old and able missionary, Dr. Burdon, is now in England, and the Committee are in consultation with him regarding the future plans for this Mission.

Province of Fuh-Kien.

The missionaries engaged in the Fuh-Kien Mission during the past year were the Rev. R. W. Stewart, the Rev. Llewellyn Lloyd, and Dr. B. Van Someren Taylor, the last-named a medical missionary. The Rev. W. Banister, one of "the five" forming the original reinforcement of the Mission field for 1880, joined the Mission at the close of the year. Mr. Wolfe, though at home on sick leave, has done his part in the work by stirring up sympathy and prayer among the Society's friends throughout the country.

Obstacles at Fuh-Chow.

The Society's work in the Province has passed through another year of mingled trial and blessing. The exclusion of the Mission, as a resident Mission, from the city of Fuh-Chow, after an undisturbed occupation of an excellent site within the walls for thirty years, has been completed during the past twelve months,—the Chinese authorities confiscating even Native houses taken in the names of Native converts, imprisoning and beating the converts thus concerned in their purchase, and positively forbidding the sale or letting of land or buildings to the Mission. Such action is a plain breach of Treaty rights, and it is painfully significant that it occurs only at Fuh-Chow, and only in the case of Englishmen. The American Mission still remains in the city; Americans, French, and Russians hold property in the interior; and the C.M.S. itself, in the Che-Kiang Province, finds the mandarins just and fair in their dealings, and ready to abide by the Treaties.

All expostulations at Fuh-Chow, however, have been in vain; and difficulties are now being raised to the purchase of building-sites even in the Foreign Settlement, four miles from the city, whither the headquarters of the Mission have necessarily been removed. But the Committee trust that these obstacles will in God's good providence be overcome; and in full faith that it will be so they have carefully matured plans for the development and extension of the Mission from its new base. Those plans include the occupation, if possible, of another large city by two English missionaries, and the organization of the large and flourishing Native Church on the lines which have been so successful in India and elsewhere.

In the meanwhile, notwithstanding difficulties and disappointments, the knowledge of the Gospel continues to spread, and many souls are yearly added to the Church. There were 259 adult baptisms in the past year, and large numbers of catechumens are awaiting their admission into the visible fold of Christ. "The Fuh-Kien Christians," writes Mr. Stewart, "seem as a body thoroughly to understand that their business is to spread the doctrine as soon as they know it themselves. I overheard," he adds, "some of them talking on the subject, and they came to the conclusion that not to do so was to break the Eighth Commandment, for it was keeping back what rightfully belonged to another."

How Christians may break the 8th Commandment.

Detailed returns have been received from no less than 110 stations and out-stations in the province—the first convert in which was baptized just twenty years ago. The following is a condensed summary of these returns:—

Contributions of Fuh-Kien Christians.

The contributions of the Native Christians for religious objects during the year have included $560 for the Catechists' Fund; $422 given by the different congregations for the repairing of their own churches and chapels; $173 for building chapels at other stations than their own; $67 for the relief of the poor; over $180 for a Widows' and Orphans' Fund; and $300 collected in the Lo-Nguong district to buy land as an endowment for the Lo-Nguong Church. "For all purposes, then," writes Mr. Stewart, "the amount of money subscribed by the Natives during the year is about $1700, more than $1 for each baptized adult; and when we remember that a dollar to a Chinaman is worth at least as much as a pound sterling to an Englishman, we see that the Fuh-Kien Christians have done very creditably."

Deaths of Fuh-Kien leaders.

The Fuh-Kien Church has suffered a severe loss in the death of the Rev. Tang Tang-Pieng, and of a leading catechist named Ting Ing-Soi. The former preached to the agents and delegates on the occasion of the Annual Conference, his subject being the Saviour's dying love—"the theme," says Mr. Stewart, "he ever loved most to dwell upon." Within a month he was singing the song of the redeemed in that Saviour's presence. The latter died from the effects of a terrible beating he had from the mandarins of his district two years ago. "He had been," says Mr. Stewart, "the best student I ever had in the college. No one could know him without loving him. When his end was approaching, he said, 'It is not death: living is death; dying is life.'" Two well-tried catechists in this Mission have been ordained by Bishop Burdon, being the twelfth and thirteenth Chinamen admitted to holy orders. One, Sia Seu-Ong, was the first convert at A-chia fourteen years ago, and his history is familiar to many friends of the Society.* The other, Ngoi Kaik-Ki, has been the chief tutor in the college under Mr. Stewart. He is a literary graduate, converted through the gift of a Chinese Bible to him by an unknown missionary twenty years ago, and has literally suffered the loss of all things for Christ, father, mother, brethren, wife, child, and even the much coveted "button" emblematic of his degree. The former ordination took place at Ku-cheng, and was the first ceremony of the kind ever performed in the interior of China. Seventy-seven Native Christians of that city and neighbourhood joined the Bishop in partaking of the Holy Communion on the occasion.† There are now, therefore, again four Native clergymen connected with the Mission, the survivors of seven. The Rev. Wong Kiu-Taik is not now paid by the Society, but acts as voluntary pastor to the congregation in Fuh-Chow city. The Revs. Ting Sing-Ki and Sia Seu-Ong have charge of extensive and important districts, each with numerous congregations, catechists, &c.

The regular supply of well-trained agents, not merely as evangelists, but especially as teachers of the various little groups of Christians and catechumens scattered over the country, becomes year by year a matter of increasing importance. But ever since the wanton destruction of Mr. Stewart's Theological College in 1878, the training of the forty-five adult Christian students has been carried on with great difficulty, and now the Committee deeply regret to say that, owing to the obstacles in the way of providing accommodation at Fuh-Chow, the class has been temporarily disbanded. Eighteen men are still retained under the name of Students, but even these have had to be distributed among the out-stations as assistant-catechists. The resumption of this class is the most pressing need of the Mission.

The Annual Conference of Mission agents and delegates from the various congregations has always been a feature of special interest in the Fuh-Kien Mission. Mr. Stewart's account of the meeting in December last cannot be read without true thankfulness for the grace of God manifested:—

Fuh-Chow Annual Conference.

Our Annual Conference commenced on December 4th, and lasted eight days; there were about 180 present, half of these being catechists, and the other half representatives from the various congregations. The first two weekdays were occupied with examinations, the subjects being Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, the Acts of the Apostles, and the first five of the Thirty-nine Articles.

Dividing the catechists into four classes, according to their districts, two of the Native clergy, with Mr. Lloyd and myself, carefully tested their knowledge, and, on the whole, we thought we perceived a marked improvement, though in some cases censure had to be administered.

The other weekdays were occupied, morning and afternoon, with the discussion of subjects such as Boys', Girls', and Sunday-schools, "Bible Women," "the object for which persecution and trials are sent," "the duty of catechists," &c. And the evenings to prayer meetings, led by men previously selected at our half-yearly gathering. Listening to such men as Ting-Sing-ki, Ngoi Kaik-ki, and good old Tang, who is now with the Saviour he spoke to us about, could not but do every one good. Their deep insight into spiritual things, and the confidence with which they utter them as truths experienced by themselves, is the plainest proof of their being taught by that same Holy Spirit, the teacher of the faithful in every land.

But talking was not confined to the recognized "pillars" of the Church. Every meeting was thrown open, and, with the exception of the first two days, when the terrors of the examination seemed to have had a dispiriting effect, was kept up with warmth to the end. Some of the younger catechists spoke extremely well, and gave valuable suggestions; occasionally, too, an ordinary Christian would come forward, and though perhaps, in the presence of so august an assembly, there were signs of being unaccustomed to public speaking, still we always gave him a hearty welcome, and were glad to see the laymen take so much interest in their own Church, and to receive the greeting they brought down to the Conference from the congregations they represented. But perhaps the most enjoyable meeting was that at which invitation was given to mention anything which had occurred during the year of unusual interest. One after another stood up and told of unmistakable signs that our Blessed Lord was with them, and that His arm was not shortened that it could not save.

The Saturday evening preceding the Conference was devoted to the subject of a club already established for assisting the destitute widows and orphans of Christians, and before separating a subscription list was started, and $184 was collected there and then in the room: an average of just $1 a head all round. This was a larger sum than the most sanguine had anticipated, and all through the meetings, to the very end, there was no falling off from this good beginning.

Extension of the Fuh-Kien Mission.

The River Min was for some time the boundary between the C.M.S. districts to the north, and those occupied by the American Missions at Fuh-Chow to the south. But complete geographical separation has not proved possible. From the first the movement towards Christianity in this province has been to a considerable extent indigenous in character, the Gospel spreading from village to village through family connexions and business intercourse. It has naturally followed that inquirers south of the Min have become attached to the Church of those Christians to the north from whom they heard of "the doctrine;" and in this and other ways it has come to pass that three of the fourteen Mission districts in which the C.M.S. has out-stations lie south of the river, and in these are more than a fourth of the whole number of adherents; while on the other hand the Americans have agents and congregations in Ku-Cheng and other cities on the north side well known to readers of the Society's reports. These three are the Hok-Chiang, Hing-Wha, and Taik-Wha districts. Of the remainder, the Lieng-Kong, Lo-Nguong, Ning-Taik, and Hok-Ning-fu, districts are grouped as "northern," and the Ku-Cheng, Sang-Iong, Ang-Iong Iong-Ping-fu, Kiong-Ning-fu, and Ping-Nang districts as "western." The fourteenth is the city of Fuh-Chow and its immediate environs. Mr. Stewart, whose main work lies in the city, also superintends the nearer out-stations in the Lieng-Kong, Lo-Nguong, and Hok-Chiang districts; while the rest, forming an extensive outer semi-circle more than 200 miles in diameter, are the charge of Mr. Lloyd.

In the Northern Districts there is decided progress. In both LIENG-KONG and LO-NGUONG cities the revived interest reported last year has been maintained. There were eight adult baptisms at the former city and nine at the latter, and the catechumens are numerous. In the out-stations of the Lo-Nguong districts twenty-six adults were baptized; and the villages of Heng-Iong, Wong-Pwang, Tong-A, A-Ling, Ching-Kang, and Twai-Kwok—some of them quite new names—are specially spoken of as giving encouragement. A-chia, on the other hand, whose name is so familiar to us, is described as "still very lifeless." The Rev. Sia Seu-Ong, however, the energetic superintending pastor of the whole district, is himself no mean fruit from that now "lifeless" village.

Progress at Lo-Nguong.

The NING-TAIK district is superintended by the Rev. Ting Sing-ki, who exchanged with the late Rev. Tang at the beginning of last year. The Fuh-Chow missionaries think it desirable to move the leading Native agents at intervals from district to district; and the plan appears to answer well. Mr. Ting's influence, writes Mr. Lloyd, has already made itself felt in his new sphere of labour. Of two or three new out-stations an interesting account is given:—

The Peak of the Golden Monastery.

King-Se-Hung is "the Peak of the Golden Monastery," for what reason I have failed to find out. That it is a peak, and a very high one, however, I know well, for we had literally to climb for an hour and a half before we reached it. It consists of a number of small hamlets scattered over the mountain-tops, and the people are almost entirely occupied in cultivating the sweet native potato. There have been one or two Christians there for some years, who have been in the habit of attending the services at Ning-Taik, about four or five miles distant. Last year, however, very great interest sprang up, and I received a petition signed by more than a hundred of the inhabitants, asking that a catechist might be sent there. Some time elapsed before we were able to comply with their request, but at length we did so, and towards the close of 1879, quite a large number of men and women from this place were baptized at Ning-Taik. Of course it is almost impossible to procure a suitable house for a chapel in such a locality, and therefore we have promised them a grant from our Building Fund towards erecting one. They have themselves given the site and a sum of money besides. There are now about 130 Christians at King-Se-Hung, and the work is extending; most of the people are unfortunately very ignorant, and our only fear is that the work may not be permanent. Will our friends especially pray for this secluded and lofty region near Ning-Taik?

Chiong-Ká is a village of which I must not fail to send a short account, and what has taken place there is a wonderful instance of the manner in which the work in this Mission extends without our aid, and often without our knowledge. In 1879, one of our Christians at Ting-Sang-A, a Mr. Ma, removed to this place, together with his family, all of whom are Christians. Chiong-Ká being a long distance from any chapel, he was obliged to conduct service in his own house (he is a fair scholar), and he invited any of the neighbours who were willing to join him, explaining that he was one of the "Doctrine of Jesus," and that he worshipped the one true, invisible God, the Maker of all things. The number of people who came to his house soon increased, until at length he applied for a little assistance to help buy forms for their accommodation. Near Chiong-Ká is another village named Siang-O, and there are now between sixty and seventy professing Christians in the two villages.

HOK-NING-FU is the remotest station northward. Mr. Lloyd thus writes of it:—

Opium smoking at Hok-Ning-fu.

The large city of Hok-Ning-fu has only yielded one convert during the year; but I am glad to say that there are several inquirers there, some of whom will, I hope, be baptized soon. I spent a very happy Sunday there on Oct. 31st, when sixteen persons were present at the services, and eight of us partook of the Holy Communion. The terrible extent to which opium-smoking prevails in this city has been alluded to before, and I was assured that seventy per cent. of its inhabitants are addicted to that vice. I was quite pleased to notice the absence of the poppy as I approached the city, because in former years the fields have been red with it, and on inquiry, I found that the mandarin had prohibited its cultivation; but, unfortunately, only that he might "squeeze" those who wished to cultivate it, all who were willing to pay him a certain sum having permission to grow as much as they like.

It is a rule of our Church, from which we never deviate knowingly, not to baptize any one who smokes opium or eats it in any quantity, and in some cases it seems extremely difficult to know what is right. At Hok-Ning-fu there are two men, one about fifty years of age and the other about sixty-five, who have been opium-smokers for many years. They have attended our chapel regularly for more than three years, and during that time have given up smoking opium, but instead have swallowed a certain quantity each day, as they say it is impossible for them to do without it. They begged very hard to be baptized, but I was obliged to refuse them that rite, although I wondered whether I was acting rightly in so doing. We have procured a shop in the main street for a Bible and Tract Depôt, and hope to open it shortly.

Turning to the Western Districts, the Committee are grieved to find that there has been much to sadden the missionaries. In past years no districts have produced equal fruit with those of KU-CHENG and ANG-IONG; and they still (taking in SANG-IONG, the three together making the old Ku-Cheng District) stand first in the number of converts; but the rebuff given to the Mission by its exclusion from Fuh-Chow city has had a bad moral effect in these districts, and many of the inquirers and catechumens have fallen back in consequence. Mr. Lloyd says:—

Backsliding at Ang Ioug.

I have lately visited all the thirteen stations in the Ang Iong district, and, speaking generally, I must confess that I returned to Fuh-chow very much cast down. At the majority of the stations there seems to be an utter indifference to the preaching of the Gospel, and some of the catechists appear to be unsuitable for the positions they occupy, although they are the best men we can get at present. We all feel that what the Fuh-chow Mission now needs more than anything else, is a supply of well-instructed, spiritually-minded teachers; men willing to endure hardship as good soldiers of Jesus Christ; men who will, day after day, walk from village to village and from house to house with the message of salvation upon their lips; men indued with much patience, who are willing to bear with the dulness of these poor ignorant villagers, to teach them constantly, and again and again, if need be, the chief truths of our holy faith. That God would raise up a number of such, and give us a place to teach them in, is what we ourselves continually pray for, and we would ask our friends at home to remember this matter when praying for our work here. Of course when I speak of the catechists as unsuitable, I do not mean to say that they are not good men; on the contrary, we believe every one of them to be true Christians; but what I do mean is, that some of them are very old and infirm, so that they cannot walk any distance, as it is very necessary they should do if the district is to be evangelized.

At Lau-A two baptized Christians (out of fifty) have been expelled, one for opium-smoking, and the other for bigamy. The latter is a curious case, and can only awaken sympathy for the poor man who has yielded to the custom of his people:—

A Christian persecuted into bigamy.

The man, who has been baptized some years, has always been much persecuted by his wife, who has cherished a bitter hatred towards Christianity. The husband, however, still remained firm and regularly attended the services at our church. Last year this first wife, finding that no children were born to her, endeavoured (as is the custom in China) to persuade her husband to marry another wife, so that the family name might be kept up. He spoke to the catechist about it, and was of course told that such an act would be very wrong and contrary to the teaching of Christ and His apostles. The man seems to have steadily refused to listen to his wife's suggestion for a long time, but at length he gave way, and consequently we have been obliged to expel him.

Of several of the stations, nevertheless, Mr. Lloyd writes thankfully. One may be mentioned:—

Chô-Pang.—I mentioned last year that some interest had sprung up in this village. I am thankful to say that this year still more have joined us, there being now about forty Christians. Eleven persons have been baptized at Chô-Pang during 1880, one of them a literary man from a village near, who, together with his two sons, has been brought to Christ by means of a very earnest Christian of the same village, who has been baptized some years. Several of them were also relatives of the late Rev. Mr. Su. May it not be that God is now answering the many prayers which His faithful servant doubtless offered up for this his native village? The catechist here is one of our best men, and will, I hope, one day be ordained; he is a widower; his wife's death, Sien, from Singapore, I mentioned last year. It was very pleasing to find how well the candidates for baptism had been prepared. Mrs. Su, the widow of our late pastor, lives here, a small pension having been granted her by the Mission, and she makes herself useful in teaching a few women who come to the chapel.

The late Rev. Su's village.

There is nothing of special interest reported of the more distant districts of IONG-PING-FU, PING-NANG, and KIONG-NING-FU. At the two fu cities, the chapels are still closed, and the agents excluded; and the man who sold the house at Kiong-Ning to the Mission is kept in prison.

"Ang-Lik-Angs"—Anglicans.

Crossing the Min to the Southern Districts, HOK-CHIANG is first reached. The voluntary adhesion to the C.M.S. Mission of a large number of inquirers at this place who called themselves "Ang-Lik-Angs" (Anglicans) has been referred to in former Reports. They now number nearly 700 souls, the larger moiety being still only catechumens, though 315 have been baptized (74 last year) and 219 are communicants.

Mr. Stewart begins his account of this district by noticing a remark in last year's Annual Report respecting these people:—

The hope so strongly expressed in the Society's last Annual Report, that our sending six catechists as teachers into this large district would not "result in the Christians doing less for themselves than formerly," has constantly been kept before the mind of the Church; and this year they have not, I think, fallen off from their former earnestness. Seventy-four have been admitted into the Church by baptism; and a much larger number have joined, and are still catechumens. In addition to subscribing more than before to the general fund for the support of catechists, they have engaged to employ during the coming year an additional catechist, at their own expense, for the station of Twai-Ku; and they have also done well in giving money for repairing and purchasing chapels throughout the district. Progress at Hok-Chiang.

At Kĕng-Tau Ling-Sin-Kieng remains in charge, and fifteen adults, including three women, were well prepared for baptism. The school taught by his wife, Patience, has increased to thirty, and they showed on examination to have been carefully trained. Passing through some fields in the neighbourhood, two little boys about nine and eleven years old, who were digging pea-nuts, ran up to me. Not knowing them, I showed them some picture-cards, and commenced telling them about the Saviour; but to my delight I found they knew all I was saying as well as I did myself, and they made me go over to the men with whom they were working and talk to them. Such little incidents as this, though hardly worth mentioning, have a wonderful effect in sending the missionary on his way rejoicing. Diffusion of Christian knowledge in Fuh-Kien.

At Kĕng-Kiang fourteen were baptized during the year, and there are now about twenty or thirty inquirers. The chapel they built in 1879 they have this year furnished with pews, and are now collecting money for a pulpit and reading-desk. Eighty or ninety regularly attend on Sunday.

Ko-Sang-Che, with its dependent stations of Aut-te-tie, Tong Kang, and Seng-Iong, have all advanced, and there are a number of inquirers. Sieng-Nĕng-Chiong, the only other place I will call your attention to, is a new station, and has made rapid progress, very much owing to the itinerating visits of a good Christian colporteur. Several families have thrown away their idols, and now worship the only true God and Jesus Christ His Son.

Still further to the south lie the HING-WHA and TAIK-WHA districts, in the latter of which the Amoy dialect is spoken, that port being only three days' journey off. Mr. Lloyd thus reports on two of the Taik-Wha stations:—

Progress in the Taik-Wha district.

At Pe-Hu there have been twenty-two baptisms, and with our assistance the Christians have built a very nice chapel adjoining the old one, which was far too small to accommodate the attendants at public worship. More than 100 persons were present at my last visit, while every inch of the wall and many of the roofs of the surrounding houses were crowded with the heathen anxious to see what entering the Church meant.

At U-Yong the work is still progressing satisfactorily, and twenty persons have been baptized this year—twelve men, five women, and three children. The average attendance is about seventy, and I was much pleased with all I saw there. The chapel is kept nice and clean, and several red pieces of cloth with texts upon them suspended on the walls give it a bright, cheerful look, while several official proclamations posted up on the side wall, forbidding the persecution of those who profess the "Doctrine of Jesus," reminds one that all is not peace, and that some of this little company of believers have a good deal to bear for Christ's sake. One of these men is at the present time bearing much persecution because of his refusal to take part in the idolatrous rites connected with ancestral worship, and part of his fields have been taken away in consequence, and in addition, he and his wife and children are regarded as outcasts, and the heathen will have nothing to do with them. I hope you will understand what a bold step it is for a man to avow himself a disciple of Jesus, a follower of the hated foreigners' religion, and to declare henceforth he will have nothing to do with idolatry or its belongings. No wonder that he is soon considered as a stranger who has departed from the customs of his ancestors, and therefore is to be despised and annoyed in every possible way.

Trials of the Chinese Christians.

Medical Missionary work in Fuh-Kien.

The value of Medical Missions as an agency for effectually opening the door in China has been illustrated by the recent addition of a medical missionary to the Society's staff in Fuh-Kien. Dr. Taylor, the medical missionary, finding difficulties in keeping up a dispensary in the city, resolved, after consultation with his brethren, to carry on medical missionary tours in the country, visiting for this purpose the Society's country stations. His services were thankfully received—in one district 1600 patients seeking them in three weeks. A door is thus opened for the Gospel. Where the message has lost the attraction of novelty, crowds will still flock in when they know that a foreign doctor has arrived. Thus a good congregation is formed. In one place also an influential man who had been a bitter enemy to the Christians, was led to cease all opposition through gratitude for successful medical treatment.*

* The full Reports from the Fuh-Kien Mission, of which comparatively brief extracts are given here, will be published in the C.M. Intelligencer.

Mid China.

MID-CHINA, the episcopal sphere of Bishop Moule, comprises the Society's Mission in the Province of Cheh-Kiang, viz. Ningpo, Shaou-hying, and Hang-Chow; and the isolated station of Shanghai.

NINGPO.

The missionaries at this station are the same as in the preceding year, viz. the Rev. F. F. Gough, who has charge of most of the city work; the Rev. J. Bates, who superintends the out-stations; the Rev. J. C. Hoare, and the Rev. R. Shann, who carry on the College and Boarding School. The four Native clergymen continue at their respective posts, viz. the Rev. Wông Yiu-Kwông, at Christ Church, in the city, under Mr. Hoare; the Rev. Dzing Ts-sing, at Grace Church, also in the city, under Mr. Gough; the Rev. 'Ô Kwông-yiao, at Z-ky'i; and the Rev. Sing Eng-teh, at Kwun-hæ-we.

Discouragements at Ningpo.

Little of special interest has marked the work of the Mission during the past year. Mr. Bates and three of the Chinese pastors dwell upon the heavy discouragements under which they labour. The people generally seem perfectly callous, and the converts are but few. But Mr. Bates most justly observes, "If God has shed any light at all amid the dense moral darkness which is around us, it is our duty to speak of it to the glory of His grace. That there are few that we have to complain of as having fallen back, that many are adorning their profession by a consistent life, that great numbers are favourably disposed towards Christianity—these surely are matters for devout thanksgiving and praise to God." Mr. Wong considers that "the state of things at present is far in advance of what it was formerly," though he notices that the increasing strength of Confucianism in China (at the expense of Buddhism and Taouism) is not favourable to Christianity, as the former system "has a special power of detaining persons in thraldom." Mr. Ô is "really inclined to weep," because the work at Z-ky'i does not advance. In his country preaching, he writes, "At first the people are pleased to listen to me, then they despise me, and lastly they almost desire to drive me away. At first there are some who will learn to pray, some who will weep when they hear of Christ's salvation, but afterwards they become altogether unconcerned, and fear lest they hear too much, and repent and believe.* Mr. Sing writes more hopefully than the others. "There is a great improvement," he says; "both hearers of the Gospel and candidates for baptism are much more numerous. In the city of Kwun-hæ-we the Holy Spirit is blessing the preaching of the Gospel." Two or three whole families were baptized there during the year. All these Native brethren ask for the prayers of the Church at home. "I beg you," says Mr. Wông, "to ask for me, a weak child, incompetent for the work I have to do here in Christ Church, that fostered by the power of the Triune God, I may finish my course, fulfil my duties, and not be pronounced by the Lord to be an unprofitable servant."

A Chinese clergyman's request for prayer.

Mr. Bates mentions two or three encouraging cases. The head of a household of eighteen persons, at 'En-ling, on the Eastern Lakes, is an earnest inquirer, and is known in his own neighbourhood as "the man who prays." Of another, a baptized convert, he writes:—

An earnest Chinese Convert.

One of the converts at Gao-sœn has greatly encouraged me by his zeal, activity, and thorough sincerity. He was baptized by Mr. Hoare a few years ago, and is generally known by the name of T'a-yïao. Before his conversion he must have been a great Buddhist devotee. Our little chapel on the roadside at Gao-sœn attracted his attention, and he used to go in occasionally and converse with the catechist and the schoolmaster, and to read the Holy Scriptures. Light dawned gradually upon his mind, and he resolved to become a Christian. His father threatened to cut him off from the family inheritance; but the son's resolution remained unshaken. The father died before T'a-yïao was baptized, so that he could not carry his threat into execution. As a matter of fact, however, he has had to forfeit a portion of the property which should have fallen to him. He is a very earnest man. His relations and friends among the hills are very numerous, and he loses no opportunity of trying to lead them to Christ. His mother especially is the object of his constant solicitude. She is a bigoted devotee of Buddhism. "Oh," he has said to me again and again, "if my mother were converted! I wonder if God will hear my prayers on her behalf. I have been praying for her ever since my own conversion. I have brought other Christians to see her and converse with her, and still she will not give up nyiœn veh (praying to Buddha) and come to Christ." Whenever I visit the station he is almost the first to come to see me. He escorts me over the villages and amongst the hills, and preaches with an intelligence and zeal which surprise me. He really does not spare himself. Oh, that we had a few more such men full of the Holy Spirit of God, and anxious for the salvation of their fellow-men! May I ask your prayers on behalf of his poor mother, that she may soon know the Truth, and that the Truth may set her free? At our catechists' meetings, and at other times, I have had special prayers offered up for her, and it is our hope and trust that God will hear and answer them.

Ningpo College.

The Committee are thankful to have the Ningpo College worked by the sons of two such tried friends of the Society as Canon Hoare and Dr. Shann of York. Mr. R. Shann, who arrived at the close of 1879, has, though necessarily obliged to give most of his time to the language, rendered considerable help to Mr. Hoare in the class-teaching; and Mrs. Shann (Mr. Hoare's sister) has also taken an active part in the work, giving the younger boys daily lessons in Scripture and arithmetic, and also undertaking "the very difficult task of teaching them to sing." Mr. Hoare himself reports that seven students have passed out of the College during the year to active work in the Mission; and there are now thirty students, men and boys—for the institution combines the work of a Training College and a Boarding-School.* Of another very important branch of his work Mr. Hoare writes:—

Systematic theology for Chinese agents.

As Mr. Shann's arrival set me somewhat more at liberty than I had hitherto been, I have this year taken up another branch of work in connexion with the college, viz. the systematic training of those who have already passed out from it. I had long felt that something was needed for the young men in our country schools; for they leave us at the age of twenty, and cannot be expected to have a very ripe knowledge of theology. At the same time, if they are to look for work as pastoral agents, and possibly as ordained ministers, it is absolutely necessary that they should be well instructed. I have, therefore, started a system of monthly papers for them. Our subject this year has been the Thirty-nine Articles. I issue a series of questions each month for them to answer: they also write an exposition of one of the Parables of our Lord. On my tours of school inspection I talk over their answers with them, correcting their mistakes. With regard to the parables, I have found time to translate Archbishop Trench's Notes on the Parables for them, and have printed ten parables, publishing them in separate pamphlets. I hope thus to translate the whole of that work, which would be invaluable to those engaged in preaching or teaching. Other Missions have also bought many copies. In looking over the papers they have written for me, I have been very deeply impressed with the absolute necessity of some such system of training, for whilst the young men have shown considerable ability and acquaintance with Scripture, they are certainly wanting in knowledge of dogmatic truth; and constantly I have seen in their papers errors which have in times past been the germs of heresies and divisions in the Church. By thus drawing out the thoughts of the young men, I have the opportunity of correcting their mistakes.

Miss M. Laurence, whose work at Ningpo, especially among the women and girls, has been so much blessed in past years, will (D.V.) return to her post this autumn.

SHAOU-HYING.

Ten trying years of Missionary service.

The Rev. J. D. Valentine has completed his tenth year of continuous service at this station—an unusual period in China. During that time he has had three colleagues. The first two, successively, broke down in health, came home, went out again, and had to retire invalided a second time. The third, the Rev. J. B. Ost, who joined the station in January, 1880, had to leave within four months—but the Committee are thankful to find that he has been able to go back without returning to England. "We have thus," writes Mr. Valentine, "seen eight changes in ten years, and have four times been left alone. We have spent nine summers—some of them fearfully hot ones—in this city." Looking back upon his missionary work, he goes on:—"Year after year we have lived in this immense city; and though I have preached and spoken hundreds of times during my residence here, few have received the word of truth, and still fewer have believed to the saving of their souls." Yet he is ready to "thank God and take courage," even for "the day of small things." He gives the following summary of the Mission and its results since it was commenced in 1870:—

A ten years' retrospect of work.

During the past ten years forty-three persons have been baptized in this station: twenty-four men, seven women, seven boys, and five girls. Of these, there are now numbered with the dead two men, one woman, and one child. Three men have removed to other places. So that, at the present time, thirty-six persons are on the Church list, as belonging to one or other of our two districts. Five of these have neglected public worship for a long time, and must be accounted backsliders; of the remainder, ten are regular communicants here and two in the Chuki district; three adults are not yet confirmed. To this number may be added the three (two men and one woman) baptized at the first occupation of the station for a few months in 1861. The men are both dead, and the woman has removed to Hang-chow.

Of those baptized, four men are engaged at the present time in Church work as paid agents—two here, as catechists, one as schoolmaster, and one as catechist in one of the Ningpo outstations. One is an unpaid worker in the Chuki district of the Hang-chow Station.

Native contributions for Church purposes, in the shape of weekly offerings in the church-boxes, and monthly collections for Church Fund, for the six years, 1875—1880, have amounted to about $120, or 24*l.* The offertory received from Native communicants at monthly communion has been about $5 per annum. At the present time we have in hand about $140 belonging to the Native Church Fund. We have endeavoured all along to teach the little flock to give something, with the above result.

A boys' day-school was opened in 1874, and is still carried on, the number of pupils never being more than fifteen. A second day-school was opened in 1875, and continued for three years, with about the same attendance. The pupils are instructed in Christianity, as well as in the Chinese ordinary school routine; and, in addition, Mrs. Valentine takes the elder boys for an hour a day, to give them a Bible lesson, and also to teach them writing the Roman character and elementary arithmetic, concluding with singing a hymn, so that the children have become familiar with many Christian hymns in this way.

Our two Mission-houses in this city have both been built within the decade, one in 1871 and the other in 1873. A small Native building, plainly fitted-up, serves in one district as Christ Church, whilst in the other district a church, known as the Church of our Saviour, was erected and dedicated in 1877. When I have added that in the city we have had for years a hired preaching-room in the High Street, for constant preaching to the heathen, and have land whereon to erect a permanent building by-and-by, and that, in the country, we have had for several years two small out-stations, which are visited from time to time, I have completed the list of agencies in operation within the period under review—the first ten years of C.M.S. work in Shao-hing.

This retrospect, no doubt, suggests humbling reflections. Yet it must not be forgotten that at Fuh-Chow the Society's missionaries laboured for ten years without a single convert: and what is the Fuh-Chow Mission now?

HANG-CHOW.

This great city, the capital of the Cheh-Kiang Province, will be the residence of the Bishop of Mid China. The missionaries in charge during the past year have been the Revs. A. Elwin and J. H. Sedgwick. The latter has carried on the opium hospital—for which the Committee have secured a medical missionary who will go out shortly—and the book-shop, and has visited some of the out-stations.* Mr. Elwin's Report on the other branches of the Mission is of a chequered character. On the one hand, there has been not a little to encourage, especially as regards the work among the women.

* See his "Visit to Fu-Yang," C.M. Intelligencer, December, 1880.

Progress at Hang-chow.

Mrs. Elwin, and a lady whom she took out with her as governess and assistant, have held regular Bible meetings, and have visited the houses of many of the heathen, even of the higher classes, which until lately were not open to them. Moreover, the baptized Christians have increased in number from 187 to 205. On the other hand, the great adversary has been very active. No part of the China Mission has presented greater promise in the last three years than the Great Valley district, south of Hang-chow; and the work there has not stood still in the year under review, twenty adults having been baptized at a village called San-k'e (Hill Mouth), and persecution having been bravely endured by some. But there have been sad evidences of human infirmity in the backsliding of about twelve out of the 120 members of this infant Church. The Committee humbly pray that the Good Shepherd will yet fetch home to His flock these wandering sheep.

Backsliding at Great Valley.

At the village of San-k'e, just mentioned, a noble instance has occurred of fearless endurance of suffering for Christ's sake:

A noble case of endurance of persecution.

May I cheer your hearts and my own, by mentioning the case of a woman at the new station of San-k'e (Hill Mouth) who nobly suffered for Christ. When I visited this place for the first time last February with Mr. Sedgwick, this woman, in passing, was attracted by the crowd who were gathered round the missionaries outside the Christian's house where the service was to be held. Interested in what she heard, she visited this Christian after the missionaries had left, and soon made up her mind that she herself would become a Christian. As soon as her father-in-law found out what was going on he commanded her not to go near the Christians again. Having heard the good news, this woman thirsted to hear more. Threats were of no avail. To the service she would go. Her father-in-law, full of rage, seized her, and having tied her by the neck to a post in the house, beat her severely with rods from a mulberry-tree, having, I may mention, first opened the door, and invited the neighbours to come and see what he was going to do. But the beating had no effect. The woman was still found at the Christian service. The old man, more furious than ever, not only again tied her by the neck, and mercilessly beat her, but also smashed all her cups and cooking utensils. He also obtained possession of 6*l.* belonging to her, and said she should not have a penny of it unless she would worship the idols.

When we visited San-k'e in June this was told us, and the woman herself came and begged for baptism. We examined her most carefully, and found that she was so well instructed, and her answers were so satisfactory, that we could have no hesitation in administering the sacred rite. She begged so earnestly that her three little children might be baptized with her that we could not refuse. Before baptizing her, we solemnly warned her as to the risk she was running. Her father-in-law had beaten her for attending the services: what would he do when he found she had actually been baptized, and joined the hated religion? But she had made up her mind, if necessary, to suffer the loss of all things for Christ's sake, and I shall not soon forget the joyous, happy look on that woman's face, as she stood forth before her heathen neighbours, not very far from the house where her father-in-law lived, and publicly declared her faith in the Saviour, and her determination to cleave to Him, and continue His faithful soldier and servant until life's end. She received the name of Li-min (Light within). Her three little ones received the names of Ze-en, Ze-foh, Ze-lin (Received grace, Received happiness, Received the Spirit).

We heard afterwards that when her father-in-law heard that she had become a Christian, he at once went to her house, and once more beat her most severely. Since then, although he has not actually beaten her, he has, both to her face and behind her back, constantly spoken against her, and tried to injure her by every way in his power. He has also done all he can to set her husband and friends against her. A father-in-law has great power in China. On one occasion he commanded his son to beat his wife. The son refused, so the father beat his son for being disobedient. This man is still a heathen, but his wife constantly prays for him, and we trust he will soon be brought in.

This woman is remarkable in many respects. She is very good-looking, particularly so for a Chinese woman. She is also fairly well off, having some fields which belong to her in her own right: this is one reason why her husband does not oppose her to the same extent as her father-in-law. She is only thirty years of age. I commend her and the many others who are suffering for Christ's sake, to your earnest prayers.

Of this woman some interesting further news is communicated in a recent letter from Bishop Moule, dated Hang-Chow, April 12th:—

Last night I went to the church to preach a Passion Week sermon on "Christ with His friends." Matthias came into the vestry and said, "The persecuted woman from Hill's Mouth is come up: she has been beaten with thorns, and fled at last, two Christians helping her on her way." There she was, poor thing, sitting in front of the reading-desk, her face bruised, evidently wearied out. But when I asked her how it was, and why she persisted in doing what she was beaten for, she answered with quiet resolution that "she could do no otherwise. She could not worship idols. Christ had borne her sins and would give her heaven if she persevered. She would not flinch at all at an ordinary beating, but this had been too cruel, and to save her life she had fled." I could almost have kissed her feet, so real seemed the handiwork of the Lord upon her poor scarred frame.

It seems that her husband is a weak man, rather inclined to Christianity, but afraid to avow it. She says he advised her to run away. Her persecutors are his father and brother; the latter beat her with a great thorn stick. I saw her wounded arms; Mrs. Elwin says she was scarred all over.

SHANGHAI.

The Church Missionary Society's work in this great commercial port has been on a small scale. Other Missions occupy it in greater strength. The Rev. T. McClatchie dwells on the importance of Shanghai in a missionary point of view:—

Shanghai as a Mission field.

The importance of Shanghai in a mercantile point of view has always been fully recognized. Goods are sent hence to all parts of the interior of China, and Chinese merchants are drawn here from all the provinces. Bibles and tracts are the commodities which the missionaries of the Cross bring to the heathen in this land, and if only one Christian book is sent into the interior with every supply of cotton goods, &c., despatched to the various provinces, what is to prevent Shanghai from becoming the centre of spiritual light, as it is the centre of commercial advantages, to the eighteen provinces of this empire? A copy of the first tract I wrote in Chinese, when there was nothing like the intercourse with the interior which now exists, found its way to a town at some distance, and fell into the hands of a Chinese, who came down to Shanghai to inquire about its contents. The missionary to whom he came, surprised at the amount of his knowledge, asked him how he had learned so much about Christianity at such a distance from Shanghai, and in reply he produced the tract.

The Native adherents of the Society's Mission number 67, of whom twelve are communicants. The Shanghai Boys' School, of which Mr. G. Lanning is master, is supported partly by fees and partly by the interest of a fund raised on the spot but administered by the Society. Forty-four Chinese boys receive Christian instruction in this school; and some European scholars have also now been admitted at the request of their parents, there being no other good school for foreign boys in Shanghai except one belonging to the Jesuits.

JAPAN MISSION.

Nagasâki, 1869; Osâka, 1874; Tokio, 1874; Hakodâte, 1874; Niigâta, 1876.

QUIET and steady progress is still the characteristic of the Society's Mission in the Land of the Rising Sun. There are no large accessions of entire villages or clans. The converts have all been brought individually to the knowledge and faith of Christ. There were 50 adult baptisms during the year, and the whole number of adherents has risen from 197 to 286, while the communicants have doubled, 104 against 49. These figures, regard being had to the peculiar character of the work, call for unfeigned thankfulness. They look small by the side of the returns of some other societies; but this is partly due to the caution exercised by the C.M.S. missionaries in receiving candidates for baptism—a caution especially necessary with an impulsive and fickle people like the Japanese, and abundantly justified by the stability and consistency exhibited by most of those who have been admitted to the Church. On this point an important remark occurs in Miss Isabella Bird's recently published book of travels, Unbeaten Tracks in Japan—a work which contains several interesting references to the Society's Missions. Miss Bird says:—

Quiet and steady progress in Japan.

Miss Bird on Missions in Japan.

> The practical sagacity with which the Americans manage their Missions is worthy of notice. So far from seeking for a quantity of converts, they are mainly solicitous for quality. They might indeed baptize hundreds where they are content with tens. The same remark applies to Dr. Palm and the missionaries of the C.M.S. at Hakodate and Niigata. There are hundreds of men and women scattered throughout this neighbourhood who are practically Christians, who even meet together to read the Bible, and who subscribe for Christian objects, but have never received baptism.

Considerably more than half the C.M.S Christians are in the southern island of Kiu-shiu, at the port of which, Nagasaki, the first English missionary to Japan, Mr. Ensor, landed twelve years ago. This island was the scene of the Satsuma Rebellion of 1877, which so sorely tried the strength of the new régime in Japan; and in the large towns concerned in that revolt, the Christian students from Mr. Maundrell's little theological college at Nagasaki are preaching the Gospel with earnestness and success, converts having been baptized in the past two years at Kagoshima, Saga, and Kumamoto. At the central stations of Tokio and Osaka, and in the northern island of Yezo, some interesting baptisms have taken place in the twelve months under review; but at Niigata fruit is still almost entirely withheld.

Concerning the general prospects of Christianity in Japan there is some difference of opinion among those best qualified to judge. The more sanguine anticipations have certainly been moderated; and grave doubts are entertained of the stability of the new order of things in the country. On the other hand, many thoughtful Natives look for the rapid extension of Christianity. As one of the most learned and influential Buddhist leaders said to Miss Bird, very many of the people are "weary, weary, weary," and to such it is a blessed task to tell of Him who calls to the weary and the heavy-laden, "Come unto Me, and I will give you rest."

The Japanese "weary, weary, weary."

NAGASAKI.

The Rev. Herbert Maundrell and the Rev. Walter Andrews are the missionaries at this station. As already intimated, it is the oldest and most advanced of the Society's Missions in Japan. The number of Christian adherents has risen during the year from 110 to 160. The baptisms, forty-three in number (including children), are thus noticed by Mr. Maundrell:—

Baptisms in the cities of Kiu-shiu.

There has been an addition of forty-three to the number of professing Christians at this station during 1880. Of these, nine, four adults and five children, belong to Nagasaki; eight, three adults and five children, belong to Kagoshima; ten, eight adults and two children, belong to Saga; and sixteen, eleven adults and five children, belong to Kumamoto. These numbers are not so high as I anticipated and hoped they would be, but they show that a gradual, and, I trust, real work is going on. The children mentioned above are those whose parents were already Christians, or, as at Kumamoto, the children of one or two families that came over to Christianity. Most, if not all, of the adult baptisms are those of persons who had been influenced and instructed in Christian Truth by the catechists or senior students, or other members of our Church.

From this summary it will be seen that the most marked success has been at the out-stations, as is the case in Fuh-Kien and other Missions of the Society. At Nagasaki itself the progress is slow. Its people, says Mr. Maundrell, "still maintain their character of being more opposed to change than those of other parts of Japan." "But even here," he goes on, "a change is taking place, gradual though it be. Prejudices have been considerably mollified. At two places in the city, in addition to Deshima, preaching has been conducted regularly by the catechists and senior students under missionary superintendence during the whole year, without hindrance from the heathen."

Divinity College and Female Institution.

The educational institutions comprise St. Andrew's College or Divinity Class, in which eleven Christian Japanese students have been under training during the year, some of whom have already done good service as evangelists; a Girls' Training Institution, conducted by a lady associated with Mr. and Mrs. Maundrell (though not an agent of the Society), Mrs. Goodall, who renders essential help in the work of the Mission, and who is thus training eight Christian girls for future usefulness; and two small day-schools, which have not been very successful.

Out-stations in important cities.

A recent extension of the treaty limits round Nagasaki—which now comprise an area equal to one of the largest English counties—presents enlarged opportunities of evangelistic work. The three existing out-stations, however, at all of which the work is marked by interesting features, are much farther off, and are in fact cities as large as Nagasaki. "The word out-station," writes Mr. Maundrell, "applied to large towns like Kumamoto, Kagoshima, and Saga, may be somewhat misleading. The towns themselves are equal in size to Nagasaki, and being centres of large districts which are far more extensively cultivated than the hills around Nagasaki, their suburban population is consequently much greater."

At Kagoshima, the port at which Francis Xavier landed in 1549, a real work of Divine grace is going on, and some thirty or forty persons have already received the Gospel in its simplicity. The message of salvation was carried thither three years ago by some of the Nagasaki converts who were there on business. One of the students under training was sent to follow up the opportunity in March, 1879; and in the following month Mr. Maundrell visited the place for the first time, and baptized twelve adults (besides children) who had been prepared by the Native teacher. At subsequent visits sixteen more adults have been admitted into the visible Church; and other catechumens are under instruction. Of the Japanese evangelist to whose labours this result, under God, is mainly due, Mr. Maundrell writes:—

A Japanese Catechist.

> Stephen Koba San has worked nearly two years faithfully, zealously, and lovingly. He has taken pains to instruct the adult Christians, both men and women, in Christian Truth and conduct. Assisted by Noah Murata San, an aged Kagoshima Christian, he has succeeded in working a day-school of forty children for four hours daily. These children, though mostly those of heathen parents, attend the Sunday morning service. I noticed a very considerable improvement in them on last year, both in behaviour and in Biblical knowledge, when I visited Kagoshima last month. I have made arrangements for Stephen Koba San to return to the college for a year's further study, so that he may be ready, when the Bishop approves, for ordination. During his residence in the college he will help me by taking the position of senior student. Paul Morooka San has already left Nagasaki to succeed him at Kagoshima.

Saga is not, like Kagoshima, the capital of a modern province, but having been formerly the residence of a daimio, it is an important centre. Four of Mr. Maundrell's students, who were baptized at Nagasaki in 1875-6, belong to this city, and they, on their occasional visits home, have told of the Saviour they have found. In November, 1879, Mr. Maundrell first visited the place, and baptized five adults; and eight others were added last year. The first Saga man baptized at Nagasaki (Dec. 26th, 1875), Paul Yoshidomi [San [San= Mr.], is now the Catechist in charge of the station.

Kumamoto, like Kagoshima, is interesting in recent Japanese history for its connexion with the Satsuma Rebellion of 1877. It was here that the decisive struggle took place, which led to the defeat and death of the rebel chief, Saigo. Mission work here originated in the same way as at Saga. The very first of the Nagasaki converts who was baptized by Mr. Maundrell himself, in August, 1875, Paul Nakamura, came from this city. He subsequently brought three friends, also of Kumamoto, of the Samurai class, to Nagasaki, where they entered the police force in order to be able to attend the Christian services; and all three were baptized on Easter Day, 1876. It was not, however, till the beginning of 1880 that a catechist was stationed at Kumamoto. In April, Mr. Maundrell proceeded thither and inspected the work thus begun, and in July he went again, when he was able joyfully to baptize twelve adults, of whom he gives the following interesting account:—

Commencement of work at Kumamoto.

In July, during the week in which the senior students were revising for examination, I paid a second visit to Kumamoto for the baptism of a few adults and some children. Mekata San's work has already borne fruit. Perhaps it would be correcter to say that the fruit is the result of work done first by Nakamura, then by Midzu Shina, and then more recently taken up again, and continued by Mekata San. However Paul may plant, Apollos water, it is God that giveth the increase. To Him, therefore, let us give the praise. And, indeed, it is a thing to be most thankful for that now in Kumamoto, hitherto so dark and unpromising, yea, defiantly heathen, there is a Church of the Living God, consisting of 14 adults and 4 children. On my recent visit 12 adults and 4 children received baptism. Of these the following particulars are interesting. One whole family, consisting of husband and wife, the wife's father and two children, became Christians. This family I have known more or less of since 1866. Grace, who has been with Mrs. Goodall for more than three years for instruction, is an elder sister of the two children mentioned above. Another person is a young man who is Government Inspector of Village Schools. An old man aged sixty-three was baptized by the name of Jacob. A middle-aged man, a nurseryman, who received the name of Peter, had been thinking of Christianity for two or three years past, and had often, during his visits to Yokohama and Tokiyo, to purchase seeds and trees, attended Mission services. He has written to me since I returned to Nagasaki, to say that if funds can be found to build a small church in Kumamoto, he will gladly give the ground. It would be a great thing for our work there if this offer could be accepted. A church, large enough and good enough for the present, might be built for $500. Kumamoto, from a native point of view, is second in importance to no town in Kiushiu. It is the garrison-town for the southern portion of the Japanese Empire, is the capital of the province of Higo, in the midst of an industrious and numerous pagan population, and a good basis from which to work in the "regions beyond" of Kiushiu. A widow seamstress, an old friend of Midzu Shina, and her daughter of nineteen years, I baptized by the names of Dorcas and Anna. The only others that I need mention were Luke and his two infant children. Luke is a Native doctor, who was formerly pupil of, and then assistant to, Dr. Mansfield, who for some years held an appointment at Kumamoto under the Japanese Government.

The first converts at Kumamoto.

Kumamoto is thus claimed and, so far, established as a third important out-station of the Nagasaki Mission. Let me ask the prayers of all interested in the Society's work in Japan, that at this new centre, and also at Saga and Kagoshima, the Lord's blessing may rest abundantly upon the preaching and teaching of His blessed Gospel, that the little bands of Christians may be faithful and consistent, growing in the knowledge and love of God, and that they may labour zealously and successfully in turning many of their countrymen to the saving knowledge of the Truth.

H.M.S. Iron Duke, the flag-ship on the China naval station, was at Nagasaki in May, 1880, and Admiral Coote manifested much interest in the Society's work there. Subsequently Mr. Maundrell received the following letter:—

H.M.S. "Vigilant," May 27th, 1880.

Testimony of Admiral Coote.

DEAR MR. MAUNDRELL,—Having visited your little College, it has been much on my mind that an effort should be made to render it more efficient; and finding that there is every probability of getting more Japanese young men for training as teachers, and eventually for ordination, I have much pleasure in placing at your disposal $500 towards increasing the present small collegiate building, with the hope that the Committee of the C.M.S. will see the necessity of sending, at an early date, a thoroughly efficient helper in the educational department. You are at liberty to communicate my views to the Secretary of the C.M.S.

Wishing you much success in your Master's service,

I am, yours truly,

R. COOTE.

OSAKA.

The Rev. H. Evington was alone at this station during the greater part of the year; but the Rev. C. F. Warren returned to his post in December, and the Rev. G. H. Pole, B.A., of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, an Englishman formerly in the employ of the Japanese Government, has also joined the Mission; since which time Mr. Evington has come home for a while.

Progress at Osaka.

The number of Christian adherents at Osaka is fifty-three, of whom twenty-four are communicants. Eight adults were baptized during the year. The whole number baptized since the station was opened in 1874 is forty-one. There have been removals both to and from other places, and two deaths; and there are now ten catechumens. "Our progress," writes Mr. Evington, "has been slow and quiet. The Christians have stood firm, and have perhaps given as little cause for anxiety as any congregation of equal size. Although we should be glad to see a little more aggressiveness among them, the coming of some of the catechumens must be attributed solely to their personal and private efforts." The numerous services and classes of various kinds which have from the beginning been characteristic of the Osaka Mission have been diligently carried on, and the Lord's blessing constantly invoked upon the seed thus sown. At the book-store, 650 copies of Scripture and 2143 other books have been sold. In September Mr. Evington visited Shikoku, the fourth island in size of the Japanese Archipelago, in which there is as yet little Protestant Missionary effort. "Many of the officials," he says,

Greek Christians in Japan.

"came to see me several times. I met also many of the converts to the Greek faith, of whom there were about thirty in the old castle town of Tokushima. They came to question me as to our differences. I pointed out to them the Word of God as the one standard of doctrine, and Christ as the only Mediator."

TOKIO.

The Rev. John Piper and the Rev. John Williams were the Society's missionaries in the capital of Japan during the year. Mr. Piper has since returned home.

There are thirty-two Christian adherents of the Society's Mission at Tokio, of whom fifteen are communicants. Five adults were baptized during the year. There is a day school, well worked by "a thoroughly good, earnest, Japanese Christian" named Tsurumoto, which has succeeded beyond expectation; and the Sunday school also has given encouragement. Mr. Piper reports as follows:—

We have had five adult baptisms during the year. One young man baptized in the middle of the year came from Osaka, where he had heard and read a good deal about Jesus and His love from our brethren Warren and Evington. And they rejoiced with us when they heard that I had the pleasure of admitting one into Christ's Church whom they had gladly taught a year before—one who, though seemingly "not far from the Kingdom of God," could not make up his mind to take the final step when in Osaka. The other four whom I baptized the last Sunday we were in Japan are the father, aunt, elder brother and sister of Tsurumoto San—an account of whose conversion I gave in my report for 1878. Then he was a policeman, now he is the Master in our Day-school. When Tsurumoto San first began to read about Christianity his wife and most of his relatives were devoted idolators. And humanly speaking nothing seemed more unlikely than that his wife and father especially should become Christians. But "nothing is too hard for the Lord." Five years ago there was not one Christian in the family—now there are eight. And I believe these four whom I last baptized were mainly brought to God by Tsurumoto's consistency and earnestness, combined with a Bible class which Mrs. Piper carried on at the father's home.

Conversion of convert's relatives.

In addition to taking my full share in the Christian services and evangelistic labours connected with the station, and, of course, the duties of secretary, I prepared a Japanese Reference Testament. It contains nearly 12,000 references. They are taken from the "Revised English Bible," which came out about four years ago.* I not only prepared the work, but jointly with Mr. Lilley, the agent of the National Bible Society of Scotland, read the proof sheets when printing. It was a tedious and wearisome work, but I think the good which, with God's blessing, it is calculated to do to the Church of Christ in Japan will be an abundant reward for all my toil. May God accept it as done for His glory! I prepared also a "Life of Christ in the words of the Evangelists," after the plan of a good little book compiled and arranged by a lady in America. An edition of 10,000 copies is being printed by the R. T. Society. The Reference Testament is being brought out by the two British Bible Societies (the B. and F., and the Scottish). Stereotyped plates have been prepared which will print 40,000 copies.

Japanese Christian literature.

* Not the Revised New Testament lately issued.

I may also mention that the Permanent Committee appointed in 1878 by all Protestant Missionaries in Japan to carry out the translation of the Bible have adopted, with some changes, my translation of three of the Minor Prophets, which I had prepared for a special purpose. They are the first whole books of the Old Testament translated into Japanese.

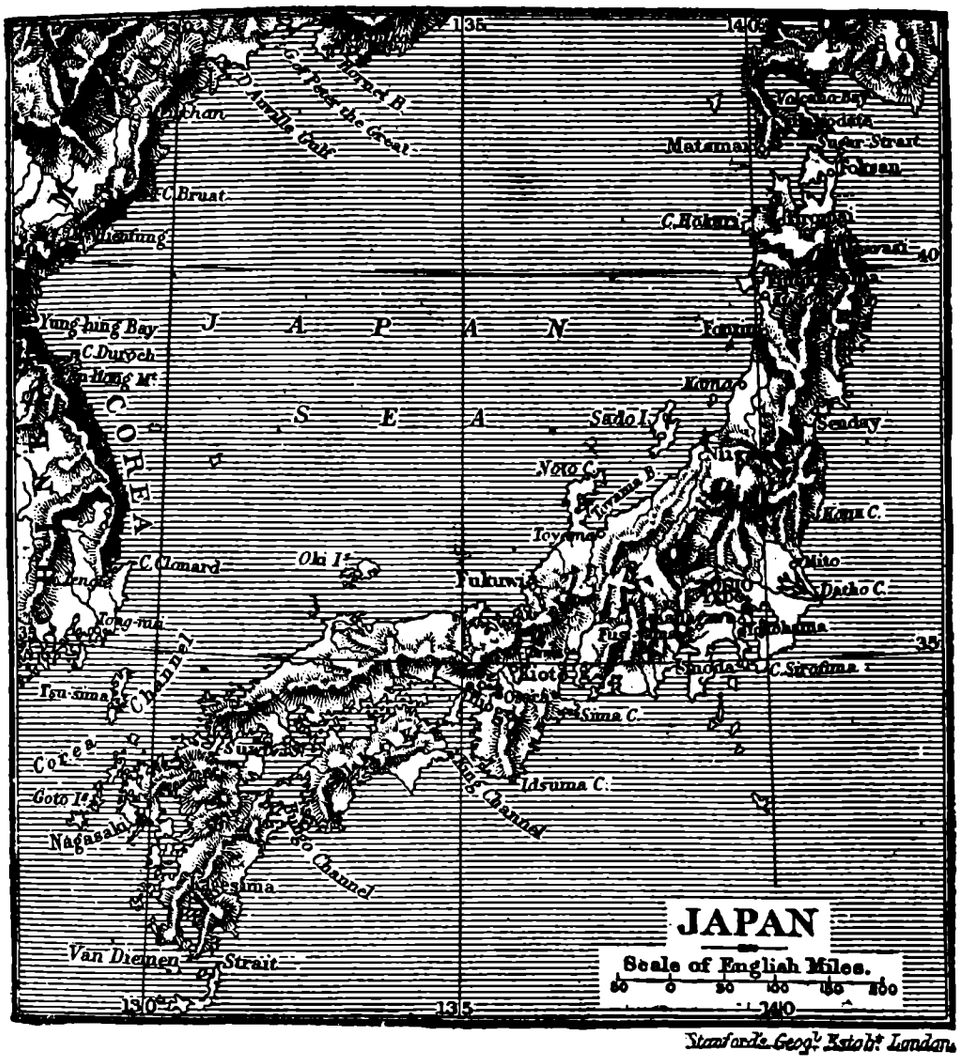

Perhaps the most hopeful feature of missionary work in Japan at present is the large sale of portions of Scripture. Thousands of copies are put into circulation every month. Mr. Williams gives an interesting account of a C.M.S. convert who is a colporteur:—

A Japanese Bible Colporteur.

One truly encouraging feature in connexion with the work in Japan is the large sale of various portions of the Scriptures. In Tokio alone, large numbers are sold, and throughout the country thousands of copies are monthly being put into circulation. One of the Christians in connexion with our C.M.S. Mission has for some months past been employed as a colporteur by the British and Foreign Bible Society, and has done good service in that capacity. He is a shrewd man of business, and a thoroughly earnest Christian; and through his instrumentality a large number of copies of the Scriptures have been put into the hands of the people, his sales at times being over 300 books per month. On the afternoon of New Year's Day he and Tsurumoto (our schoolmaster) went out together into the main street, and in two hours sold fifty-seven portions to the people passing by. He has a small cart, something like a truck, on which he transports from place to place the box containing his books. Choosing a suitable place, he opens his box, displays his wares, begins to address the crowd, which soon collects, and forthwith sales commence. When one remembers that not long ago this man was a heavy drinker, and, though a married man, guilty of sins which cannot be mentioned here, the great change which has been wrought in him by God's grace surely ought to evoke feelings of the liveliest gratitude. His rejoicing wife says the change is as great as though he had been born over again. May we not say that he has in very truth been born again?

The Rev. P. K. Fyson has continued his solitary and faithful labours at this station, but again without the encouragement of visible success. There are still only six adherents, of whom four are communicants. The Committee deeply sympathize with Mr. Fyson in the "long patience" he is called upon to exercise in waiting for the "precious fruit," and rejoice that in the meanwhile so hearty a testimony to the thoroughness of his work should have been borne as appears in Miss Isabella Bird's book already alluded to. She says, referring both to Mr. Fyson and to Dr. Palm, of the Edinburgh Medical Mission,—

Miss Bird on the Niigata Mission.

I have the highest respect for both the Niigata missionaries. They are true, honest, conscientious men, not sanguine or enthusiastic, but given up to the work of making Christianity known in the way which seems best to each of them, because they believe it to be the work indicated by the Master.

Mr. and Mrs. Fyson offer what is very important in this land of loose morals, the example of a virtuous Christian home in which servants are treated with consideration and justice, and in which a singularly sensitive conscientiousness penetrates even the smallest details. Mrs. Fyson speaks colloquial Japanese readily, has a Bible-class, and is on very friendly terms with many of her female neighbours, who talk to her confidentially, and in whom she feels a great interest. Her real regard for the Japanese women, and the sympathetic, womanly way in which she enters not only into their difficulties, but into their different notions of morals, please me much.

Mr. Fyson itinerates. He finds strong prejudices against Christianity in the country, and extreme indifference in the city. Among the lower classes it is believed that the missionaries are in the pay of the English Government with a view to ulterior political designs; that the eyes of converts are taken out immediately after death, if not before, to be used in the preparation of an ointment; that the missionaries have the power to spirit away money which has been carefully concealed, and the like!

The local authorities of Echigo make no actual opposition to the promulgation of Christianity, and until lately the rural priests were indifferent to it. On one occasion a Shintô priest gave Mr. Fyson leave to preach in a place belonging to him, with the remark that the country was "sunk in Buddhism," and on another a Buddhist priest allowed him to preach from the steps of a temple.

There are many persons who have learned enough about Christianity to admit its reasonableness and its superiority to other religions in point of morality, but who are so indifferent to all religion that they go no farther. As the outward and visible sign of three years of earnest work Mr. Fyson has baptized seven persons, with five of whom I received the communion according to the English form. He has a very energetic and intelligent Native catechist who itinerates and collects considerable audiences,

HAKODATE.

At this northernmost treaty-port, in the island of Yezo, the Rev. Walter Dening has continued to labour with untiring zeal during the year. Mr. J. Batchelor, who works under him as a student-missionary, is assiduously cultivating a knowledge of the Aino people and language. Mr. Dening has also been joined by Miss Jane Caspari, formerly of the Society's Sierra Leone Mission, and the Committee earnestly trust she may quickly gain a blessed influence over the Japanese women.

The work of the year has been, by the mercy of God, of a decidedly encouraging character. There have been eleven adult baptisms, and the number of adherents is now thirty-five, of whom nineteen are communicants. The church which perished in the great fire of December, 1879, has been replaced by a smaller one, and the congregations vary from 30 to 100 persons. Mr. Dening has accomplished some important literary work. He has translated the Books of Samuel and part of Jeremiah, at the request of the Bible Translation Committee; also Mozley's Lecture on Miracles Necessary for a Revelation; and has written two small books, on the Need of a Revelation and on the Authority and Inspiration of the Old Testament. At four out-stations, Ono, Arikawa, Wanaye, and Ki Kiyo, the Gospel has been regularly preached, with varying success. At the first and last of these there are interesting cases of conviction and conversion:—

At Ono there is one who seems very near the kingdom of God. He is a Samurai, and one of no ordinary type, naturally brave, honest, and candid; he has received a liberal education, and is noted in Hakodate for his knowledge of Chinese. Last year this man read the New Testament through three times, and studied diligently various Chinese Christian books. He now identifies himself with us entirely, and whenever an attack is made on our teaching boldly stands up on Christ's side. He is devising all kinds of schemes for the advance of Christianity. Among others he is thinking of forming a Christian agricultural village, and also of opening a school for the benefit of the farmers' children.

At Ki Kiyo, Sakaguchi, the Government officer in charge of the farm, received baptism on August 18th. His wife and mother are undergoing instruction with a view to being baptized, and will, it is anticipated, be received into the visible Church some time this year. He is a man full of faith and spiritual earnestness, who seems to see God's hand in all the events of his life.

But it is concerning the remote Japanese colony of Satsuporo or Sapporo, in the heart of Yezo, and the Christian

Students of the Agricultural College there, that the reports are most deeply interesting. At this College, an American scientific professor and an English lady planted; Mr. Dening watered; God gave the increase; and now, through Mr. Dening's further planting, the fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters, and future brides of these students are becoming trees in the garden of the Lord. In June, 1880, the grandmother, mother, and fiancée of the convert Ito (whose name is familiar to readers of the Society's publications) were baptized; and in October, a man named Nakamura, his wife, his mother, and his son, and also Ito's father and brother. Relatives of other students are inquirers. One brief extract may be given, as showing the character of this work:—

June 6th.—Went to Nakamura's house. Found a large class assembled, with Nakamura himself sitting down in the middle of his family. These family gatherings are intensely interesting, and remind one very vividly of those Christian families, who, as Bishop Lightfoot has so well pointed out, formed in so many towns in the days of the Apostle Paul centres of Christian light and influence which gradually made itself felt in every part of the town. There were Nakamura, his wife and mother, his son and daughter, and the maid-servant, all in their best clothes. Then there were present various members of the Ito family. Our own two little girls were there as quiet listeners and spectators of the scene. The room was decorated with pretty flowers, very tastefully arranged. It was a cool breezy afternoon, and as we sung together the first hymn I felt a thrill of joy and thankfulness pass through me, and I seemed to see signs of the dawn of a brighter day than any we have yet witnessed.

Miss Bird's book also contains some interesting notices of the Hakodate Mission. "Mr. Dening's missionary zeal," she says, "is perfectly indefatigable." . . . . "He gives his time, strength, and heart to his work, with a vigour, energy, and enthusiasm which could not be surpassed, and which are unchilled by opposition or disappointment."*

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810; proceeded to New Zealand, 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Northern Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Auckland.
II. Eastern Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Waiapu.
III. Western Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Wellington.

THE accounts from New Zealand have for some time past been meagre and incomplete; and in a recent letter Bishop Stuart observes that the statistical tables prefixed to the Society's Annual Reports much understate the real number of Native Christians. Next year, it is hoped, full returns will be supplied. The letters received, however, are sufficient to show that much good work is being done. The Committee observe with much thankfulness the faithful testimony still borne among both the white and Native races, notwithstanding the infirmities of age, by their veteran brethren Ashwell, Matthews, Spencer, and Archdeacon Brown, as well as the active services of men like Archdeacons Clarke and Leonard Williams, and several others, and the consistency and diligence of the twenty-eight Maori clergy. Nor must they fail to recognize with gratitude the zealous labours in behalf of the Maori population of the three Bishops of the Northern Island, Dr. Cowie of Auckland, Dr. Hadfield of Wellington, and Dr. Stuart of Waiapu, the two latter of whom are still missionaries of the Society. The European staff has received an important addition in the person of the Rev.T. S. Grace, son of the late veteran missionary of that name, who has hitherto been labouring with much acceptance as a colonial clergyman in the diocese of Nelson, but whose intimate knowledge of the Maori people, among whom his younger days were passed, and of their language, has marked him out for a missionary's life.

The Missionary Staff in New Zealand.

The work among the Maoris differs very much in the several districts of New Zealand. In the Tauranga and Opotiki districts, and on the Upper Waikato and Wanganui rivers, Hauhauism still prevails among some tribes, though there are decided indications of a return to the true faith, despite the influence of the still disaffected chief, Te Whiti, and of a new religious (if not political) leader, Te Kôti. But north of Auckland, and on the east coast, the work is now entirely pastoral: there are no adult baptisms, because there are no heathen left; but Christian profession is not always heart conversion, and the Gospel in its simplicity needs to be preached, and is preached, to the church-going Native population, as to the unconverted at home. In matters of external worship and administration of the Church, there is much to be thankful for. The Native Church Boards are highly successful institutions; and church building goes on vigorously at the cost of the people themselves. In those districts from which reports have reached the Committee this year, six new Churches are mentioned as having been opened, and three others as in course of erection.

The Committee have received with interest a Report on the Mission which has been furnished to them by one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, Arthur Mills, Esq., who has been visiting the antipodes and has been in consultation with Bishop Stuart and others respecting the administration of the Society's landed property in New Zealand and the employment of the revenue derived therefrom. For many years the experienced Secretary of the Mission, the Rev. R. Burrows, has conducted this business, which has often been of a troublesome and complicated character. The Society is deeply indebted to him for his assiduous labours, and the Committee trust that they may now be enabled to make such arrangements as shall relieve him of the necessity of bearing so heavy a burden alone.

The late Sir W. Martin.

The Committee cannot pass without notice the death, in December last, of one who for more than thirty years was a benefactor and fellow-labourer of the Mission, Sir William Martin, formerly Chief Judge of New Zealand. He not only loved the Natives, and promoted to the utmost mission work amongst them; but he himself had a large share in the training of almost all the Maori candidates for holy orders who passed through St. Stephen's College between 1860 and 1874, and moreover compiled for their use Notes on the Gospels and other works in their own tongue; and they loved and revered him as a father.

I. Northern Division: Auckland.

1. Bay of Islands (Paihia and Waimate), commenced 1814; 2. Auckland (Hauraki), 1833; 3. Kaitaia, 1834; 4. Waikato, 1840.

The Missionaries in this division are the Rev. R. Burrows, Secretary, who resides at Auckland; the Ven. Edward B. Clarke, Archdeacon of Waimate; the Rev. Joseph Matthews, Kaitaia; the Rev. F. T. Baker, Te Kopuru; and the Rev. Benjamin Y. Ashwell, who has been in charge of the Waikato district.

Maori Clergy and their parishes.

In the ARCHDEACONRY OF WAIMATE, comprising the greater part of the country north of Auckland, there are between 5000 and 6000 Maori Christians. These are ministered to by nine Maori clergymen, viz. at Parengarenga, the extreme northern point of New Zealand, the Rev. Rupene Paerata; at Manganui, the Rev. Renata Tangata; at Ahipara, the Rev. Reinhara Kamiti; at Hokianga, the Rev. Piripi Patiki; at Waimamaku, the Rev. Wiki Te Paa; at Kaikohe, the Rev. Matiu Kapa; at Waimate, the Rev. Hare Peka Taua; at Paihia, the Rev. Meinata Te Hara; and at Wangarei, the Rev. Alexander Wharemu. The nature of their work is graphically described by Archdeacon Clarke, as follows:—

Parochial work in New Zealand.

The archdeaconry is divided into parochial districts, each under its own minister, and to a clergyman at home the charge of 800 or 1000 souls may not seem a very heavy burden, but it must be remembered that here this population is scattered over an area of sixty or more miles square. These are living in parties of from 150 to 25, several miles apart, so that to visit them every two months entails any amount of travelling. It is in no boastful spirit that I state that, as a rule, neither I nor the two clergy near me (by near I mean eleven and fifteen miles) sleep more than one Sunday night in a month at home, and on those days we usually ride from twelve to sixteen miles to some near out-station.

For eight months in the year most of the people are engaged digging gum. You come across them in threes and fours in the most out-of-the-way places, fifteen or twenty miles from their homes. These gum-fields, as they are called, are thousands of acres in extent, and resemble the bleak moors of Scotland. While thus employed the Natives live in miserable sheds, and are consequently subject to much sickness. During these months their places are left under the care of those who, through age or other causes, are unable to bear the fatigue and privation of the life of the gum-digger. Thus, it is strictly shepherd's work, following up the scattered, if not lost sheep, in the wilderness. On the occasion of our stated visits they return to their homes for a day or two, then disperse for weeks.

Native Church Funds.

In all the stations the services have been conducted with great regularity, and the congregations have been as large as formerly. In fact all attend. By means of weekly or monthly offertories the churches throughout the district present a neater appearance than ever. A handsome church at Oromahoe, six miles from here, has been finished, and is now in use. It cost 300*l*., and is capable of accommodating the entire population of the surrounding settlements. The people of Whangaroa are busy with their Pastoral Endowment Fund, and will soon have a sufficient sum on hand to justify the appointment of a Native minister to take charge of them.

"I trust," adds the Archdeacon, "that because little is written from this district, you will not think that little is going on. The work has assumed an uneventful character, though not the less real; the leaven is influencing all quarters, and has its effect even upon the scattered European population."

Little written: not little going on.

The Rev. J. Matthews, at Kaitaia, still regularly conducts Sunday services, but is unable now to travel much, and this is rendered unnecessary by the increased provision of Native clergy. The Rev. F. T. Baker, from his station at Te Kopuru, on the Wairoa river (to be distinguished from Wairoa on the East Coast) superintends a considerable area north of the Kaipara gulf, and regularly instructs the Native lay readers who preach at the different gum-digging stations alluded to in the above extract from Archdeacon Clarke's letter. Mr. Baker mentions that at two neighbouring settlements, where the Maoris have only lately, by great efforts, succeeded in raising money to purchase from the European owners the land on which they have settled, they are already turning their attention to the erection of houses of prayer, and making periodical collections for that purpose. He speaks in very warm terms of the youngest of the Maori clergy, the Rev. Wiki Te Paa, who was ordained in January, 1880, and whose district lies just to the north of that under Mr. Baker's charge :—

A young Maori Clergyman.

I have received most valuable assistance from the Rev. Wiki Te Paa, the Maori clergyman of Waimamaku, near Hokianga. He visits my people in the Kaihu Valley once in six weeks, and has acquired a wonderful influence among them for good. He is really a most excellent young man, and gives great promise of being a valuable accession to the workers in this part of our Lord's vineyard. He is the junior Native deacon of our diocese, and is now reading for priest's orders, partly with Archdeacon Clarke, and partly with me. It affords me the greatest pleasure to be able to help such an earnest and bright young fellow.

South of the Archdeaconry of Waimate, there are several stations occupied by Native clergymen, concerning which no reports have been received for some time. The Rev. Wiremu Pomare, one of the Bishop of Auckland's chaplains, is stationed at Mahurangi, whence he visits the Kaipara district proper (south and east of the Kaipara gulf). This district was formerly occupied by the Rev. G. Maunsell, now of Opotiki, who observing the incompleteness of the information in previous Reports, has kindly sent some particulars of his old sphere of labour. He states that there are about 1200 Maori Christians, and that at Kaipara a church has been built by them at a cost of 336*l*. He also refers to the old Thames district south of Auckland, and to its central station, Hauraki, where the Rev. Wiremu Turipona is now located. Here, too, a new church is being built. These two Native clergymen look to Mr. Burrows as their adviser, but they are both tried and trusted men, and are practically in independent charge of their districts. In the Waikato district there are two ordained Maoris, the Rev. Hohua Moanaroa at Waikato Heads (the mouth of the river), and the Rev. Heta Tarawhiti at Hopuhopu, near Taupiri. The latter works under Mr. Ashwell, who has visited the district when his failing health permitted, though he is now obliged to make his home at Auckland. Mr. Tarawhiti continues to visit the "King country," where, notwithstanding the still prevailing disaffection, he is well received.

At St. Stephen's College, at Auckland, Maori students are maintained by the Society. In their training Mr. Burrows takes an active part; but no report has been received concerning this department of work.

Maori Church Board.

The Maori Church Board for the whole diocese of Auckland met at Maramatawhana, in the Kaipara district, in March of the present year. The meeting was held in a new church lately built by the Rev. W. Pomare's people (probably the same that is alluded to above). The Bishop of Auckland presided. Twelve Maori and twenty-five Maori laymen were present. A touching letter was drawn up to be sent to their "dear mother, Lady Martin," the widow of Sir. W. Martin.

II. Eastern Division: Waiapu.

1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Rotorua and Maketu, 1835; 3. Turanga, or Gisborne (now including Wairoa), 1840; 4. Waiapu (East Cape), 1842; 5. Napier (Te Aute or Mohaka), 1844.

Bishop Stuart resides at Napier, which is at the south end of the diocese. Beginning at the north-western end, the stations and labourers are as follows:—At Tauranga, Archdeacon Alfred N. Brown, who is now almost laid aside by increasing age and infirmities; the Rev. G. Maunsell, who, however, was to move to Opotiki at the beginning of this year; and Mr. T. W. Duffus, a lay agent who has been doing active work among the scattered Maoris. At Rotorua, the

NEW ZEALAND (NORTH ISLAND)

Stanford's Geographical Estab.t 6 & 7 Charing Cross.

Rev. S. M. Spencer, who is now quite beyond missionary work. At Maketu, the Rev. Ihaia Te Ahu, the only Native clergyman in this part of New Zealand, who "is a martyr to asthma, but does what he can at the lakes." In the north-eastern corner of the island is the Waiapu district proper, in which are stationed five Native clergymen, viz., the Rev. Wiremu Paraire at Kawakawa (Hicks' Bay); the Rev. Mohi Turei, at Rangitukia; the Rev. Raniera Kawhia, at Whareponga; the Rev. Rihare Rangamaro, at Reporua; and the Rev. Matiaha Pahewa, at Tokomaru. Then coming southwards along the coast, the modern town of Gisborne is reached, where Archdeacon W. Leonard Williams resides; and still further south, Wairoa, where have been stationed the two younger missionaries sent out three years ago, the Revs. J. S. Hill and W. Goodyear. On this part of the coast there are four Maori clergymen, viz., the Rev. Kerehona Piwaka, at Whangara (north of Gisborne); the Rev. Rutene Te Aihu, at Turanga (close to Gisborne); the Rev. Hone Pohutu, at Table Cape; and the Rev. Tamihana Huata, at Wairoa. Further south again, thirty miles S.W. of Napier is Te Aute, the headquarters of the Rev. Samuel Williams; and in the neighbourhood is yet another ordained Native, the Rev. Hone Te Wainohu, at Mohaka.

For the Tauranga and Opotiki districts, the Rev. G. Maunsell returns 550 and 1220 Natives as "attendants at Divine service"; but of these he only counts 436 as "Christian adherents." This is because the new heresy of Te Kôti has spread rapidly among the people; besides which a good deal of sympathy has been felt by them with their disaffected countrymen in the Taranaki district on the west coast. The Rev. S. M. Spencer returns the number of Christian adherents in the Rotorua district as 3000; but it will be gathered from the list of labourers already given that this part of New Zealand, indeed the whole Archdeaconry of Tauranga, where the Maoris are numerous, is badly supplied with Mission agencies, and needs reorganization and revival.

In the East Coast districts there are several thousands of Christian Maoris, but detailed returns are wanting. The letters in which Bishop Stuart from time to time relates his visits to the various villages tell of much that is encouraging in (at least) their outward interest in religion, though here, as elsewhere, an outpouring of the Holy Spirit may be regarded as the one thing needful. The influence of Te Kôti, however, it is feared is on the increase. Archdeacon Williams writes:— The new Te Kôti heresy.

Evidence is not wanting that there are great numbers of our people who are not at all firmly settled in the faith. One of the clearest indications of this at the present time, is the fact that a considerable number at Wairoa and in that neighbourhood have been led away by Te Kôti's so-called religion; while others in this neighbourhood have travelled all the way to Waikato, for the purpose of consulting Te Kôti with reference to cases of sickness, &c. Were it not for the well-known perversity of the human heart, it would be difficult to account for the fascination which this system seems to have for a great number of the people. In some places, no doubt, a great part of the charm lies in the fact that, though passing under the name of religion, and making an outward show of reverence for the Supreme Being, it serves merely as a cloak for licentiousness. This however is not altogether the case at Wairoa, where a number of those who use Te Kôti's form of worship lead respectable lives, and also attend our services. It is another illustration of the truth of our Lord's saying, "If another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive."

Archdeacon Williams's Theological Class at Gisborne has been continued, though on a small scale. At Napier, Bishop Stuart has a Voluntary Theological Class for Maori lay readers, which is held weekly, and is attended by from 12 to 18 of these useful labourers in the Maori villages.

A voluntary Theological Class costing nothing.

"It has been held," he writes, "every Friday since Trinity Sunday, till last week, twenty-three lectures in all. Even in the wet and inclement days of the winter the men came regularly. Few have ever missed. They came from distances of from eight to twelve miles, and entirely at their own charges. Latterly my daughter has taken in hand to improve their singing, as they have generally to lead the hymns in their services. This has interested them very much, and several of the wives have come to the class for the singing lesson." "These lay-readers," he says in another letter, "are all unpaid agents, and always have been in the New Zealand Mission. I drill them in a sermon, an outline of which I prepare with the help of my Maori youth Edmund, who came with us from St. Stephen's, and they each get a copy of the outline, which my daughter prints off in the multigraph. This class doesn't cost a penny to any one but the men themselves, as they pay their own expenses of train hire or ferry boat, and ride their own beasts. In these days of financial deficit this is satisfactory."

In the same letter the Bishop mentions that he can now preach to the Maoris in their own tongue. "It is a great joy to me to be able once again, as in old Indian days, to declare to the people in their own tongue the wonderful works of God, and to have an open door before me to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ."

An outlying Maori Mission.

It is a fact well known to the readers of this Report that almost the whole Maori population of New Zealand is in the Northern Island, the scene of all missionary labours from the first. There are, however, a few scattered bands in the Middle Island, where the population is almost wholly colonial. At the invitation of the Bishop of Dunedin, whose diocese is the southernmost of all, Archdeacon Williams proceeded thither at the begining of the present year, and visited the Maoris there, who number more than 900 souls, scattered along a coast line of 270 miles. They are all professing Christians, and are ministered to by a Maori clergyman from Auckland diocese, the Rev. Eruera Hurutara Te Ngara, part of whose stipend has been paid, as in the case of the Native clergy in the Northern Island, out of the rents of the Society's lands.

III. Western Division: Wellington.

First occupied by Bishop Hadfield in 1839. 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Wairarapa, re-occupied, 1877.

Besides the venerable Bishop Hadfield, the only C.M.S. missionary, indeed the only Maori-speaking English clergyman labouring in this southern diocese during the past year, was the Rev. James McWilliam, at Otaki. The Rev. T. S. Grace, therefore, the addition of whose name to the Society's roll has been already mentioned, and who has taken charge of the extensive Wanganui district, has naturally received a warm welcome. There are four Maori clergymen, viz., the Rev. Rewiri Te Wanui, also at Otaki; the Rev. Henari Te Werekau, at Manawhatu; the Rev. Pineaha Te Mahauariki, at Wairarapa; and the Rev. Arona Te Haua, at Wanganui. The whole number of Native Christian adherents is about 2500.

Mr. McWilliam's Annual Letter gives a favourable account of the Natives in his district, notwithstanding the boldness of the emissaries of Te Whiti, who, as in previous years, make constant efforts to sow the seeds of discontent amongst them. At one large Hauhau village, the people desired to make a public and formal renunciation of their errors, and to be received back into the Church; and they sent and asked Mr. McWilliam to visit them for that purpose. He was hoping soon to undertake the journey, eighty-two miles. A pleasant example of Native Christian conduct in both prosperity and adversity is given in the following extract:—

Another new church.

I have had the pleasure and satisfaction of opening another Native church in this district. It was wholly built by the Natives of a village called Ngawhakarana, about fifty miles up the Manawatu River. It is neatly and strongly built of timber, and in very good style, well painted without, and varnished within, and provided with a good bell. It will seat about 150 persons. There were nearly 200 present at the opening, and forty partook of the Holy Communion. I preached from Psalm cxxvii. 1, "Except the Lord build the house, their labour is but lost that build it." The collection amounted to 7*l.* 10*s.* The people seemed all pleased and thankful that they had been enabled to finish their church, and that they should henceforth have regular services and communions. I left them happy and prosperous, their green fields and plantations smiling around them, their flocks and herds feeding in abundance.

Conduct of Maori Christians in prosperity,

When I next visited them in May all was changed. They had been afflicted by a terrible flood, higher than it has been known to rise for many years. It also came on most unexpectedly in the middle of autumn, and it caused immense damage. Happily only two human lives were lost, but the whole of their crops, just harvested, were swept away. A mere remnant of their domestic animals were saved. The water stood ten feet deep over all their fields for two or three days, and the country being almost a perfect level, there was no escape, all but a few sheep and pigs saved in canoes perished in the water. When the flood subsided, the whole face of the country was changed. A deposit of sand and mud, four and five feet deep, was left over all their fields. The water had stood in the church up to the level of the communion-table, and nearly all their books were spoiled. Yet notwithstanding this severe visitation, and a prediction uttered by a Hauhau prophet, that this was but a beginning of the evils that were to befall them if they did not listen to his teaching, I was pleased and astonished to find them so resigned and trustful in God. They said, "He knows best. He can bring good out of this evil." And so it was, for He opened the hearts of their Native Christian brethren up and down the coast, and a plentiful supply of provision and seed for the next year was at once sent them, and when I last visited them in September their fields were again fenced and planted, with the promise of an abundant harvest. Only three or four persons afraid of the prophet's prediction had joined his cause; the rest were all as earnest and steadfast as ever.

and in adversity.

NORTH-WEST AMERICA MISSION.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Southern Division, co-extensive with the Diocese of Rupert's Land.
II. Eastern Division, co-extensive with the Diocese of Moosonee.
III. Western Division, co-extensive with the Diocese of Saskatchewan.
IV. Northern Division, co-extensive with the Diocese of Athabasca.

UNDER the four devoted and energetic Bishops of Rupert's Land, Saskatchewan, Moosonee, and Athabasca, missionary work in the Great North-West of British America continues to extend in all directions. The Committee have sometimes been tempted to doubt whether, in the face of the overwhelming needs of Africa, India, and China, it is right to devote so many men and so much money to the remnant of the Red Indian tribes. But, as Henry Venn wrote twenty years ago, though "they are now only the remains of nations," yet "they are living remains;" and the Red Indians are in a peculiar sense the children of the Church Missionary Society, for almost the whole of the work of carrying to them the pure Gospel of Christ (as distinct from the adulterated Christianity of Rome) has been done by it, and almost every one of the ten thousand Protestant Christians among them is the fruit of its labours. The Committee are taking steps for gradually relieving the Society of the pastoral care of the settled Christian Crees and Sotos in the diocese of Rupert's Land, although, looking at the poverty of the Indians, and the heavy burden laid upon the struggling Colonial Church to provide spiritual ministrations for the thousands of immigrants from Canada and Europe, it is difficult to see where the needful resources are to come from. In the Moosonee and Athabasca dioceses, although the great majority of the Indians now profess Christianity (either Protestant or Romish), there are still fewer sources of support for even the humblest Church provision; but Bishops Horden and Bompas are doing their best to keep their demands on the Society at the lowest figure. But in all four dioceses there are Indians yet unevangelized—in the Saskatchewan diocese many thousands—and the Society must look forward to many years of purely missionary work among them.

square miles in extent. In some cases the solitary evangelist can never see a fellow-labourer more than once in two or three years, and moreover is strenuously opposed, and his influence undermined to the utmost, by perhaps six or eight Romish priests and nuns, whose self-denying energy compels our admiration, while their teaching—which amounts to little more than the worship of the Queen of Heaven and the wearing of metal crucifixes as charms—is deeply to be deplored. In very few instances indeed, however, notwithstanding their repeated efforts, have they succeeded in seducing from their allegiance to the truth the Christian Indians connected with the Society. On the other hand, numerous instances of the simple message of God's love being grasped by the most ignorant and degraded, and making them indeed new creatures in heart and life, have rewarded the labourers among Crees, Sotos, Chipewyans, Loucheux, and Esquimaux.

Claims of the Diocese of Rupert's Land.

THE Committee have to thank the Bishop of Rupert's Land for a long and weighty letter on the circumstances and prospects of his diocese. His Lordship earnestly represents that its condition is not fully understood in this country, and, in particular, he corrects a statement in last year's Report that in the Dioceses of Rupert's Land and Moosonee the work is "gradually assuming a pastoral character," and that "arrangements are carefully made so that, as far as possible, not one soul may be altogether uncared for."* If the Committee somewhat overstated the case in these words, and if they have estimated too highly the missionary success to which the Bishop's own energy and munificence have so largely contributed, it is owing to the scantiness of the information which for some years past has reached them from this part of the field. They certainly were not prepared for the Bishop's statement that "a large proportion, perhaps half, of the Indians in the diocese of Rupert's Land are still heathen." They have felt it right under the circumstances to suspend some retrenchments which had been contemplated in the Society's expenditure in this diocese, while at the same time pressing for reductions in the estimates for those stations where the work is now distinctly pastoral.

* This remark was made of both dioceses only in the Abstract of the Report. In the volume corresponding to this one it was made only of Moosonee.

The Missions in Rupert's Land may be grouped in three divisions:—(1) the Province of Manitoba, which the Bishop suggests may sometimes have been confounded with his diocese, of which it forms, he remarks, only about a sixteenth part; (2) the districts west of Manitoba, extending to the diocese of Saskatchewan; (2) the districts east of Manitoba, extending to the borders of Canada.

In MANITOBA, the Society's missionaries and stations are as follows:—Archdeacon Abraham Cowley and the Rev. R. Young, Joint Secretaries, the former residing at Lisgar, and the latter at St. Andrew's, both on Red River; the Rev. H. George, at St. Mary's, La Prairie; the Rev. Patrick Bruce (Native) at Lansdowne. The Indian Settlement of St. Peter's on Red River, was, during the past year, under the ministerial care of the Rev. G. Cook (country-born), but he has since removed to Touchwood Hills, in the western prairies. Scanterbury is in charge of a catechist. From some of these stations no reports or statistical returns have been received this year. Of St. Andrew's, which is a parish inhabited by a Christian population of mixed descent, Mr. Young reports "quiet, sober, steady progress." The Sunday schools in particular, are "a cheering feature in the work." A branch of the Church of England Temperance Society in this parish has borne fruit in the formation of a central branch in Winnipeg, the capital of the Province, "which has received the co-operation of leading men of the Church of England in the country, and promises with God's blessing to be instrumental in much good." On the Indian reserves, also, the work is mainly pastoral; but there are still some heathen among the settlers, and adult baptisms are reported from time to time. The Rev. G. Cook mentions a Soto Indian named Mā-giro-nu-wa-gun, or Red-quill, a striking illustration of the power of the Gospel. He had been a brave of great reputation, and his body was covered with scars received thirty years ago in fights with the warlike Sioux; besides which he had become a leading medicine-man. But being prostrated by sickness, he turned in humble faith to the Great Physician, and died trustfully resting on His saving might.

St. John's College, of which the Bishop is Warden, and in the teaching connected with which he takes a leading part, is not only an institution of the greatest value to the rising colony, but also a missionary agency for which the Society has cause to be grateful. Among its students are generally five or six holding scholarships provided by the Society, and from these are drawn the Mission agents and future Native and country-born clergy. Part of the grant made for their maintenance and tuition was withdrawn last year under the severe financial pressure which compelled the Committee to order so many reductions, but has since been restored on the Bishop's urgent representations.

The western districts comprise those of SWAN RIVER and CUMBERLAND, and the stations of Fairford, Touchwood Hills, Cumberland, and Devon. At Fairford there is a Native clergyman, the Rev. G. Bruce. At Touchwood Hills the Rev. J. Reader has been labouring, but he has lately removed to Devon, and has been succeeded first by the Rev. B. McKenzie (country-born), and then, as before mentioned, by the Rev. G. Cook. Of the extensive territory of which Touchwood Hills and the old station of Q'Appelle are the centres, the Bishop writes, "Your missionary and catechists there have scarcely touched the heathenism beyond their immediate locality. There is quite as much room for evangelistic effort as in Athabasca. There are many scattered Christian Indians. Emigrants will soon be settling near them. The wave of emigration is fast advancing." Of Devon and the out-stations connected with it, the scene in former years of Henry Budd's labours, Mr. Reader could not give a favourable account on his first arrival. The Committee pray that by his prayerful energy the work may be revived.

The eastern districts comprise Islington, on the Upper Winnipeg River, in FORT ALEXANDER district, where the Rev. Baptiste Spence (Native) is stationed, and whence are visited various settlements of Indians scattered over a wide extent of country; and Fort Francis, in RAINY LAKE district —a still more extensive territory reaching to Canada—where the Rev. Robert Phair is labouring. Of the latter district the Bishop writes:—

A Mission district as large as the British Isles.

Take the Rainy Lake District—over a third of the diocese. Suppose England, Scotland, and Ireland welded into one wild, rugged country. Suppose a European missionary at Oxford, a catechist at Reading, and another at London, along the course of the Thames—to some extent ministering to the bands of Indians along the banks, but unable to reach the Indians scattered throughout the whole land, with twenty Reservations set apart by Government. That would be about the position of Rainy Lake District. I am happy to say, however, that there is more ground for hope than this bare account would give. There is a rapidly growing chain of Christian bands, or bands largely permeated by Christians, along the northern boundary from Islington to Lac Seul, and I find individual Christians in many heathen bands, and a very disintegrating effect going on upon the old heathenism.

Through this "wild, rugged country" the Bishop travelled in the summer of 1880, to visit Mr. Phair's Mission at Fort Francis, where a large number of Indian chiefs and leading men had gathered to meet him. Mr. Spence, who had accompanied the Bishop, "spoke at considerable length, with great power and earnestness setting forth the whole Bible story of the existence of sin, of man's necessity from his sinfulness, of God's one remedy, His so great salvation in Jesus Christ." His "resounding words" were listened to with deep attention, but when the chief of the Fort Francis reserve replied, the burthen of his speech was the old excuse that "white man's religion was very good for white man," but that the red man's religion came from the same God, and was best fitted for them.* Nevertheless, the Bishop came away with the conviction that "if there was a break of moment in their ranks, the progress of Christianity might be expected to be very rapid." And it would seem as if the "break" were, since his visit, beginning to be visible, for Mr. Phair writes, on April 7th of the present year, "more hopefully than heretofore." He has baptized six adults of influence among the Indians, and "quite a number" are asking for baptism. "I have good reason," he says, "to hope that the days of anxious waiting are well-nigh at an end." The Committee earnestly pray that a joyful reaping-time may be at hand.

Hopeful prospects at Fort Francis.

Moose Factory, 1851; York, 1854; Albany, 1855; Little Whale River, 1877.

THE presence of Bishop Horden in this country, on his first visit since his consecration in 1872, has lent additional interest to the Missions in this vast and remote Diocese. In few parts of the world has the Society's work, by the Divine blessing, been so completely successful, so far as those results are concerned which human eyes can see. The whole population of the Diocese does not exceed 6000 souls, and of these four-fifths are now professing Christians, almost the only exceptions being the wandering Eskimos on the two opposite sides of Hudson's Bay. In five of the six districts into which the Diocese is divided there is a resident missionary; at nine of the principal stations there is a church; in all the four languages used, besides English, viz., Cree, Ojibbeway (or Soto), Chipewyan, and Eskimo, there are the beginnings of a Christian literature; and a large proportion of the Indians in all the districts have mastered the syllabic character, and can read and write. Such are the visible results of thirty years' labour; and the Committee thank God that the missionary who has been, in His hands, the leading instrument of effecting them, and who himself began the work, has been already permitted to preside for eight years over the Church in Moosonee as its first Bishop.

The six districts, and the missionaries in charge, are as follows:—(1) MOOSE, comprising Moose Factory, the Bishop's head-quarters, with New Post and Abbitibi; Rev. J. H. Keen. (2) MATAWAKUMMA, comprising the station of that name, with Flying Post, Metachewun, Misenabe, and Brunswick; Rev. John Sanders (Native). (3) RUPERT'S RIVER, comprising Rupert's House, Mistasinee, &c.; visited by the Rev. J. H. Keen or Rev. T. Vincent. (4) EAST MAIN, comprising Fort George, and Great and Little Whale Rivers; Rev. E. J. Peck. (5) ALBANY, comprising Fort Albany, Henley, Martin's Falls, Osnaburgh; Rev. T. Vincent (country-born). (6) YORK, comprising York Factory, Severn, Trout Lake, Churchill, &c.; Rev. G. S. Winter.

Church services among the Red Indians have often been described; but the following interesting extract from a letter of Mr. Keen's, describing a service at Moose Factory, ought not on that account to be passed over:—

A Red Indian Church Service.

You would have enjoyed being with us on Sunday last, June 13th, 1880, at our afternoon Indian service. The attendance was so large that after the church was apparently full I had to go round the room and find room for several still unaccommodated. One of the Indian women undertook the management of the singing for me, and a glorious sound it was—all those voices joining in one of our well-known hymns! One forgets a jarring note or two in the thorough heartiness with which the tune is sustained. I usually have likewise one of the Indians assisting me in the service, by reading the lessons and Psalms from the lectern; but my readers happen at present to be amongst those absent, so I do it all myself. I preached on the story of Dinah—a subject which at once suggests one of the evils we have to combat here. I had, however, I am thankful to say, no particular case in view in selecting the subject, though I saw danger looming in the distance. I could not help feeling, in the course of my sermon, how close the parallel is between Jacob's family at Shechem and our Indians whilst here at this post—the nomads in connexion with the residents, and the same evils liable to result.

Every evening during the week, Saturday excepted, I hold an Indian service in the church, consisting of the day's Psalms, a lesson, a selection from Evening Prayer, and a short sermon. A good many attend as a rule.

The Albany and Rupert's River districts have suffered much from scarcity of food, the latter especially, several Indians having died of starvation. On both these districts the Rev. T. Vincent reports, he having spent ninety-four days in visiting the Rupert's River stations, during which time he travelled 1400 miles, mostly by canoe. Everywhere the services and classes were well attended by earnest and grateful worshippers and learners; though here and there some remnants of heathen superstition were perceptible, and in the districts nearest to Canada there were Roman Catholic Indians who stood aloof. At Albany itself, where Mr. Vincent resides, his life was in imminent peril on one night in May last year, through the breaking up of the ice:—

Peril from a flood of melting ice.

The fall of snow had been unusually heavy; when it melted, our river overflowed its banks to the depth of seven feet: its icy covering was thus broken up, and swept down upon us in great force. Immense masses of ice made their way in all directions. Nothing could resist them, and five houses of the establishment were completely swept away. Our Mission dwelling-house had its verandah fairly broken up, and I believe this saved the body of the building. Our church was also damaged a good deal; one side in particular was almost crushed in, and the tower in part carried away. The Mission flag-staff was cut down as if it had been only a small twig, though a very large spar. Not a stick of fencing was left about our gardens, all was broken down, and large trees were served in the same way. All this took place in a dark, cold, stormy night. We had taken refuge on a staging of trees and underbrush, about 200 yards further back than our dwelling-house from the river; and there we spent a most anxious night. A rise of three feet more of water would have come over our platform, and, as it was, we were completely surrounded by heavy blocks of ice. Yet, in the midst of all this, we were perfectly safe. A loving Father was watching over us. The appearance of the whole place next morning would baffle description; everything seemed imbedded in ice, and indeed it formed one solid pack everywhere. This took place on the 11th May, and in the beginning of July the whole had not yet disappeared.

The last twelve months before Bishop Horden's return to England were spent by him in visiting, for the first time, the stations on the western side of Hudson's Bay. In the last Annual Report it was stated that he had spent the winter of 1879-80 at York, and had visited Churchill. In the following summer he visited Severn and Trout Lake, where he confirmed 157 Indians, and baptized 203. The Bishop writes:—

Episcopal work at Trout Lake.

I reached Trout Lake on June 21st, and in a day or two the place swarmed with Indians, with whom I was constantly engaged from early morning until late at night, except such time as I devoted to those connected with the Hudson's Bay Fort. My first service always commenced at 6.30 a.m., my last terminated about 8.30 p.m. I have never seen eagerness for instruction exhibited more strongly anywhere, while I found the Indians more advanced in knowledge and practice than I had anticipated, and I feel assured that many of these poor folk, some of whom have not sufficient clothing to enable them to appear even decent, will by-and-by stud the Saviour's crown as bright and spotless jewels. The visible results of my work there were 182 baptisms, 102 persons confirmed, 19 marriages, and 4 persons admitted to the Lord's Table, among whom was the gentleman in charge of the Fort, who was likewise confirmed. The Indians purchased 188 hymn-books, and would have purchased likewise nearly as many Prayer-books, had there been any for sale, but unfortunately there were none; and they gave to the Mission 57 beavers, for them a very considerable sum. The church is finished except the painting, and is well suited for the place; it was generally crowded, sometimes to excess.

A road to the church.

It occupied eight days, all down stream, to get to Severn. Here the Indians are comparatively few, but are more advanced than those of Trout Lake; I was very much pleased with them. The Fort is an uninteresting one, and built in a swamp. The church stands on higher and dry ground half a mile up the river, To connect the two, the Indians, without fee or reward of any kind, have built a good road through deep swamp. This is one of the most creditable works I have ever known Indians do, and is as good a proof as I can give of the love the Severn Indians have for their church and faith, which I believe to be as deep as is to be found in any part of the country.

At York Factory the Rev. G. S. Winter has been diligently studying the language, and in December last hoped soon to be able to preach without an interpreter.

On the eastern side of Hudson's Bay, the Rev. E. J. Peck continues to labour with unabated earnestness and with manifest blessing among both Indians and Eskimos. His letters are most interesting. Some brief extracts are subjoined:—

Mission to the Eskimos.

Aug. 12th, 1879.—I must not forget to mention the friendly way in which I have been received by all the Eskimos. When I enter their snow-houses some will say, "Thou art very good, for thou art come to save us." Others, "This is our father."

There has been a goodly number of heathen Eskimos about Little Whale River from the latter part of February until the middle of May, so that I have had time and opportunity in most cases to minister to their spiritual needs. These people received the Gospel message with a ready mind, and their desire for instruction was intense. When I spoke about the sin of idolatry and the folly of trusting in conjurers or their charms as a means of help or protection, a whole family, consisting of some twelve members, determined to follow Jesus, and, to prove their sincerity, their idols or charms were quickly severed from their dresses and given to me. I hope to baptize the whole of this party next year. I thought it well they should wait, not only to prove their sincerity, but to receive further instruction.

Eskimo converts.

I have been privileged, however, to baptize eight of my people; with these I am much pleased. Thanks be unto God for this token of His blessing. There are at present thirty candidates for baptism; these have already turned their backs on heathenism; but, on account of their limited knowledge, I have delayed their baptisms until they know more of Jesus. I also wish them to be able to read God's Word for themselves.

Dec. 1879.—The Iron Church is a nice neat little building, measuring (exclusive of chancel) forty feet long by twenty wide. I was about eight weeks erecting it. The building was opened on Sunday, October 26th. I preached in three languages (Eskimo, Indian and English) to my small flock. I spent a most happy day; and I think our poor people were very thankful for the gift which has been sent them.

The iron church for Eskimos.

March 27th, 1880.—Our poor Eskimos continue to give me much encouragement. Since the beginning of February I have ministered to some three hundred; several of these could read their books, and in many cases there seems to be an earnest desire to know Jesus.

You will not be surprised at the difficulties of the work when you remember the wandering habits of the poor Eskimos. When they arrive at Little Whale River, some of them stop but a few hours, while others arrive in the night, and what with those who come and go, I have to exercise the greatest possible vigilance, and endure the cold night or day that I may seek them and lead them to Jesus.

Aug. 1880.—In the cold weather I was able to keep the church pretty warm, by using a large stove, so that services were held in it when necessary. In the spring, when large numbers were at Little Whale River, the building was used daily for services; and I am glad to say the Eskimos attended very regularly. My poor people showed many signs of gratitude for such a precious gift. Many of them on entering the building would do nothing but stare and give vent to their feelings something as follows: "Wonderful!" "What a wonderful house!" "What wonderful seats!" "Indeed we will be saved!" &c. Others would walk round the outside, examining the iron and windows. The steeple seemed to puzzle them much, as they were quite at a loss to know its use, or how we managed to put it up.

Western Division: Saskatchewan.

Stanley, 1850; Asisipi, 1875: Battleford (Carlton), 1876; Prince Albert's Settlement, 1879; Fort McLeod, 1880.

Expanding work on the Western Plains.

THE Diocese of Saskatchewan extends some 800 miles westward from the western border of the Rupert's Land Diocese to the foot of the Rocky Mountains. In this great territory the Society has five principal stations, viz. Prince Albert's Settlement, where the Bishop's head-quarters are, and where the Rev. J. A. Mackay, Secretary of the Mission, resides; Battleford, the civil capital of the country, where the Rev. T. A. Clarke is located; Asisippi, a station founded and still carried on by the Rev. T. Hines; Stanley, the old and well-known station on English River, on the north border of the Diocese, now under the charge of a country-born clergyman, the Rev. J. Sinclair; and Fort McLeod, in the far west, lately occupied by the Rev. S. Trivett. To these may be added the old station of Nepowewin, which is visited periodically by Mr. Mackay.

At PRINCE ALBERT'S SETTLEMENT, Mr. Mackay's work is mainly twofold. He teaches five hours a day, five days in the week, in Emmanuel College, the Divinity School for this Diocese. There are seven Missionary Students attending his Cree and English classes, besides a heathen Sioux who can speak Cree, and is learning the syllabic character. Four are C.M.S. students. He also holds regular services at the St. James's Mission, on the south branch of the Saskatchewan River, twenty miles off. The majority of the Indians there have migrated from Red River, and are Christians; but there are some heathen Natives of the district. Mr. Mackay has been assisted in his visits to this and other Indian reserves by the now venerable Native brother, the Rev. James Settee.

BATTLEFORD is found by Mr. Clarke to be a good centre for Indian work. There are seven reserves in the neighbourhood, one in Battleford itself, and the others, named apparently after the chiefs of the tribes settled on them, as follows:—Mikisiwuchee or Eagle Hills, Sakeemaoopwhat's, Mooswoomin's, Thunder-Child's, Strike-him-on-the-back's, and Pound Maker's.

At three of these, schools have been opened. At Mikisiwuchee twelve adults were baptized during the year. Of Battleford Mr. Clarke writes, "Our school-chapel is almost too small for this place, as all denominations worship together, I being the only Protestant minister within a hundred miles; quite a nice little parish. I do trust that soon we shall have a large church well filled, and that many precious souls may be born again."

At Asisippi, Mr. Hines reports marked progress as compared with the state of things when he went out seven years ago. Then there was not a settlement in that part of the country, and the wandering Crees were very difficult to get hold of. Now there are three reserves, Asisippi, Snake Plain, and Muskeg Lake, and a good number of Indians are professing Christians. At the first-named place, where Mr. Hines lives, a church was opened on Christmas Day last, when seventeen partook of the Lord's Supper, and the offertory comprised rat-skins, cotton handkerchiefs, half-pounds of tea, &c., amounting in value to 3*l.*—"perhaps a more costly gift," says Mr. Hines, "in God's sight than 300*l.* given by some congregations, as poverty is a weak word to describe the distress of our people." He has set them a good example himself, having done most of the manual labour in the building of the church himself, to save the Society. "We are not well enough off," he writes, "to make the Society a present of part of our salary, but if we save expense it is just the same."

An Indian offertory.

A Missionary's gift to the Society.

Fort McLeod is a new station, taken up with a view to reaching the Blackfeet Indians. It is near a reserve occupied by a branch of this famous tribe, the Blood Indians, of whom the unusually large number of 3400 are expected to settle down there. The Rev. S. Trivett only reached the Fort in September last, but a fair number of the Indians are already attending his services.

A new station.

Northern Division: Athabasca.

Fort Simpson, 1858; Fort Chipewyan, 1867; Fort McPherson (Tukudh Mission), 1874; Fort Vermillion, 1876.

Through the untiring and devoted labours of Bishop Bompas, the Athabasca Mission is year by year developing its organization and extending its work. The vast territory it occupies is estimated to contain 750,000 square miles, and measures 1300 miles in three directions, while the traveller who follows the course of the rivers, which are the only highway through the land, will traverse 3000 miles in crossing the Diocese. In 1858, Archdeacon Hunter first visited the country; in 1860, the first resident missionary took up his abode at Fort Simpson; in 1865, Mr. Bompas joined the Mission; in 1874, he was consecrated first Bishop of Athabasca, the clergy under him numbering two. The Diocese is now divided for missionary purposes into seven districts, in which are now located (or will be within a few months) six clergymen (besides the Bishop) and six lay agents, and in which there are already four churches and schools and two Mission farms. The whole population is estimated at 10,000 souls, four-fifths of whom now profess Christianity, being nearly equally divided between the Church of England and the Church of Rome. The Eskimos found on the Lower Mackenzie River and on the shores of the Arctic Ocean are still unevangelized heathen; but the Committee have just accepted with gratitude a benefaction of 1000*l.* for the purpose of sending a missionary to them, and have designated to this service one of the young ordained men hitherto detained at home on account of the insufficiency of funds.

Another Mission to the Eskimos.

The seven districts are as follows:—

(1) ATHABASCA LAKE, touching on its southern border the dioceses of Saskatchewan and Rupert's Land: station, Fort Chipewyan; missionary, during the past year, Rev. Vincent C. Sim.

(2) LOWER PEACE RIVER: station, Fort Vermillion; missionary, Rev. A. C. Garrioch, with a schoolmaster.

(3) UPPER PEACE RIVER, reaching to the Rocky Mountains: station, Dunvegan; a catechist and a farmer at work.

(4) GREAT SLAVE LAKE: stations, Fort Rae and Fort Resolution; catechist in charge.

(5) MACKENZIE RIVER: station, Fort Simpson; lay missionary (to be ordained shortly), Mr. W. Spendlove.

(6) LOWER MACKENZIE, with Great Bear Lake: station, Fort Norman; catechist in charge.

(7) PEEL'S RIVER (Tukudh Mission): station, Fort McPherson; missionary, Ven. Archdeacon McDonald.

The Rev. W. D. Reeve has just left to rejoin the Mission, and will take up the work at Fort Chipewyan, and set Mr. Sim free to go forward to the help of Archdeacon McDonald. He is accompanied by a young man, Mr. W. J. Garton, appointed to travel with Bishop Bompas on his journeys from station to station, as a student-missionary.

Concerning Peace River, Athabasca, and Mackenzie River, the Bishop reports as follows:—

Fort Chipewyan, July 20th, 1880. Bishop Bompas's Report.

Peace River Mission.—A new Mission has been commenced at Dunvegan for the Beaver Indians and others. This point is likely to prove one of the most important in the country, being a convenient door of ingress and regress to and from the North. The country there is very picturesque, having some resemblance to the English South Down hills. The grass slopes are a great relief to the eye from the monotonous pine-forests which are often almost our only view. The soil is fertile, and the country well adapted for farming. A Mission farm has therefore been proposed in connexion with the Mission; and this seems almost a necessity, for as the wild animals of the wood are ceasing to yield even a precarious subsistence, Providence seems to point us plainly to raise food out of the earth; and though Peace River is at present a starving country, yet it is strange to see it spoken of in the papers as adapted by nature to be a great granary for the two continents of Europe and America. Mission Farms on Peace River.

The farm in connexion with Dunvegan Mission has been begun at Smoky River, so called from the constant smoke occasioned by the spontaneous combustion underground of coal and bitumen—a feature not unusual in this country. Our missionary at Dunvegan is Mr. Thomas Bunn, whose assiduity has been proved by his patient and successful school-work at Chipewyan. The farmer is Mr. G. Garrioch, a brother of our missionary at Vermillion.

Our Mission at Vermillion has been enlarged during the past year by the addition of a school, in charge of Mr. Lawrence from Canada, who holds certificates of his ability from the Canadian Colleges, and has already proved his activity in his new sphere of labour. The Mission farm at Vermillion has been also enlarged, and is in a fair way to be productive enough to provide food for that and other Mission stations. The Beaver Indians show an increasing interest in our Mission, and are amenable to instruction. I was thankful to be able to send home last year a small manual to be printed in their language.

Athabasca.—This has now come into the charge of the Rev. V. C. Sim. We have now received the four Gospels in the Chipewyan dialect; and I think that these, if patiently taught to the Chipewyans, will have a good effect on them, and may gradually wean them, by God's blessing, from the instruction of the Romish priests, and this in the best way, by substituting truth for error. We have now our buildings at Fort Chipewyan tolerably complete, with church, schools, and Mission-house; and this is an important station as being a centre of communication from different points in the north. Athabasca Lake Mission.

In connexion with the Athabasca Mission a new station is being commenced this year at Fort Resolution, Great Slave Lake, by the removal thither of our Native catechist, William Norn, from Fort Rae. It is intended, however (D.V.), that the latter post shall continue also under visitation. From Fort Resolution are accessible the Hay River and Front Lake Indians, who desire our instruction, and it may become a depôt for Mackenzie River.

Mackenzie River Mission.

Mackenzie River.—Our station, Fort Simpson, is now passing into the hands of Mr. Spendlove, who has, during the past winter, shown much zeal and devotion in his conduct of it. The Indians have lately been more regular in attending church than formerly, and the Mission school has been sustained with some vigour.

As this was the point at which our Protestant Mission first began, it is needful that our work be resolutely sustained here, as we are working in presence of a strong Romish opposition, and any declension of our work gives the priests a foothold for advance. I have thought it needful, therefore, to spend the past winter at Fort Simpson, while Mr. Spendlove was becoming familiar with the work and the language. I have partly been engaged in revising the translation of the Gospels into the Native language. During the spring I have visited Fort Norman, our other station connected with this Mission, where I have spent a week with the Indians at their camp in the woods. As these are the same Indians with whom I first commenced missionary efforts in the woods fifteen years ago, I have been glad to renew my acquaintance with them. Our catechist, Mr. A. Hardisty, has suffered during the past winter from scarcity and sickness.

In connexion with our Mackenzie Mission, I am anxious to commence a small farm on the Liard River similar to those on Peace River, to provide food for our stations.

Both Mr. Sim and Mr. Spendlove, who went out two years ago, write in cheerful and thankful terms. The former mentions a journey he took in the depth of winter to Fort McMurray, 150 miles from Fort Chipewyan, on which occasion he had "a slight taste of what is called in this country hard times." "Provisions ran short. For ten days we lived upon flour, sometimes having not more than one small cake at a meal, so that my appetite increased alarmingly."

"Hard times."

Of the deeply interesting TUKUDH or LOUCHEUX MISSION, Archdeacon McDonald reports :—

Fort McPherson, Feb. 2nd, 1880.

Tukudh Mission.

It is with deep thankfulness to Almighty God that I am able to report that, as in former years, tokens of the Divine favour and blessing on the Tukudh Mission have not been wanting during the past year. The Lord has given testimony to the word of His grace. To His holy name be all the praise!

Some progress has, I trust, been made by the Indians in the Divine life. The most of them are regular in their attendance on Divine worship, and seem to take delight in it. I was much cheered at the beginning of winter by a marked case of true conversion. A man that used to be careless was enabled to receive the Word of God in power. He was brought under deep conviction of sin while I was preaching on the words, "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us," &c. He said afterwards that he felt as if he "had been hit in the heart by an arrow." He became devout, and earnest in seeking the salvation of his soul. Ere long he was enabled to rejoice in believing, with a deep sense of God's pardoning love. In speaking of the grace of Christ he said with tears, "He loved me. He died for me to save my life. I am His. With God's help I will obey Him. I love Him. I desire to serve Him. May He keep me safely!"

The Baptismal Register shows a total of 1482.

While feeling deeply the desirableness of the distant tribes being visited annually or biennially, it affords me sincere gratification that the accounts which I receive of them are on the whole good. The Christian leaders appear to be on the whole faithful and diligent in their work. A few of them have become more efficient by having learnt to read in their own tongue. But they all feel the want of being better qualified; and I hope ere long to have an opportunity of imparting to them a little more training, and of enabling them to prosecute their work with renewed vigour.

How a Church is built within the Arctic Circle.

The work of building a church here is much retarded by the difficulty of obtaining provisions. One man has been at work since the beginning of winter preparing timber for boards, and even for him alone there is a difficulty at present. But we have recently received intelligence of a prospect of a good supply of venison being brought to the fort within a fortnight hence. After that it is intended that another man will be hired to assist in getting boards sawn. A beginning was made last spring towards the erection of a church at Rampart House, and I hope more may be done in the course of this winter. Some timber was procured at La Pierre's House, but it was nearly all carried away by the river overflowing its banks in summer.

Translating of the New Testament into Tukudh is proceeding slowly. I have finished only to the end of the Epistle to the Ephesians. The work might be carried on more expeditiously, but I wish to do it thoroughly. I hope to complete to the Epistle of the Hebrews by the end of next month.

NORTH PACIFIC MISSION.

Metlakahtla, 1862; Kincolith, 1867; Queen Charlotte's Island, 1876; Fort Rupert, 1878; Ankihtlast and Skeena Forts, 1880.

THE Mission staff on the coast of the North Pacific Ocean, the remotest of all the Society's fields of labour, has been unchanged during the year; and the work of evangelization and of Christian philanthropy among the Indian tribes has been carried on with unabated energy. The Bishop of Caledonia, Dr. Ridley, has visited all the stations in his new diocese, though dependent hitherto upon frail canoes on the open sea as well as on the rivers. The Committee hear with much pleasure that the steamer he asked for when he went out in 1879 has now been provided, and will, by the prospering blessing of God, soon be speeding backwards and forwards along the coast, and from island to island, bearing the message of salvation. Last winter he spent at a post in the interior, as will appear presently.

Bishop Ridley's Steamer.

METLAKAHTLA.

Mr. Duncan, having been prevented by pressure of work from completing his Annnual Letter at the usual time, sent in the following terse sentences a summary of the external and material condition of the settlement:—

Material condition of Metlakahtla:

Good progress made. Large congregations. Over three hundred Indians from Fort Simpson and Kithratla spent Christmas with us. Our village growing. Over a hundred new houses up. Fresh machinery introduced. A telephone at work to the saw-mill. A furniture manufactory and sash shop at work. Our females have been taught spinning and weaving. The shawls, blankets, and cloth manufactured by them have caused great rejoicing.

By a later mail, Mr. Duncan's fuller Report, dated March 10th, 1881, has come to hand, from which the following is extracted:—

Buildings;

Our new houses now number just over one hundred, and sites for several more buildings are taken up. From our village tax (three dollars per man) we have been enabled to improve and extend our roads, and also to commence building a large town-hall, 120 feet by 60 feet. This building is to be purely Indian as to architecture, and to be used for adult Sunday and night schools and for general assemblies. We have long felt the need for such a place.

The Indian Department at Ottawa have not rendered us any assistance of late (through fear of being called upon in like manner to aid all other Mission stations); hence all the burden of secular improvements and aid to builders have been borne by ourselves.

Civil organization; During the past winter we have somewhat improved the organization of the ten companies into which our male population is divided. Each company includes a chief, two Native teachers, two constables, three councilmen, two musicians, and ten volunteer firemen with a captain. The objects of these companies—as I may have explained before—are to unite the Indians for mutual assistance, to keep each member of our community under observation, and to give opportunities to the majority of our men to be useful to the commonwealth.

Home industries; I have before notified you respecting the necessity of establishing home industries at our Mission stations. This necessity is now more and more apparent, for we are face to face with circumstances which threaten to draw away many of the Indians from Christian influence and teaching unless work can be found at our Mission stations. I allude to the newly-imported industry of canning salmon. Canneries are increasing in number and are proving a financial success. Prosperity is drawing around them a mixed population of Indians, Chinese, and whites of various nationalities; and the condition and prospects, morally, of such communities must inevitably prove a severe trial to Mission work, and leave but little hope for the poor Indians, who become charmed into permanently residing at such places. The young especially, of both sexes, are in danger. Our people see and deplore the consequences if some steps are not soon taken: hence they are urging me to start a cannery in connexion with our other secular work. To their great joy I have already taken some preliminary steps by securing sites and discussing plans, and by next autumn we hope to begin in right earnest should it please our Heavenly Father to make our way clear and give us strength and means.

Salmon canning;

We have made some real progress in industries during the past year. I purchased some fresh machinery for our saw-mill, which has so much enhanced its usefulness that we have started a furniture manufactory and sash shop. I have also spent over 100*l.* to further our weaving operations. The weaving business, though still only carried on as a school, is advancing very nicely. The young women are delighted with the industry, and the production of our looms (shawls, cloth, and blankets) has already created a thrill of joy among the Indians wherever the news has spread.

Looms;

Telephone. We have also a telephone in operation from the village to our saw-mill (about a mile and a half apart), and in addition to its usefulness it is a constant source of wonder and astonishment to all. Our outlay in improvements during the past year amounted to over 300*l.*

The rival and bitter feeling against Metlakahtla engendered amongst the Tsimshean Indians at Fort Simpson is fast subsiding. Many of the people are seeking to come back into brotherly union with our people. Over 200 came to spend a few days with us during our winter festivities. For some time past they have been bringing their troubles by way of appeal for me to settle. One case was of such general interest that a letter was addressed to me in the name of "all the citizens of Fort Simpson," begging for my interposition. It was astonishing how little the litigants thought of the long journey by sea even in the winter weather, so glad were they to get where their difficulties could be settled without mixture of party feeling.

A Kithratla chief and his Bible.

You will rejoice, too, to learn that the tribe of Kithratla Indians are again becoming more amenable to Christian instruction. Some few seem decided for the Christian warfare, while the tribe as a whole seem struggling to free themselves from heathen customs. About seventy of this tribe, with their head chief, came to us before Christmas, and remained over two weeks. On New Year's Day we presented these with a large Bible in the presence of our assembled companies, and the chief on receiving it turned to the people and said, "I have got it. Thank you. I have received the Word of God. We came for this, and we have got it. It is well; it is well."

Baptisms at Metlakahtla.

On the spiritual work of the Mission at Metlakahtla the Rev. W. H. Collison reports. Only two adults were baptized subsequently to the large number of baptisms at the beginning of the year, mentioned in last Report. One of these was a young woman, one of the catechumens, who was admitted to the visible Church on her dying bed, "testifying with her latest breath, her faith in Jesus as the Saviour." The other was an old man, father of the present chief who bears the name of Legaic, and a cripple for many years, who asked to be christened Job, "as, like Job, he had been afflicted for his good." There are a good many catechumens under instruction. The whole number of adherents is 900.

KINCOLITH.

Mr. H. Schutt is in charge of the Nass River branch of the Mission, in connexion with which there are 180 adherents. At Kincolith there has been progress, the services being well attended, the general conduct of the people better, the young men showing more earnestness and zeal, the Sunday and day-schools prospering. The prison has been converted into a village store. "This I hope will be the last year," writes Mr. Schutt, "in which any charges will appear against the Society for church expenses, the village having resolved to set apart a Collection Sunday once a year to meet them." Fifteen adults were baptized during the year, mostly by Mr. Collison. At Kitlachdahmix, some fifty miles up the river, at the head of the navigation, and at Kitwinshilk, eight or ten miles nearer, there are Native teachers and small companies of Indian adherents.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS.

Mr. George Sneath, who twice essayed a missionary life in Central Africa, and both times was struck down by fever, finds his health coming back again in the climate of Queen Charlotte Islands. From Massett, the chief trading port, at the northern end of the north island, he has visited Skidegate and other places resorted to by the wandering Hydahs. Usually he travels by canoe, but on one journey, to save expense, he walked a hundred miles along the sea beach "with a pack on his back—no very inviting task." A Native teacher from Metlakahtla has been stationed at Skidegate. At Massett itself some 400 Indians spend the winter, during which, in 1879-80, Mr. Sneath conducted school twice a day five days a week, and three services each Sunday, all which were well attended. For spiritual results he earnestly longs and prays. Hydah Mission.

FORT RUPERT.

The exact position of the permanent station at the north end of Vancouver's Island has not yet been finally decided on, but the Rev. A. J. Hall still, on March 1st, 1881, writes from Fort Rupert. He finds the Gospel vehemently opposed by the chiefs of the people; yet not a few tokens for good have been graciously vouchsafed to him:—

Five evenings in the week are spent visiting the Indians. Their houses are very large, one family living in every corner, and one house is called together to service each evening; very often twenty are present. We commence with singing, after I have silently asked God's blessing. The Scriptures are read and explained: sometimes the Word seems to come with power, and many express their thanks for my words. We conclude with another hymn and prayer. At present they are hearers of the Word only, and I pray for signs of the Spirit's work among them. Patient efforts at Fort Rupert.

I cannot say that the people are desirous of the Gospel, and how can those be who are ignorant of its power? The young men wish to read, but the reason is that they may become great, not good. However, it is not so much what they wish as God's purposes of mercy to them. He is calling them every time they hear His Word preached, and there are a few—not the chiefs, not the clever, but from the despised ones—who I trust are beginning to know something of their evil hearts, and to feel a craving for Him who is lifted up among them as the only name given among men whereby they must be saved.

We earnestly request your prayers that the Lord the Spirit of Life will bless His own Word, for there are those here who read and write well, and thoroughly understand the plan of salvation, yet are bound to heathenism as though they had never heard the name of Christ.

The Gospel of St. Matthew has been translated during the winter, and I have it now in MS. Our Saturday evening Bible-class for young men has been regularly held, with an average attendance of eight. We have recently read St. Matthew, I trust with profit to their souls and minds.

During the year, four and five girls have constantly been with us, who are maintained by Christian friends. Three of them speak English, and are well acquainted with the Scriptures, using the works of the author of "Peep of Day" as a medium of instruction. In one of these girls there are signs of a work of grace.

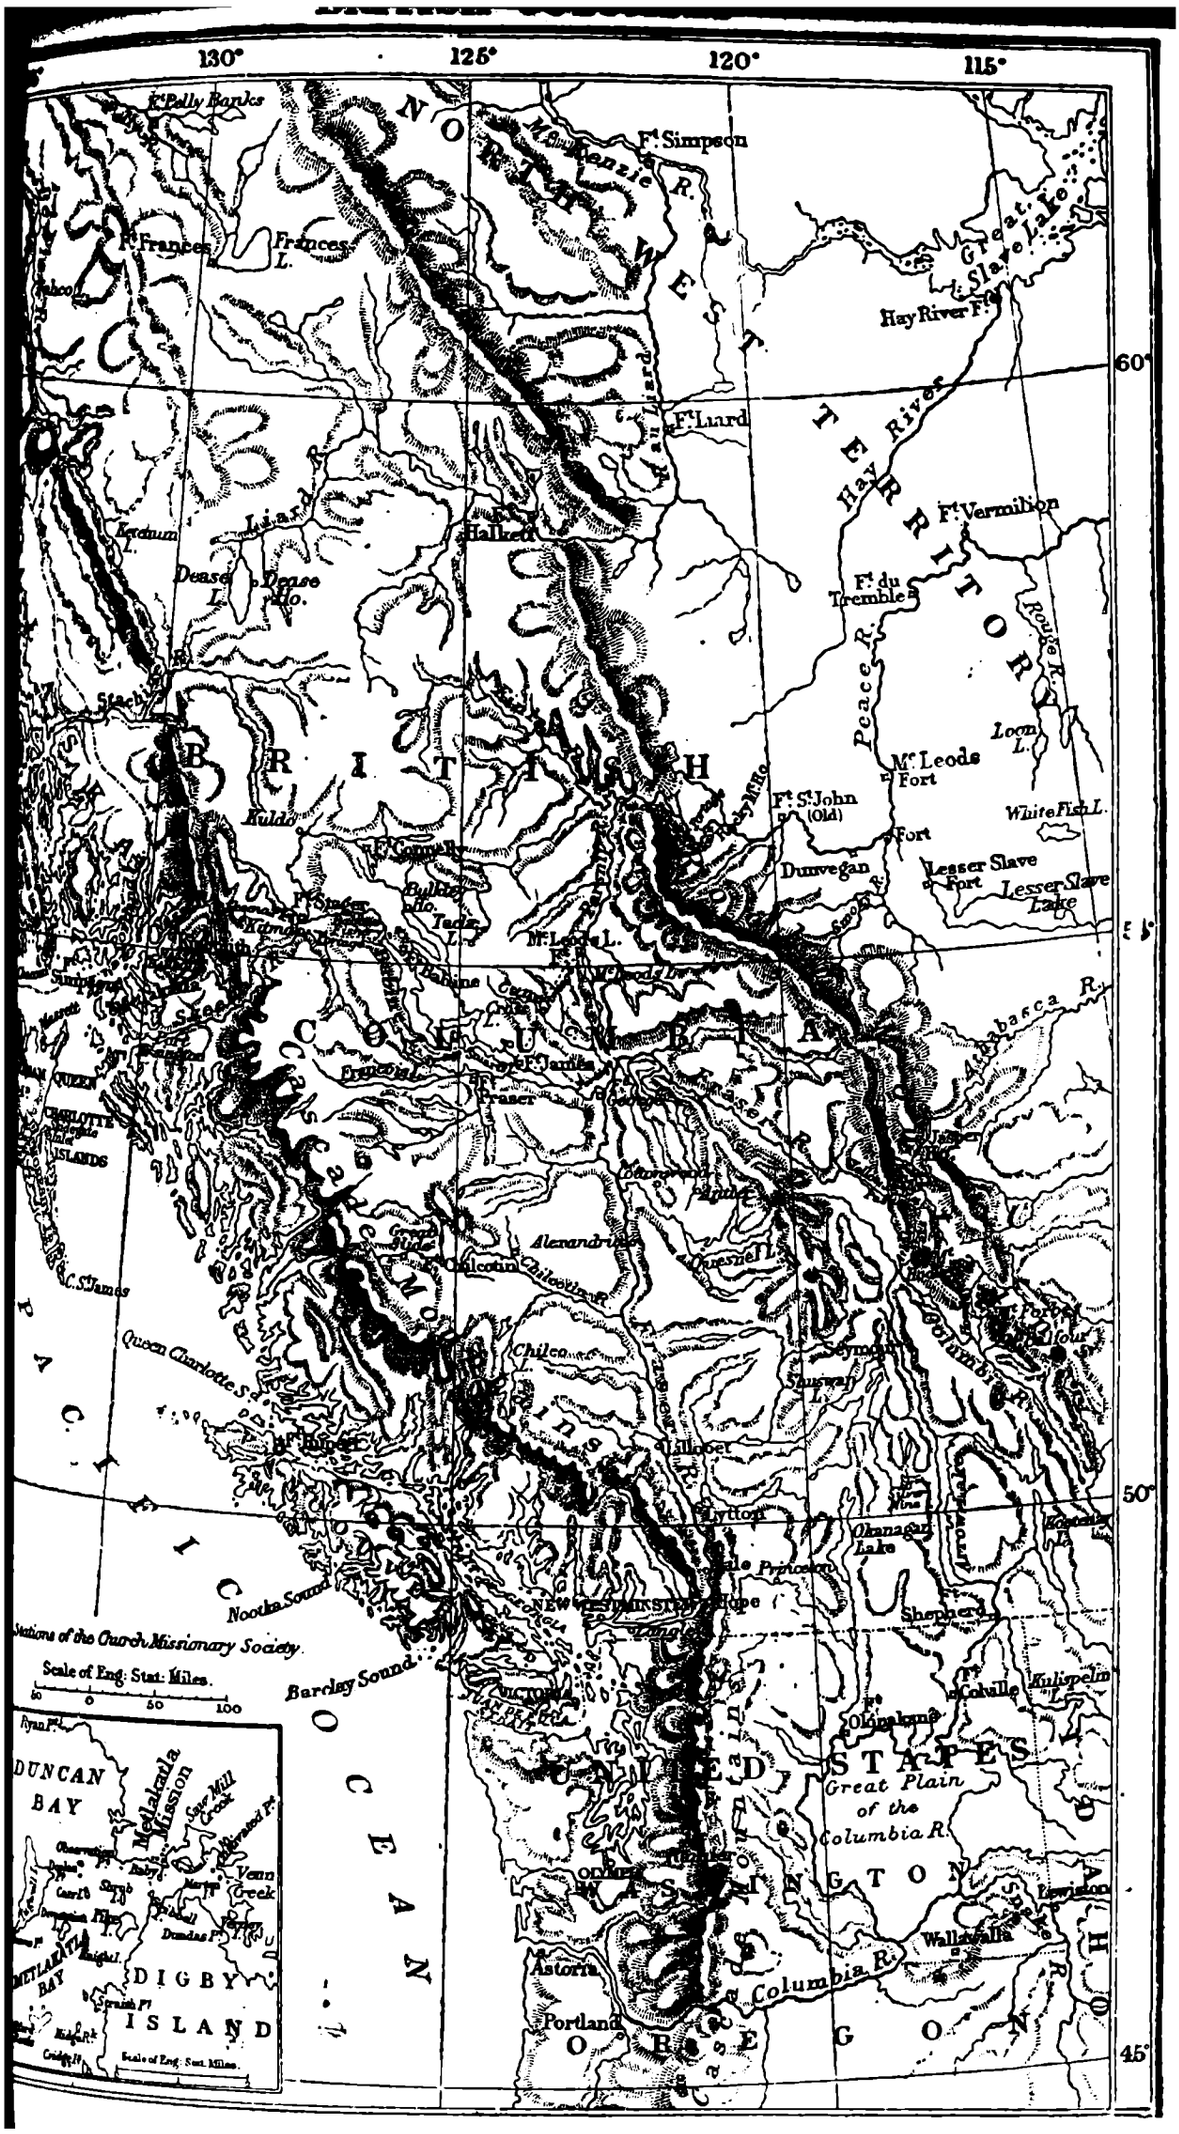

THE INTERIOR MISSION.

The foundation by the Rev. R. Tomlinson of a new Mission at a place called Ankihtlast, more than a hundred miles from the coast, was described in last year's Annual Report. Some questions having arisen regarding his plans for the working of the station, he came over to England last autumn to consult the Committee. The result was the maturing of a scheme which the Committee trust may by God's blessing issue in the establishment of what is designed to be, in effect, an agricultural Metlakahtla for the Kitikshean Indians. Mr. Tomlinson reached Victoria on his way back to Ankihtlast in March last.

Meanwhile Bishop Ridley has felt the extreme importance of occupying a trading post called Hazelton, at the Forks of the Skeena, from which Ankihtlast is twenty miles distant. Mr. Collison accordingly proceeded thither in July, 1880, and remained two months, after which he returned to Metlakahtla, where much work of importance demanded his presence; and the Bishop, rather than suffer such a position as the Skeena Forks to be lost to the Mission, determined to go up himself and winter there. This he did, and was for some months entirely isolated from the outer world. Private letters from him, written on his return to the coast in March, tell of deeply interesting work:—

Bishop Ridley's winter quarters;

On arrival I rented a cabin, but finding the rent heavy and the property for sale, I bought it, lest it should get into hands inimical to Missions. After building a fireplace and putting in glass windows, we got some native bark mats and nailed over the logs to keep out the wind and snow. Fairly lodged, we feared not the cold that has kept the mercury frozen. My first operation was to open a day-school. Few or many, I drudged away daily at A, B, C, and 1, 2, 3. The school grew—nearly two hundred attended. The medicine-men, who are the priests of this heathenism, took alarm. Yet the first class have read half through the Second Book, First Series, and the writing of some is remarkably good. While the teaching proceeded the background would be filled by interested and wondering spectators. and winter's work.

Young men gathered round me. An undercurrent of rebellion against the heathen abominations became apparent. The old men complained of their loss of influence. Indications of a better state of things grew clearer. The dog-eating rites were performed less boldly. The time had come, I thought, for a bold step on my side. I invited the four chief men of each Indian confederacy, and thirty-two responded favourably and came to my feast. After the eating and drinking came the speaking. I addressed them, and seven responded. The older orators announced their resolve to finish their course on the old lines. The younger demurred. This was most promising for the Gospel. The children first, then the young men, and these secured, the old men must follow the younger eventually. The week following I was invited back, and was received by about five hundred men with much distinction. Again the old men stated their case. Their spokesman held aloft the mask and other symbols of the past, and said, "These were my forefathers'. These are my Bibles. Would you give up your Bible? Why then should you require me to give up mine?" But again a better feeling was abroad. This happened on the last day of the feast. The crowds melted away, but reassembled at a village eight miles distant before the final break up. Before this took place I was invited to meet them again. When the same invitation was repeated I walked up the frozen river, and a great lodge containing about four hundred men was prepared for my reception. Then I took solemn leave of them, urging them to turn to God and forsake the evil of the old ways. This has been the largest gathering of Indians that has taken place for a generation, and placed an opportunity for doing good in my reach, worth not only the labour it involved, but more than it is possible to compute. The Bishop's Appeal to the Indians.

In a later letter the Bishop mentions that he had been privileged to baptize six of these Kitikshean Indians, the first-fruits of the Interior Mission; and adds, "The foremost workers of heathen iniquity have been won." One of the converts, being away on a journey with some of his tribe, held services with them on Sunday, and sent a letter to the Bishop—who had taught him to write during the winter—enclosing his first two texts, "Let not your heart be troubled," &c., and "I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on Me should not abide in darkness." This Annual Report has had many glad things to tell, and First Converts. A Kitikshean preacher's first texts.

surely this closing fact is not the least gladdening, that in those hitherto unvisited regions of the Far West, "the darkness is passing away (R.V.), and the true light already shineth."

CONCLUSION.

1. The work not the work of man, but of God.

FROM a survey of the whole mission field, and from the foregoing review of the Society's work during the past year, the Committee would draw three considerations for the encouragement and guidance of themselves and their friends.

First, the Committee would call attention to the conclusive evidence which a survey of the field and of the year affords that the work is not the work of man, but the work of God. Look where we will, the weakness of our mortal nature is conspicuous. Missionaries are human; Native agents are human; converts are human. Here we see a Christian community—like many at home—whose spiritual growth is checked by its internal dissensions, or its bondage to traditional prejudices; there, inquirers who have been the missionary's hope filling him with bitter grief as they turn back and walk no more with him. Now sharp contention causes brethren to depart asunder one from the other; then a solemn reminder comes, "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall;" and then again proof that blamelessness of life is no certain guarantee against erring concerning the faith. Here bodily sickness renders ineffectual the most exemplary zeal and courage; and there a beloved leader or an intrepid pioneer is snatched away from a post for which, in our short-sightedness, we thought him indispensable. Whether physical or mental or spiritual weakness be thought of, it is equally true that "we have this treasure in earthen vessels." But why? For the express reason "that the excellency of the power may be of God and not of us." And despite all defects and all disappointments, the work does go on. We see the Gospel being preached with unwearied zeal and unfailing patience over vast territories; we see inquirers literally in thousands asking the way to Zion with their faces thitherward; we see well-instructed adult converts baptized into the visible Church to the number of between three and four thousand a year; we see men and women and children out of every people and tongue and kindred and nation living unto the Lord, and dying unto the Lord. If our agents and agencies were perfect, we might be tempted to boast of them. But seeing what human infirmity and imperfection is, how could we account for all this if the work were not God's work? "Where is boasting then? It is excluded." "For we gat not the land in possession by our own sword, neither was it our own arm that helped us; but Thy right hand, and Thine arm, and the light of Thy countenance."

Where is boasting then?

Secondly, if the work is God's work, it must be done in God's way and with God's tools. If this is a truism, it none the less needs to be again and again affirmed. What is the object of all missionary enterprise? Is it to promote geographical discovery, linguistic research, legitimate commerce, educational progress, social improvement? The Committee heartily thank God for what the Church Missionary Society has been permitted to achieve in all these directions; but its object is far above and beyond all these. It is simply this—to bring men back to God. And the statement of that object

2. To be done in God's way and with God's tools.

The true object of Missions.

implies the belief that men are away from God. If so, all speculations concerning what is called Comparative Religion are beside the mark. If Christianity is only one of many religious systems more or less excellent, then it may be reasonable enough for individual students of Oriental creeds to go to India for the purpose of persuading the Brahmin to clear away the encrustations of later ages, and go back to the purity of his Vedic faith; but this would hardly be a cause for which the widow's mite could be accepted, or the missionary box be placed in the Sunday-school, or the prayers of the sick and bedridden among God's people be bespoken. But if, without presuming to fathom the unfathomable purposes of a God of justice and love, or to pry into the secret things which belong to Him, we still accept the things that are revealed, and believe that there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved, but the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, then there is a reason for missionary effort, and for all joining in it. And the Committee are not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ. They know and are sure that it, and it alone, is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. The records of the past year supply fresh and abundant evidence of its saving power; and so long as the Society sets it forth in its fulness, so long will the Society have triumphs of grace to report.

Only the Gospel can gain that object;

In its fulness. Yes; it must be no emasculated Gospel. It is a matter, not of theory, but of painful experience, that the moment the hold is relaxed upon the great fundamental verities of the faith—the Divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ, His true and all-sufficient atoning sacrifice, His one everlasting priesthood, the complete present salvation given to simple faith, and the sole power of the Holy Ghost in regeneration and sanctification—that moment the testimony becomes feeble, and the great object of missionary effort is not gained: men are not brought to God. For this reason it is that both at home and abroad the Committee lay so much stress upon the importance of a sound theological training being provided for every one of the Society's agents, however humble; while at the same time they do not forget that an orthodox creed, however steadfastly held, is not sufficient. They desire that every missionary, every Native clergyman or catechist or schoolmaster, every voluntary Christian leader or evangelist, shall have grasped the Lord Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour, and then testify what that Saviour has done for his soul.

only a gospel known and believed.

3. Must not stand still.

Thirdly, if the work is God's work, ought it to stand still? Ought it not to be an advancing work? The Committee feel that there is, both in their own desire to govern the Society's expenditure strictly by a fair and reasonable estimate of probable income, and in the approval which they know this policy has met among their best friends, a very real danger of a too easy acquiescence in a state of things which should indeed humble to the dust every soul that longs for God's kingdom to come. They must remind all the members of the Society how loud the calls are from almost every quarter of the globe. They would point, as they have before pointed, to the aboriginal tribes of the hills and jungles of India—Gônds, Kois, Rajmahâlis, Bheels; to the teeming masses of Telugu-speaking people in south-eastern India; to the Afghan and Beluchi mountaineers of the north-west; to Sindh, with its population equal to that of Ceylon, and with only four C.M.S missionaries and none of any other society; to the millions of unevangelized Chinese, even if only those maritime provinces be counted in which the Society now labours, and without looking at all into the great interior; to the Mohammedans of Persia; to the wild tribes east of the Jordan; to the Crees and Blackfeet of the Saskatchewan Plain, the Eskimos of the Mackenzie River, the forest tribes of British Columbia. And then all Africa is behind! By the great rivers opened up within but a very few years God has provided water-ways into the heart of Equatorial Africa whose very existence is a call to the Church; and if others are nobly pressing up the Zambesi and the Congo, should the Church Missionary Society be slack to advance up the Niger, the Upper Nile, and the smaller streams fed by the snows of the equatorial mountains first discovered by its own missionaries?

Loud calls.

But if advance is to be again the Society's watchword, its supporters must be prepared for fresh sacrifices. The Committee may strive to economize in the older Missions; but experience has shown that it is very hard to do so, and they feel too that a heavy responsibility lies upon them not to throw too quickly upon the world the children whom God has given them, not to cripple the young and struggling Native Churches by too rapid a withdrawal of personal or pecuniary help. Advancing Missions, then, must be dependent on the combined and unceasing efforts of the Society's friends at home. The Committee would therefore reiterate the word with which this Report opened—"the time is short." Ought not Christ's Church to take as her own principle of action that which was the principle of action of her Divine Lord?—"I must work the works of Him that sent Me while it is day: the night cometh when no man can work."

REPORT OF THE WALTER JONES' FUND, 1880-81.

NIGER MISSION.

THE agents on the Fund this year are nine in number, against ten last year. No special report of their work has been received. Attention is directed to what has been said of the Niger Mission already in the pages of the Report (pp. 21—28).

EAST AFRICA MISSION.

There has been no change in the location of the agents or any addition to their number during the year. Of George David, the Catechist upon the Walter Jones Fund, the reports are very favourable. He accompanied Mr. Streeter in December last as interpreter on a visit to Giriama and Fulladoyo. A single passage will show how useful this Catechist was to his companion :—

On Sunday with George's help (writes Mr. Streeter) I conducted service under a tree. . . . In the afternoon George took the service on our return to Frere Town. George's heart, and I may say my own, was full of thankfulness for a loving Father's mercy.

PALESTINE.

The agents in this Mission are three in number, at a cost of 114*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.* to the Fund. With respect to the work performed at Salt the Missionary writes :—

Our Catechist, Suleiman Nassar, has repeatedly visited the villages on Jebel Ajlun. His message is received with readiness by Mohammedans as well as Christians. A church has been built at Ajlun ; another is to be built at El Hosn . . . . Our work beyond the Jordan is just now very encouraging.

With regard to the labours of the Catechist at Acca there has been no report.

NORTH INDIA.

There are ten agents of the Fund on this Mission located as follows :—One at Calcutta ; one for Benares, Chunar, and Ahrawah ; two at Azimgarh ; one for Gorakpur and Basharatpur ; two for Lucknow, Mhow, and Fathgunj ; and one respectively at Ajudya, Sultanpur, and Faizabad. Towards this agency the Fund pays 205*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.* Attention may be called to Ahrawah, of which the Rev. B. Davis writes :—

At the close of the year I started with two Catechists on a tour for a month. We had good audiences at Gharwah and Ahrawah. At the latter place we had an interesting conversation with a man, and the Catechists called the people together in the evening, and some addresses were given by the Native helpers. We also had a large and apparently interested audience in the populous bazaar.

The Rev. G. B. Durrant reports of Fathgunj and Mhow among other places :—

At all our out-stations the doctrines of Christianity are systematically taught, and its claims pressed upon the attention of the people both publicly and from house to house. We scatter the seed, praying and believing that God will, in His own good time, give the increase.

The Rev. A. W. Baumann in his last Report thus writes :—

The work in the Faizabad Mission is of an evangelistic nature, and is carried on in the Hindi language in the bazaars of Faizabad, and in Hindi at Ajudya and Sultanpur. As to the results of the preaching of the Gospel, we have few direct results to show, but it becomes more and more evident that the leaven of the Gospel is gradually penetrating the masses. The native Christians, in 1880, numbered 67 at Faizabad, 13 at Sultanpur, and 22 at Pertabgarb.

SOUTH INDIA.

As last year, the labours of the Walter Jones Catechists are confined to the Telugu country. The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander thus reports of their labours :—

The returns show a total of ninety-three adherents: of these fifty-six are baptized Christians and thirteen are communicants. There are five agents at work at a monthly cost of Rs. 34. These figures are much less than those shown in early reports, but then the whole circle of Peddapad, the towns of Rajaram and Batalura-gudem, were in connexion with the Fund. These are now removed and put under the District Council, and the Agency paid by the Fund is concentrated in the Vemulapalli circle; only one other place, a village called Polaveram on the very outskirts of our work, is paid for from the Fund.

Vemulapalli circle has from the first been maintained by the Fund. In it there are three towns occupied, Vemulapalli, Pragadaveram, and Lingaraipalam. The last has been visited for some years by the Evangelist, but this year a School Evangelist has been stationed there, who teaches a few children and itinerates in the neighbourhood. There are hopeful symptoms in near villages that his preaching will not be in vain. The Malas of Lingaraipalam were inquirers many years ago in another part of the District, but they were driven away by the persecution of the caste people. Now in peace they have come again under instruction, and I have no doubt they will go on well under the teaching of the Gospel. There is no increase in Vemulapalli or Pragadaveram, such as I would wish to see.

Chintalapudi was first visited by an Evangelist paid from this Fund. It is now made a separate centre for the Evangelistic work of the Provincial Council, though its statistics do not count in this Report; the opening there is due in the first instance to a Walter Jones Evangelist. Polaveram is an advanced post, and there is an earnest Evangelist there.

I cannot say that the success anticipated has been realized, but we can say that preachers are going about in directions hitherto untouched by the Gospel Missions, and according to God's good promise, we may confidently expect to reap in due season if we faint not.

MAURITIUS.

There are no special details given of the work of the Catechists in this Mission. Reference is invited to the general account given in the Report (pp. 144—147).

REPORT OF THE WILLIAM CHARLES JONES FUND FOR THE YEAR 1880.

THIS Fund was established two years ago by Mr. W. C. Jones' gift of 35,000*l.* three per cent. stock, the interest of which is employed in grants to such Native Church Councils as can raise from their own local resources not less than two-fifths of the cost of their religious worship and pastoral work, each grant to be met by an equal sum raised by the Council itself for the same object. The purport of the Fund is therefore "to help those who help themselves," and to aid the Native Churches in employing additional labourers for distinctly evangelistic objects. For the current year Rs. 5680 have been granted by the Committee to Native Church Councils in South India which had fulfilled the conditions required.

MADRAS.

The Native Catechist in pay of the fund writes as follows respecting his work in this city :—

For a long time I had the desire of going out and preaching to the heathen the Gospel of Jesus Christ. God has opened to me a new sphere of work here, whereby I can reach the learned and unlearned masses in this vast city who perish from lack of knowledge. I preach Christ in twenty-nine different places.

The writer is not able to report any conversions at present. As might be expected, he is beset in Madras with opposition not experienced in rural places, such as scepticism, the Brahmo Somaj, Unitarianism, &c.

TINNEVELLY.

The Palamcotta District employs eight agents. There is also a colporteur in the town of Tinnevelly, whose duty is to sell tracts and scripture portions, and to preach the Gospel in the bazaars and streets. Their superintendent reports that the Catechists have been faithful and diligent in their work. Each of them returns a monthly journal containing a list of the number of visits paid, tracts sold, &c. From these returns it appears that during 1880 no less than 41,450 people heard the Gospel preached in the district by the agents of the Fund.

In Dohnavur are six agents who preached in 235 villages in two months to 5600 persons. In Surandei are five agents, who preached during 1880 to 65,166 persons. A few brief extracts from the journal of one of these, S. Pillai, are given as representative of all.

One day, in company with Peter Nadan a volunteer, was preaching at Aikùddee ; one palmyra climber having listened to our preaching, got down from the tree and begged for a Scripture portion, which, when given, he readily paid for. Since then he has given himself up to the reading of the book for several days, and he has now become a Christian.

At Sampurvadacurrie a real change had been effected in a family of five souls. The woman of the house, formerly a devil-dancer, has now renounced it to be vain and useless. As a proof of her sincerity she sold the fowl dedicated to her tutelary deity for 9 annas, and paid the sum to me for charitable purposes.

Once at Aikùddee, while preaching in one of the streets of the Salluppa Chetties, one by the name of M—— C——, after lending his ears for some moments to my preaching, came forward and caught hold of the New Testament in my hand, and desired to have the book ; when I told the price, he readily paid for it. Since then he has given up himself to the regular reading of it.

In Panneivilei five agents are employed, and during the year 68,746 persons heard the agents declare their message. In Nallur the Catechists visited 1719 villages, and preached to 48,177 persons. They have also visited the markets of Nallur and other towns weekly, besides attending the annual festivals. They sold 4217 tracts during the year. Respecting this part of the work the report says :—

Much light has been diffused and an interest in the truth has been awakened in many minds. An evidence that the books distributed are read with interest is found in the fact that particular portions of Scripture and particular tracts are sought for by name, and the contents of those previously received have been spoken of in such a way as to show that they had been read with interest. Catechist Moses refers to a heathen schoolmaster at Panu who bought from him a copy of the Psalms and a tract called "Dawn of Wisdom," and who calls upon him now and then and argues with him on the plan of salvation.

In the Suvisésháapuram circle five more agents are doing similar work. Each morning and evening they go out to preach, and when they do not find a congregation they visit from house to house, and go to harvest-fields, &c., to find the people :—

The catechists do not all adopt the same plan in addressing the people. One or two of them sing suitable Tamil lyrics before beginning their addresses. This has the great advantage of collecting the people together. When a good number of people are assembled they address them. The One God, immortality of the soul, sin, a Saviour, the love of God, necessity of repentance, death, heaven and hell, the second coming of Christ, and such like, have been the general subjects of their addresses.

At Mengnanapuram sixteen agents are employed. The men chosen for the work are men of zeal and faith, and possess earnestness and ability, &c.

They have faithfully preached the Gospel of our Saviour to the rich and poor, to the learned and ignorant, and to all castes. The learned among the heathen admit the excellency of the Christian religion, but the pride of life bars them from embracing it. 103,127 persons have heard the truths of our saving religion preached to them, and 4499 tracts have been sold to them, besides hundreds of handbills being gratuitously distributed to them.

The blessing of the Lord has greatly attended the work of the evangelists during the year under review. As the light goes on dispelling the darkness of the night so the Gospel beneficently and silently goes on triumphantly causing ignorance and sin to disappear. The committee will be glad to hear that 500 heathen have forsaken idolatry and embraced Christianity, and fifty-seven Roman Catholics have been emancipated from the shackles of Rome. The spiritual condition of these people was formerly more appalling than could be imagined. They were addicted to bad language, lying, dishonesty, cheating, reviling, &c. But now by the powerful influence of the Word of God they are trying to overcome the tendency of the natural heart and to be useful to others.

The Rev. V. Vêdanâyagam has forwarded Reports from seven Catechists in North Tinnevelly paid out of the fund. During the first quarter of the present year 332 Scripture portions and tracts were sold by them. In one district a whole family, the head of whom is described as "a rich man," have become Christians.

Three additional catechists have lately been on the fund at Strivilliputtur. In North Tinnevelly alone, says Mr. Vêdanâyagam, are 300,000 of respectable Hindus needing the Gospel.

There are also agents paid out of the fund in both the TRAVANCORE and TELUGU Missions, but no Report has been received of their work.

THE ROXBURGH COLPORTAGE FUND.

THIS Fund, so generously established by Colonel Roxburgh a few years ago for the employment of colporteurs in North India, is bearing good fruit. From an account just received it is shown that the five agents at work at Kidderpur, Krishnagar, Lucknow, Agra, and Secundra, have sold more than 7000 books during the year, the largest amount being at Secundra near Agra, where 4526 were disposed of, among which were 172 copies of the Holy Scripture or portions of the same. The colporteurs not only sell books, but preach and hold conversations with Hindus and Mohammedans. One colporteur visited 180 villages in four months. A Missionary says, "It is hard work physically, walks over the fields in the heat of the sun and dust with hunger and thirst! Still the unrestrained mixing with the village people, and the bright cheerfulness of the Evangelists makes up for all discomforts." Of the Secundra colporteurs the Rev. J. Erhardt writes :—

They have worked hard. To struggle on under a load of books, in an Indian heat, and sometimes to be hooted out of a village, by some boisterous spirits, soon after their arrival, is not encouraging. Provisions have been dear; for a long time it was feared relief-works would have to be opened. Considering this, they have done a good deal of work by actual sale of tracts and books and scriptures. The former are made very attractive by ornamental printing and pictures, whilst the scriptures remain ever the same, without tempting shape or form.

PRAYER USED AT THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY AND AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

ALMIGHTY and most merciful FATHER, we give Thee humble thanks for the light of Thy Gospel. Make us more grateful for this Thy mercy, and more zealous for the salvation of all mankind.

Visit in mercy the Church of Christ; enrich it more abundantly with the grace of Thy Holy Spirit; and bless its endeavours to make known Thy Truth. Unite, as one man, all who are truly labouring for Thee. Disappoint the designs of Satan. Let all Christian Societies live in harmony and love; give them wisdom in all their plans; perfect Thy strength in their weakness; and direct their labours to Thy glory!

The harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few! O Thou Lord of the Harvest, send forth labourers into Thy Harvest! Fill with Thy Spirit those whom Thou hast sent forth; and enable them faithfully and boldly to preach, among Jews and Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ. Keep them from the snares of the world, the flesh, and the devil; deliver them from all evil; and make them wise to win souls.

Upon all the Native Converts whom Thou hast gathered to Thyself, through Thy labouring servants throughout the world, pour out Thy Holy Spirit, that, as Thou hast begotten them again unto a lively hope, so they may ever be followers of Thee as dear children. Deliver them from all remaining darkness and ignorance; destroy and abolish in their hearts all that remains of Satan's kingdom; grant that their faith, and hope, and love may grow exceedingly; make them to be ready to every good work, and more especially to exert themselves for the salvation of those around them; that so, by their zeal and faithful testimony, by their holiness and faithfulness, they may glorify Thy name before their countrymen, and bring in unto Thee, from the midst of them, such as shall be saved.

Have compassion, O Most-merciful Father, on all those who have come under instruction, though they be not yet altogether Christians. Convince them effectually, by Thy Word and Spirit, of their sinful and miserable state; pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication, and draw them to Jesus.

Take away blindness from the Jews. Let them receive Thee, O Jesus, as their Messiah, and proclaim Thy saving Name among the Gentiles.

Deliver all Mohammedans from the delusions of the False Prophet! O Thou True Prophet of Thy Church, enlighten them by Thy Holy Spirit, and bow them down at the foot of Thy Cross!

Pity blind Idolaters, who are kept in cruel bondage by the god of this world. Turn them from idols, that they may serve the Living and True God.

O Thou Almighty Saviour, who by the right hand of God art exalted, and hast received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, shed forth His light and grace on this dark world!

Cause all Christians, we beseech Thee, to sow bountifully; that they may reap also bountifully. O Thou that lovest a cheerful giver, let all grace abound toward them, that they may minister liberally of their substance to the making known of Thy Name!

With these our humble prayers, we join our praises and thanksgivings for what Thou hast already done in making known Thy salvation; perfect Thy work, O Lord; shortly accomplish the number of Thine elect; and hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom.

Be present with us, O Lord, at this time. Give us all a single eye to Thy glory. May Thy blessing rest upon our meeting; and may all our hearts be this day quickened and encouraged to fresh and persevering efforts in Thy Service.

We ask these mercies for the glory of Thy Name, through the merits and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and would ascribe to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Three Persons in One God, everlasting praise. Amen.

OUR Father which art in Heaven: Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

PRAYER USED AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE.

ALMIGHTY GOD, our Heavenly Father, who hast purchased to Thyself an Universal Church, by the precious blood of Thy dear Son, we give Thee hearty thanks that it hath pleased Thee to call us to the knowledge of Thy grace and faith in Thee, and to appoint our lot in an age and country, where the true light shineth. We bless Thee that Thou hast awakened us in some measure to feel our responsibilities. We praise Thee for what we have seen and heard of the power of Thy Word among the heathen; we adore Thee for Thy many servants who have gone out from amongst us to toil and suffer and die in making known Thy salvation; and we thank Thee that Thou dost allow us, unworthy sinners, to unite together in this work of faith and labour of love.

We humbly confess our past lukewarmness in this Thy service, notwithstanding these Thine inestimable benefits and mercies. For our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, forgive us our past negligences, and so endue us with Thy Holy Spirit, that we may more earnestly seek Thy glory in the salvation of souls.

Grant us, we beseech Thee, Thy very present help at these our meetings. We ask, most gracious God and Father, for a constraining sense of the love of the Lord Jesus, and for wisdom to direct us in all our endeavours. Increase upon us the spirit of power and of love and of a sound mind. Give us faith and courage; give us zeal and patience; give us a single eye to Thy glory, and help us to bear and to forbear. The silver and the gold are thine, O King of kings! Supply us with what is needful for our great work, and make us faithful stewards of Thy bounty, for proclaiming to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

We pray also for all who are united with us in the direction of this sacred cause.

May Thine especial blessing rest upon our Committees, with their Secretaries, throughout the world. Bestow on them the help that we feel so needful for ourselves. Enable them to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, and ever to find favour in the sight of all with whom they may have to do.

Especially we beseech Thee to look, O most merciful Father, upon our Missionary brethren. Draw out our hearts towards them more and more; and while they are bearing the burden abroad, give us grace to help and succour them by our sympathy and prayers at home. Bless every letter written to them from this house, and all our intercourse with them. We pray for them that they may be filled with Thy Spirit. Grant that the same mind may be in them which was also in Christ Jesus. Let them never lose their first love. Raise them above the cares of this world. Help them to deny themselves and to endure all things for the elect's sake. Give them the tongue of the learned. Clothe them with humility. Teach them to follow peace with each other, and with all men. Support them under spiritual distresses, temptations of the adversary, bodily sickness, domestic anxieties, and hope deferred. And so confirm Thy word from their lips by the power of the Holy Ghost, that through them multitudes may be turned from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto Thee, our God.

We most heartily thank Thee, O Lord, for those whom Thou hast already sent forth through this Society; and we pray for a yet larger outpouring of a Missionary spirit on our younger Clergy, on the members of our Universities, on those who are elsewhere preparing for this holy work, on the young men of all ranks and orders throughout our land. And herein do we implore Thy special favour on our Islington Institution, that its numbers may be replenished continually; and that none may go forth thence but such as shall be able ministers of the New Testament, full of Faith, and of the Holy Ghost.

We praise Thee, O Thou God of all grace, for the Converts, the Native Catechists, and the Native Clergy, whom Thou hast granted to us in our several Missions. As Thou hast raised the Native Churches thus far, bring them, we pray Thee, to full ripeness and perfectness of age in Christ. Pour out upon them Thy Holy Spirit. Stablish, strengthen, settle them, and so enlarge their liberality, that they may both maintain Thy word among themselves, and may make it known to the regions beyond them, till all the Gentiles hear the glad tidings of Thy love.

And now, O Lord God, be Thou in the midst of us to-day. Give us a constant sense of Thy presence, and may all our undertakings be begun, continued, and ended in Thee, to the honour of Thy great name, for the sake of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

* This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible.

The Society's Financial Year ends on the 31st of March, and all moneys belonging to that year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order to secure the insertion of the Lists in their proper places in the Report.

The Lists and Accounts (written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report) must, in order to secure insertion among the Association Lists in the Report, be sent in not later than the 31st of March. But labour and expense may be saved to the Society by sending in the Lists and Accounts as much earlier as is possible. The date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, and the names of the Local Officers, should be specified. Should no names be given, it will be assumed that they remain the same as in the previous Report, and the List will be so printed. When the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches must be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee would also point out, for more universal adoption, the convenience of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This course would tend to equalize in a greater degree the Income and Expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year, and save the Society a considerable yearly sum.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to the friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws large on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties on which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

II.—ASSOCIATIONS.

NOTE.—All Contributions from Associations are for the year ending December 31st, 1880, except where otherwise stated.

Bedfordshire.

Church Missionary Society.

"HALF AS MUCH AGAIN."

Letter to the Honorary Clerical Secretary.

Christ Church Vicarage, Hampstead,
May 5th, 1882.

MY DEAR BROTHER,—The appeal was made to us in the Annual Sermon last Monday night, and re-echoed in the Annual Meeting the next day, to raise the income of the Church Missionary Society from its present standpoint of something under £200,000 to £300,000 a year. And at the important Conference of the Honorary District Secretaries yesterday morning, when you so kindly gathered more than two hundred members around the social board, the suggestion was very favourably received of trying to accomplish this during the next twelve months.

All seem to feel the pressing urgency of the call. Never has a more thankful Annual Report been presented. There has been an advance, as one speaker said, along the whole line. The fields are everywhere white to the harvest. The Master, in answer to our prayers, is thrusting forth labourers whom He has made willing in the day of His power. More men have offered themselves from our Universities. But the cry still sounds louder and louder from unevangelized, or half-evangelized lands, "Come over and help us." Our brethren in the field are overborne for lack of help. And the voice from heaven rings in our ears, "Go forward."

The Committee have responded to every call during the last year to the utmost limit of the funds entrusted to them. But they cannot go beyond this limit, and rightly. Surely the question for us at home is, Can we not possibly, by thoughtful self-sacrifice, meet the increased demand?

Let our watchword this year be—

"HALF AS MUCH AGAIN."

The effort must be a very great one, and will claim the self-denying love and labour of every member of our Society. The penny a week subscribers must be asked if they cannot possibly give three halfpence; and perhaps, if they do this, they will in the Master's esteem give more than all. The guinea a year donors (it will be something to get out of the guinea rut) must, if possible, give a guinea and a half. Those who give two pounds must be pleaded with for three; those who give ten, for fifteen; and those who give fifty or one hundred pounds or more, must still be moved to give Half as much again. The motto must be heard in every Sunday-school, and be inscribed on every C.M.S. Christmas-tree, and be repeated in every quarterly meeting, and be urged from every pulpit and platform, "Half as much again: the Lord hath need of it."

It is quite true that many of our best supporters are already giving up to their power; yea, and some of them, beyond their power; and that it would be simply impossible for them to give more, and wrong in us to urge it. But is it not also true that many of our subscribers, by a watchful economy, could do this thing for Christ's sake and the Gospel's? And if they led the way, and proved the sincerity of their appeal to others by greater personal self-sacrifice, might we not hope to lengthen our cords as well as strengthen our stakes? Are there not many in every parish who give little or nothing to the missionary cause, because they have not been earnestly and affectionately invited to take an intelligent interest in it? Many most valuable suggestions were made yesterday morning, of new and increased efforts in our Sunday and Upper Class Schools; among the servants of the gentry; in enlisting the help of young men as lecturers; in the use of missionary magic lanterns, &c.; in canvassing merchants and men of wealth; and in working through the machinery of our Rural Deaneries. And if all these efforts were patiently and prayerfully carried out, surely it is not too much for us to hope that every Association, by breaking new ground and more diligently cultivating the old, might very shortly contribute Half as much again.

Let us ponder what such an increase of the Society's funds would enable us to do. It would not indeed of itself convert a single soul; it would not build up one saint; it would not revive one Mission. We would not forget the solemn warning contained in the words, "Thy money perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money." But if God first puts it into the hearts of His people to give, and then graciously owns their gifts in His service, what would it accomplish?

In the first place it would enable us to repair many of the desolations caused by the necessary retrenchments of two years ago. One sentence in the Report awakened sorrowful thoughts in my heart, "The Society's Missions in the North-West and Central Provinces (India), comprising Benares, Gorakhpur, Lucknow, Agra, Mîrat, &c., are still suffering from the reductions of two years ago." I witnessed some of this suffering when in India, and cannot forget Robert Clark's words, that in most cases retrenchment really means that the mother, who was only just supporting her baby, must cut off one meal or more a day. This would be remedied.

Then "Half as much again" would enable us to respond to many most urgent calls. Bishop Crowther and his African Archdeacons are crying out for extension on the Niger; Mr. Price pleads hard for the countries behind Mombasa, where tribe after tribe are ready and waiting for the Christian teacher; from Palestine, Canon Tristram brings news of such open doors to the Moslem population as the East has certainly never presented before; Mr. Bruce's pleas for Persia and Bagdad are not to be denied. From all parts of India the cry is, if not for extension, for expansion. Older Missions like Tinnevelly, Travancore, Bombay, Bengal, and the North-West protest justly against reductions; while younger Missions like the Punjab and Sindh, the Telugu Mission, and the new enterprises for evangelizing the non-Aryan Gônds, Kois, Bheels, and Santâls, claim with equal justice increasing grants. China could absorb the whole of the "Half as much again," and would then call for more; and Bishop Burdon at Exeter Hall made out an unanswerable case for "the glorious land," as he said the Chinese term it. In Japan, it seems like now or never, and the "now" is most promising; while from North-West America, Crees and Blackfeet and Eskimos—Tsimsheans, Kitiksheans, and Hydahs—send across the sea their plaintive cry for help.

Weighing these things calmly in the light of eternity, and of the Master's near return, shall we make this great effort or not? Some of us could reduce our personal and social expenditure without lessening our influence or crippling our local work for Christ. Some of us could forego a customary, but not necessary, domestic indulgence. In the resurrection of Germany (A.D. 1813), Alison says, "The women universally sent their precious ornaments to the public treasury, and received in return similar bijoux beautifully worked in bronze, which soon decorated their bosoms, bearing the simple inscription, 'I gave gold for iron, 1813.' It must be confessed that chivalry cannot boast of a nobler fountain of honour, or fashion of a more touching memorial of virtue." Shall the deliverance of heathen lands from the yoke of Satan be less precious in our eyes?

A proposal urged two or three years ago for enlarged annual subscriptions has not been without fruit. But I think that the trumpet-call sounded from the pulpit of St. Bride's, and repeated from the platform of Exeter Hall, is more practical. "Half as much again" covers a wider ground. It stimulates every agency. It sets a definite object before every giver and every labourer, old and young, in every parish. Let us arise and do it in Christ's name, and if possible do it before our next Annual Meeting. And surely, as in the days of Hezekiah, we shall all rejoice, if God prepares the people, that "the thing was done suddenly" (2 Chron. xxix. 36).

Yours affectionately,

The Rev. F. E. Wigram. E. H. BICKERSTETH.

P.S.—Having already paid my subscription for this year, I enclose "half as much again." Our noble President, the Earl of Chichester, and many others yesterday morning, promised to do the same.
